ODDS AND ENDS.

"It's a good conduct to be left alone," said an Irish lover, "especially when you happened to be wid ye."

An American editor says that the only reason why his house was not blown away during the late gale, was because there was a heavy mortgage upon it.

Isn't it very affecting to behold a mother, as he gives the bride away, weep? We know that for the last ten years she has been trying to get rid of his daughter.

A newspaper contains an account of the production of a new play, and says the audience "sat spell-bound." There were only four persons present. Two were deaf, and the other three were asleep.

We talk of the extravagance of modern ladies; Herodotus says that the revenues of Anthylla, in Egypt, a city of moderate magnitude, were alone given to the wife of the governor for her expenses in shoes.

Winter, which strips the leaves from around us, makes us see the distant regions they formerly concealed; so does old age rob us of our enjoyments, only to enlarge the prospect of the eternity before us.

A few days since a dun called on a young gentleman and presented his bill, when he was somewhat taken aback by the gentleman taking him aside, and blandly saying, 'My dear sir, call on Thursday, and I'll pay when to call again.'

A subscriber writes to an American editor in the West:—"I don't want your paper any longer." To which the editor replies, "I wouldn't make it any longer if you did; its present length suits me very well."

A man was indignantly exclaiming that his knife had been stolen, when at last one of his neighbours, whose garden had been robbed a short time previous, said to him, "I found your knife among my cabbages; how came it there?" The man was struck dumb.

A talking match lately came off at New Orleans for five dollars a side. It continued for thirteen hours, the rivals being a Frenchman and a Kentuckian. The bystanders and judges were all talked to sleep, and when they woke up in the morning they found the Frenchman dead, and the Kentuckian whispering in his ear.

A traveller, among narrations of wonders of foreign parts, declared he knew a cane a mile long. The company looked incredulous, and it was quite evident they were not prepared to swallow it, even if it should have been a sugar cane. 'Pray what kind of a cane was it?' asked a gentleman, sneeringly.—'It was a fowling-piece,' replied the traveller.

Happiness and virtue are twins which can never be divided; they are born and flourish, or can sicken and die together. They are the offsprings of good sense and innocence; and while they continue under the guidance of such parents they are invulnerable to injury, and incapable of decay.

A man once went to purchase a horse of a Quaker. 'Will he draw well?' asked the buyer. 'Thee will be pleased to see him draw.' The bargain was concluded, and the farmer tried the horse, but he would not stir a step. He returned and said, 'That horse will not draw an inch.' 'I did not tell thee it would draw, friend; I only remarked that it would please thee to see him draw; so it would me, but he never gratified me in that respect.'

It was formerly the practice among physicians to carry a cane having a hollow head, the top of which was gold, pierced with holes like a pepper-box. The top contained a small quantity of aromatic powder, or of snuff; and on entering a house or room where a disease supposed to be infectious prevailed, the doctor would strike his cane on the floor to agitate the powder, and then apply it to his nose. Hence all the old prints of physicians represent them with cases to their noses.

There is a story of an Irish newspaper editor, who, being left without assistance in a busy time, found himself unable to cope with all the intelligence—late, later, latest—that flowed in upon him; so that towards four in the morning he wound up his night's work by pouring a notice extraordinary in these words: "Owing to a most unusual pressure of matter, we are compelled to leave several of our columns blank!"

"Martha, dost thou love me?" asked a Quaker youth of one at whose shrine his fondest heart's feelings had been offered up. "Why, Seth," answered she, "we are commanded to love one another, are we not?"—"Ah, Martha! but dost thou regard me with that feeling the world calls love?"—"I hardly know what to tell thee, Seth; I have tried to bestow my love on all; but I have sometimes thought, perhaps, that thou wast getting more than thy share."

While Conrad III, Emperor of Germany, was besieging Guelph, Duke of Bavaria, in the Castle of Weinsberg, his commander received a message one morning from Guelph's wife, promising that the fort should instantly capitulate, provided she and the other women in the place were allowed to come out with as much as each of them could carry, and go whither they pleased. Her request was granted; and great was the astonishment of the Emperor when he saw the astute ladies marching forth, not loaded with jewels and knicknacks, as he had expected, but each with her husband on her back. An accommodation with Guelph and his adherents was the result, and there were no more sieges in Bavaria during the reign of Conrad III.

PUMPKINS FOR MILCH COWS.—Care being taken to scrape out the seeds, we have found pumpkins valuable for milch cows during the fall months, helping greatly to keep them up to their milk. Like beets and turnips, which according to analysis of the chemists, are of no recognizable value, so pumpkins tell their own tale in the increase of quantity and quality of milk; and being very easy of cultivation in the cornfield, should never be omitted on a dairy farm. If there is a vault or root cellar, they may be kept for three months, housing the crop up in their condition to the very period of their going into winter quarters. They will not fatten swine, and it is waste to feed them with pumpkins unless boiled or steamed, when if mixed with meal they answer a good purpose.—

THERE WILL BE NO PARTING THERE.—Not if your hair continues to fall as it now does. Get without delay a bottle of Bearine, dress the hair often with it. Bearine stops the hair from falling off and assists nature restore its natural vigor. Every druggist sells it.

ELECTRICITY.

THOMAS' Eclectric Eclectric Oil.

Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold!

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest Medicine ever made. One dose cures common Sore Throat. One bottle has cured an Old Rheumatic Cough. Fifty cents worth has cured Crick in the Back and the same quantity Lame Back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most sceptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes: "Send me4 doz. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; it's cures are truly wonderful." Wm. Maguire, of Franklin, writes, "I have sold all the agent left, it sells like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Lona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Eclectric Oil. I am nearly out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Eclectric Oil, I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed Cliverton, P. Q., write—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily in demand. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemuyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. Q. write—"Send us one gross Eclectric Oil, we find it to take well."

Manufactured by the Dominion Dye Works, Montreal.

Manufacturers and Consumers will now see as a result of the process adopted by Messrs. Spencer & Co., the importance of using Mr. Spencer's Dominion Fast Colors. Warranted Cotton.

A PUBLIC CAUTION.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills—Counterfeits—The manufacturers have discovered that in many parts of the United States, Canada, and throughout the B. N. American Provinces,

"Each Pot and Box" bears the British Government Stamp, with the words, "Holloway's Pills and Ointment, London," engraved thereon.

It has become necessary to make this announcement, because the New York Chemical Company (who pay nobody), finding at last that their name has been exposed, have assumed the title of "Holloway and Co.;" but, even now, no one will buy their medicines direct from them, so that they have made arrangements to supply exclusively the firm of Messrs. Henry and Co., of New York, with their so-called "Holloway's Pills and Ointment."

It is presumed that, from the large connection "Messrs. Henry and Co." have in the British Provinces and elsewhere, the public is very likely to be imposed upon by unscrupulous vendors and others unless they exercise great caution to prevent their being misled, by finding those medicines bearing a stamp with the name of "Holloway and Co., New York," printed thereon.

Many respectable Firms in the British Provinces, who obtain my medicines direct from here, have very properly suggested that I should, for the benefit of themselves and the public, insert their names in the papers, that it may be known that my medicines can be had genuine from them.

The following is a list of the Firms alluded to; and I particularly recommend those who desire to get my medicines to apply to some of the House

The medicines are sold at the lowest wholesale prices, in quantities of not less less than £20 worth—viz., 2s. 6d., 22s., and 34s per dozen boxes of Pills or pots of Ointment, for which remittances must be sent in advance.

Chemists and other vendors of Holloway's genuine Pills and Ointment may have their names inserted in the local papers if they will please apply here—

DOCTOR BALLOU'S OFFICE
No. 10½ King Street West,
Three doors from Yonge St., Toronto.

A SUMMARY of his ability we give below. A few of the numerous cases of our best citizens of note he performed when he was with us before, which is our guarantee, sufficient proof to anyone, that he is the one he claims to be, namely the only, which will be held to once every one he will take.

I desire that the citizens of Toronto and vicinity (to whom I am well known) should know of the wonderful cure that Dr. Ballou effected on my son, William J. Spence, in this city, on January 10th, 1874. He had a very severe attack of Rheumatism at Colborne, in a helpless condition, and was confined to his bed, on which we carried him to the Express Office, and brought him home, where he was treated by Dr. Ballou, having little hope that he would ever be cured, after seeing so many afflicted with the same disease. His cure was speedy and marvelous. After one month's treatment his pain completely left him, leaving him healthy and able to be about as well as ever, and he thinks he has, and is to this day, as well as he ever was. In any other age he would be considered almost a miracle, if there are any who doubt further proof let them come and see.

ACHIBALD SPRARS,
No. 420 Queen street West, Toronto.

I would cheerfully recommend Dr. Ballou to all my acquaintances, as his services to me were beyond all price, and I had tested the skill of the so-called best physicians.

D. A. CAMPBELL,
276 Sherbourne street.

Dr. Ballou cured me of Lung and Throat Disease in three treatments, when I was so weak that I could scarcely walk to his office.

KATE ROBINTER,

Dr. Ballou cured my daughter of Epileptic Fits which she had for eleven years, and the cover had one after his first treatment, and before it she had them as often as eight to fifteen times a week.

WM. F. McMULLIN,
Hamilton, Ont.

Many other cases of Rheumatism, Dyspepsia Dropsy, Liver and Lung Disease, Heart Disease &c., may be seen at his office.

The Doctor also cures Cancer, Paralysis, Spermatorrhœa, and is perfect master of all Sexual or Private diseases. Treatment strictly confidential, and all letters addressed to him at 10 King street, West, will be attended to. Box 2045. 1443-1y

THE SCIENCE OF ACCOUNTS.

DOCTOR JOHNSON, writing on the Science of Accounts, uses the following language, "That system which no condition of life can render useless, which must contribute to the advantage of all who buy or sell, of all that wish to keep or improve their possessions, of all that desire to be just, and all that desire to be wise."

The evils resulting from imperfect systems of Bookkeeping are great, and terminate in the insolvency and bankruptcy, not only of those who regulate their accounts by them, but also of innumerable unfortunate parties connected with them persons who have adopted imperfect systems of Bookkeeping. It is well known that a large proportion of the trading community adopt the old mode of single entry, on the disadvantages of which it is not necessary to enlarge, as it does not even possess the means, fallacious as they are in principle, of making the Ledger agree with itself. The Double Entry system generally in use is well calculated to cover fraudulent entries in the transactions of extensive business, is troublesome to keep and perplexing to balance. Comparatively, there are but few mercantile men whose books are carefully balanced. Indeed it would seem that the account of stock for the purpose of making an annual settlement of their affairs; and even many thinking men, who keep their books by double entry, find such difficulty in balancing that they very generally pass over small differences, and sometimes large ones, rather than go on forever examining the last twelve months' accounts. It is also common for small errors to be passed over as of no consequence; whereas the difference by the Italian system may be only the balance of numerous errors of uncertain amount, which may be exceedingly injurious, and should never be tolerated, especially in PARTNERSHIP CONCERNS. The question may now be pertinently asked, Why are so many students of Commercial Colleges found upon trial to be incompetent to the duties of a Bookkeeper? The answer is obvious,—the teachers generally are merely theoretic in their teaching—wanting that thorough practical acquaintance with bookkeeping and business customs which actual experience alone can give. How necessary then is it that the teachers in these institutions (professedly established for the imparting of a practical knowledge of Bookkeeping,) should themselves be practical men. With these facts before us, it is of importance that the many hundreds of young men who are annually coming into business life should have a thorough knowledge of accounts, and especially of that important matter, the BALANCING OF BOOKS. Their guardians should maturely consider this, and take care that the youths who are under their guidance shall study this science, as their services will not only become more valuable at the desks of their employers, but when they commence business for themselves will be more certain of success.

All admit the importance of KEEPING BOOKS simply and correctly, and most young men entering into business are anxious to become well-qualified Book-keepers, but where or how to obtain the requisite training is the problem.

Let the practical philosophy of these facts be impressed on the young Men of Canada, then shall Commercial Colleges resume their true status among the institutions of our land.
