WHAT DECEMBER SAYS.

Open your hearts, ere I am gone,
And hear my old, old story,
For I am the month that first looked down
On the beautiful Babe of Glory,
You never must call me lone and drear
Because no birds are singing:
Open your hearts and you shall hear
The song of the angels ringing.

Open your hearts and hear the feet
Of the Star-led Wise Men olden;
Bring out your treasures of incense sweet;
Lay down your offerings golden;
You say you look, but you see no sight
Of the wonderful Babe I'm telling;
You say they have carried him off by night
From Bethlehem's lowly dwelling.

Open your hearts, and seek the door
Where the always poor are staying,
For this is the story, forevermore,
The Master's voice is saying:
Inasmuch as ye do it unto them,
The poor, the weak, and the stranger,
Ye do it to Jesus of Bethlehem,
The Babe of the star-lit manger.

Personalities and Ill-Report.

Keep clear of personalities in general conversation. Talk of things, objects and thoughts. The smallest minds occupy themselves with persons. Personalities must sometimes be talked, because we have to learn and find out the men's characteristics for legitimate objects; but it is to be with confidential persons. Poor Burns wrote and did many foolish things, but he was wise when he wrote to a young friend:

Aye, tell your story free, off-hand,
When wi' a bosom crony;
But still keep something to yourself
You'll scarcely tell to ony.

Do not needlessly report ill of others. There are times when we are compelled to say, "I do not think Bouncer a true and honest man." But when there is no need to express an opinion let poor Bouncer swagger away. Others would take his measure, no doubt, and save you the trouble of analyzing him and instructing them. And as far as possible dwell on the good side of human beings. There are family boards where a constant process of depreciating, assigning motives, and cutting up character goes forward; they are not pleasant places. One who is not healthy does not wish to dine at a dissecting table.

Recent geological investigations show the existence of vast coal districts in the west and northwest of China. They are said to cover an area of 30,000 square miles, the veins lying perfectly horizontal.

Let a boy or young man apply himself with all his energies to what he has in hand, and his activity and energy will be abundantly rewarded.

"The difference between one man and another," says Dr. Arnold, "is not so much in talent as in energy."
