Humorous Items.

"Industry must prosper," as the man said when holding the baby while his wife chopped wood.

PROBLEM.—What two numbers are they whose sum, difference, quotient and product make together, 1836?

EDITORIAL APPEAL.—An editor announces the arrival of the twelfth responsibility at the house, and makes the following appeal thereafter: "More subscribers wanted immediately at this office."

THE LESS SAID THE BETTER.—'My German friend, how long have you been Married?' 'Vell dis am a ting I seldom don't likes to talk about, but ven I dus, it seems to me about as long as it never vos.'

"That cat has got a cold," said a friend to Jerrold, pointing to a domestic favorite.—"Yes," Jerrold replied, "the poor thing is subject to cat-arrh."

A young man in Massachusetts one applied to a worthy farmer for the hand of his daughter. The father consented, and said as the young man was about to leave his presence; 'I feel bound to tell you, sir, that she is the most even-tempered woman I ever knew. She is always mad.'

TIPPING THEM LATIN.—Andrew Jackson was once making a stump speech in a country village out West. Just as he was concluding Amos Kendall, who sat behind him, whispered "Tip'em a little Latin, General; they won't be satisfied without it. The "Hero of New Orleans," instantly thought of a few phrases he knew, and in a voice of thunder, wound up his speech by exclaiming:—Epluribus unum! sine qua non! ne plus ultra! mathum in parvo? The effect was tremendous, and the shouts could be heard for miles.

☞ 'If you go on in that way, sir,' said a prisoner in dock to his counsel, who was defending him with force and fury, and abusing Judge and Jury in good set terms—'if you go on that way, sir, they'll hang me, I know they will.' 'Never mind, my boy,' replied the counsel, an Irish gentleman, carried away by his own eloquence—'never mind, my boy; let them hang you, and I'll make them repent it.'

☞ A man coming home late one night, a little more than half seas over, feeling very thirsty, procured a glass of water and drank it. In doing so he swallowed a small ball of silk that lay in the bottom of the tumbler, the end catching in his teeth. Feeling something in his mouth and not knowing what it was, he began pulling at the end, and the little ball unrolling he soon had several feet in his hands, and still no end apparently. Terrified, he shouted at the top of his voice, 'Wife! wife! I say wife, come here! I'm unravelling!'

☞ At a meeting in New York, a resolution was adopted requesting the President to send a national ship to Charleston harbor to convey thither Gen. Robert Anderson, that he may replace upon the flagstaff of Fort Sumter that national banner which on the 13th of April, 1861, he was compelled to lower at the dictation of the traitors of South Carolina.

☞ A peculiar case is before one of the Montreal courts. A deaf and dumb man was charged with larceny and a jury sworn to try whether the man was mute by the visitation of God or by malice. Witnesses proved that he had been mute for years, verdict accordingly. The same jury were then sworn in relation to his soundness of mind; this being proved, the prisoner's counsel pleaded not guilty.

A writer in Blackwood professes to know all the English woman abroad who write travels, and he says "that they all sketch; most of them are short-sighted and wear thick boots and spectacles, very little crinoline, and what there is of it rather long. The younger ones are reserved, the older ones gushing."

A immense cave, nearly as large as the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, has recently been discovered about ten miles from Fort Reby, California. It has been explored to the distance of half a mile. It was found to be an immense subterranean lake of clear water, with high walls of limestone on either side. The ceiling or arch is fifty feet high. The party explored it to the distance of half a mile in skiffs, and finding no indications of a stopping-place, returned to explore it further at some future time.

The World's Washington correspondent states that, notwithstanding the notice lately given in that respect, the naval force of the United States upon the upper Lakes shall be the same which was stipulated by the Treaty of April, 1817.

By the returns of the Register General of Ireland for the year 1864 it appears that 84,586 persons left the country up to the end of July, being an increase of 41,080 on the number for the previous year. Since the 1st of May, 1851, the total emigration has been 1,499,642 persons.

☞ A very sad accident recently happened on the ice at Wendover, Buckinghamshire. Two little girls, sisters, aged respectively six and seven years, fell though the ice and sank immediately. Another child following them also sank, and her sister, aged sixteen, rushing to her rescue, shared the same fate. The whole of them were drowned.

The Duke and Duchess of Beaufort were snowed up for several hours lately, while travelling with post horses between Tedworth and Everleigh, in Somersetshire. Many men with spades were required to dig their graces out.

TROOPS FOR LONDON.—The London Advertiser has received reliable information that the troops will return to London immediately.

☞ William Delany, a private in the 30th Regiment, was tried at Montreal on the 1st, and convicted of desertion, for which he was sentenced to five years' penal servitude.

A coloured girl named Mary E. Chaois has been sent to the Michigan State Prison for a term of ten years for setting fire to her employer's house four different times.

A correspondent says that in the county of Halton the Dunkin Temperance Act is strictly enforced, so much so, that the doors of the taverns in Oakville are hung with black crape, as an acknowledgment of the death and burial of King Alcohol.

The St. Catharines Journal states that on Tuesday, one of the Captains of a volunteer company at Niagara eloped with a lady from that town, and proceeded to the "other side," where the nuptial knot was tied. Who is the Captain.

The Montreal Gazette states that a new locomotive has been turned out of the Grand Trunk Railway workshops in that city six teen more are rapidly approaching completion in the same shops.

WHAT A ONE-LEGGED MAN CAN DO.—A young man named Crockett, who lost a leg above the knee, on the Boston and Maine Railroad, when a child, can perform feats, with one foot, that few if any lads of his age in this neighborhood can perform with two feet. He will swim like a duck; he can run as fast as the fastest, bounding on like a deer; and his skating is marvelous. A dozen lads may skate with him on the ice, but he is sure to come out ahead. Nor is it in a straight course alone that he shows his speed; with a crutch in one hand and a skate upon the foot, he will defy them to catch him, and dodge as nimbly as a cat. We doubt if there is a boy that can jump higher. He will leap a fence as high as his head; and surprises his associates by standing back to a fence that will come to his shoulders, turning a somersault and coming down right end upon the other side. It is very doubtful had the two legs remained to him, if he would ever have developed so much spring and activity. He has made up in training what he lost by accident.—Newburyport Herald.

NARROW ESCAPE.—The Globe's Quebec special says—Messrs. Sandfield Macdonald and Hillyard Cameron had a narrow escape in returning from dinner at Lord Monack's last night. The driver of their cariole entered into a race with a confrere at a furious pace, which was kept up neck and neck some time. On nearing the narrow-walled and serpentine entrance to St. Louis Gate, Mr. Macdonald, fearing a collision, sprang out, and falling on his face, received a severe cut on the forehead. Mr. Cameron remained in, and was thrown out on the snow the next moment, without injury. Mr. Macdonald is confined to his room, suffering somewhat from the shock. The carters, as a body, here have long passed beyond the control of the city government, and are reckless of the lives of passengers.

CULTIVATING POTATOES.—The Rural American says: "With proper implements there is no necessity for hand-hoeing potatoes at all, except on land that is very weedy; and three-fourths of the weeds may be kept down by a little management when the potatoes are planted. We plant in drills, three feet apart, made with a one horse plow; drop and then cover with the plow, turning a shallow furrow to the centre of the rows, on each side, and leaving the land in ridges. In about twenty days, when the potatoes have grown near to the surface, when the grown is level take an ordinary harrow, turn it over teeth up, place a few large stones on the forward part of it, and drag your potato land crosswise of the ridges until the ground is smooth; and the potatoes will come up clean of weeds, and at hoeing time will not require half the labor that they would if this system had not been adopted."
