Brig Emulous, Gates, arrived from London, for Dorchester, New Brunswick, was fallen in with on the 11th May, in lat 38 51, long 47 40, in a sinking condition, by the Howard, at New York, which vessel took off the crew. The brig sunk immediately afterwards.

The ship Sampson, New York Packet from London, struck on a rock near White Head, four leagues west of Cape Canseo, on the night of the 28th ult. which caused her to leak very much.—There were 150 passengers on board, who were safely landed at a small settlement called Torbay. The ship expected to get into White Head Harbour, either to repair or to be abandoned.

DARK DEEL SHIPWRECK.—The Quebec papers give an account of the loss of the barque Minstrel, with 140 passengers, from Limerick for the above port. The vessel ran on Red Ledge and Reef, in the Gulph of St. Lawrence; the boats were hoisted out, into which about 100 persons embarked. The vessel fell off suddenly into deep water, carrying down all the boats, they being fast-ned to the fore-chains, except the gig, the painter of which broke, and eight persons were saved in it, who landed on another island, and were taken off the next day, by a vessel bound up the Gulph. Total perished 148, among them Capt. Outerbridge.

Ship Alnwell, (previously reported to have gone ashore,) was bound to Rich bucto, not Quebec. The hull and part of the cargo saved from the wreck, sold at Arichat for about 500.

Brig St. Petersburg, Miller, of and from Sunderland, bound to Miramichi, went ashore on St. Pauls Island, crew and part of the materials saved—vessel will be lost.

Brig John Tanner, of and from Liverpool, G.B., bound to Miramichi, was stranded at Cape North, C. B., on the 15th ult. —crew saved.

HAVRE, May 10.—The Louis Philippe, N York packet ship, has this moment arrived. Information having reached the town that some shipwrecked seaman were on board, the report became general that they belonged to the President, and the excitement was beyond all description. On the arrival in dock, however, a strong body of the gendarmerie were in waiting, and immediately took into custody the mate and eight of the crew of the ship William Brown, bound from Liverpool to Philadelphia, which was sunk by an iceberg in the latter part of last month, for as yet I cannot give you precise dates for anything except that three men were taken from the Crescent, which vessel had picked them up in their long boat. But a tale of horror is to be told about them. It appears, when the vessel struck, thirtythree passengers, the mate and eight of the crew took to the long boat; the captain and three of the crew and eleven passengers took the jolly boat; all the rest sunk with the vessel. The boats parted in the night. Some days after the mate and crew determined, as they say, in order to lighten the boat, to throw seventeen of the passengers overboard, which they accomplished, and some of the most horrible and revolting scenes took place. There were two brothers and a sister of one family; the brothers were thrown over, and the sisters jumped in after them. One fine boy praved for a few moments to say his prayers; they refused, and hurled him into the sea at once.—Some clung to the boat, praying for mercy, but their hands were cut off, and they were pushed into the deep. Fifteen ladies and two men remained in the boat. One hour after this massacre, the Crescent fell in with the boat, and saved the survivors of this horrid deed. The passengers remained on board the Crescent, the crew arrived in the Ville de Lyon; they are now under examination before the American Consul.

MAY 13.—The American ship Crescent, Captain Bell, arrived here yesterday evening with the remainder of the passengers of the William Brown, who were saved in the long boat. The arrival of this vessel has confirmed all the horrid details given of the dreadful scene which took place during the night of tee 20th and 21st of April. Of the sixteen passengers who were thrown into the sea fourteen were men and two women; of the seventeen saved fifteen are women and two are men. One of these men was seized for the purpose of being throw overboard by the crew of the boat. He cried out to the men to save him, and not to tear him from his wife. The mate told the men not to separate man and wife, if it were possible to help it. He fell in the bottom of the boat, and was saved. A boy of twelve years old was thrown overboard. He caught hold of the boat, and, favoured by the darkness of the night, crouched under the bows and was saved. All the women saved are young, except the mother of a scotch family from Dumfriesshire, who with her five daughters and a servant girl was saved; her name is Edgar. Her husband and son are settled in Germantown, near Philadelphia.

A young woman, with her infant at the breast, succeeded in getting into the boat with her husband, they are amongst the survivors. His name is Patrick, from Cook's town, county Tyrone, the property of Colonel Stewart. Several persons from that gentleman's estate or neighbourhood have met with a watery grave. One family of the name of Leyden (sixteen in all) sunk with the vessel; another family, named Corr—father, mother, and five children, sunk at the same time; the little boy that was thrown from the boat was one of that family. He had not a soul left belonging to him. They were also from Colonel Stewart's property. A Mrs Anderson, with three children, who was going to join her husband, a medical gentleman settled in Cincinnati, sunk with the ship. Miss Anderson and a Miss Bradley were thrown into the sea from the long boat. The tales which the survivors relates are piteous, horrifying. The crew and passengers have been examined by the British and American consul this morning and the impression is that this dreadful act of throwing their fellow creatures overboard was of imperious necessity; but it is to be hoped the two consuls will give publicity to the examination in order that the public mind may be satisfied on this point. Truly the circumstance must be made out in the clearest way to palliate such an act. We have emigrant ships sailing every week, and if it is held as law that 'might is right,' it had better be declared so, and that the crew are justified under extremities in throwing overboard, who and as many as they think right, without casting lots, or making any choice than their will.—Post.

TO THE PUBLIC.

WE, the undersigned, passengers on board the John Wesley, of Cork, under the command of Capt. David Davis, of Passage-west, County of Cork, offer him our most sincere thanks and grateful acknowledgments for his kind attention and unremitting exertions to serve us during the voyage from that port to St John. We recommend him to any persons who are inclined to emigrate to the new world, and as an efficient Captain to take charge of any vessel. He behaved to us as a faithful friend, a tender father, and a kind physician. When he should be enjoying the sweets of repose he was administering relief to any of us indisposed. He never flinched from his post, but cleaved to it with the most undeviating rectitude and exemplary conduct, observing cleanliness and suppressing indisposition in every shape and form. His worthy Mate (Thomas Lloyd) and crew, behaved with decorum and candour to all on board, willing and indefatigable in their nautical vocations, and for the corroboration of the above we sign our signatures.
