An unusually severe electrical storm for this season of the year passed over Wolfville on Thursday evening of last week. The lightning was very vivid, and was accompanied by a down-pour of rain. Fortunately there was no damage.

Now is the season for a spring tonic of some reliable kind. We confidently recommend Nyal's—as we have the formula of it. That's one reason we have taken the Nyal line of family medicines and it's a good reason. Call in and see them at A. V. RAND'S.

A. A. Boates & Co. Try our plan and you will save $5.00 on every suit you buy.

The vocal recital in College Hall this evening by the pupils of Acadia Seminary promises to be a very enjoyable affair. We have had the privilege of seeing the program, which is a very well arranged and attractive one. We trust the young ladies may have a 'full house.'

Mr. C. A. Campbell, M. L. A., introduced in the Legislature on Tuesday last a bill to incorporate the firm of 'J. E. Hales & Company, Limited,' of Wolfville. This new company will take over as a going concern the business of J. E. Hales & Co. The incorporated shareholders are Wm. B. Bishop, J. E. Hales, Laura S. Hales.

Don't forget that Express Money Orders are cashed at Rand's Drug Store free of charge. It's a great convenience for the public and they should show their appreciation by buying express orders when sending money away. No better, safer or cheaper way to send money. Any amount, anywhere.

The death of Mr. John R. Crawford took place on Monday of last week at his home at Lower Wolfville. He was 49 years of age and was highly respected by all who knew him. Mr. Crawford is survived by a sister, Mrs. Martin, and one son. The burial took place at the old Covenanter cemetery at Grand Pre, the service being conducted by Rev. J. D. Spidell, of Kentville.

A. A. Boates & Co. make the best men's clothes in Kings Co. Just try one of their suits.

The annual dinner of the Wolfville Hockey Club was held last evening at the Porter House, Kentville, after the game. The members of the club and their friends and the members of the Dartmouth team participated, going to Kentville by special train. A very pleasant time was no doubt had, but as THE ACADIAN went to press before the event a report will have to be held over until next week.

The death of Rev. Joseph Noble, known throughout New Brunswick, as 'Father' Noble, took place at his home in Woodstock, on Thursday of last week. He was 93 years of age and was probably the oldest Baptist minister in America. He was one of the most prominent figures of the older province, having been in the active ministry for nearly seventy years. He leaves nine children, one of his daughters being Mrs. Colin W. Roscoe, of this town.

Rooms to rent, with or without board, Bath room and furnace heated. Apply to MRS. CURRIE.

On Wednesday afternoon of this week Mrs. A. J. Woodman and her daughter, Miss Hazel J. Woodman, were 'at home' to a large number of the young people of Wolfville. Mrs. Woodman, assisted by Miss Woodman, who wore a charming gown of pink silk and white lace, received her guests in the parlors, which were tastefully decorated for the occasion with pink carnations and smilax. In the dining-room Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Earl Burgess presided over the tea tables, to which a quantity of yellow daffodils lent an artistic appearance. Refreshments of an unusually dainty nature were served by the Misses Murray, Miss Georgie MacQuarrie, Miss Marie Macleod and Miss Margaret Calhoun. Among the guests were Miss Mary Murray, in whose honor the tea was given and who leaves shortly to pursue her studies at Rhode Island Hospital, Mrs. A. B. Shaughnessy and the members of the Propylaeum Society of the College.

Hennigar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert North, Miss A. Eaton, Misses Annie and Stella Eaton, Kathleen Sturk, Julia Borden, Mrs. Chas. Lockwood, Mrs. (Dr.) Crowell, Mrs. Laura Potter and Ira L. Cox. The benefit concert given in Oddfellows' Hall, on Wednesday evening to raise money for a new Methodist Sunday-sunday library was very successful. The program consisted of a large number of selections on the Victor talking machine by the McDonald Co., of Halifax, and readings by Mrs. Emerson Bigelow, Madame Schurman Heink, Melba, Tetrazine, Caruso, etc., were heard easily and clearly in all their beauty, demonstrating the superiority of this instrument. Mrs. Bigelow's readings the, 'Arena Scene,' from Quo Va'is and 'Mis. Bretzeshoeffer's Troubles' were highly appreciated judging from the hearty applause. A matinee performance was given for the children. The amount realized from the two concerts was considerably over fifty dollars.

Skating on the river has been good this week.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The stomach also has its hidden, or side nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by A. V. Rand.

The outbreak of small pox in Windsor was of very mild type. The authorities dealt promptly with the two cases and all danger of the spread of the disease from these cases has passed away.

As to Religious Instruction.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN.
Continued.

Who can doubt that many of our teachers accept the doctrines of evolution and deny the fall of man? What then becomes of the atonement? Have they a right to think consistently? Can they read the new Polychrome Bible or the works of such writers as Renan, Carlyle, Emerson or our own Mr. Waring? Can they turn to the books of Darwin, Huxley, Spencer and Haeckle without losing their positions? Is there not truth enough in Christianity to stand the lime light of such patent falsehoods as are popularly supposed to fill the pages of Voltaire, Paine, Ingersoll and Hubbard?

Do not expect intelligent people to read the bible without comment. You may read it from cover to cover and probably know next to nothing about it for lack of direction. As the absolutely inspired word of God, unintelligible, misleading and almost valueless. As the best efforts of the men of its times, it is probably destined to become increasingly valuable as we proceed to cast away our idols and come to the worship of one God and no more.

Our people in general have no idea of the existence of such problems as I have hurriedly gone over. I, for one, knew nothing of them two years ago, and I think I would remember it, if they had ever been brought to my notice by those in charge. The study of theology does not help one man to see further or to hear better than other men. But it may lead him to see and hear differently from other people and so get out of touch with them. Read 'Christianity and its bible' by Rev. H. F. Waring, and whatever you think of its conclusions you cannot but feel that the author is trying to get in touch with his people.

Waring says that man seems to be incurably religious. Why then all this fluttering of hearts lest these incurables be cured? Is it not possible for a man to be religious without being an orthodox Christian? Christianity being but one aspect or sect, born of a world wide-religious impulse. One churchman says 'people of today more and more give up church going and buy more books about religion.' Why worry altogether about the people? The fact is that, bad as they may be, they have advanced faster than the official church has with its written constitutions, God given, and unaffected by majority votes (in theory). Self preservation is their only incentive to change.

Long enough have we compelled children to build their moral structures on the sand. For the great majority the rain decends, the floods come and the winds blow and smite that house and great will be the fall there of. And many there be who will make shift to spend the rest of their days with temporary shanties.

Would it not be better to recognize the fact that all morality is founded in nature, even the animals follow our code with the exception of the commandments regarding worship and the Sabbath. Further, the punishments for disobedience of natural morality are sure in this life, for while 'nature does not pay Saturday nights, yet she always pays.'

Give our young people a morality founded on scientific facts, which are at our disposal, using the bible as an extra support if you wish, and when the floods come as they will from, say fifteen years and upwards, they will be far more likely to weather the storm. There is a wide-spread tendency among parents and especially the fathers to imagine that they can hire a lady teacher to assume responsibility for the character and government of their offspring at say two or three dollars per head. And then blame the 'new theology' for the failures.

Do not misunderstand me, I am not now proposing a remedy for all the various causes of degeneracy in our young people of to day. I am only trying to support able authorities in an attempt to find in scientific truth a firm foundation for the commencement of character building.

The present generation, whose morality is based on their belief in the divine authority of the bible and dread everything that looks like a shifting of foundation, must remember that houses cannot be moved without cracking some plaster. We have Luther's own words 'that no sooner did our Gospel get a hearing than there followed a frightful confusion, every man at his free pleasure would be and do what he listed in the way of pleasure and license so that all law, rule and order were overthrown.' And yet, who regrets the great reformation?

In the last fifty years wonderful progress has been made in all departments of science except those which have been supposed to belong particularly to the church. How much longer will this be allowed to continue? Is there another and more scientific reformation upon us? The present situation is not wholly of man's making. The old fear of hell and the hope of heaven as well as many of the other doctrines once considered vital, have by natural process lost their power over the conduct of man. Shall we try vainly to turn back? Or shall we, like Paul, press on to that which is before, knowing that the new appeal to reason will be better than the old blind faith.

Our clergymen often quote from the pulpit that great American writer, Ralph Waldo Emerson. Allow me to close with a quotation from the same author. 'The vice of our theology is seen in the claim that the bible is a closed book, that the age of inspiration is past and that Jesus was something different from a man!'

The ladies of the Art Embroidery Club had a sleigh drive to Upper Dyke Village last week and met with one of their members, Mrs. Sherman Belcher. With the exception of a slight mis-hap on the way over a very pleasant evening was spent. At the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Belcher the visitors were given a cordial welcome. After spending some hours very enjoyably the party left shortly after ten o'clock for home, and after a pleasant drive arrived safely shortly before midnight.

Longboat, the world's champion Marathon runner, has very wisely decided not to meet Shrubb in any 15 mile race. Let Shrub 'stick to his last' little 10 and 15 mile runs, and never essay a Marathon; and let Longboat also not be tempted from his race—the 25 mile marathon—by any gamblers of speculators. Each is champion in his own field of operation.
