We are deeply pained to chronicle the death of Mrs. G. H. Brandon, of Belgrave. Arthur Wanless, late of Varna, died at the residence of his sister in Nevada, U. S. A., on Wednesday of last week. The sad tidings reached his parents, and other members of the family here, on Tuesday morning. There was hope in his death in his death.

It is with regret that we learn that J. H. Scougall, who has for years past efficiently discharged the duties of town clerk, has decided to resign the position. It is his intention, we believe, to retire from all public positions and devote his time to private affairs. All who know him will regret this action. We believe the council will be called upon at their next meeting tomorrow evening, to name a new town clerk.—[Kincardine Standard. Mr. A. M. Williamson has since been appointed to the vacancy.

Mr. Walker has enjoyed the high esteem of all who have known him, and throughout his painful and protracted affliction he has given full proof of the sufficiency of Divine grace to uphold under the most trying circumstances. A large concourse of people followed his remains to the Bayfield cemetery, where they await, we doubt not, a joyful resurrection.

VISITING PRISONS.

A Canadian Commission Inspecting Our State Penal Institutions—Differences in Discipline Noticed.

Judge J. S. Sinclair, of Hamilton, Ont.; J. W. Langmuir, of Toronto, ex-Inspector of Prisons for Ontario Province, and D. A. O'Sullivan, a prominent barrister of Toronto, arrived in the city yesterday and registered at the hotel Anderson. These gentlemen, with their Secretary, A. R. Butcher, compose the Ontario Government Commission on Prison Reform. The commission was authorized some time ago by the Ontario Government to investigate certain chagges of cruelty in the Central prison at Toronto, which had been preferred against the warden. That work completed, they were instructed to visit several prisons throughout the States, with a view to studying the features wherein they differ from Canadian institutions of that kind. They visited the Michigan State Reform School at Detroit, the State prison at Jackson, the Illinois State Prison at Joliet, and the Ohio prison at Columbus. After spending a day or two visiting Riverside and Claremont, they will go to Philadelphia, and after that to the three great prisons of New York, the State Reformatory at Elmira, and the prisons at Auburn and Sing Sing. Several Eastern institutions will also be visited before the gentlemen return.

POWERS OF THE WARDEN.

'In what points do you find our prisons to differ most in their management from Canadian institutions?' asked a reprrter of Ex-Inspector Langmuir, last night.

'The most noticable difference to my mind,' he replied, 'is the almost aristocratic powers vested in your wardens or superintendents. This, with the strict accountability to which you hold them, is the point where the discipline of your penal institutions differs most from ours. The powers and duties of our wardens and superintendents are very clearly defined and restricted by set rules. His staff is in most cases appointed by some authority superior to himself, and he can only punish a refractory prisoner by reporting it to the department. Your wardens have the appointment of their staffs, and therefore have their assistants working in full accord with them. I don't know but I like the plan best. There is one system in some of your prisons that I do favor. That is when the prisoner, by good behavior, can shorten his sentence proportionate to its length. I believe that will work well as a means of prison discipline. It gives a prisoner something to work for.

MODES OF PUNISHMENT.

"We find the greatest and diversity among the different prisons in modes of punishment. I have been interested in talking with wardens who resort in cutting off certain privileges, accorded to prisoners, on account of misbehavior. For instance, a prisoner is given the permission to read in his cell in the evening, or to attend evening classes. He breaks some of the rules of the institution and these privileges are cut off for a time. I like the idea. We want to visit the prison at Philadelphia, where I understand each prisoner works in solitary confinement, and the reformatory at Elmira, where prisoners are sent under indefinite sentences, depending upon good behavior."

Mr. Languir expressed his belief that growth in prison discipline and management had made marked advancement in the last few years, both in Canada and the United States, with good features peculiar to both.—[Pittsburg Despatch.

The Time to Think of it.

Anthracite stove coal can be bought in New York at prices close to $3 per ton. This would be a good season for getting very cheap coal in Ontario if consumers were not compelled by the Dominion Government to pay a duty of 50 cents on every ton they purchase. The dealers say they would gladly make the reduction if the impost were taken off as it should be. It is of no value except as a means of filching money from the people to be squandered by the Ottawa incapables.—[Hamilton Times.

THE WORLD OVER.

As Mirrored in the Columns of our Outside Contemporaries.

As the steam barge Cleveland, with consort in tow, bound down Lake Erie, with a heavy sea running, was about to turn and run in Pigeon Bay, the water bottom of the boiler blew out, and the escaping steam scalded a deck hand named John Ward, who was below in the fire hold, so badly that he lived but a short time. Several others were scalded, but not seriously.

One means of confirming and establishing one's affections is by serving the loved. Nothing endears one person to another so much as aiding and serving him, especially if self-sacrifice is involved. Giving what is valued always increases affection to the recipient, even if it be only material benefits that are conferred, much more when it is our time, our labor, and ourselves.

Debate and theorize as we may, we must perceive that events and circumstances have a persistent way of regulating the course of the world, and that the opposite influences of the heart and the head will go on while man has a head to think and heart to feel.

T. W. Sloan, on account of the loss of his voice, has resigned his school on the 13th con. (No. 7) Morris. By his resignation the section will lose one of the most efficient and thorough teachers it has ever had. Mr. Sloan intends taking trip to the Pacific coast and remains for some time, with the hope that the change of climate will aid in the restoration of his voice.

I was afflicted with Gouty and Chalk deposits around my joints, enlarged and inflamed; could not walk; pain was intense, particularly at the change in the weather; was confined to my bed; gave up all hopes of living; used Giles's Iodide Ammonia Liniment and Pills, which remedies restored my health, dispersed the enlargements and removed the pain.
