JAPS ATTACK RUSSIANS AT MUKDEN TO CUT OFF KUROPATKIN'S RETREAT

Senate Reading Room
1jan05—100
SENATE PO

Prepare to Make General Advance and Put Into Effect a Wide Turning Movement Enveloping the Enemy.

St. Petersburg continues without official confirmation of the report that the Japanese are advancing north of Mukden, and the statement is therefore not credited at the Russian capital. Gen. Sakharoff reports that there was fighting in the vicinity of Mukden Friday or Saturday, but notes the arrival of reinforcements for the Japanese along the whole line of the Japanese front. The interval of quiet has afforded Gen. Kuropatkin opportunity to strengthen his defences, and he has received large reinforcements since his retreat to Mukden. There are indications of a revival of the struggle for the possession of Port Arthur.

CLOSING ON MUKDEN.

Mukden, Sept. 19.—The Japanese are re ported to be advancing on both flanks from the east, the southeast and the southwest.

The Russian outposts are closely engaged twenty miles southeast of Mukden.

Almost continual skirmishing is going on.

Twenty-six wounded arrived here today, belonging to Gen. Mishtchenko's detachment.

The detachment has begun to retreat.

FROM KUROKI.

London, Sept. 18.—A desepatch from Gen. Kuroki's headquarters, via Fusan, states that the Japanese front north of Liaoyang is now almost half way to Mukden, and is confronting Kuropatkin's outposts.

It is believed that Gen. Kuropatkin is removing his headquarters to Harbin.

ON TO HARBIN.

Tokio, Sept. 18.—The Russians are retiring upon Harbin.

Only two divisions, wit the complement of cavalry, are now south of the Hun River.

It is reported that the Japanese have reached Hslinglungpao and Shiliho, thirty and twenty-five miles, respectively, from Mukden.

A battle is expected at Shilho.

Forts are being erected by the Russians on the northern bank of the Sungari River, defending the railway bridge over the river.

Booms have been built above and below the bridge and a constant water patrol is maintained.

The Sungari River crosses the railway between Tieling and Harbin.

OYAMA REPORTS LOOT.

Tokio, Sept. 18.—(Noon.)—Marquis Oyama, commander-in-chief of the Japanese forces in the field, telegraphed this morning t hat Gen. Oku had reported having captured 18 prisoners at the battle of Liaoyang.

He also gave a detailed list of the Russian stores which Gen. Oku captured as follows:

Thirty horses.

Two thousand two hundred and eighty-eigh rifles.

One hundred and seventy-six ammunition wagons.

Five thousand eight hundred and ninety-two rounds of artillery.

Six hundred and fifty-nine thousand nine hundred and thirty small-arm cartridge.

Great quantities of timber, flour, rice, forage, engineering implements, clothing and accoutrements.

EARLY DEVELOPMENT EXPECTED.

Mukden, Sept. 18.—The armies having recovered from the effects of the recent fighting before Liaoyang, an early development of the situation may be expected. A mysterious movement eastward is on foot on the part of bands of young Chinese suitable for military service. All the leading Chinese who have aided the Rusisans are leaving Mukden.

MAKE CHINESE SOLDIERS.

Tokio, Sept. 18.—It is reported that the Russians compel the Chinese in Siberia to cut off their queues and enlist in the army at the front. Disobedience is punished with instant confiscation of property and death.

LIAOYANG DEFEAT COSTLY.

Paris, Sept. 18.—A despatch to The Journal from St. Petersburg states that the Russian losses at Liaoyang from Aug. 26 to Sept. 8 were two generals, 21,800 men and 133 guns. The value of the material lost, including the fortifications, is $30,000,000.

RUSSIAN TRANSPORT ASHORE.

London, Sept. 18.—A news agency despatch from Tokio says that a Russian transport carrying arms and ammunition from Shanghai to Vladivostock has stranded on Ituru Island. The prospects for floatin gher are small. Fifteen of her crew of Americans and Germans have landed.

KUROKI'S REPORT.

Tokio, Sept. 18.—An official report from Gen. Kuroki confirms the reports that on the morning of Sept. 4 his entire army, which is the most numerous of the three Japanese armies, was on the right bank of the Taitse River, and could, if the conditions of the fight had been favorable, have cut off the trops occupying Liaoyang from those operating on the right bank of the Taitse River.

BOY'S SAD DEATH.

Grimsby, Sept. 18.—A distressing accident occurred here this afternoon, by which Master Bert Mabey, second son of S. E. Mabey, lost his life. The boy was found dead in his father's slaughterhouse about 1 o'clock. It is not known how the accident occurred, but it is supposed that he was climbing up the windlass rope when he lost his hold and fell, the hook at the lower end of the rope catching under his chin and dislocating his neck.

JAPS SHELL MUKDEN.

London, Sept. 19.—It is asserted in a despatch from Tokio to The Express that the Japanese are vigorously shelling the Russian positions at Mukden, preparatory to a general advance, and endeavoring by a wide turning movement to cut off Gen. Kuropatkin's retreat. The Japanese armies, the despatch adds, are disposed in the same relative positions as in the fighting before Liaoyang.

Stoessel Expects Defeat Lets Civilians Leave Port

600 Japs Who Raised White Flag Annihilated by Russians and Japanese, One in Front and the Other From the Rear.

Chefoo, Sept. 18.—(9·30 p.m.)—According to Lieut. Prince Radizivil of the Russian army, who reached here last night from Port Arthur, bearing despatches from Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, the commander-in-chief of the forces of the Russian stronghold, to Gen. Kuropatkin, the temper of the belligerents at Port Arthur has reached an absolutely merciless stage.

Prince Radizivil declares that the men of both armies are absolutely venomous in their antagonism. Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel has addressed his garrison, saying that if the Japanese soldiers entered the fortress it undoubtedly will be impossible for their officers to control them and prevent a massacre. For this reason Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel is making no objection to civilians leaving Port Arthur. In consequence of the fact that flags of truce are ignored, numbers of dead Japanese who have been lying on the slopes of the hills of the northeast defences for weeks past are still unburied and the stench in Port Arthur from decomposing bodies is almost unendurable.

In the course of the assaults which took place in the four last days of August two companies of Japanese soldiers, according to Prince Radizivil, found themselves at the mercy of the Russians and hoisted a white flag. To this, however, the Russians paid no attention, and continued to volley rapidly into the helpless ranks of the Japanese. In the meantime Japanese troops in the rear of the company that had raised the white flag saw what their comrades had done and expressed their disapproval of the surrender by firing into their rear. As a result of this, 600 men were annihilated.

For days afterward the wounded men in this area raised fluttering handkerchiefs in their hands in pleas for help, but the Russians were afraid to venture out to give succor. Among the heaps of dead the prince saw two soldiers, one a Russian and the other a Japanese, lying locked in a death embrace. The teeth of the Japanese were sunk in the Russian's throat, while the Russian had forced two of his fingers into the eye sockets of his antagonist.

The prince cited this as merely an incident denoting the ferocity of the conflict at Port Arthur. The prince will leave here to-morrow to rejoin Gen. Kuropatkin.

CHILLS IN STORE FOR THEM.

Younghusband's Soldiers to Leave Lhassa on Sept. 23.

Lhassa, Sept. 16.—The departure of the British expedition has been fixed for Sept. 23. The weather is already cold, and there has been hard freezing. The men are ill-supplied with winter clothing and are likely to suffer in crossing the passes on the way to Gyangtse, where there are some stores of warm clothing.

By the emperor's order, the Chinese Amban has proclaimed Tashima Lama of Shigatse to succeed to the spiritual dignities of the Dalai Llama.

TO SOON ATTACK CAPITAL.

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 18.—According to despatches received here, the revolutionists of Paraguay are concentrating their land forces at towns parallel with the railway, and have cut off supplies and communications with Asuncion. It is evident that the revolutionists are planning to make an early attack upon the capital or to starve the government into submission.

Sale of the Heintzman & Co. Marquetry Baby Grand Piano of Exhibition Fame.

The very beautiful baby grand piano of the old firm of Heintzman & Co., that created such wide interest among the thousands of exhibitors at Canada's National Exhibition, has been sold to one of Toronto's most wealthy and cultured citizens. The piano is a genuine gem of art, being most artistically and delicately inlaid with satinwood. Hardly a word need be said of the musical propeities of this instrument. There is a beauty of tone and touch coupled with power in these pianos that has given them distinctive fame, both at home and abroad.

DIED ON NORTH KING.

Kingston, Sept. 18. — Thomas Barlow, chief engineer on the steamer North King, died on board this morning, having on the trip from Charlotte been attacked with paralysis. His body on the steamer's arrival was sent to his home on Johnston-street. He was about 65 years of age.

DIED AT WINGHAM.

Wingham, Sept. 18.—One of Wingham's merchants passed away early this morning, in the person of W. T. A. Fishleigh, hardware merchant. A few weeks ago he was walking thru his warehouse and struck his leg against the iron of a truck. There was no wound or bruise upon the flesh, but the bone must have been injured for it grew worse. A physician was allowed to operate, but it was too late. He died at 5 a.m. He was 29 years of age.

TOOK CHILD AWAY FROM FATHER

And Will Face a Charge of Abduction—A Family Matter.

John Traun, who lives at 171 Lippincott-street, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Detective Twigg on a charge of abduction. He was subsequently taken to Newmarket by a county constable.

The complainant is Edward Ingram of Newmarket. Up to four years ago Ingram and his wife and family had been living together. The wife left him on account of ill-treatment, it is claimed, leaving three children with their father. She came to Toronto, and has been living at Traun's house.

A short time ago Mrs. Ingram learned that her husband was said to be ill-treating and neglecting them. She prevailed on Traun to visit Newmarket and bring away the little girl, aged 10. This Traun did, without asking the father's permission. This led to the charge of abduction being laid.

Mrs. Ingram accompanied Traun and the child to Newmarket. She threatens to prosecute her husband on the charge of ill-using the children.

WERE PRICING DIAMOND RINGS,

But Had Only 50 Cents Between Them When Searched by Police.

William Henry, 82 Armstrong - avenue, and Mike Burns, 15 Wyatt-place, did not look kood to P. C. Allen on Saturday, especially when he saw them enter a number of jewelry stores and inspect expensive diamond rings, ranging in price from $50 to $100.

When they were leaving Chapman's store the officer took them to the station and laid a charge of vagrancy against them.

Upon being searched, it was found they had only fifty cents between them with which to purchase diamond rings.

BIG FIRE AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, Sept. 18.—(Special.)—Another big water front fire broke out about 1 o'clock this morning in the warehouse of Black Bros.' hardware store on their wharf.

Within an hour that building, another large building of Pickford and Black's, occupied as a warehouse and sail loft, a large fish warehouse and several other buildings were in flame and the fire is not yet under control.

So far losses are:
Black Bros., $35,000.
Pickford & Black, $15,000.
Thomas Forham, $2000.
Leslie, Hart & Son, $5000.

Another loser was J. A. Neville, who was burned out in last Thursday's fire and had taken temporary quarters in Pickford & Black's building.

ENGLAND MAY LOSE.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, Sept. 19.—A. Bailey, M.P. for Barkley West in the Cape parliament, told a deputation of Sussex Conservatives that England might eventually lose some of her colonies by making colonial questions party questions in Britain. An imperial council was the remedy for this giving representation to the colonies in proportion to their subscriptions towards some common imperial fund.

ONTARIO MAN KILLED.

Corelli and Carnegie.

London, Sept. 18.—Marie Corelli is now engaged on a novel in which Andrew Carnegie is said to figure prominently and unfavorably. The authoress has a poor opinion of Mr. Carnegie's character, owing to his action respecting the free library for Stratford-on-Avon, and even does not give him credit for making his own fortune, which she declares really was amassed by his brother.

GOWNING OF ANGLICANS DRIVES MEN FROM CHURCH

Rev. J. L. Gordon Passes Some Criticism Following Visit of Archbishop of Canterbury.

"Archbishop and Millionaire" was the subject of the address given by Rev. J. L. Gordon in Bond-street Congregational Church last evening, in which he advanced some very decided opinions. The archbishop was described. "And," continued Mr. Gordon "why is it that in the Church of England there are so many highly favored individuals with palatial homes and magnificent incomes, and so many clergymen who can scarcely keep soul and body together and to whom a new book once a year is a luxury?"

He did not wish to say anything injurious toward one of the mother churches that stood next to the Roman Catholic in historical importance. There were three books in the world—the Bible, Pilgrim's Progress and the Church of England prayer book. There was no book more beautiful than the prayer book. In the Anglican Church, in its three divisions, high, low and broad, he thought there might be found a place for him. Bishop Potter was being criticized for consecrating a saloon, but he was a man struggling with a great problem in the heart of a great city. Whatever might be said of the Anglican Church in the new world, at least it was turning its attention toward the every day issues. The finest of evangelical fervor was also to be found in that church represented by the distinguished individual who had passed thru this community.

"I am told that as he walked down the aisle of the Cathedral," went on Mr. Gordon, "the trail of his flowing garment was lifted by two pages who followed him and assisted him with that material burden." He had been reading the life of Phillips Brooks, who had said it was a pity that one had to wear such a garment. He had looked forward to his installation as bishop with dread and fear. He said there was no reason why bishops should be called upon to make fools of themselves by wearing such garments. It was vulgar display, something that women might be pleased at and children interested by.

Drives Men Away.

"I wish to tell the Anglicans of Toronto and of the world that the young men of this day and generation are driven away from the church of Jesus Christ by robings feminine in appearance and unmanly in their suggestion," said the speaker. In Cambridge he had seen men of the university robed and hatted. "If you are going to college there should be some way to distinguish you aside from that—possibly in the words you utter, possibly in the expression of your voice, or your superior intellect."

The archbishop would have done well to have come amongst us in humbler robes. "I believe that with any man, archbishop, bishop or deacon, that the grandest robe is the robe of his own manhood, and Edward the Seventh never seems to me so magnificent as when he sits robed in the habiliments of every day life. Give me the man as he stands before men; not as an individual robed like the prelate of a thousand years ago.

Degree a Waste of Time.

"The archbishop visited one of the educational institutions and received a degree. Here was a man coming to a city bearing more degrees than he knows what to do with from places that were old before Toronto was born. He did not need the degree, and we wonder if the university needed to give him the degree for its own strength or development. There is no university from which I would rather have a degree than the one to which I am referring, but why waste the time in attaching degree to degree, honor to honor and glory to glory? Is there not a work to be done—a salvation for humanity to be pressed on to a glorious consummation?"

The attitude of the Archbishop of Canterbury on education was warmly touched upon. "The Church of England represented by the archbishop in the house of lords insists that the children shall be educated according to the standards of the church, and your children going to school in England are taught to believe, if you are a Baptist or Presbyterian or Non-Conformist, that your chances of heaven or the hereafter are lessened."

Never a National Church.

There would never be a national church in the United States nor in this Dominion. We appreciated what the archbishop said about Canada, but he was the head of a corporation which was seeking to compel dissenters and non-conformists to submit to an education they did not believe in, and had no use for, taxing them for it and sending them to prison when they failed to submit, and confiscating their property. We could welcome our visitors and listen to them; then we should ask: "What do you stand for?" Then we would enter our protest when it was necessary.

THREE POSTULATES OF BIBLE WORK

Rev. Mr. Ritson Addresses Union Meeting of Parkdale Churches.

There was a large attendance at the mass meeting of the Parkdale churches at Dunn-avenue Methodist Church yesterday afternoon, when Rev. John E. Ritson of London, Eng., delivered his address in behalf of the Bible Society. Rev. Bernard Bryan of the Church of the Epiphany acted as chairman.

"To speak of the work of the Bible Society," said Mr. Ritson, "we must commence with three postulates. The first of these is that it is our duty as Christian men and women to evangelize the world. The second is that the Bible contains only that which can satisfy the longings of men. There are two things that stamp the Bible with the hallmark of divinity. It is the only explanation of things material and the only explanation of things spiritual. To give a satisfactory explanation of the beginning of the world we have to go to the Bible statements. Then the Holy Ghost is the ultimate interpreter of Scripture. It makes known the meaning of the Bible always by direct speaking in the human heart. We are the commissariat department of the church militant. Not only are we the commissariat but our Bible women and colporteurs and missionaries are in the very van of the fighting."

Armstrong Black Resigns Announcement a Surprise

Lines of Life and Duty Seem to Lead Him Whence He Came—Has Consulted No One.

Upon the fifth anniversary of his coming to Toronto, Dr. Armstrong Black yesterday announced to a thoroly surprised congregation that he had decided to go back to Scotland. No hint of any such decision had been received by any of his congregation until he announced it at the end of his sermon yesterday morning. He had received no call to another church, nor had he any immediate prospect of another pulpit, but he was impelled only by a feeling that he should return to the land which was his home, he said.

There has not been the slightest dissension among the members of the congregation, and nothing but the best feeling exists. Dr. Black has never hinted such a thing to his brother ministers, except that he had been known to remark that he came to Canada too late in life to ever make it his home.

He declined to be interviewed on the subject afterwards, having, he said, made all the explanation that was necessary to his congregation in the morning.

When he had concluded his morning sermon, Dr. Black, with evident emotion, intimated that he had something of importance to say.

Relations Most Harmonious.

"Five years ago to-day I stood in this pulpit for the first time, and began a very happy ministry. Born under other skies, having served the church under other conditions, and knowing only the atmosphere and habits of life in another land, I realized the uncertainties of the situation, and bespoke your forbearance. To the fullest measure, that has been extended to me, and never did anyone minister to a more generous and pleasant people than I have found in you from then till now.

"At this moment no suspicion of strain exists between me and any member of this church, no cloud, not even a passing one, has cast a shadow over our relations as minister and people; and not one of you but believes that the ties between us were to be drawn even closer still. And yet it is mine to say the sore word that points to change and parting.

No Word to Anyone.

"I have not in this matter hinted to one of my officebearers—they are noble men, and from first to last, and in everything, have nobly supported me, and if I have erred in not first acquainting them, they will forgive an error of my judgment, not of my heart, towards them; I have not whispered of this matter beyond the inner circle of my affections; I have elected to speak for the right of it to you all, as I do now. I contemplate nothing abrupt or hasty, but the lines of life and duty have for some time seemed to lead me whence I came, and the deep voice, which I may not question, now seems to bid me. So I intimate to you my desire to resign my charge of this congregation and return home at such time and after such arrangements as shall be least inconvenient to you.

Nothing in Sight.

"It is usual for a minister to secure for himself another sphere, and then and there leave his people; in loyalty to you, I have not entertained even a suggestion of this course. I am creating the situation, and I shall bear with you my full share of its inconvenience; and if you so desire, you shall have the best of my services until you are in sight of a nother to take my place.

Rev. Armstrong Black.

all which I say with much humility in willingness to submit in all things to the disposal of an all wise and gracious Providence.

"One word more. Do not suppose I say all this without strongest emotion. To remove from the centre of such kindness as this congregation, and the people of Toronto have been only as a wider circle of friends who have seemed as if they wished to outvie in kindness—to leave, I say, such a centre of kindness and to remove from it one kindness to whom comes nearer my heart than any kindness to myself would bring no slight pang to a man of harder nature than mine.

Parting Means Much.

"To leave a congregation that bears so distinctive a character and that has such fine instincts and ideals in service, and which even the man in the street knows to be unique in its position in this city, means much to me, who will ever be proud to have been its minister. God forbid that I should glory or boast, but I find comfort in knowing the congregation has not lost in strength and has increased in material prosperity during these five years, in spite of the steady flow of the population away from the church, and I believe that I leave this sphere of work freer and easier for anyone that may occupy it after me.

Sacrifices No Friendships.

"I find comfort also in believing that not one of the precious friendships which I have formed in this church and city will be either estranged or strained by what I now do, and I know that the memory of these years with you and the inspiration of having breathed the air of Canada's buoyant life will remain with me as a most precious possession while my life lasts."

Rev. Dr. Black received his education in Edinburgh, and was for many years pastor of the Palmerston U. P. Church in that city. From there he went to Kilgraeggan-on-the-Clyde, and thence to Birkenhead, from which place he came to Toronto, succeeding Rev. Dr. McCaughan, now of Chicago.

Members of the church board, when spoken to yesterday, were unable to give any definite statement as to what action will be taken. There is, however, no hope entertained that Dr. Black can be induced to alter his decision, and it is only an arrangement to secure his continuance as pastor until such time as a successor can be found that is expected. A meeting will be held as soon as possible.

Presbyterian ministers thruout the city received the intimation with genuine surprise.

FROST VISITS THE WEST QUALITY OF WHEAT GOOD

But Proportion Suitable for Export Will Be Less Than Last Year.

Winnipeg, Sept. 18.—(Special.)—The weather has again taken a colder turn and frost is expected to-night. However, the bulk of the Manitoban crop is now harvested and little further damage will be done.

In the Territories a considerable portion of the wheat remains uncut and the climatic conditions of the last few days have not been suitable to harvesting operations, there being showers by day and white frost at night.

Wheat still comes forward slowly, but its quality so far is quite equal to last year, the bulk of it not grading lower than No. 2 northern. This, however, is the threshing results of early wheat and it is improbable the general average will be maintained at that level. The proportion of grain suitable for export promises to be less than last season.

DR. MILLIGAN OPPOSES UNION OF THE CHURCHES

Utters Note of Warning and Says the Sects Would Not Long Agree.

During his sermon yesterday morning, at Old St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. Milligan raised a dissenting voice against the proposed organic union of the churches

He said his experiences in Scotland had taught him that union of different creeds could not be attended with success.

Should the proposed federation of the Presbyterian churches be accomplished, it might be possible to set aside certain days for baptism, whether by immersion or otherwise, and for other rites peculiar to each sect, but he did not believe the different sections would long agree.

Some might hold out for a week, and some a year, but the ultimate result would be disagreement.

It was time to pass a word of caution. Each church had its own "genius," and the Presbyterian Church had its own genius. He was opposed to any scheme that would do away with it.

PRINCIPLES TO THE WINDS TO SERVE PARTY FRIENDS

President Flett's Address to Trades Congress Deals Strongly With Labor's Position in Parliament.

Montreal, Sept. 18.—(Special.)—The 20th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will open here to-morrow. Delegates from all over the country are arriving, and the attendance promises to be very large. The business before the convention contains much matter of importance to organized labor, and some lively talking is expected, especially when the discussion reaches the question of the congress taking some sort "of active participation in politics."

To-morrow afternoon President John Flett will present his address, and under the caption of "Legislative," he will say:

"The last session of the federal parliament can be truthfully said to have devoted the major portion of its time to the interests of corporations. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway again occupied the attention of that body. Not satisfied with their agreement, they demanded further concessions, and got them, despite a resolution introduced by the opposition that the government of this country should build and control the road in the interest of the people—a direct move along the lines of public ownership, and which, I regret to say, only received the usual party vote—some of the alleged reformers and friends of labor voting against the measure so wedded to their idol of party that hitherto professed principles were thrown to the winds in their anxiety to serve their political friends. Hybrid politicians of this type make the election of direct labor representatives very difficult, owing to the misgivings of those who might feel inclined to support our real friends when nominated for representatives.

Fate of Two Important Bills.

"The union label bill was introduced by Ralph Smith in the early part of the session. After it had been introduced, a new and extraordinary ruling was given by the Speaker, that a resolution should be passed by the house before the introduction of the bill. This having been complied with, still the bill was not advanced ,altho the government promised to set a day for consideration. They failed to keep their word, and the bill never received the consideration due it, altho sought for by a most important part of the community.

"Another important measure in the interest of the common people was introduced by Sir William Mulock, the minister of labor—a bill to consolidate and amend the act respecting alien labor. One of the provisions in this act dealt with the importation of aliens on false representation, and was intended to apply to cases such as the Italians brought to Montreal by Labor Agent Antonio Cordasco, and other like frauds perpetrated upon immigrants by the emissaries and agents of the manufacturers' and employers' associ-

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED.

Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 18.—(Special.) — Passenger train No. 2, eastbound, was ditched at Dexter this morning. Some of the cars were wrecked. No person was injured. A wrecking train from Fort William cleared the track, and the train arrived here twelve hours late.

Something Doing Every Minute.

Toronto has been aptly called the convention city, but when there is no convention there's something just as good in a race meet or some other function. This week it's a race meet and we're all prepared to give our visitors a welcome. Dineen Company, the hatters, have imported some real good things in fall hats by both English and American makers. See the new King Edward derby.

TO REAL ESTATE MEN

READ THE FOLLOWING LETTER FROM WINNIPEG.

OFFICE OF BOWERMAN & CO.,
Real Estate Brokers,
Winnipeg, Man., May 4, 1904.

H. E. Smallpeice, Esq.,
Advertising Manager,
The Toronto World:

Dear Sir,—In answer to our advertisement offering Winnipeg real estate, published in The Toronto World, we received dozens of letters from investors in Toronto and towns in the vicinity. As a result the three hundred lots we offered were sold within a week of the first appearance of the "ad." and we had to telegraph instructions to make an announcement to that effect, so numerous were the inquiries.

Yours very truly,
BOWERMAN & CO., per T.M.B.
