SUBS. VOYAGED FROM CANADA TO GIBRALTAR

Four Undersea Boats Were Convoyed by Cruiser and Gunboat.

STARTED AT MONTREAL

Subs Were Able to Make Long Run Under Own Engines.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—A flotilla of American-built submarines, which ventured across the Atlantic to join the British naval forces at Gibraltar, made the passage safely under its own power and without extraordinary discomfort for the crews, according to letters received here today from men who shared in the expedition.

Convoyed by larger warships, the little squadron of four vessels, fresh from the yards at which they were assembled, in Montreal, proceeded down the St. Lawrence River and after a stop at St. John's, Newfoundland, put to sea for Gibraltar. No extremely rough weather was encountered and all the boats were able to make the long run under their own engines. Provision had been made to tow them if they got into any trouble.

Contracted For Ten.

The flotilla formed part of a group of ten submarines for which the British admiralty had contracted in the United States. After Washington had decreed that the construction of the vessels in this country would be a violation of neutrality, the parts were shipped to Canada, where the boats were completed in the yards of the Vickers-Maxim Co., an English concern, which two years ago established a branch in Montreal for the building of merchant ships.

By the middle of July the submarines were ready for the water, and naval officers who had arrived from England, conducted a series of trials in the St. Lawrence River.

Convoyed by Cruiser.

When it was established that the new vessels were seaworthy, they sailed from Montreal under convoy of the gunboat Canada. Off the Island of Anticosti, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, they were joined by the cruiser Calgarian. The latter, an Allan liner, had been taken over by the British admiralty at the beginning of the war, and fitted out as an auxiliary cruiser with 4-inch guns.

With the Calgarian and Canada showing the way, the submarines voyaged seaward and along the south coast of Newfoundland to St. John's. The only misadventure was the loss of one of them in a fog for two days. They remained in the harbor of St. John's for four days to have their machinery adjusted, while the Calgarian took on supplies for all the boats. One hundred men of the Newfoundland naval reserve and 200 soldiers of the Newfoundland regiment went aboard the Calgarian to join the British sea and land forces.

The thoroly outfitted Calgarian turned her prow eastward, suiting her pace to that of her proteges. The latter traveled on the surface thruout the voyage, propelled by crude oil engines. Each carried a crew of two officers and 16 men. Submerged, the boats are driven by electric motors, but in the voyage to Gibraltar electricity was used only for heating and cooking.

NO COMMANDEERING OF GRAIN SHIPS

Government Issues Notice to Allay Fears of Western Shippers.

Special to The Toronto World.

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—Information has come to the department of trade and commerce that shippers of western grain are to ship via Montreal lest the vessels with which they have made contracts to carry their cargoes from Montreal to Great Britain should be commandeered in Montreal by the government for war purposes, and the shippers' contracts cancelled thereby. Owing to this fear, it is said that shippers of western Canada grain are chartering vessels to United States ports, so as to avoid any possible difficulty in respect of such commandeering, and that in this way the tonnage that might otherwise come to Montreal is being diverted.

The minister of trade and commerce states that, in respect of vessels engaged and contracted with for the remaining season of St. Lawrence navigation, shippers may rest assured that no such interference will occur, and that any such chartered vessels will be able to fulfil their actual contract arrangements for the carriage of grain from Montreal.

MANY WERE CONFIRMED BY ARCHBISHOP McNEIL

Archbishop Neil McNeil administered the sacrament of confirmation to 107 children and 15 adults at St. Cecelia's Church, Annette street, West Toronto, last evening.

His grace was assisted by Very Rev. Dean Hand, Rev. Father McBrand, Very Rev. Dr. O'Reilley and others. After the ceremony the temperance vows were administered by the archbishop. He stated that since his coming to the archdiocese of Toronto two years ago he has administered the vows of temperance to over 6000 children. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given after the ceremony.

BUILDING PERMITS HAVE FALLEN DOWN

Building permits have fallen off $14,082,616 during the first nine months of this year. Last year permits for the first nine months totaled $18,305,302, while for the same period this year they have only been $4,223,286. In September a year ago the value of permits issued was $1,172,747. In the same month this year they were less than half that amount, totaling only $518,582.

FRENCH SOLDIERS FULL OF ELATION

Success in Champagne Acted as Great Tonic Upon Troops.

AFRICANS TO FORE

Swift Onward Movement Carried One German Fortress After Another.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—The special correspondent of the Havas Agency continues his description of the battle in Champagne on Sept. 26 and 27:

"On the evening of the 25th," he says, "we held in Champagne a sinuous line that was almost absurd, because some of our forces were facing east, while others were facing west. During the following two days we succeeded to the north of Souain and Perthes in establishing our front facing north and installing ourselves in contact with the second German line of defence over a length of 12 kilometres (7½ miles).

"The ground thus won represents an area of 40 square kilometres, covered with slanting lines of deep trenches. The edges of all the woods were organized for defence while innumerable passages, trenches and parallels rendered easier foot to foot resistance. We surmounted all these difficulties, progressing from trench to trench and capturing batteries and depots of ammunition.

Joy of Success.

"As we went our soldiers were determined to win, and the joy of conquering one powerful German fortress after another kept all on the forward move. Our colonels and our generals established their headquarters in the shelters of the German officers; the soldiers roamed among the quarters and rustic canteens were set up in the woods. Our artillery came and took a position in the main ground. The advance was continued with consistent success, which redounded to the credit of the troops, particularly the Africans, who gained the wooded hills stretching between Auberive and Souain, north of the Roman road.

Series of Trenches.

"Our troops advanced in successive bounds, digging trenches as they went, in order to mark the ground which had fallen into their possession and thus reached the second hostile position, known as the 'Parallel of l'Epine de Vedegrange.' This trench runs continuously eastward to hill 193 and is also called by the soldiers the 'Parallel of Chevron Wood' and the 'Trench of Lubeck.' It extends to the Navarin farm.

"Further east were trenches known as 'Kultur,' 'The Satyrs,' and 'The Pirates.'

"On the 25th our troops succeeded in joining hands with those installed on Hill 193, thus encircling the last defenders of the defences in the wood. At the same time our African troops were gaining ground towards the north. They cleared the woods and captured a munitions camp called 'The Camp of Sadowa,' which our aviators had revealed.

"Further east we pushed forward our line and established ourselves on the top of Hill 201, facing Tahure Hill, on which the enemy had located his second line, called 'The Trench of Vistula.' We took a fortress at the extremity of this trench by main force. In the remainder of the frontal attack our pressure was kept up by a violent bombardment, grenade fighting and rapid manoeuvres."

"Impregnable" Hill Taken.

The correspondent gives further details of the struggle between the French and the Germans for Hill 191, which was captured by the French in spite of the German staff order that it must be held at all costs.

OTHER THRUSTS AGAINST ENEMY SOON TO COME

Full Offensive of Anglo-French Armies Delayed by Rain and Mud.

NEW STORM PRESAGED

Bombardment of Belgian Coast and Air Raids Indicate Another Blow.

LONDON, Oct. 3. — Rain and the consequent mud have prevented the Anglo-French armies from continuing their full offensive in Artois. Fighting of a stubborn nature, however, is still going on in that region, both sides endeavoring to secure vantage points. Success here, as in Champagne, is apparently varying, altho the allies are holding virtually all the ground they gained in last week's thrust.

That other similar thrusts will take place before long is the settled conviction of military writers, who see in the repeated bombardments of the German positions on the Belgian coast by British ships and by big French guns and air raids over the German lines, evidence of another storm brewing. Naturally it will take some days to prepare, as the guns, which now play such a large part in the campaign, have to be brought up, and this is no easy matter after the heavy rains, particularly in the low countries of Flanders and Artois.

Von Hindenburg Stopped.

Altho fighting continues, there is little or no change in the situation along the eastern front. The Russians, while being forced back at one or two points, are themselves pressing the Germans at other points, particularly to the east of Vilna, where Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's drive toward Minsk has been checked.

There is no further word of the reported Austro-German attack on Serbia, or of the operations in Gallipoli. The Russians in the Caucasus, following the lead of the British in Mesopotamia, are taking a more active offensive against the Turks.

KING FELICITATES ARMY ON VICTORY

Sir John French Also Congratulated on Success by Earl Kitchener.

LARGE GAINS MADE

British Troops Advance Four Miles in Preliminary Stage of Battle.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Oct. 3.—(Via London, 11.55 p.m.)—The following special orders of the day have been issued by Field Marshal Sir John French:

"The field marshal, commander-in-chief, has received the following message from the King, dated Sept. 30, 1915:

"'I heartily congratulate you and all ranks of my army under your command upon the success which has attended their gallant efforts since the commencement of the combined attack. I recognize that this strenuous, determined fighting is but the prelude to greater deeds and further victories. I trust the sick and wounded are doing well.

"'George R. and I.'

"The following reply has been sent to His Majesty:

"'To His Majesty the King, Buckingham Palace:

"'Your majesty's forces in France are deeply grateful for your majesty's most gracious message. There is no sacrifice the troops are not prepared to make to uphold the honor and traditions of your majesty's army and to secure a final and complete victory.

"'J. D. P. French, field marshal.'

Kitchener's Best Wishes.

"The field marshal commanding-in-chief has received the following message from Earl Kitchener, dated Sept. 27, 1915:

"'To Sir John French, General Headquarters:

"'My warmest congratulations to you and all serving under you, on the substantial success you have achieved, and my best wishes for progress in your important operations.

"'Kitchener.'"

Special order of the day by Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British army in the field:

"We have now reached a definite state in the great battle which commenced on the 25th inst. Our allies in the south have pierced the enemy's last line entrenchments and effected large captures of prisoners, guns and tents.

"The French army on our immediate right has been heavily opposed, but has brilliantly succeeded in securing an important position known as the Vimy ridge.

Important Results.

"The operations of the British forces have been most successful and have had great and important results. On the morning of the 25th, the first and fourth corps attacked and carried the enemy's first and most powerful line of entrenchments, extending from our extreme right flank at Grenay to a point north of the Hohenzollern redoubt, a distance of 6500 yards.

"This position was exceptionally strong, consisting of a double line which included some large redoubts and a network of trenches and a bomb-proof shelter. Dugouts were constructed at short intervals all along the line, some of them being large caves thirty feet below the ground.

"The eleventh corps in general reserve and the third cavalry division were subsequently thrown into the fight, and finally the 28th division. After the vicissitudes attendant upon every great fight the enemy's line and second line posts were taken. A commanding position known as Hill 70 in advance of Loos was finally captured, and a strong line established and consolidated in close proximity to the German third and last line.

DRIVER ARRESTED FOLLOWING WRECK

William Duckworth Charged With Being Drunk in Charge of Car.

THREE WERE REQUIRED

Pte. Ernest Giles Subdued by Trio of Police After Disturbance.

Following a collision of two motor cars on Lansdowne avenue above Queen Saturday evening, in which both cars were irreparably smashed, William Duckworth, 263 Brock avenue, one of the motorists, was arrested by officer 461, charged with being drunk in charge of a motor car.

The north-bound car, owned by John Whetton, 1874 Dundas street, and driven by P. E. Hutchison, 173 Perth avenue, was traveling at slow speed, according to the police. Duckworth, in a much heavier car, is said to have come south at about 25 miles an hour, and keeping directly in the middle of the street. Eye-witnesses say Hutchison had no room in which to avoid the collision. Hutchison was flung against his steering gear with such force as to bend the heavy steal bar, but recovered shortly and was able to go home.

Whetton's car was wrecked, the heavier south-bound car smashing the front right back into the engine. Duckworth's machine was damaged to the extent of about $600, the radiator being bent in, the front axle broken, headlights smashed and steering gear bent out of action.

Twice previously William Duckworth has been convicted of similar charges to that on which he is now held.

Young Lad Run Down.

A young lad of about six years was run down by a motor car at the corner of Centre avenue and Agnes street Sunday afternoon, but when his mother saw the uniformed men from the police ambulance coming to take him she grabbed up the child and ran with him before anybody could stop her. The motor passed over the boy's right leg, but it is not likely any bones were broken.

When the mother disappeared with her boy the police were unable to get any details of the accident other than that an unknown motorist ran the boy down in the centre of the intersections.

Three Against One.

It required the efforts of three policemen to arrest Pte. Ernest Giles, who, while intoxicated, commenced to clean out Brown's poolroom at 1290 West Queen street, Saturday evening. Giles was eventually thrown out on Queen street, where it is said he threatened to strike a woman. Officer 390 attempted to subdue him, but had to have the assistance of two more constables to take him along Queen street to No. 6 police station. Giles is held on a charge of disorderly conduct.

According to the police, he was discharged from the militia at Bobcaygeon some time ago, but re-enlisted in Toronto.

Boy Under Arrest.

Ten-year-old Meyers Goodman, 35 Henry street, was arrested by Acting Detective Scott Sunday, on a charge of having broken into the premises of Louis Bornsley, butcher, 134 Elizabeth street, Saturday evening, and stolen $5 in coppers from the till. The boy is said to have gained entrance from the rear by forcing a door with a steel bar.

Died From Own Injury.

Albert Hodges, 130 Augusta avenue, who, on Sept. 24 last, attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a razor, died in the General Hospital Sunday afternoon from his injuries. The body was removed to the morgue, but Coroner Johnston has not yet decided whether an inquest is necessary.

Frank McDonald, 94 John street, was arrested Sunday evening by Officer 336, charged with having stolen morgue, but Croonoer Johnson has Johnston was also arrested as a vagrant pending further investigation as to the ownership of the coat.

Celebrating Weddings.

Sixteen Polacks were taken from the old Grace Church, Elm street, and locked up in No. 2 police station, on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

When Inspector Geddes and his men reached the church they found about 30 Polacks from the Maria street district, West Toronto, engaged in a drunken celebration for two of their number who had just been married. Men and women were crowded around 14 barrels of beer, and it was only after great difficulty on the part of the police that the main disturbers were rounded up, and the others were told to go home.

Duty of Every Man Who Cannot Fight, Says Hon. I. B. Lucas.

TORONTO IS HOG TOWN

Mayor's Remark at Sunday Recruiting Meeting Held in Alexandra.

"It counts something to be a Canadian today even more so than a year ago," declared Mayor Church in his opening address at the patriotic concert held under the auspices of the Toronto Recruiting League last night at the Alexandra Theatre. His worship said: "Germany has lost the respect of the civilized world today and no decent nation will trade with her.

"Toronto is the hogtown of the recruiting movement, and if we wanted 25,000 more men from Toronto, I believe we could get them."

He hoped the churches would not interfere with the Sunday recruiting meetings, as he said every arrangement has been made so that they will not interfere with church services.

Hon. I. B. Lucas said: "I trust we have turned the corner in this great conflict. In the presence of such a stupendous struggle as this all that this Dominion can do is very small. Never let us hear you grouch about taxes, but if you cannot go to the front, pay-pay-pay," was his advice.

Must Ask Ourselves.

He said: "This is not the time to ask what the other fellow is doing. We must ask ourselves what we are doing, for when the day of reckoning comes we shall have to give an account of ourselves. In view of this great struggle which transcends all human judgment we might ask: 'Is there no way to prevent it?' The answer is, No, not without national dishonor, not without national disgrace, and national respect. This war was necessary to show other people that it pays in the end to keep your word.

"If might is the only law and bargains cannot be kept then civilization has broken down. A reverend doctor in this town said that England started this war. England had to stand by little Belgium and acknowledge her right. German trade today is prostrated, German industry is paralyzed and the British flag floats on the mast of every ship in every port thruout the British Empire," he said.

Loof After Boys.

"It is the duty of Canada to look after the boys who made the sacrifice, and I was pleased to hear Sir Robert Borden state that the Dominion will treat the Canadian boys who have gone to the front very generously."

W. H. Price, M.L.A., and Father Burke also gave patriotic addresses, and appeal to the Canadian youth to lose no time in joining the ranks in this most righteous war of the allies.

Pte. Eversfield, who has recently returned from the front, after being wounded at St. Julien, said: "It is up to every young man in this house tonight to do his bit."

The Newman Hall double quartet sang several sacred selections, and Miss Ruth Waite favored the audience with a patriotic song. The chairman, Dr. Norman Allan, announced that another recruiting meeting will be held at Loew's Theatre next Sunday evening.
