PAUPERISM IN MASSACHUSETTS.—The returns of the Secretary of State to the House of Representatives of Massachusetts state that the number of State paupers is 16,154, of whom 12,940 are foreigners. The total expense of the alms houses and appurtenances for the year, has been $484,-688. Of the foreign paupers, 2,000 have come into the Commonwealth within a single year. The total number of persons relieved or supported as paupers during the year, has been 27,624.

In the Pennsylvania Legislature, a bill has been introduced which makes it unlawful for any negro or mulatto to come into or settle in the state, and any person encouraging them to come in and settle is liable to a fine of $100!!!

The United States papers are filled with speculations and incitements on the subject of the next Presidential election. Mr. Clay, who has retired altogether from public life, and seems verging toward his last illness, has recommended General Cass to the votes of his countrymen. General Cass is the great war-horse of the Republic; but we apprehend that Jonathan talks a good deal about war before he engages bodily in it, and that Cass is not the man for the hour. The insincerity of much of the vaporing talk of our neighbours is perfectly understood among themselves, and goes by the name of "gas." Already the war candidate for the Presidency has got the title of General Gas! Mr. Fillmore, it is said, will not run, but retire with a recommendation in favor of Mr. Webster. The Secretary made a great speech at the Congressional dinner to Kossuth, in which, although he declared that he would adhere to the principles avowed in his letter to Hulsemann "while the sun and moon endure, and while he could see their light," not one word did he hazard in the way of encouraging the Hungarian to expect any more substantial aid than empty words from the United States. We have no doubt that Governor Kossuth, who is tolerably keen and quick in his perceptions, thought the Secretary's allusion to moonshine quite unnecessary, under the circumstances. The fact of his disappointed expectations in coming to America was sufficiently apparent, without any borrowed light from the "gigantic Secretary," to make it more patent to the world.—Quebec Gazette.

INDIAN CENSUS.—Efforts have been made for a year or two past by Government to obtain a census of the Indian population now inhabiting the United States. By the accounts received from the census agents, and information derived from other sources, it is ascertained that the entire number of Indians, inhabiting all parts of our country, amounts to about 418,000. Of this number 30,000 is the estimated number of those inhabiting the unexplored territories; 24,100 are the Indians of Texas; 92,130 belong to the tribes living in New Mexico; 32,231 are in California; 22,733 are in Oregon; 11,500 in Utah. Many of the New Mexican Indians are civilized, and have fixed habitations and towns.—Am. paper.

In a recent work on the possessions of Great Britain on this continent, it is stated their magnitude is nearly equal to the whole extent of the two Russias; almost double that of the European continent, and more than two-fold greater than the Persian empire under Darius, or the Roman empire in the plenitude of its power. The crown of England extends its jurisdiction over an aggregate surface of 4,700,000 square statute miles. The provinces of America, which form but a section of the aggregate British possessions in this Western hemisphere, occupy nearly 400,000 statute miles of land, of which superficies scarcely 9,000 miles have been yet brought under cultivation. The population in round numbers, amounts to nearly 2,000,000 of souls, and doubles itself every sixteen years. The trade to these provinces employs annually upward of 1,800 sail of British shipping, exceeding 47,000 tons, and requiring more than 20,000 seamen. The value of exports to them from Great Britain amounts to more than £2,000,-000. It is computed, that in less than half a century the number of inhabitants spread over the British possessions in this hemisphere will not fall short of 100,000,000.—Quebec Gazette.

The Mail steamer America from Boston, arrived at Halifax on Friday morning at half-past 6 o'clock, and left at half-past 8 o'clock for England, with the Mails and the following passengers from this City, viz:—Miss Doherty, (Victoria House), and Messrs. Doctor of Medicine, Matriculated Member of the University of Edinburgh, Licentiate of Apothecaries' Hall, London, Honorary Member of the London Hospital, Medical Society, &c.

CONTENTS OF THE TREATISE:

CHAPTER I.—On the Philosophy of Marriage, with its Hindrances and Obligations; and on Infelicitous and Unproductive Unions.
CHAPTER II.—On the Anatomy and Physiology of the Generative Organs, their functions, structures and secretions, proving that great Mental and Physical power are dependent on their healthy action.
CHAPTER III.—On Solitary Habits; their various effects on the Animal Economy; the concealed cause of Debility of the functions of the Stomach, Lungs, and Brain, and general weakness of the Mental Faculties.
CHAPTER IV.—On the Secret Disorders of Youth and Maturity, and the Treatment of Nervous and Local Weakness, Mental Debility, and Premature Decay.
CHAPTER V. and VI.—On the Disorders arising from indiscriminate Excess, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, and other Diseases of the Urethra.

REVIEW OF THE WORK.

Marriage requires the fulfilment of several conditions, in order that it may be really the cause of mutual happiness. Could the veil, which covers the origin of domestic wretchedness, be raised, and its true source in every instance be disclosed, in how many could it be traced to physical disqualifications and their attendant disappointments. Excesses are always injurious; the gift, which when used in moderation is fraught with advantage, becomes, when abused, the prolific source of mischief, and of greatest or less injury to the constitution and vital powers. The particular excesses, on the nature and consequences of which this Treatise professes to dilate, are productive of greater misery to the human frame than any other to which it is subject.

This work contains an accurate and complete account of the Anatomy and Physiology of the Reproductive Organs, and of their relative conditions in health and disease. Nor are these the sole contents of the work, the means of escape, as well as the nature of the danger, are pointed out in clear and intelligible language. It deservedly requires the closest attention and study, for what subject can be of more importance than the preservation of health, and of the physical capabilities of which every man should be possessed. It unfortunately happens, that the unhappy victim of excessive indulgence and vicious habits, whether acquired in early life, or from the follies of advanced age, while suffering from their inevitable consequences, invariably entertains a fear of applying to a qualified physician for relief. Shame and the dread so frequently but erroneously entertained that these complaints are beyond the reach of art, alike restrict him, and prevent his seeking for assistance where alone it can be procured. In acting thus, he forgets that accurate discrimination in ascertaining the causes of disease, sympathy with the sufferer, and above all, secrecy, in variable characterize the intelligent and practical physician, and to the medical man, who can show by his possession of the requisite legal qualification that he is entitled to esteem and respect in his professional pursuits the utmost confidence should be extended. DR. LA'MERT has obtained the highest medical honours, as his diplomas testify, and the great extent of his practice for many years, is a guarantee for his professional experience, which has reference altogether solely to the treatment of those diseases.
