OUR SCHOOLS.

Our schools opened on Monday morning last with a good attendance in both departments, and a bright outlook for an excellent year's work. Mr. A. E. Dunlop, B. A., is the new principal, and Miss Nina Phinney has charge of the primary department. Mr. Dunlop is an honor graduate of Acadia College of the present year's class, and holds a diploma of the first rank from the provincial Normal School. He took an Acadamic or Grade A license at the recent examination, and has had several year's successful experience as a teacher. He comes to us highly recommended by Dr. Hall and other educationists, as possessing especial aptitude for the work of a teacher, in addition to his literary qualifications. Miss Phinney also is recommended by Inspector Morse as among the best teachers of her grade in his district.

During vacation the school-house has been given a new coat of paint of a very pretty dark brown color, which greatly improves its appearance. The school grounds have been neatly and tastefully levelled and graded and a nice new fence built around the entire school lot. This latter is a light board fence built of planed lumber on three sides of the lot and of pickets on the fourth, which faces the street. It greatly adds to the appearance of the school property, making it a credit to the town. Having thus provided the best to be had both in the way of teachers and school facilities, it now remains for pupils and parents to do their part, in order that our school may take its place in the very front rank among those of the county. The necessity of regular and prompt attendance on the part of the pupils is earnestly impressed upon the attention of parents, as without these the labors of teachers and the efforts of tax payers will be but partially successful.

Report on the Apple Crop, 1894.

To the Editor of the Monitor,—

DEAR SIR,—According to our annual custom, we have now much pleasure in handing you our report on the above crop, which has been carefully compiled from the most reliable sources, and we think can be thoroughly relied on.

Last year America and Canada had a bad crop, whereas in England we had a very heavy one—the heaviest for twenty years—and very few apples were expected to be wanted here, our home supplies was thought to be sufficient for all requirements; but contrary to expectation, it was found that shortly after Christmas our stock of apples was exhausted. This year we believe will turn out to be the worst crop we have had for twenty years in England—in many counties only sufficient for local consumption; and in the home counties which supply London during the fall—that is to say, August, September, and October—we think this year one month will be sufficient to clear up all their crops.

As regards the continent, Holland has only a half a crop.

Germany only a quarter crop, and will, we believe, be a large buyer this year from other countries.

France has a fairly good crop in the South but, being early fruit these are likely to be cleared away during the next three months. On the other hand the great apple-producing country from Nantes to Orleans has a bad crop; and the country adjoining Belgium, also is bad. This is most important, it being a district that sends very largely to the English Markets.

Belgium, in certain districts, has a fair crop, but they are mostly early fruit—sorts that do not keep much after October—late sorts are a very bad crop.

Italy had a very large crop last year and sent something like 5,000 tons here after Christmas, but this being the non-bearing year she can only have a light crop.

Looking at Europe generally, it is the worst crop of apples for many years; and this should leave a grand opening for all the marketable fruit you have in your country fit to send to England.

Nova Scotia, we hear, has a fairly good crop; and Canada is said to have an average crop. On the other hand it is reported that crops in Virginia and one or two other States are very scanty. New York State is reported to have a good crop, and we look forward to a very large trade with your part during the coming season.

We are, yours truly,
