PARNELL ON PROTECTION

A PILL THAT ENGLAND WILL HAVE TO SWALLOW.

The Only Terms With Which Ireland Will Be Satisfied—The Right to Entirely Control Her Own Affairs.

WICKLOW, Oct. 6.—Mr. Parnell in his speech yesterday said: "The English press and English leaders practically admit Irish affairs cannot be allowed to continue as they exist, and that it is impossible to keep unwilling people and unwilling representatives in a forced legislative connection with the other two kingdoms. They admit that there must be some change, but that two conditions shall accompany this change. First, that the separation of Ireland from England shall not be a consequence of granting legislative independence to Ireland; and, second, that we shall not be allowed to protect our manufactures at the cost of those of England. Mr. Gladstone's manifesto declares that he is willing to consider our demand, provided it is granted that it does not involve separation. Mr. Chamberlain declares that he is willing to give a legislature of some kind, provided it has not power to protect our manufactures against those of England. I have claimed for Ireland's parliament that it shall have power to protect Irish manufactures should that be the will of the Irish people. I have claimed that no parliamentary assembly in Ireland will work satisfactorily which has not full power over Irish affairs, and which has not full power to raise a revenue for the purpose of our government as shall seem fit to the assembly. I have an opinion that it would be wise to protect certain Irish industries, at all events for a time. Ireland could never be a manufacturing nation of such importance as to be able to compete with England, but several industries could be made to thrive here, although we should be compelled to seek other than our own supplies from English markets on account of natural causes. I tell the English radicals and liberals it is useless to talk of their desire to do justice to Ireland when from motives of selfishness they refuse to repair the most manifest inequalities of all, namely the destruction of our manufactures by England in times past. It would be preposterous to ask England to concede to us an engine which we announced our intention to use for bringing about separation, but there is a great difference between having such an intention and giving counter guarantees against carrying it out. It is not possible for human intelligence to forecast the future in such matters, but we can point to the fact that under the last eighty-five years of her parliamentary connection with England Ireland has become intensely disloyal, and intensely disaffected. That notwithstanding the alternate policy of conciliation and coercion disaffection has broadened and deepened from day to day. It is admitted that the present system cannot go on. What are you going to put in its place? My advice to English statesmen in considering this question would be trust the Irish people altogether or trust them not at all. Give our people power to legislate on all domestic concerns, and you may depend on one thing that the desire for separation at least will not be increased or intensified. Whatever chance the English rulers may have of drawing to themselves the affection of the Irish people lies in their destroying the abominable system of legislative union, and by conceding fully and freely to Ireland the right to manage her own affairs. We can show that power has been freely conceded to great colonies to protect their industries against those of England. In these colonies disaffection has disappeared, and while Irishmen going to America carry with them a burning hatred against English rule, and bequeath it to their children, the Irishman who goes to Australia and finds a different system of English rule becomes a loyal citizen and a strength and a prop to the community in which his lot is cast. I say it is possible, and it is the duty of the English statesmen of to-day to inquire into and examine these facts for themselves, and to cease the task they admit to be impossible, that of going forward in continued misgovernment."

A mighty shout went up as Mr. Parnell concluded his speech. Father Moylan of Cavan presented to the great leader a magnificent watch which had been sent to him by American sympathizers.

The English Press on the Speech.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Telegraph says Mr. Parnell held almost regal court yesterday at Wicklow amid the frantic adulations of his followers. He concludes thus: "What we are witnessing at Wicklow is a conspiracy to paralyze the parliament of Great Britain in order that an Irish house of commons may tax British products and maintain a host of police volunteers in armed menace of British peace and security."

The Times says it is impossible to disguise the fact that the government of Ireland has passed or is rapidly passing out of the hands of her majesty's ministers.

An Example to the Rest of Ireland.

DUBLIN, Oct. 6.—Freeman's Journal says: "The convention is in every respect a model to the rest of Ireland to be followed as a unanimous example by convention after convention, until the popular party going into the electoral battle absolutely unanimous, thoroughly organized, and having selected the best and truest men to represent the national demand in parliament, shall practically enforce the unanimous voice of the Irish people."

Dillon on the Price of Land.

DUBLIN, Oct. 7. John Dillon, presiding at a meeting of the National league here to-day, warned those tenants who contemplated an immediate purchase of land not to pay more than the amount of ten years' rental of the same. The people, he said, must either buy or fight for the land, and the price he indicated was, in his opinion, a fair compensation to the landlord. It was announced that the parliament fund amounted to $5000.

SIR CHARLES IN CHELSEA.

The Newly Created Benedict Addresses His Constituents.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Sir Charles Dilke spoke at Chelsea to-day. He taunted Lord Salisbury with weakly concurring with German annexation everywhere. He warned the government that France intended to dominate Burmah. He advised the cabinet to confer upon Ireland the widest elective self-government compatible with the integrity of the empire. It was impossible, he said, to justify the castle system.

The German-Spanish Agreement.

Prince Bismarck has writ en a friendly letter to the pope, thanking him in the name of Germany for the interest his holiness has taken in the question. A HORROR AT HOBOKEN.

A Child Found Dabbling in its Mother's Blood.

HOBOKEN, N.J., Oct. 7.—George H. Disque, a moulder, aged 31, entered the police station to-day and informed the officer in charge that he had cut his wife's throat. He handed him the key of his apartments and officers were sent to investigate. On the bare floor of the front room of the second floor the officers discovered a woman with her throat horribly gashed and the blood running over the floor. A baby boy aged about seven months sat beside the woman, patting the blood pools with its hands. A physician was summoned and he found life extinct when he arrived. Lying on a wash stand near the body the officers found an old fashioned ivory pocket knife. The largest blade, about four inches in length, was open and covered with blood. Disque was afterwards arraigned and stated that he went home sober this afternoon and found his wife intoxicated. A strange man emerged from his wife's bedroom as he entered, and went down stairs without speaking. His wife asserted that he was an insurance agent, who desired to increase the insurance on their three children, and that he went into the bedroom to look for the insurance books. Disque charged his wife with falsehood, when, he alleges, she secured a penknife and advanced upon him with it. In the struggle that followed, he says, they fell to the floor, and the knife entered her throat. Disque was held for murder. The county physician found the fatal wound to be eight inches in extent. The knife had entered below the ear and had been drawn to the extremity of the right jawbone. There were no other marks of violence on the body.

Robinson presided, and introduced the speaker in a neat speech. Dr. Newman described the deceased general as the essence of self-abnegation, self-control and self consecration. The fulfilment of duty was his desire; he saved the union. Sincerity was traceable in every fibre of his being. A vote of thanks was tendered to the lecturer and to the chairman.

Having Fun with the Firemen.

Robert Wood (colored), living at 24 Chestnut street, was on a drunk yesterday and undertook to have some fun with the firemen. Securing an alarm key he rang up box 17 at Queen and Simcoe streets. Wood was collared by a policeman before he could strike another box. The magistrate will tend to him this forenoon.

MORE RIOTS IN MONTREAL

AN ATTACK ON THE EXHIBITION BUILDINGS.

The Soldiers Called Upon to Disperse the Mob—Several People Injured—Decrease in the Daily Number of Deaths.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—The official returns at Montreal health office to-day show nineteen deaths from smallpox yesterday in the city, four in St. Jean Baptiste village and one in Ste. Cunegonde. Out of 818 deaths in the city during the month of September 714 were children and 104 adults.

About 300 rioters attacked the guard at the exhibition grounds to-night and threw stones at the cavalry. The full guard of the Montreal garrison artillery were then turned out under command of Major Atkinson and the rioters were soon dispersed. About fifty men were noticed crossing over from the west end of the city to join those who were already stationed at Wiseman's. When the crowd collected they began throwing stones at the cavalry. Two cavalrymen were injured, as also Lieut. Howard of the garrison artillery, in the hand. Surgeon Cameron of the artillery dressed the wounds. Everything is quiet at this hour, midnight.

The names of the injured cavalry men are: Corp. Drysdale and Trumpeter Browning. The latter was badly cut across the root of the nose, which was dressed by Regimental Surgeon Cameron. At midnight Browning was progressing favorably. Two prisoners were taken by Capt. Stevenson and Lieut. Lulham. The sentries are doubled, and a sharp lookout will be kept up all night. The neighborhood is, however, perfectly quiet and no further trouble is expected to-night. Before the attack the crowd had gathered at an anti-vaccination meeting in St. Jean Baptiste park, where inflammatory addresses were given against using the exhibition buildings for a smallpox hospital.

Their Father on a Spree.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—In a four-roomed house in Champlain street lives a family composed of seven persons—the mother, her husband and five children, whose ages range from 5 to 13 years. The name of the children is Cleary, but the mother some months ago married a French Canadian. Two of the children, both girls, have worked for some time in McDonald's tobacco factory. About two weeks ago the two girls working in the factory remained away one morning and sent word that they were ill. On Friday last word was sent to Mr. Wells, the manager, from the eldest girl that they had not had a bit of firewood in the house for fifteen days and that they were also in need of food. Mr. Wells, accompanied by the doctor who had been vaccinating the factory operatives, visited the house, when to their surprise they found the mother and four of the children in bed with smallpox and the house bereft of every sign of food and fire. All the cases were severe ones. The stepfather when sickness visited the family went on a prolonged spree and he was nowhere to be seen.

Enforcing the Compulsory Law.

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—On Monday night Dr. Elliott, medical inspector for the Ontario board of health, boarded the Canadian Pacific train below Ottawa. Three French Canadians could not show certificates and refused to be vaccinated. The doctor telegraphed for police assistance to meet him at Ottawa; and on the arrival of the train he asked the men to submit. They again refused and tried to run away. The doctor collared them and had them locked up in the station. They will either have to submit or return to Quebec. Similar scenes like this occur every day both on the Canadian Pacific railway and the Grand Trunk railway and speak well for the vigorous administration of the law by the medical officers of the board of health of the province.

C. P. R. Enterprise.

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—The Canadian Pacific railway company is asking for tenders for a hundred tons of telegraph wire to complete the system between Montreal and Port Arthur. An official of the Canadian Pacific being asked to-day what he knew of the two proposed steamers to be built for the company and placed on service between Kingston and Montreal said: "You may be sure of this, that we are not going to stand quietly by and see all the travel monopolized by a single line, more especially when the inferior order of these steamers is taken into consideration.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

A Bright Prospect for the Institution at Mimico—The Directors' Report.

The Industrial School association met yesterday afternoon in the Queen City buildings, the following being present: W. H. Howland (chairman), Sheriff Jarvis, Dr. Canniff, E. A. Meredith, John Gillespie, J. Langton, R. Gooderham, W. J. Wilkinson, Beverley Jones, R. C. Steele, W. J. Macdonnell and Ald. Irwin.

The board of management presented a voluminous report. The first meeting of the incorporators of the association was held in November, 1883. The act constituting the corporation gives the fullest powers for arrest, detention, and reformation of destitute and neglected or unruly children. With regard to the maintenance of the school, the act provides that the municipality from which the children are sent shall be liable for the sum of one dollar per week, per head. The government intend giving a similar sum, and the school board will furnish teachers. Moreover, the farm produce would help provide for the maintenance of the school.

The first grant of land was from the city, but for various reasons was found to be unsatisfactory. The government then granted eight acres of the Mimico farm and an indefinite lease for forty-two acres more. The city then gave $3000. The association to-day has fifty acres of land at Mimico, $9543.85 cash in the bank, and $6000 contributed by Mrs. Cameron for the construction of a cottage, which the board propose to call after her name, making in all a total of $15,543.85. The architect, W. G. Storm, has completed excellent plans for the building. Tenders have been advertised for and will be in by two days. For the completion and furnishing of the buildings from $10,000 to $12,000 is required, and the board trust that this sum will be subscribed.

The chairman in moving the adoption of the report remarked that the question of raising the condition of the thousands of children who yearly pass through police hands was the one which this association was destined to solve. He hoped that money for building purposes would be raised solely by subscription, in order that the funds now on hand might be used for the maintenance of the schools.

The report was adopted. The officers for last year were re-elected and James Austin and James Hedley were added to the board of governors.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD.

Tenders for the Hope street School—Meeting of the Trustees.

The separate school board met last night the members present being Very Rev. Father Laurent, Father McCann, Dr. Cassiday, Messrs. Burns, Kennedy, Herbert, Ryan, Morrow, Petley, Kelly, Finnacan, Fraser, Murphy. In the absence of the chairman of the board, Very Rev. Father Rooney, who is at a church celebration at Hartford, Conn., Mr. John Hall, assistant secretary-treasurer, took the chair and called the meeting to order. On motion of Mr. Petley, Mr. Burns was called upon to preside; Mr. Burns wore eye-glasses and filled the position to perfection.

The sites and buildings committee recommended the acceptance of the following tenders for the erection of Hope street school: Wm. Clarke, carpenter work, $2000; James Munro, masonry and brick, $2040; Hines Bros., plastering, $350; M. O'Conner, painting, $215 50; J. Douglas, galvanized iron work, $88; W. J. McGuire & Co., plumbing, $45; total $4738. The committee also recommended that the contract for putting in a six inch tile drain at St. Mary's school be awarded to W. J. McGuire & Co. at $1.10 per yard; also that Mr. Whelan's tender for furnishing the upper portion of St. Helen's school for $300 be accepted. On motion of Dr. Cassidy the trustees sent the Hope street business back to the committee for further particulars; the other two clauses were carried.

The committee on school management recommended that the services of Mrs. McGee, caretaker of St. Helen's school, be dispensed with and that Dennis Cronin be appointed in her place; also that the ink required in the schools be hereafter supplied by J. Maude. Several minor matters were also reported upon. The report was adopted in its entirety.

Dr. Cassidy mentioned that the special committee re bylaws had prepared a report which would take forty-five minutes to read. He suggested that it should be discussed at a special meeting. The board agreed with him.

Raynor, the Fence, Gets Off With a Paltry Fine of Four Hundred Dollars.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 6.—The second act in the trio of Canadian robberies for which "Clutch" Donohue received a sentence of seven years at the Welland assizes, was played here to-day when the case of A. J. Raynor was brought up in the court of sessions this afternoon. The defendant withdrew his former plea of not guilty under the three indictments of receiving stolen property knowing the same to be stolen, and pleaded guilty. Mr. Fullerton made an extended speech during which he said that Mr. Raynor had spent $1000 in defence of the charges and was comparatively a poor man. Judge Hammond fined Raynor $400 on the three indictments, $250 being on the jewelry indictment, $100 on the pipes and $50 on the postage stamps taken from the Peterboro, Ont., office.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 7.—As the regular train from Hollidaysburg was nearing Allegheny furnace this morning, four men took possession of one of the crowded cars, and while three of them intimidated the passengers with revolvers the fourth went through the car and deliberately robbed such of the occupants as he chose to select. One of the passengers made a show of resistance, but he was attacked with a knife and cut through the hand. The conductor next grappled with one of the robbers and was dragged out to the platform of the car and beaten with a revolver handle. The robbers then pulled the bell rope and jumped off, escaping to the woods.

The body measures 5 feet 8 inches; the eyes are blue and the hair is red; the clothing is brown tweed.

The Canadian League Championship.

Editor World: There seems to be some dispute between the London and Clipper baseball clubs as to who are the champions. The Clippers claim they are. A bets that at the end of the season (finish of league games) the Clippers will be champions. B bets they will not; who wins? SUBSCRIBER.

Whatever fault can be found with the management of the recent Toronto baseball nine, shareholders can congratulate themselves upon the fact that theirs is the only club in the Canadian league that came out ahead in its finances. Both the Londons and Clippers have deficits.

The London management will reserve several of their team for next year. Quest, Connors, Reid, Quinn and Thompson will remain in the city for the winter; Smith will go to Cleveland, Bierbauer to Erie, Reardon to Hamilton, and Campau to Detroit. Knight will spend the winter at Port Stanley.

The Oxford juniors are indignant at the presumption of the Whiting C. C. in claiming to be the champion junior cricketing club of the city and say they are prepared to play any club on Saturday that thinks it has as good or a better claim to the title than they have. HOMŒOPATHIC VACCINATION.

The Parkdale Health Officer Upheld by the Provincial Board of Health—Dr. Danter's Method Rejected.

The Parkdale school board met last night in the town hall. Present: B. Goodman (chairman), Dr. Riddell, A. E. Block, A. G. Gowanlock, T. Edwards.

Dr. Riddell, health officer, addressed the board. This gentleman has sprung into some celebrity through the vaccination trouble. He is a Bismarck-looking man, with a shiny pate and a delightful Dublin brogue. He is an old Crimea veteran, and before the meeting opened took the reporter to his house and with pardonable pride pointed out various relics of his martial career. The doctor, in addressing the board, said that the whole thing was in a nutshell. Though a member of the board he was health officer of the village, and no matter what steps might be taken by the board in regard to the Whinton children he would put them out of the school if he had to call a constable to help him. These children produced certificates that they had been vaccinated internally but he was not going to crawl down into their stomachs to find out whether it taken or not. He would reject every child that had not visible marks of successful vaccination. He had visited the school that forenoon and had rejected thirty-eight who had not complied with the law.

At this moment Mr. Whinton entered the room. There was fire in his eye and a pile of the revised statutes under his arm.

The chairman of the board explained to Mr. Whinton that the board had nothing to do whatever in the case—that it was in the hands of the health officer, and that they were powerless to do anything for him. At this Mr. Whinton got excited and began to thump the table.

"You turned my children out of school (thump). Dr. Riddell called my doctor a quack! (thump). He's not a quack! I'll carry this matter further (whack). I haven't been well treated by this board" (thump).

The chairman explained once more that they had nothing to do with the matter and were powerless to act.

Mr. Whinton—What will I do?

Dr. Riddell—Sue the corporation.

The meeting then adjourned, Mr. Whinton being very angry and the board very conciliatory. The board had applied for advice to Dr. Bryce, secretary of the provincial board of health, and received a reply which substantially endorses the action of Dr. Riddell's course. He is entitled to demand visible proofs of vaccination; the method of the homœopath, Dr. Danter does not supply these, and therefore it cannot be recognized by the law.

University College Notes.

The halls and lecture rooms are fuller this year than ever before. There is a large advent of first year students.

All the rooms in the college residence are occupied; fourteen freshmen have been admitted.

Most of the college lecturers are in their old places, and commence work this week.

Dr. Bryce will be in attendance in the senate chamber from 9 to 10 a.m. and from 2 to 3 p.m. to vaccinate all students not already treated. A nominal charge of fifty cents will be made. The president urgently requests all unvaccinated students to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Mr. Vandersmissen has issued the following regulation: The librarian may lend two volumes for one night to any reader who has paid a deposit of $5, or any work not in general demand, for a period not exceeding four days. This is a great improvement on the old plan by which the books could be taken out for a single night only, but without the safeguard of a deposit.

The various college societies will commence meeting at once.

Property Committee Affairs.

Chairman Irwin, Ald. Crocker, Defoe, McMillan, Elliott, Lamb, Pepler and Mackenzie attended the meeting of the property committee yesterday. The free use of a room in St. Paul's hall was granted to the North Toronto Women's temperance union. The chairman thought that it was time that Richard Tinning decided whether to pay the rental fixed by the new lease for his water lots, or throw up his holding. The solicitor was instructed to notify Mr. Tinning that he must decide quickly. The committee instructed Mr. McWilliams to prepare a report on the Hall lease case. Commissioner Coatsworth reported that the cost of the bridge over the lagoon to the west point baths would exceed by $200 the price fixed by the contractor. The committee decided to complete the structure and directed the solicitor to enforce payment of the deficit from the contractor's sureties, John Doty and Capt. Turner. The resignation of Mrs. Argue, caretaker of a wing of the city hall, was accepted, and the matter of appointing her successor was left in the hands of a sub-committee.

Bond Street Church Social.

The beaming face of the Bond street prophet at the anniversary tea meeting held in his church last night, was a thing of beauty and a joy forever. The schoolroom, where a bountiful tea was served, was tastefully decorated with flowers, as also was the pulpit of the auditorium, whither an adjournment was made at 8 o'clock. Dr. Wild in his opening address alluded to the spiritual and financial success of the church during the past year. A choice musical program was rendered by the choir, and others, and short speeches were delivered by several local and other divines. The body of the church was crowded during the evening, upwards of 1200 being present.

Another Municipal Deputation.

London the Less was represented at Toronto yesterday by Ald. Cloughlor, Hook and Toll and City Clerk Tracey, a deputation to examine exhibition buildings. They were pleased with what they saw and admitted that World that had picked them up at Niagara or two. Jim Dalton piloted them about the town last night.

Presentation to Dr. Sweet.

The Toronto dry goods benevolent association presented Dr. Sweet with an address and an elegant silver pitcher on the eve of his departure. The address referred to the recipient as a physician and a gentleman, and wished him and his bride all success and happiness in life.

A Distinguished Guest.

Clutch Donohue occupied a cell at police headquarters last night. He is on his way to Kingston, where he will do seven years for burglary. Detective Young is seeing him through.

Seamen's Wages.

At a regular meeting of the seamen's union yesterday wages were fixed at $30 per day, the same as all other Canadian ports.

A BLOW AT THE REPUBLIC

VICTORY OF THE CONSERVATIVES IN FRANCE.

Resignation of Four Cabinet Ministers—The Political Situation Outlined—A Short-lived Chamber Prophesied.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Times' Paris correspondent says: "Owing to the number of cabinet ministers defeated at the elections on Sunday for seats in the chamber of deputies it will be necessary for the cabinet to be remodelled or resign from office before the chambers meet. If the radicals ally themselves with members of the right they can overthrow ministry after ministry, leaving France in a permanent crisis, which will seriously jeopardize the existence of the republic."

A Serious Evil.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The Republique Française in an editorial on the results of the elections says: Over one-third of the members of the chamber of deputies are conservatives. This is a serious evil. It then implores the republicans to unite on candidates in districts where second ballots are necessary and preserve the integrity of the republic.

MM. Mangon, Waldack, Rousseau, Legrand and Herault, who were defeated in the election, have resigned their seats in the cabinet.

The Conservatives and the Radicals.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The conservatives, who have made extensive gains, are the monarchists of one faction or another. Some of them are adherents of the Count De Paris and others of the Bonaparte family. They would like to see a monarchical government restored in France. The republicans, or moderates, are the supporters of the present ministry, with Brisson and De Freycinet as the representative leaders. They are likewise partisans of Jules Ferry, who was formerly prime minister. The radicals look to M. Clemenceau as their leader. They are as eager as the monarchists for the overthrow of the republic, but only that they may give the government more radical leanings. The republicans wish to maintain a parliamentary form of government, but the radicals wish to abolish the senate and substitute in place of the chambers, as at present constituted, somebody like the old convention of 1793. The loss of seats by the republicans will lead to a reconstruction of the present ministry. It seems doubtful at this moment whether the ministry can gather about it a working majority in the new chamber. Shrewd observers believe that the new chamber will be short-lived, that no ministry can be patched up that will long command support, and that consequently there will be another dissolution and another general election in the near future.

At the Grand.

There was a good house at the Grand last night to witness A Prisoner for Life. This melodrama will run all week. The attraction next week will be A Rag Baby, a piece written by Charles H. Hoyt in his happiest vein. Wm. Bower, advance agent, arrived here yesterday; he says A Rag Baby has caught on and is doing big business.

A Girl's Fall.

Elizabeth Neville, a domestic in the family of J. D. Matheson, druggist, 123 King street west, fell from a ladder yesterday and seriously fractured her skull. Dr. Cook was summoned and pronounced the injuries serious. The girl was removed to the hospital. At midnight she was reported to be worse.

The Mayoralty for 1886.

To the Ratepayers of the City of Toronto:

GENTLEMEN: Having been strongly urged by large numbers of prominent ratepayers from the different sections of the city to become a candidate for the position of mayor for next year, I take this early opportunity of stating that I have decided to place myself in nomination for the mayoralty for 1886. I will not here attempt to discuss the several questions of importance which are likely to engage the attention of the city council next year, as there will be ample time and opportunity for that purpose on the public platform and otherwise before election day.

My past municipal record is before the ratepayers, and trusting that my efforts in their interest will be endorsed and recognized by them,

I have the honor to remain, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,

D. M. DEFOE.
