BY THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

Berlin, Dec. 14.—The Crown Prince of Prussia has informed the King that he cannot take up his residence at Hanover as desired by his Majesty, because his consort the Princess Royal of England refuses to become the Mistress of a castle that once belonged to the Crown of the Queen of England.

Hamburg, Dec. 14.—Herr Von Savigny has informed the President of the Senate of the free town of Hamburg that Prussia will not tolerate the conclusion of a separate treaty of navigation, with England, as proposed by the Senate.

Berlin, Dec. 14.—The German Parliament will consist of but one chamber. In conjunction with this assembly there will be a Federal Commission, composed of the different Governments belonging to the North German Confederation.

The Prussian Government insists that the military organization of the States of the Union should be identified, viz., identical to that as from in Prussia, in every detail, equipment, munitions and military exercise. Officers will be able to rise throughout the armies without reference to the contingents of the different States. The appointments of the officers must be ratified by the King of Prussia to whom the oath of allegiance must be made by every soldier.

London, Dec. 14. 1. p.m.—Advices received here from Sardinia, say, that the starving peasantry have revolted.

Constantinople, Dec. 12.—The Ports has appointed a Consul at Tenlswar, and the Austrian Government has refused the exequatur, because there is no other European Consul in the town. The Turkish Government thereupon forwarded the article of the Austro Turkish treaty of commerce, which grants Turkey the right to appoint Consuls in any Austrian town; but the Austrian Government, in its last note on the subject, persists in its refusal of the exequatur demanded.

Florence, Dec. 14.—Baron Molarat has, it is said, has given in his resignation as French Ambassador at the Italian Court, in consequence of the independent attitude assumed by Gen. Fleury in his negotiations with the Italian Government.

London, noon, Dec. 15.—Fenian arrests in Ireland continue. Much needless alarm prevails throughout the entire island.

Paris, Dec. 15.—In the case of the United States against Arman, the French Court ordered the United States to pay 150,000,000f. into Court as security, for costs of suit. The United States Consul said that legal steps have been adopted in France, but there was a more serious difficulty with England, probably in store, as the claim in her case was over 500,000,000f.

London, Dec. 14, 1, p. m.—It is rumoured here that the temporal power of His Holiness the Pope has been secured by an agreement made between the Emperor Napoleon and King Victor Emmanuel.

Burning Planets.—A Lebanon (Conn.) correspondent of a Hartfort paper says he firmly believes the earth will be bestroyed by fire, and substantiates his theory by stating that a few evenings since, while watching the firmament, with the moon at her full. his attention was attracted to a large star which stood a few degrees above the eastern horizon and apparently on fire. It represented very nearly a revolving beacon light—alternating in color-first, its face presented a bright crimson color, then followed a pale bluish tint. then it would relapse into its natural whiteness—presenting all the phenomena of a large conflagration when acted upon by a stormy wind. The star was being consumed by fire.

ENLARGEMENT OF THE SEMI-WEEKLY SIGNAL.—The Semi-Weekly Signal now comes to hand with an addition of a column to each page, and a little longer in the column. It is now about as large as any semi-weekly in the province, and will do for Goderich till it is changed into a daily, which we have no doubt will be in a very few years. —New Era Clinton.

Horrible Life in a Palace.

They bore a coffin from the Tuilleries the other day. Are you not disposed to envy the life of a man whose home was that palace? Known a cousin of the French Emperor. Would you not like to be a cousin of the French Emperor? He was the Prat Chamberlain and Superintendent of the Imperial Theatres. Wouldn't you give the world to be present at all the ceremonies of the Imperial Court, to have the distribution of the tickets to them, and to be the moral whose very sight wreathes in smiles the faces of haughtiest stage beauties, and whose draughts in their heart they dare not protest? Indeed you would! He had seventeen grand crosses of the highest selectest orders in Europe. Don't you envy him? Good reader, envy no man. I have seen many a spoiled child of Fortune in his dressing gown. I have never seen one I would have changed places with. Certainly Count Baciocch seemed dandled by Fortune tenderly as she ever dandled any one. He was born in gilded cradle, and he trod life on a carpet of roses; but he was the victim of disease, which tortured him with barbarous cruelty. It was one of those nervous diseases beyond the reach of medical science. He could not remain still either in a chair or in a bed, without suffering the acutest pain. The nerves of motion were affected. He transacted business on foot; he dictated letters and lists of invitations as he paced his office.—He listened to the performance of operas in his latticed box, which had no seat in it, and was covered with a thick carpet that he might walk during the whole performance. He saw ballets danced from the slips of the stage. Often he would take the dullest book issued from the press, have candles lighted in broad day light, and read the stupid work until he caught his heaviness and was composed to sleep. Sometimes sleep would not come even when so summoned; then he would walk until it did come; he would walk until he had so exhausted his body that the nerves were insensible to pain, and sleep would become necessary to life. On one occasion he walked without intermission for 36 hours, trying to subdue pain by fatigue. The soles of his feet were red, as if they had been boiled and blood had forced through all their pores. The emperor gave him rooms adjoining one of the largest passes of the Tuilleries, and had it covered with a thick Aubusson carpet, that the poor patient might enjoy his painful round with the least pain. He died of sheer exhaustion from want of sleep. Shortly before he died he murmured, "Norine! Norine!"—repeatedly. "What is that? Do you want anything? ask one of the persons present," "Don't question me," replied the fast dying man. Norine was a little shop-girl of Leghorn, his first love; she is now an old wrinkled shop keeper of that city, and has quite a large family. The dying man, though he had lived in palaces amid the rank and beauty of Europe, was familiar with the ornitiest women behind the footlights, thought of none of the pageantry and pomp of his career. They were vanity of vanities. All his thoughts belonged to the humble maiden whose eyes had returned his glance, and whose lips had first breathed love into his ear. This was the real in life's desert—the rest was all sand.—Paris Cor N. O.

VERDANT.—Some months ago a country clerical friend of an M. D. came to this city, and was invited by the doctor to go home with him and stay over night. After supper the guest was shown to his room the gas lit, and he left to retire. Some two hours after, the doctor 'smelt a mice,' and soon discovered that gas was leaking somewhere about the premises. His first thought was of his country friend, and so, to his room he went. Sure enough the gas was leaking. The gentleman, on being awakened, asked what was the matter. He was informed that the gas had not been shut off. With an air of sorrow, he rose up and looked over the foot of the bed at a spot on the floor under the burner, and asked with great innocence, 'Did it spill the carpet much, doctor?'

EVERY BODY SAYS SO.—That is all who have either used the article themselves or witnessed its effects when used by others; all such, and they are only fit to judge, are unanimous in the opinion that "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy" is superior to anything of the kind hereto fore or at present in use for Coughs, Colds, Thick Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of horses. As a Condition Medicine it has no equel; there is nothing in it which can injure a horse whether sick or well—nor need the horse be kept from working while using it; it is just the article which all who own horses require, and which they should have constantly on hand.

Mothers Read This—Hollaway's Worms Lozenges are a certain and safe remedy for Worms in Children and Adults.—As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.—The following are few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: deranged appetite, emaciated extreme ties, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep hardness of the belly, and frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, tremblings, coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh.

They are palatable and self-administered to the child—drive out the worms thoroughly without pain, and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics—as in the use of other worm medicine
