DUNDAS STREET.

HUMOROUS.

The rain falls on the just and the unjust. But not on a man who has just stolen an umbrella.

Says a French critic: "I like a girl before she gets womanish, and a woman before she gets girlish."

The following unique couplet appears in the obituary columns of a Philadelphia newspaper:

"Our American baby with wings diddy,
To meet his Saviour in the sky."

Madame X., who receives a new chambermaid, asks: "Are you active?" "Active! Madame can judge for herself. I have left my last place for having chased my mistress down two flights of stairs!"

That was a brilliant speech of a young society man who was "making conversation" with a young lady last week. "How fortunate it is," he said, "that before people go to the lunatic asylum they always lose their mind."

The college graduate is hanging about the outer edges of journalism, waiting for a chance to jump clear into the middle of it and astonish the world, and when he does get the chance he is sent around to the police office to see how many "drunks" have been brought in.

A lady who offers to furnish "some story" to a Michigan paper, says in the postscript, M, b i can send you some poems to, sum real prety verses if you desire that i writ myself, for i can writ poems as well as storys." The editor is mean enough to decline on the ground of poverty superinduced by the panic.

A man out West obtained a divorce from his wife, and married again within three days after the decree was granted. An Irishman commenting on the man's action, remarked, "Bedad, he couldn't have had much respect for his first wife, to be marryin' again so soon after lavin' her."

He opened the door cautiously, and poking his head in a suggestive sort of a way, as if there was more to follow, inquired, "Is this the rinktum?" "The what, my friend?" "Is this the rinktum—sinktum—sanctum, or some such place, where the editors live?" "This is the editorial room, yes, sir. Come in." "No, I guess I won't come in. I wanted to see what a rinktum was like, that's all. Looks like our garret, only wuss. Good day."

A newly married couple from the vicinity of Cape Vincent went to Kingston yesterday. After rambling around with their hands joined, enjoying the elephants, they drew up in front of a peanut stand on Princess street. The 'hubby' invested in five cents' worth. In about five minutes the bridegroom was heard exclaiming, after vehement suction, 'There, Aarminty, I know'd we'd be sold. I've been sucking that darned thing for five minutes and there ain't a bit of juice in it.' The bridal party proceeded, notwithstanding the bitter disappointment.

"Do you think you can make arrests and guard prisoners?" asked the Galveston Chief of Police. The applicant smiled a smile that made everybody in the office feel positively uncomfortable. It was the kind of smile that Othello smiles when, towards the last, he begins to see through "honest Iago." "Suppose you had six prisoners, and one of them was to run off; would you leave the five and follow up the fugitive?" asked the Chief of Police. "Way, no," responded the hard-faced applicant, "I'd shoot the five who didn't try to escape, so I would know where to look for them when I got back with the body of the other one." "That's all right in New York, but it's too rough for Texas," replied the Chief of Police.

Modern science has brought the cork-leg to a state of perfection which renders it almost impossible for the casual observer to detect the difference between the real and the artificial. There was an eminent lawyer some years ago who had a cork-leg that was a triumph of artistic deception. None but his intimates knew for certain which was the real and which was the sham limb. A wild young wag who knew the lawyer pretty well, once thought to utilize this knowledge of his friend's secret to take in a green, newly-fledged young barrister. The lawyer was addressing a his special jury in his usual earnest and vehement style, and the wag whispered to his neighbor, "You see how hot old Buzfuz is over his case; now, I'll bet you a dollar I'll run this pin into his leg up to the head, and he never notice it, he's so absorbed in his case. He's a most extraordinary man in that way." This was more than the greenhorn could swallow, so he took the bet. The wag drew a large pin from his waistcoat, and leaning forward drove it up to the head into the lawyer's leg. A yell that froze the blood of all who heard it, that made the hair of the jury stand on end and cause the judge almost to fall off his seat ran through the court. "By Jove! it's the wrong leg, and I've lost my money," exclaimed the dismayed and conscience-stricken wag, regardless of the pain he had inflicted upon the learned lawyer.

Josh Billings' Philosophy.

Idleness makes a man more idle; if idleness sets on twelve eggs she iz sure to hatch them all out.

The virtews hav to be kultivated, while the vices will gro apace if yu will only let them.

Pride and ignorance travel hand in hand; the more a man knows the less he iz sure ov it.

A modern professor would require 1,000 pages to deskribe light, and then would be no nearer to it than when he started. Moses sed, "Let thare be light, God sed, and thare was light."

Atoms are respektable, for it iz atoms that make a whole.

Ingretitude iz the kurse ov Heaven to pay man for hiz mgratitude.

Grate buty in a women iz a mere surprize; her grate power lays in the goodness ov her harte.

Tru charity iz born in the harte, iz edukated in de hed, and graduates at the hand.

Thare iz plenty ov scientifick men who hav allmost diskovered perpetual moshun, who couldn't repair a boy's paper kite, or windmill, to save their lives.

The travellers in forrin lands mite possible be divided az follows: Thoze who travel bekauze they kant keep still—thoze who go bezause others do—thoze whoze desire iz to be seen and envyed—thoze who hav money to spend—and the fu who go to learn bi compareing themselfs to others.

Yung man, don't forgit this: Yure ancesestor kant transmit one single virtew to yu, nor one single ray of wisdum; money iz all he kan giv yu, and who knows but he got that dishonestly?

Lime Kiln Philosophy.

"Walkin' out the other mornin' to commune wid de openin' day," said the old man as the hall grew quiet, "I wandered up past de ole man Link's. He was asleep, wid his feet outen a winder, and his wife was stealin' pickets off a neybur's fence to light a fire wid. De hoe, axe, mop and shovel was lyin' 'round de yard, de gate was off its hinges, de dog chawin' up a piller case on de stoop, an' de general scene was one of desolashun. Fifty men in dis hall knowed dat ole man when he was worf ten fousand dollars, and it wasn't so many yars ago, either. What has brung de change? I answer, foolin' wid white man's politicks, holdin' down boxes on de co'rners, an' feelin dat he couldn't work. Ten yars ago de ole man would't spoke to any of us. Now he am one of de poor'st cull'd men in de town. Ten yars ago he stuck up his nose when he went past our white-wash brushes. To-day he go hungry for de want of a day's work. Ize bin telllin' ye dese fings eber since dis club started, an' Ize gwing to keep poundin' away as long as de club lasts. If we git a livin' we must work. If we git a dollar ahead we must take keer of it, an' keep right on workin'. We can't stick up our noses, an' puff out our stomachs, an' sport gold-headed canes. It hain't in us. De minit we try it on we make tracks for de little end ob de ho'n. If any memper ob dis club wants a blue neck-tie, dat's all right; if he kin afford to have more dan free white shirts, dat's all right, but a leetle extravagant; if cuff buttons help him to git a job, den cuff buttons can be worn. But, when it comes to tryin' like a white man who eirns $25 a week, den it's all bosh, an' I feel it my dooty to wrastle wid such a puson an' try to pint out wherein he am on de broad road to de asylum for fools. We will not attack de usual order of bizness,"

IRISH SYMPATHY—THE RELIGIOUS ORDERS.

The address to the expelled religious orders in France, denouncing the arbitrary conduct of the French Executive, and sympathizing with them under the recent expatriation, has been signed by the whole of the Irish Catholic members of Parliament as well as most of the Roman Catholic peers in the Upper House. A large number of the expelled Jesuits are now in England, where they have found temporary homes under the hospitable roofs of the more wealthy English Catholic families. Every effort is being, and will be made, to domicile the Order in this country. Thought the whole of the United Kingdom collections are to be made in every Roman Catholic church and chapel until the end of the year for the expelled Order.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT? A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thomas Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q, writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P. Q., writes—"I have been trobled with liver complaint for several years and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it, I have tried it on my horse in cases of cuts wounds, etc., and think it equally as good for horse as for man"——A. Maybee, Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats etc., and is worthy of the gratest confidence."——Joseph Rusan, Township Percy, writes; "I was persuaded to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a public benefit."

Beware of Imitations.—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cents. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion.

Note.—Eclectric—Selected and Electrized.

THE LONDON MUTUAL

(Formerly Agricultural Mutual.)

HEAD OFFICE,

Molsons Buildings, London, Ontario.

Assetts 1st January, 1879, $275,854.41, and constantly being added to.

CROWELL WILSON, President.
D. BLACK, Vice-President.
W. R. VINING, Treasurer.
C. G. CODY, Inspector.

The Fire Office, now in the 21st year of its existence, is doing a larger, safer and better business than ever, having in the month of June issued 1,940 policies and in July 2,032 policies—a number never before exceeded except by itself.

Intending Insurers Will Note.

1st. That the "London Mutual" was the pioneer of cheap farm insurance in Canada, and that its rates have always been placed as low as is commensurate with the hazard; that, being Purely Mutual, it has no stockholders, and all profits are added to its reserve fund to give better security to its members.

2nd. That it is the only Company that has always strictly adhered to one class of business, and now has more property at risk in the Province of Ontario alone than any other Company—stock or mutual—English, Canadian, or American, (vide Government Returns).

3rd. That it has paid nearly a million dollars in compensation for losses, having distributed the same in nearly every township in the Province.

4th. That its books and affairs are always open to the inspection of the members, and the Directors are desirous that the privilege should be exercised.

FARMERS! Patronize your own old, sound, safe, economical Company, and be not led away by the delusions of new ventures and the theories of amateurs in the insurance business.

For insurance apply to any of the agents, or address, D. C. MACDONALD, Manager.

BALDNESS, GREYNESS, DANDUFF, HAIR-FALLING.

CAN Baldness be cured? Has been settled in the affirmative by Chas. M. Wintercorbyn, late of H.M. Royal Navy, who has accomplished in Toronto and Hamilton during the last three years what has never been done by any advertised remedies of the century, by restoring the hair to members of the most hopeless cases. This is no deception, as hundreds of the citizens of Toronto, Hamilton, and elsewhere can testify to the truth of this statement. The Restorative is put up in bottles, at One Dollar per bottle, or six for Five Dollars. For further information, address—
