POOR DOCUMENT

Of Dramatic Interest.

Dan Sully, the Irish comedian of "The Corner Grocery" fame, has recently inherited a large share of the estate of an Irish uncle.

* * *

The story of a recent unpleasantness between Mad. Modjeska and Booth is pronounced by both the interested parties to be utterly untrue.

* * *

"The Candidate," by Justin McCarthy was produced at Palmer's theatre by Charles Wyndham on the 11th inst and was a great success.

* * *

Miss Berrolde gave a really powerful impersonation of the Countess Melanie Clarinot in "Almost a life" at the Peoples theatre last week. Miss Maude Granger who is the star was almost eclipsed by Miss Berrolde,s clever performance.

* * *

Miss Maude White as Collie Parker in "Fritz in a Madhouse" at the Grand Opera house last week made a great hit. "With her lightness of heart and foot and her Irish brogue she was irresistable."

* * *

"Cut off with a shilling" a one act comedy prefaces the production of "The Candidate" at Palmer's theatre. The piece is severely handled by the critics It is pronounced, "lugubrious, commonplace and one of the flattest productions ever imposed upon a generous and nonhissing public. It was not worthy of a place in a hay loft entertainment by children with pins for an admission price.

* * *

Miss Eleanor Leyshorn who is playing Lady Oldacres in "The Candidate" has never been in America before. She has the inestimable luxury of being a ward in Chancery.

* * *

Miss Mildred Royston a Harlem girl, and well known in Amateur Dramatic circles, has gone to Washington to join the Emma Juch opera company.

* * *

George M. Wood and Miss Marguerite St. John and company begin a season at the Mechanic Institute in this city on Dec. 2nd,

* * *

Charles Erin Verner is making a great hit at Proctor's theatre in "Shamus O'Brien" and is supported by a very capable company. The play is one of his own adaptation.

* * *

Miss Marie Hilton who recently eloped with one Joseph Lewis a diamond merchant of London, England, has got tired of her trip and is en route to New York by return steamer. Her true name is Mary E. Prendergast. She was born in Philadelphia, where her relatives are. She was of the Casino Company.

* * *

The real name of Charles Abbott, Maggie Mitchell's husband, is Mace, and he is a Bostonian. He was married to an actress, Miss Nellie Taylor, from whom he was divorced.

* * *

Madeline Lucette has sold her play "Christopher jr." to Daniel Frohman. It will be produced at the Lyceum this season with E. A. Sothern in the title role.

* * *

The Shanty Queen, the new play of Miss Fannie Kemble will be played in Montreal.

The Public Library.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE GAZETTE:—

Sir,—Your article in reference to placing the Free Public Library in the West end of the Market building was very timely and stated the facts of the case in reference to the building being admirably adapted to the requirements of a library, but the article failed to state that that portion of the Market building was definitely planned at the time of its construction for that special purpose, and that it stood for quite a while, in fact for from one to three years with no second floor or storey in it but with merely a gallery round the four sides, till Mr. Sheraton, I think, leased the premises and floored over the open space between the galleries.

To fit it for the purpose of a library it is only necessary to remove the temporary floor put in during Sheraton's occupancy; put in the alcoves and shelves for books; make an office or room for the librarian; a packing room and other minor appliances, which can be easily arranged for, and the city has at its command as good a library building as it will need until the Loyalists or others take in hand in earnest the erection of a handsome memorial building on some commanding site which shall contain not only the Free Public Library, but be the home of the Natural History Society with its museum, and an Academy of Arts.

The staircase leading to this room for a library was made of very easy ascent for that special purpose and now only needs a handrail to complete it.

This market building was erected during the regime of Mr. A. C. Smith as mayor, and, considering the scope of the whole scheme—the securing of the additional ground necessary to the erection of a proper building with regard to light, ventilation and access; and in minor matters, the provision for this very library and other rooms for public use, as well as the shops for revenue, he may very well congratulate himself upon the success of the whole scheme. This is a guarantee to the people that he is the proper man to have at the head of our Public Works. Yours, etc.,

OBITER DICTUM.

St John Knitting Factory.

THE GAZETTE, had the pleasure some time since of drawing attention to a new industry which was started a few months ago, in the city, a real knitting factory, which is owned and operated by Wm. J, Parks, who by his long experience in manufacturing, in connection with the New Brunswick Cotton Mill bids fair to make the present enterprise a success.

He employs at present quite a number of hands and will require additional help shortly, as he has machinery on the way now, to increase his output. He is running all his force at present on one special line, for which he has a ready sale.

His customers say that these goods are the best value in the market, and if so why not encourage home industry.

A number of orders are already placed for spring delivery.

Mr. Parks will be found in Leitch's Building, corner of Waterloo and Union street.

It Might Be Her Last Visit.

[From Munsey's Weekly.]

First widow—Why Mrs. Verdant, what do you intend to do with the pail?

Second Widow—Well, you see, my poor husband requested that his grave be kept green, and as I am about to be married again, I thought I would give it a coat of green paint.

[From the Jeweller's Weekly]

I can do something you can't.

[From Time]

First Umbrella—Oh dear! My ribs ache and I'm sore all over.

Second Umbrella—Well I should think you would be, you were pretty well soaked when you were brought home last night.

Serene.

There are persons possessed of such wonderful self poise and serenity of soul that they never give way to the vulgar excitement of less evenly balanced persons.

A story is told of an old Quaker lady who was informed by a wildly excited man that her house was on fire.

"It is?" she said, rising calmly and dropping her knitting into her pocket, after she had carefully wound the loose yarn. "I thank thee for thy information, and now if thee will just go and sound the alarm, I will take my pies out of the oven, and be ready to tell the people what to carry out first."—Youth's Companion.

Early Bridges.

The first bridges were of wood, and the earliest of which we have any account was built in Rome 500 years B. C. The next was erected by Julius Cæsar for the passage of his army across the Rhine. Trajan's great bridge over the Danube, 4,770 feet long, was made of timber, with stone piers. The Romans also built the first stone bridge, which crossed the Tiber. Suspension bridges are of remote origin. A Chinese one mentioned by Kirchen, made of chains supporting a roadway 830 feet in length, was built A. D. 65, and is still to be seen. The first large iron bridge was erected over the Severn in 1777.—Chicago Ledger.

Collecting Tax.

A man named Frye, who lived on Tinker's Island, used to be the town collector of Mt. Desert. If he didn't get his money the first time he called, he had an original way of helping the delinquent to remember that he would come again. Taking a piece of chalk from his pocket, he would write the word "Tax" on the woodwork of the room in large letters; and the authority of the official is said to have been acknowleged so well that the chalk was allowed to remain there till time or the payment of the tax had rubbed it off.—Lewiston Journal.
