More About the Roosevelt Bears

Teddy B and Teddy G. By SEYMOUR EATON. Retail price, $1.50.

Size, 8½ x 11. Containing 186 pages, of which 16 are full-page illustrations in color.
Every page contains an illustration by R. K. Culver.

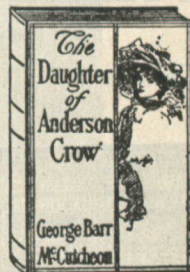

"More About the Roosevelt Bears" is the second volume of this interesting series of juvenile books, the first of which appeared last year. This volume takes up their career in New York City, where they were left at the conclusion of Volume I, and follows them throughout their journey back to their cave in the Rocky Mountains. They meanwhile have an opportunity of visiting many of the points of interest in and about New York City, including a tour by airship to Philadelphia, whence they visit Atlantic City, Pittsburg, Baltimore and Washington, where they are greeted by the President before returning to their friends in the mountains of Colorado.

The Daughter of Anderson Crow

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

Author of "Jane Cable," etc.

Mr. McCutcheon does not need to lay his scenes in Graustark, or the Philippines, or other imaginary or far-away places in order to write a story which is characteristic of the author, in its mingling of romance and adventure. Rosalie, the adopted daughter of Anderson Crow, lives in the little village of Tinkletown. Tinkletown might be anywhere where simple, kindhearted American country folk live. But in this quiet village, through circumstances which it would be unfair to the story to divulge, it falls out that Rosalie is as beset with adventure and danger as if she were a Princess of Graustark, and she is in a great need of a lover who is loyal and brave. She gets him and, of course, they are happy in the end.

Gaff Linkum

By ARCHIE P. McKISHNIE
Cloth, $1.25

The book is replete with varying incident from cover to cover. That the author has a wonderful insight into boy life and character is shown by parts of the book pertaining to the hero, "Gaff Linkum," and his chum, Buz Fields. This new Canadian book will be read with interest.

The Halo

By BETTINA VON HUTTEN. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25
Author of "Pam"

The story possesses the charm and the human interest of the author's other books.

Mother

By OWEN WISTER. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25.
Author of "The Virginian," "Lady Baltimore," etc.

Crowned Skull

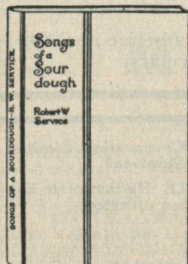

By FERGUS HUME
Cloth, $1.25

Delicia

By MARIE CORELLI
Cloth, $1.25

Stooping Lady

By MAURICE HEWLETT
Cloth, $1.25

The Songs of a Sourdough

By ROBERT W. SERVICE. Cloth, net, 75c.

The poems are written in the Kipling style of expression, but they have also a distinct quality of Canadianism and they are striking and forceful. Mr. Service's volume deserves a warm welcome.

St. Jude's

By IAN MACLAREN. Cloth, $1.25
Author of "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush"

Ralph Connor says:—"As I turn the pages I discover new friends among Carmichael's flock worthy to stand with those others I discovered twelve years ago."
