LADY SCOTT REFUSES KING'S OFFER OF HOME

Explorer's Widow Protests Memorial Fund Should Place Her Above Benevolence

London, Nov. 20—Lady Scott, the widow of the Antarctic explorer, was offered recently a suite of rooms in the Hampton Court Palace by King George.

These suites are given for life to the widows of eminent men who are unable to maintain their position with their private means.

To the surprise of the king, Lady Scott declined the offer on the ground that she could not pursue her art as a sculptoress at Hampton Court. Her refusal is understood to be really a protest against the scale on which the fund raised in memory of her husband and his fellow-heroes has been distributed as between them and the permanent memorial. She thinks the fund should have been divided as to place her above the necessity of being an object of royal benevolence.

They are of rich quality, with a beautiful silky finish. Only a very little trimming is needed to complete a very dressy and becoming hat.

The shapes range from...$5.95 to $9.50

YOUR LAST COAL BILL

Coals Alike in Appearance Only—Vary Greatly in Value

When you paid your last coal bill, how much of it went for ash and clinker. No two coals are alike. They may vary as much as 10 per cent in the amount of ash they contain. Ten per cent. means 200 pounds to the ton and the way coal sells nowadays, this is equal to a dollar almost, on each ton of coal. This is a vital reason why you should buy only the best coal, the special grade of American anthracite which the Consumers' Coal Company are handling. It is bought and sold on a quality basis. The small amount of ash and absence of clinker are convincing evidence of its value. While it is a special coal, it is sold at regular hard coal prices. A ton of it will give a full ton of satisfaction. Consumers Coal Company, Limited, 331 Charlotte street (opposite Broad street,) 'Phone M-2670. 11-21.

The prisoner pleaded guilty and was remanded, but before he left the court another sailor came forward and said that Smith had assaulted him. The magistrate said that this would have to be entered as a separate charge against Smith.

Be early this evening in order to secure a good seat. Box chairs can be purchased at nearly any hour for parties of from two to twenty. The "Mary" picture will be shown at 7.15, 8.15, and 9.15.

FORMER HARKINS PLAYER FEATURED AT GEM THEATRE

Tom Carrigan, Well Known Here, Plays Lead in Thrilling Motion Picture Detective Drama

When Tom Carrigan was in St. John just a few years ago, as leading man with the W. S. Harkins players, he was very popular in the shows presented, and his name is still fondly recalled. Well, he is now back again in St. John but not in the same form. That is to say, he is here in the "movies" He played the leading role of the detective in "The Jewelled Slippers," a fine two part Selig production at the Gem Theatre last night and showed that he is as much at home in the movies as on the regular stage. He was supported by a strong cast, and they gave a most capable rendition of a splendid story, a drama of aristocratic smuggling, with many exciting scenes. It will be shown again this evening. There were also two very funny Lubin comedies, singing by E. A. Altree, and operatic selections by the Gem orchestra led by H. W. Burnham.

RECENT STRIKE OF OIL AND GAS IN WESTERN ALBERTA

The Geological Survey has received a sample of the oil recently struck in No. 1 well, of the Calgary Petroleum Products Company, situated at Black Diamond, sixteen miles west of Okotoks, Alta. This oil was struck at a depth of about 1,560 feet. It is what is technically known as a "white oil," being transparent and of an amber color. It is phenomenally light for a natural mineral oil having a specific gravity of about 62 Baume. Evidently it consists largely of gasoline. In fact it has been successfully used in its raw state in place of gasoline in an automobile.

"White oils," are rarely found in quantity. They would appear to be the result of filtration through clay strata, under pressure, of the lighter portions of ordinary petroleum. That this has occurred in the present instance is made probable by the fact that at a higher horizon in this well a flow of gas of 2,000,000 feet a day, was struck This gas is also peculiar in the large amount of gasoline it contains. It probably represents a further stage in the process of filtration.

The amount of oil present has not yet been determined, so that the commercial value of the strike is still unproved. If the amount of gas encountered in the higher level is any criterion, this may prove to be the exceptional case and a considerable quantity of oil, for a "white oil," be obtained.

Whether oil is present in large quantities or not, the strike is of importance as the "white oils" are usually found only in the vicinity of large bodies of the ordinary petroleums. Thus it is an excellent indicator.

D. B. Dowling, of the Geological Survey, who visited the well a little before the strike was made, reports that the well is located on an anticline, in shales, of the Pierre formation; and that the oil was encountered in underlying Belly River beds. On either side of the anticline overlying Edmonton beds are exposed. Going eastward, therefore, the covering will rapidly thicken. Westward toward Moose mountain, according to the work of D. D. Cairnes of the survey, the formation are folded into a number of anticlines bringing lower formations to the surface, and in Moose mountain faults are encountered. Between this faulted ground and the well are several anticlines where prospecting for oil might be undertaken. These anticlines probably run in the direction of the main structural lines, that is, roughly parallel to the mountain ranges. Mr. Dowling is now in the field, having been commissioned by the director to examine the well and make a study of the geology of the district.
