SOME CYCLING CHIPS.

The Toronto Will Have An Important Meeting Monday.

Next Monday evening the Toronto Bicycle Club will hold its regular monthly meeting, at which some important matters will be brought up, including:
The proposed affiliation with the Athenæum Club, in connection with their building a new club house.
The club incorporation scheme.
The notice of motion left over from last meeting re the raising of fees.
The voting of estimates for the proposed January concert, and appointing committees, etc., for same.
Speaking of the affiliation of the Toronto Bicycle Club with the Athenæum Club, Cycling, the T. B. C. organ, says that "Our members who were present are very favorably impressed with the idea, which, instead of being as we had at first supposed—an absorption of the bicycle club by the Athenæum—is intended to be an affiliation of the two, the Torontos still retaining their identity as a bicycle club, also become members, and enjoy to the fullest extent all the other privileges and features of the Athenæum. On the surface the advantages appear to be all on the side of the bicyclists, but there is no doubt that great benefit, direct and indirect, will also accrue to the Athenæum from the increase of membership and the admission at one time of so many members devoted to one branch of athletic sport. As to the present members of the Athenæum there is not one, so far as we know, who would not be acceptable as a member of the T.B.C.

PARKDALE'S NEW RINK.

The Handsome New Curling Structure to be Built in the Flowery Suburb.

Parkdale is about to build a handsome new curling and skating rink of red brick with facings of brown stone. It will be about the size of the Toronto Club's building, and will be equally as well finished.
John E. Hall, the well-known cricketer of 83 Adelaide-street east, is the temporary secretary, and associated with him are a trio of well-known West Enders, viz.: Messrs. J. W. Langmuir, D. C. Ridout and J. J. Threlkeld.
The name of the new club will be the "St. Alban's Curling and Skating Club," and its home will be on the corner of King-street and Cowan-avenue.
The club premises will consist of a block of land on the southwest corner of King-street and Cowan-avenue, having a frontage on King-street of 99 feet by a depth on Cowan-avenue of 450 feet, 330 feet of the Cowan-avenue frontage having a depth of 150 feet. The estimated cost of the land is $19,500.
The estimated cost of the building is $20,000, making the total cost of the premises about $40,000. To provide for this a company is being formed with a capital of $50,000, in 1000 shares of $50 each.
A large portion of the required stock has already been subscribed and arrangements have been made to run an open skating rink this season. The erection of the building will be proceeded with in the spring.

Tobogganing.

At last we have our winter weather and can indulge in tobogganing, the King of Canadian sports. This is the recreation that invigorates the system and gives a healthy glow to the complexion. It is always popular with the young folks and justly so, for it is an innocent and amusing recreation. We notice that Messrs. H. P. Davies & Co. have taken charge of the Riverside Slide, and we are sure the patrons will have reason to appreciate their efforts to make things pleasant. 246

An enthusiastic Scottish Rugbyite declared last night that a club of Old Countrymen would certainly be organized in Toronto this year. If they do not adopt the English rules they will play according to our own Rugby Union, and they would be second to no club in Canada.
A. A. Booker of London tried to get up a fall cricket tour around Lake Erie during 1890, but owing to many having previous engagements it did not come off. The directors of the California Athletic Club have decided to match Jim Corbett and Peter Jackson for a contest to a finish, to take place before the club next May. President A. W. Thurman of the American Association and Chris. Von der Ahe of St. Louis had a conference at Toledo the other day with President Ketcham and Director Raitz of the Toledo Baseball Club. An offer of $7000 was made for Toledo's franchise, Toledo to hold her players, the sum to be raised by assessment on the other clubs of the association. Action on the offer was postponed to a future meeting, to be held at Columbus. The indications are that if there is a sell-out it must be for spot cash.

CONTESTS IN FOUR WARDS.

The Nominations For the Board of Separate School Trustees.

The Separate School Board nominations were held yesterday. These gentlemen were elected by acclamation:
St. Mark's—Rev. Dean McCann (re-elected).
St. Matthew's—Father O'Rielly (re-elected).
St. Alban's—Father McPhillips (re-elected).
St. Thomas—John O'Connor (re-elected).
St. James—Mark Kielty.
St. Paul's—G. H. Boulton (re-elected).
St. Lawrence—F. O'Connor (re-elected).
St. David's—C. Burns (re-elected).
St. Andrew's—Hon. T. W. Anglin (re-elected).
These are the candidates in opposition to each other:
St. John's—Louis Lalone, James Ryan.
St. Patrick's—M. Walsh, J. J. Dutton.
St. George's—D. A. Carey, E. A. Cullerton.
St. Stephen's—William Fraser, Bernard O'Byrne.
The contests will be lively, particularly in St. Patrick's and St. George's. In the former the trouble is intensified by the instance in the interests of Mr. Walsh's opponent of a circular grossly libelling that gentleman, and even now an appeal to the courts is spoken of. In St. George's E. A. Cullerton, an old enemy to the secular wing, is opposed to the present trustee, Mr. Carey, who since his incumbency has been doing good work for the ward.

The Northwest Bowling Along.

Mr. B. E. Chaffey, barrister, Winnipeg, is in town for a short vacation in Ontario. He says things throughout the Northwest are in good shape; the people are hopeful; hundreds of farmers have from $1500 to $2500 in the bank, the proceeds of their wheat; many others are able to hold back awaiting higher prices. The clerks in the Imperial Bank's branches at several points have had to work night after night in handling the overwork arising from the grain business. The C.P.R. administration are unceasing in their efforts to meet the wishes of the people and indefatigable in their efforts to settle the country. The Galt Coal Co. are raising 1000 tons of coal a day and sending a lot of it into Montana. The Northern Pacific are finishing a palatial hotel in Winnipeg. The Greenway Government is holding its own and the irritation against the Ottawa authorities, now that the railway monopoly has been removed, is dying away. An inrush of Canadians from Dakota will be one of the features of the spring immigration.

Why They Wear Spectacles.

"Do you know why all Chinese cobblers wear spectacles?" said a San Francisco friend to me as we were walking through Mott-street together yesterday taking in the sights. "No." "Then I will tell you. It is recorded in Chinese history that once upon a time a cross-eyed cobbler who mended the noble shoes of Confucius had red pepper thrown in his eyes by his hot-tempered spouse, and would have been unable to see straight for a month after but that his learned patron loaned him a pair of spectacles which not only made him see perfectly at once, but also took the squint out of his eyes. The sequel of the happy cure was that the cobbler's wife, deceived by the miracle of his eyes, refused to believe that he was her husband, and permitted him to pass the remainder of his life in single blessedness. Since then every Chinese cobbler of New York to Shanghai wears spectacles to protect him from red pepper, strabismus and bad wives".—N.Y. Star.

Fighting in Africa.

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—The Tagblatt publishes a letter from a correspondent in Zanzibar, dated Dec. 5, stating that Emin Pasha recently sent Lieutenants Longheld and Buelow at the head of a body of troops to Urambo, where they fought a battle with the Watuta tribe, defeating the latter with severe loss. The Watuta tribe were subsequently joined by the Wahimamwest tribes and again attacked the German troops. Another severe engagement followed. The Watutas were again defeated. The Germans lost three killed and had some wounded. Lieutenant Sigle of the German force was wounded in the head. The letter also states that Commander Stuhmann recently captured a slaver's camp near the Victoria Nyanza, after a fight in which many Arabs were killed. The Germans released a large number of slaves. A quantity of ivory, gunpowder, 100 muskets and a quantity of other property was seized. The troops then marched to Makongo, where they met Emin.

A Citizen's Opinion.

Editor World: It would be well to keep before the voters the names of the aldermen who did not think the citizens knew enough to vote on Sunday street cars at the polls. Teach such men as Gibbs, Maughan, Lucas, Moses, Hewitt, Frankland, Score and the other gaggers a lesson by voting for them to stay at home and elect men who will not deny the taxpayers the right to vote on any question that may concern the citizens at large.
As for the ministers taking part in this issue I think it is bad, very bad, taste. They pay nothing towards supporting the city government and should have nothing to say. Time enough for them to put in their oar when they pay taxes. Until then they should mind their own affairs. CITIZEN.

A Friend's Face.

WELCOME, NEW YEAR OF GRACE!

Death of the Old Year Mid Murkiness and Gloom—Watching For His Successor—New Year's Gossip.

"The King is Dead! Long Live the King!"

THE Old Year went out in mantle murk, and the New Year was ushered in with joyous peals and countless pæans. Thousands there were who had been keeping watch-night who repeated Tennyson:

Ring out, wild bells, across the snow,
The year is going, let it go.

There could be no doubt as to the heartiness of the ascription, for during the livelong day "behind the clouds" the sun had been shining.
The miserable weather, albeit the bare twigs and iron railings and telephone wires were to the cultured taste things of beauty, with their hoar-frost decoration, was in consonance with the fitness of things for a funeral, and even in the early hours recalled Tennyson's "Midnight Mass for the Dying Year":

Yea, the year is growing old
And his eye is pale and bleared:
Death, with his frosty hand and cold,
Plucks the old man by the beard,
Sorely, sorely!

Hearty as ever were the New Year's greetings, cordial the handshakings, and profuse this morn will be the New Year's gifts.
This is a custom which will never go out of fashion. It is welnigh as old as the hills, and if it cannot be said, except by the selfish cynic, "'Tis a custom more honored in the breach than the observance."

New Year's Day in Ye Olden Tyme.

New Year's Day was observed by the early Christians with thanksgivings and feastings, songs and dances, with interchange of presents.
This custom is probably derived from the New Year's Day feast of the double-faced Janus, so popular amongst the Romans. The customs of New Year's Day in Rome were not altogether different from our own.
Placed between two periods of time, one opening and one closing, the double face of Janus looking back and forward is a most appropriate emblem of the New Year. He had the epithets of both "shutter" and "opener." In addition to his double face he is represented as holding a staff in his right hand and a key in his left—the staff to support his aged steps, for Father Time is always made an old man—the key to denote his office of god Janus that January, the name of the first month of our year, is derived. Everyone and almost everything on New Year's Day in Rome wore the appearance of drling and the common salutation was—"May the New Year be auspicious and happy to thee!"

Some Notable New Year's Gifts.

King Alfred, as a New Year's gift, gave to the celebrated Asser an abbey in Wiltshire, a monastery in Somersetshire, a rich silk pall, and as much incense as a strong man could carry on his shoulders.
In the private accounts of Edward I. some of the New Year's gifts prized by him are mentioned, among them a large ewer set all over with pearls, with the arms of England and Flanders, a comb and looking-glass of silver gilt, enamelled, a bodkin of silver and a leather case, and a pair of large knives in ebony and ivory, with studs of silver.
On New Year's Day, 1561, the Dean of St. Paul's got into trouble through using bad taste in making the Queen a New Year's gift, consisting of a prayer-book, richly bound, having cuts and pictures of the saints and martyrs. The Queen considered these as contrary to the proclamation against images, pictures and Romish relics in churches, and desired that such a mistake might never occur again.
In the previous year Her Majesty had a pair of silk stockings given her as a New Year's gift, which are said to have been the first silk pair worn in England.
Queen Elizabeth, in fact, took presents from her great officers of state, prelates, peers, knights, physicians and all officers of the household, even down to the dustmen.
As specimens of gifts presented in private life Sir F. Bacon sent to the lady and daughters of Sir M. Hicks some carnation stockings, with a request that they would be pleased to wear them for his sake!
In fact in the good old days the custom of giving New Year's gifts was universal:

These gifts the husband gives his wife,
And father to the child;
And master to his men bestows
The same with favor mild.

Odes to the New Year.

One of our Canadian poets, Mrs. Harrison, ("Seranus") has some exquisite lines on the death of the old year:

The Old Year dies!
And some are glad and some are grieved,
Much as when some poor mortal dies.

But there is this difference, and how true is it:

God knows
We have but little time for tears!
A time for smile, a time for fears,
A time for strife, a time for woes
We have—but hardly time for tears.

So if we could we would, Old Year,
Conjure a tear up when you go,
And pace in solemn order slow,
Behind your gray and cloud-borne bier,
Draped with the wan and fluttering snow.

The Old Year dies! It is enough!
And he has won, for eyes grow dim
As passeth slow his pageant grim,
And many a hand both fair and rough
Shall wipe away a tear for him—

For him, and for the wasted hours,
The sinful days, the moments weak,
The words we did not speak,
The weeds that crowded out our flowers,
The blessings that we did not seek.

Watching the Old Year Out.

In accordance with time-honored custom there were watch-night services in all the Methodist churches. Successive generations have attended these, and for devotional use at such functions Charles Wesley composed special hymns. Here is the opening hymn sung by thousands of Toronto's citizens, young and old, last night:

How many pass the guilty night
In revellings and frantic mirth!
The creatures make their sole delight,
Their happiness the things of earth;
For us suffice the season past;
We choose the better part at last.

We will not close our wakeful eyes,
We will not let our eyelids sleep,
But humbly lift them to the skies,
And all a solemn vigil keep:
So many years on sin bestowed,
Can we not watch one night for God!

Only those who have been present at such services know the impressiveness and solemnity of "watch-night"—the fervent prayer, the contrite confession, the earnest exhortation, the consecration vows. The climax is reached when, after a few minutes' silent prayer, the kneil of the old year is sounded and the joy bells usher in the new year. Then all arise and sing to the well-known jubilant tune the Methodist new year consecration hymn:

Come, let us anew our journey pursue,
Roll round with the year,
And never stand still till the Master appear.

His adorable will let us gladly fulfil,
And our talents improve,
By the patience of hope and the labor of love.

At many of the missions connected with evangelical churches services more or less similar were held.
At St. James' and a number of Anglican places of worship prayer and praise, confession and thanksgiving were the order of the closing hours of 1890.
This morning the hope that springs eternal in the human breast beats high and we all welcome our new friend "1891:"

There's a new foot on the floor, my friend;
A new face at the door, my friend;
A new face at the door.

If good wishes could ensure a Happy New Year none will go unblest.

From Police Blotters.

W. W. Berry, no home, is a prisoner at headquarters, charged with stealing a goose from R. Gallagher, King-street east.
Detective Burrows yesterday received by special messenger a handsome jewelry case containing an 18k diamond and an unsigned address congratulating him on his past deeds and inciting him to further effort. The officer valued the stone at $250 and was so elated with the gift that on reporting off for the night he "set them up for the whole staff." It is now whispered among his colleagues that the whole scheme was a fake and that the $250 was pure glass and the address a fraud.

PREACHER PORTER'S PASSION.

He Brutally Attacks An Ox With a Pitchfork—Fined For His Frolic.

HALIFAX, Dec. 31.—Rev. D. Porter, pastor of the Baptist Church at Middleton, was tried before Stipendiary Obediah Taylor to-day for ill-treating an ox. Evidence was given to show that the reverend gentleman first struck the ox with the handle of a pitchfork and subsequently proded the animal with the prongs until the beast was covered with blood. The accused was convicted and asked to pay $22 into court or go to prison for 30 days.
Rev. M. Brown, Episcopalian minister at Middleton, who recently brutally assaulted a Baptist divinity student, has left the province.
