CANADIAN HORSES.

Interesting Letter From Major Dent as to the Stamp of Horses Required by Army Buyers.

Even in times of peace the annual demand for horses for the British army is sufficient to justify Canadian farmers in breeding the sort of horses the army buyers require. And in war times the consumption of horseflesh is so enormous that the army agents are obliged to search the world to meet the demand. That our Canadian farmers may know exactly what horses are required for army purposes, we here reproduce a letter from Major Dent, who is now in Canada purchasing remounts:

Having seen some pictures of the horses which I have bought for the English army in South Africa, I should like to correct a few statements in your letterpress on same.

1. As to the required height, I do not care about any horse that is over 16 hands. The following are the heights of the different classes, viz.:

Artillery—15.2 to 16 hands.
Cavalry—15.1½ to 15.3½ hands.
Mounted Infantry—14.1 to 15.1.

2. The stamp of horse required for artillery is a blocky sort of horse, with as much breeding and bone as possible. The cavalry horse of a lighter type, with good shoulders, loins and neck. The mounted infantry cobs, a miniature horse. The best stamp I have come across is the French-Canadian, the only fault in their case being often a shortness of rein.

3. The type of horse for whatever branch of the service required should be that of an English hunter, short legs, short cannon bone, good shoulders, back, ribs and loins—the more breeding combined with strength the better.

4. The faults I have chiefly found in the Canadian horses are: Too long in the back, making a horse weak in his couplings, lightness of bone, especially under the knee, and many horses are failing in the quarter, a complaint commonly called "goose rumped."

5. In all horses true action is a great necessity; any horse that cuts (or brushes) his fetlocks is unsafe. I have found the Canadian horses wonderfully sound in wind, the rejections for this failing being only 2 per cent. The horses, as a rule, have fairly good shoulders, also depth of girth, but the longer-backed ones naturally are deficient in back rib. The horses are of a kind disposition, answering quickly to kindness, and it is rare to find a kicker. I anticipate that they will be found very hardy in South Africa.

I think a great stimulus to horse breeding in Canada would result from the horses now being bought out of the country. What I think are most wanted are good thorobred sires, not over 16 hands, compact horses, with plenty of bone and action. I am sure there must be plenty of good mares in the country, judging from those which I have bought, and in many cases it seems a pity they are leaving the country.

I wish the English War Office may see their way to establish a permanent purchasing depot in Canada for the remounts for the army. They could get a number of good, sound horses, four years old and upwards, every year. Of course, the horses would have to be fewer from blemishes and better than some I have bought now, which are going to be shot at in South Africa. I am, sir, yours faithfully, H. F. Dent, major.

CANADIAN ORDER OF CHOSEN FRIENDS.

Good Progress Being Made.

The Canadian Order of Chosen Friends has made exceedingly good progress during the present year, over 1500 applications having been received at the Head Office up to date. A successful effort is being made to boom the membership during the warm months, the month of June giving 268 approved applications, and 230 having been received during the month of July. It is expected that the month of August will be even better than either of the months above mentioned. This popular society is rapidly forging ahead, every effort being made to place it in the front rank of the Fraternal Insurance Societies of Canada.

It is expected that a new branch of this popular organization will be opened at Gravenhurst in the near future, with the object of putting in other branches of the society in that vicinity. The order aims to celebrate the incoming of the 20th century with a membership of 20,000 at the close of the present year, and in order to do this it will require to add about 1500 members before December 31, and from present indications that number is very likely to be obtained.

The Grand Recorder, W. F. Montague, Hamilton, Ont., reports that the insurance funds are rapidly increasing, and at present the balance on hand amounts to the large sum of $212,798.20. The society has made remarkable progress since it was organized in the year 1887.

Toronto Junction Council Decides to Suspend All Work on Its Gravel Pit.

SCARLET FEVER AND MEASLES RIFE.

Beauties of Bond's Lake Exploited—Other Interesting Notes From a Wide District.

Toronto Junction, Aug. 10.—The Mayor and council met this afternoon at the Carlton gravel pit to look at the material which city teams have been drawing away. They were all of the opinion that it was good gravel and a valuable asset of the town. In view of the manner in which the town has been losing its gravel of late the council decided to suspend all operations at the pit until they meet on Monday night.

The Board of Health met last night at the Town Hall. Dr. Mavety, Medical Health Officer, stated that there were six cases of scarlet fever and four of measles in town. Three cases of scarlet fever he traced to children from infected houses, playing on the street, and he asked for instructions regarding the stringent enforcement of the quarantine law. He was given discretionary powers. The council has billed convalescents in quarantine during the smallpox scare for their board. One victim replied by putting in a bill for wages for lost time during isolation.

In the absence of the family of Mr. J. D. Edgar, corner Annette-street and Lakeview-avenue, this afternoon, thieves entered the house and ransacked every drawer and cupboard from cellar to garret. Evidently they were in search of money, but did not succeed in getting any. They took two revolvers, two razors, some clothing and a few trinkets. The thieves are no doubt the same that entered the house of Mrs. Brown on Pacific-avenue, and Mr. Chard's house on Quebec-avenue.

Bond's Lake.

How many of Toronto's citizens have heard the name of Bond's Lake but how few have taken advantage of the beauties of the surroundings of this peculiar body of water! With no apparent supply and no perceptible outlet, the lake is somewhat of a phenomenon, and many are the suggestions ventured as to the existence of such a body of water on such an eminence. Gifted by nature with beautiful surroundings, it has been enhanced, if possible, by human improvements, and to-day stands one of the most enjoyable of pleasure resorts in the vicinity of Toronto. The Metropolitan Railway has made the lake easy of access, and the company has expended considerable money to add to its natural beauty. A pretty pavilion has been built, 40 feet by 50 feet in dimensions, and refreshment accommodation is thereby provided for parties of 1000 and upwards. The grounds have been graded, and some 10 acres serve for the carrying out of games and amusements. Add to this the advantages of free boats and a steam launch, and Bond's Lake offers exceptional facilities for the enjoyment of excursion parties.

Aurora.

The creek that crosses thru the town has caused considerable annoyance by the odor given out from it, and at the invitation of the Local Board of Health, Mr. P. H. Bryce, Provincial Health Officer, paid a visit here this week. The cause of the trouble was located, and a solution of the annoyance is expected without any great trouble.

A SMASH-UP AT NEWMARKET.

C. P. R. Pacific Express Ran Into a Freight Van—There Was No Loss of Life.

Newmarket, Ont., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—The Pacific Express, No. 65, in charge of Conductor Fry, collided with the northbound way freight at the Water-street crossing about a quarter of a mile south of the depot. The freight, in charge of Conductor Farrell, was doing some shunting at the Office Specialty Company's siding. While the rear of the train stood on the main line with brakes on, the members of the crew were working hard to get thru the work before they had kicked up the semaphore. As a consequence the trains came together.

Freight Van Smashed.

The express engine struck the rear of the freight van, smashing it into kindling wood and driving the front end of it thru a box car, derailing the former and two other cars, while the pilot and the headlight on the express engine were badly smashed. Engineer Weston jumped after reversing his engine. Brakesman H. Martin of the freight train leaped from the top of a box car about 10 seconds before the trains struck the car on which he was standing. His escape from death was miraculous. The passengers escaped with a shaking up.

An auxiliary from Allandale arrived here at 3.45 p.m. and had the line clear at 5.30, after which the Pacific and Atlantic Expresses crossed at the depot and left for their destinations.

A PRESENT FOR THE PRESIDENT.

An Italian Professor Went to the White House and Tendered a Huge Brass Projectile.

Washington, Aug. 10.—An Italian, who gave his name as "Prof. Figuecia" of Felucca, Italy, caused some excitement at the White House to-day by exhibiting a brass projectile, which he wished to present to the President. He came during the forenoon, accompanied by a negro, who bore a large satchel. When stopped at the front door by an usher, he presented a slip of paper, bearing this inscription:

"Prof. Figuecia presents this projectile to the President of the United States."

He took out of the satchel a very heavy brass projectile and a long wire, and explained that the pushing of the wire thru a hole which had been bored in the end of the projectile's nose, would cause a big explosion. The visitor could speak no English, and made known his mission by signs. After some questioning, it was concluded the Italian was an inventor, seeking official recognition of his device, and he was directed to the Italian Embassy. Later the Secret Service was notified.

SEA SERPENT IN MUSKOKA.

J. W. Thomas Relates a Thrilling Adventure, With the Famed Monster of the Deep.

The sea serpent has again made its appearance. This time it was seen by a Pittsburg man, J. W. Thomas, who has been summering at Fernside, Muskoka, and arrived in town last night.

Mr. Thomas is a stout, dark man, apparently on the right side of 40, and went up to Muskoka for a fortnight's fishing and sailing.

On Tuesday afternoon last he was out sailing with a couple of friends, and when about to put in for shore observed a curious commotion in the water two or three hundred yards away. In a few minutes they were within a stone's throw and witnessed a spectacle that nearly froze their blood.

An enormous monster, which Mr. Thomas estimates to have been at least 50 yards in length, lay on the surface lashing into a fury the waters of the bay. On their approach it raised a hideous barrel-shaped head and produced a loud hissing, which might have been heard a mile off. To say the party were alarmed does not begin to express their feelings.

Without waiting to pursue their investigations, a sudden tack was made. Providence and a good breeze enabled them to leave the thing at a respectable distance. The beast or leviathan did not attempt to chase them, but terror made them dumb, and when they tried to speak their dry tongues rattled in their mouths like a pair of castanets.

In reply to questions, Mr. Thomas said the monster appeared to have several sets of flippers and a formidable set of spines all along its back. He could not describe its color except that it seemed to be a sort of speckled sea-green.

"No, sir," said Mr. Thomas, emphatically, seeing the questioning look addressed to him, "I am not a drinking man. I rarely indulge, and to tell you the truth you can't get anything to drink up there unless you take it with you."

It is now up to the Muskokans to explain why they have kept so mum about their pet.

FOUND WIFE AND MONEY GONE.

Joseph Nadon, a Kingston Restaurant Keeper, Lost His Spouse to a Sailor.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 10.—Olivine Hickey, wife of Joseph Nadon, restaurant keeper, Ontario-street, and George Hoysen, wheelsman on the steamer America, have eloped.

Nadon has property in Ottawa, where he formerly lived, and married his second wife four years ago, and he says his wife tried to get possession of this. It is vested in the name of his 19-year-old daughter, and the wife told Nadon that if the girl did not get out she would. Nadon was in New York for five days, returning last night, and found his wife missing, together with $200 in cash and $100 worth of valuables.

Hoysen is aged 22 and Mrs. Nadon 26. The couple are supposed to be in Ogdensburg, N.Y. Hoysen's home is at Cape Vincent, N.Y.
