THIRD PARTY SUGGESTED.

Trades and Labor Council Talk of the Matter.

When President George Bradley took the chair last evening at the usual fortnightly meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, the attendance was rather meagre. Before the business had progressed very far, however, this could scarcely be said, for delegates continued to file in until the hall was tolerably well filled.

The report of the Committee of Legislation was the first one presented and occasioned a great deal of discussion. The portion which seemed to provide a bone of contention to a large number of the members present was that in which the formation of a third party—advocating labor principles—was suggested; and the portion on which the energetic utterances of Delegate O'Donoghue were employed for fifteen minutes was that in which attention was called to the cruel struggle now going on in the lumbering district of the Ottawa. The former portion was ultimately referred back to the committee in order to allow the various subordinate unions an opportunity of discussing fully, before the next meeting of the council, the principles underlying the suggestion; while as to the latter, no very obvious results were evident.

The special committee on street railway matters could not mitigate the apathy displayed by citizens of Toronto in connection with the transfer of the franchise from civic control to that of the Kiely-Everett syndicate; and several of the speakers, during the discussion which followed the reading of the report, denounced in unmeasured terms the transfer system now in vogue as a fraud. The proposal to issue eight tickets for a quarter all day, in lieu of transfers, was objected to as not being in the interests of workingmen.

The report of the delegates from the Labor Council to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress was a very interesting summary of the incidents and discussions which transpired on that occasion.

In concluding business for the evening the council passed a resolution pledging its moral and pecuniary support to the strikers at Hull.

Fee System.

Editor World: Your correspondent "Ex-Deputy Registrar" has kindly come to the assistance of the registrars of curious returns with the suggestion that, as the registrars do not have to pay a rebate to the municipalities upon all the fees received by them, some of the small payments to the municipalities may be accounted for by the fact that the gross amount of fees shown in the returns may contain the fees received upon which no rebate is payable. I have looked again at the returns given by the registrars, and I must say, in justice to the registrars of Carleton and East Toronto, that under the head of "special receipts" for work connected with the transfers "of instruments paid by county treasurer, sub sec. 7," the registrar of Carleton says he received $2000, and Mr. Ryan says he received $1269.48. Taking the amount of $2000 from the registrar of Carleton's fees it makes his amount paid to his municipality about right; but how does it work with the registrar of East Toronto? If you deduct the $1269.48 from his gross receipts, as shown by his return, it leaves his net receipts at $17,163.15. The rebate to be paid by him on this amount to the city should be $6831.33, instead of, as shown by his return, $5562.09, and this sum is all that the City Treasurer received as shown on page 8 in his annual report of receipts and expenditures of the city of Toronto for 1890, so that your correspondent "ex-Deputy Registrar's" ingenious excuse doesn't quite fit East Toronto, if it does Carlton. I have not the annual report of receipts and expenditures for the County of Carlton, but I have those of the city of Toronto. I cannot check the Carlton registrar's statement, but I can check the City Treasurer's accounts, and I say that although the registrar for East Toronto puts in his account under the heading of "special receipts for work connected with the transfer of instruments paid by county treasurer, sub-section 7," the sum of $1269.48, as received by him from the City Treasurer, and this account, or return to the Government is or should be sworn to by the registrar. I say that I cannot find all through the annual report of our City Treasurer any such sum paid by him to the registrar, of East Toronto, and the only conclusion I can come to is that our poor treasurer is just $1269.48 out of pocket, a sum I should think he could ill afford to lose; I am sorry for him as he is a decent hard working little fellow, but I can come to no other conclusion after reading the registrar's sworn statement.

It is not, however, any particular registrar's account that I wish to call attention to, but to the injustice of the system of appointing politicians only to positions of public trust and paying them by fees or tax upon the general public and allowing them to levy the same themselves without their having the slightest fitness for the office they manage to wriggle themselves into. Take the East Toronto appointment as a fair specimen, and his net income, as admitted by himself, of $5721.50, capitalized worth $115,000. Now what does the public, the people of Ontario, and particularly the land owners of Toronto, who have to pay him, know of his services, not to the citizens of Toronto, but to the Province of Ontario? All that he has publicly done for the province is to get up at some dozen or so public meetings just before elections and make some blatant frothy statements, not by any means noted for their veracity, and very often not even of the slightest benefit to the party on whose behalf they were uttered. That is about all the public know about Mr. Peter Ryan politically. (Many a poor farmer's wife, however, distinctly remembers him and his agents commercially unto this day, through the shoddy cloth business.) Oh! says the wily politician, it isn't what he has done publicly for the province—it is what he has done privately for the party—and I challenge any of his friends and partizans to tell the people of Toronto what Mr. Ryan has done (if all his doings politically will bear the light of day) to entitle him to the gift of a sinecure of the value of $115,000 at the hands of an honest Government who have only the public good at heart.

I say, sir, that the system of rewarding needy politicians by offices of public trust and paying them by fees for doing nothing is not for the public good, and it can be plainly seen by its results. Look at the class of men who push themselves forward in the various political rings to represent the people in the Ontario Legislature and generally succeed in getting there; they are not men who have any particular aptitude for making or considering any proposed laws for the government of the country, but men whose whole scheme of political life is to gain some office, without having a single thought for the political welfare of their country. Watch them as they sit in the hall of legislative wisdom, listlessly tearing up pieces of paper, chewing gum, or otherwise intellectually amusing themselves until the time comes to vote, which they blindly do, at the beck and call of the few leaders of the party, sometimes against their own conscience (when they have any) and even against the interests of the constituents whom they are supposed to represent, for they dare not act independently for fear of losing their chance or turn of office. Of course there are some true patriots even in the Ontario Legislature, men whose sole political thoughts and actions are for the good of the people, and all honor to them, but their usefulness is dwarfed by the majority of the office-seekers, and always will be until the Government of the day cease to reward political sycophancy with public offices. C. M.

No Intermission.

Mr. M. Price, 15 Tabernacle-square, E. C. London, Eng., says: "I strained my wrist two years ago and the pain, which lasted without intermission, yielded like magic to the application of St. Jacobs Oil." Its effects are magical.

Off to Montreal.

Heintzman's Band, numbering 40, under the leadership of Herbert L. Clarke, will leave here Sunday evening at 8.35 for Montreal, via the Grand Trunk Road. They have been selected by the Montreal Exposition Co. to give a series of five concerts. During their stay there they will play in the evenings on Dominion-square, in front of the Windsor Hotel. The band will march from Heintzman's warerooms, King-street west, to-morrow evening to the Grand Trunk Station and discourse sweet music before departure of the fast eastern express. They will travel in a special car and be accompanied by Mr. George Heintzman.

A lady writes: "I was enabled to remove the corns, root and branch, by Holloway's Corn Cure." Others who have tried it have the same experience.

AT THE THEATRES.

Last Day of a Successful Week—Forthcoming Attractions.

Charles L. Davis' Comedy Company will appear at the Grand Opera House next Monday evening in the famous Yankee comedy "Alvin Joslin."

As a rural characterization "Alvin Joslin" has indisputably enjoyed a popularity which is seldom accorded to any other delineation of character on the dramatic stage. Alvin invariably draws crowded houses and amuses all who see him. In presenting this famous play, it has been mounted with much care, and more than ordinary attention has been paid to scenic detail.

Modjeska.

It is a genuine pleasure to announce the engagement of such a distinguished artiste and estimable lady as Mme. Helena Modjeska, the Countess Bossnta, who comes to the Grand Opera House the last half of next week in a round of legitimate characterizations. On Thursday evening she will be seen as "Rosalind" in Shakespeare's most famous comedy, "As You Like It"; Friday evening the great Spanish tragedy "Donna Diana," will be given. At the Saturday matinee Dumas' always popular love tragedy, "Camille," will be the bill, and Saturday evening the engagement closes with Shakespeare's immortal comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing," with Modjeska in her favorite role of "Beatrice."

Jacobs and Sparrow's Opera House.

Agnes Herndon, the popular favorite, will appear at Jacobs & Sparrow's Opera House in a nicely constructed version of her play, "La Belle Marie." The Troy Standard thus discourses on her appearance there last week: Miss Agnes Herndon appeared at the Griswold last evening in "La Belle Marie, or a Woman's Revenge." The plot is a rather ingenious one. The heroine, Jean Ingleside, is seduced by one George Leighton. In an encounter with her betrayer her father dies of heart disease in the excitement. Under the name of Marie his daughter, deeming herself disgraced and forsaken, proceeds to avenge his death. Made an heiress by one of her father's inventions, she directs the power of her great wealth against the house of Leighton, but is finally induced to concentrate her forces against George, who is finally made an outcast, a position to which he had previously endeavored to consign his younger brother. Miss Herndon assumed the roles of Jean and Marie in a way that won the applause of the audience and resulted in several curtain calls. She has a good company. The usual Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees will be held.

At the Academy.

"The Pearl of Pekin" was admired by a large house last night. There will be two performances to-day. Next week the popular and enthralling play of "Déger le Honte" will be the attraction.

Moore's Musee.

A young girl, whom Manager Moore claims breaks the record for tall women, will be on exhibition at Wonderland next week. She is just eight feet tall in her stocking feet, and is well proportioned and a handsome woman. She is a product of the State of Missouri, and was wasting her colossal sweetness on a Missouri farm when some museum man became stricken with the mammoth beauty. She is only 18 years of age, and has not yet stopped growing. Her father and mother, honest farmers of Missouri, accompany her everywhere, and delight in calling her their "little girl." She is different from ordinary freaks and never associates with them, and becomes real angry when any one applies that word to her. She is really quite a handsome woman, although, of course, her features are coarse. Besides Miss Ewing the museum offers this week Barney Nelson, the armless artist and an instructive silk industry exhibit. In the theatre will appear the Fitzgibbons family, composed of four children between 8 and 15 years of age, who do a very amusing musical sketch; a clever American juggler, whose name, Lenzo, alone would suggest another nationality to be his; Harry and Bessie Lee, with poetical visions, and the Johnson trio, in a laughable sketch entitled "The World's Fair."

THE SHORTAGE MAY REACH $75,000

Probing the Rascality of the Treasurer of the Catholic Knights of America.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 18.—The examination of the safe of Major O'Brien, the embezzling treasurer of the Catholic Knights of America, was completed to-day. It disclosed the fact that the shortage in the funds is at least $64,000, and may reach $75,000, most of which had accrued since April. There is no clue to the whereabouts of O'Brien.

Laying the Axe to the Roots.

A bylaw closing within six months all privy pits in the centre of the city has been prepared in the City Solicitor's office. The area affected is bounded by the Don, from the bay to Wellesley-street, thence west to Parliament-street, north to Bloor-street, thence to Jarvis-street and north to the city limits, west to Avenue-road, south to Bloor-street, west to Clinton-street, south to Mansfield-avenue, west to Bellwoods-avenue, south to Queen-street, west to Strachan-avenue, and thence south to the lake. If any owner fails to fill up and close a privy pit within a period of six months after the bylaw passes, the Medical Health Officer is to have power to close and fill up the pit, and the cost will be assessed on the property. The maximum penalty for non-compliance is $50 or three months in jail.

The Freaks of an Island Blast.

The wind blew a great gale yesterday afternoon on the Island shore. Boats and canoes that were lying on the lake side were lifted up by the wind bodily, carried through the air 40 feet and then dashed against the fence. The World saw on the south beach three boats in succession knocked into splinters. One boat was lifted over a four-foot fence. The ponds were full of stray boats. Captain Henderson of the Queen's Kilties was two hours in recovering the fragments of his boat. Mr. Diver, who lives near him, is still looking for his craft. A line full of clothes, rope and all, was blown from Mr. Drynan's yard over to the lighthouse, where it lodged in the lantern.
