JEFF IN TORPOR DURING BIG FIGHT

Ex-Champion Was Beaten Before He Got to the Arena.

HANDS COLD AND CLAMMY

Seconds Could Not Make Him Talk—He Was Extremely Nervous.

Reno, Nev., July 5. — James J. Jeffries, who fell before Champion Jack Johnson yesterday, left the scene of his defeat tonight for his alfalfa ranch in Southern California. There in the quiet of the fields, surrounded by the hills he loves, he will try to forget.

Jeffries motored into Reno from his camp at Moana Springs with the members of his party an hour before train time, and hid himself as soon as possible from the curious gaze of the crowd that still thronged the streets. In his every stumbling movement, in his bowed head, in the depths of his sombre eyes, in the nervous rubbing of his swollen face and blackened eye, in his almost timid shrinking from the public, Jeffries showed that his defeat had dealt him a terrible blow.

No Derision.

There was silence as he passed through the streets. Men rushed from the gambling tables to gaze, but no word of taunt or derision was thrown at him. Those who saw that fight—and that includes nearly everybody in Reno—feel that Jeffries did his best.

As Jeffries' train started west, somewhere in the desert to the east, a hilarious band of negroes was journeying to Chicago with Jack Johnson, the banner of the world's championship floating from their car window.

The largest individual loss on record in the poolroom was suffered by Clarence Berry, a California oil operator. He bet $35,000 on Jeffries.

Jeff Knew Defeat Was Coming.

Among the sporting men left, there is not a dissenting opinion as to the justice of the fight's end. No one says that Jeffries ever had a chance with the negro.

Johnson's repartee and coolness in the ring, the terrible power of his punches, his marvellous judgment of distance and his almost uncanny quickness and boxing skill, are the talk of the town.

"What was the matter with Jeffries?" some persons asked today. A well-known sporting authority, who talked with Jeffries this morning, answered this question.

Was Beaten From Start.

"He was whipped before he left Moana Springs for the ringside," said this man. "He felt that he was to fall before the negro and it was too much for him to face. As the hour approached, his nervous condition became such that his mind lost all control over his body. It began Saturday and indicated itself in various ways. Sunday night he did not sleep a wink, but walked about his room and looked out of the windows. Yesterday morning he ate little breakfast. When he sat in the corner of the ring, Choynski, as he wrapped his hands, exclaimed: 'Why, Jim your hands are cold and clammy.' His seconds thought even then that he was only a little nervous, and that he would get over it in the fight.

Couldn't Get Started.

"When I asked him today what he remembered from the time he entered the ring, he replied, 'Well, I remember sitting in the corner and getting up and not being able to get my arms up right. I really don't remember much about what I did.'"

ASKIN ST. SOLVES GIBSON'S DELIVERY AND WINS OUT

Twirler Who Is Credited With Hitless Game Goes Up in the Air in the Methodist League.

In the Methodist League series, the Askin Street nine defeated Empress Avenue on the Cove diamond last night, the score being 8 to 3.

Heber Gibson, who let Askin Street down without a hit the last time the teams met, was solved early in the game, and was hit when bingles counted. In addition to having six strike-outs in four innings, W. Baker is credited with a home run. E. George made a three-base hit. This gives the Askin Street team a comfortable lead in the western district. Empress Avenue and Wellington Street being tied for second place. Batteries: Askin Street—W. Baker and Stinson; Empress Avenue—Gibson and Doupe. Umpire—Bert Moore.

NEVADA WILL STILL BE FIGHT MECCA

Governor Dickerson, Who Attended Contest Talks About It.

SPECTATORS ORDERLY

Spirit of Fair Play Was Shown, Despite Fact That Crowd Favored Loser.

[By Associated Press.]

Reno, Nev., July 6.—Governor Dickerson has given out the statement respecting the Jeffries-Johnson fight, at which he was a spectator:

"I do not at all regret that the fight was pulled off in Nevada. It was a clean fight and Tex Rickard's assurances to me personally were made perfectly good.

Of my own personal knowledge, the holding of this event in Nevada was beneficia rather than injurious, notwithstanding the claims advanced by some.

"I am in favor always of manly sport, just as long as the game is played clean and square, as this was. There is absolutely no warrant, in my judgment, for the protests that have been made against it. The fight, just having taken place in Reno, demonstrated fully that there was nothing about it but what was proper for any state to permit.

"The spirit of fair play had a strong hold on the thousands of people who witnessed it, of whom I was one, and that fact was made evident, as the crowd was overwhelmingly for Jeffries, but when the black man demonstrated his complete superiority in every way and won the battle of thinking, seeing and acting simultaneously as the result of greater mentality, speed and vitality, no demonstration of reproach or insult was offered in any manner.

Not Rowdies or Thugs.

"The character of the men composing that crowd was not made up largely of the rowdy or thug element, as many would lead one to believe is always the case at such events, but of big and prominent men. Of my own personal knowledge the holding of this event in Nevada was beneficial rather than injurious, notwithstanding the claims advanced by some as it has made the possibility and natural advantages of this state, with its undeveloped wealth, familiar terms with those who would not have heard of the state. The splendid way in which the large crowd was handled was heard only on expression of good-will for the city on all sides.

"I can further state that as long as the law licenses glove contests I will not interfere with such events in any manner in the future.

"As for the contestants in this fight I can only say that the defeat of Jeffries demonstrated the experience of all students of athletics that after a man has for sometime been out of condition he cannot regain his former vitality and condition of physical perfection, for nature will invariably assert itself. He was not and never could be the Jeffries of former days."

COLLINS SETS MARK

New Yorker Rides Over 42 Miles in an Hour Behind Pace.

New York, July 6.—Elmer Collins, America's leading pace follower, beat George Wiley and Jimmy Moran and broke the one-hour record behind small motor cycles at Clifton Stadium yesterday afternoon. He sets new figures for every mile from twenty to the finish. He covered 42 miles 4 laps, one mile and one lap more than Wiley did in the record-breaking race last Sunday.

Collins led from the start. He gave the best exhibition of speed and endurance ever seen at the track. Two punctures spoiled Wiley's chances. Moran became overheated in the twenty-eighth mile, and, leaving his pace, shot up the track. Turville, pacing Collins 20 yards behind, just missed knocking Moran down.

China's population is supposed to consist of some 400,000,000 souls, but statistics compiled by the Pekin Government show that the number of habitations in the empire is 27,000,000.

It is estimated that the total number of pigs in the world is 150,000,000, and of sheep 580,000,000.

TWO HOME RUNS IN GAME WON BY BUGS

Newark, July 5.—Jersey City took their rivals into camp today, 7 to 4. With two men on bases in the first, Deininger pounded out a homer. Hard hitting in the next three innings produced four more runs. Lee, of Newark, emulated Deininger's feat in Newark's half of the first with a four-sacker that scored one run ahead of him. McGinnity held the locals safely after they had batted him for a pair of runs. Both teams played loosely in the field. Score:

ORIOLES WIN SLUGFEST FROM THE GRAYS, 15 TO 3

Baltimore, July 5.—The game today between Baltimore and Providence resulted in a regular old-time slugging match, the final score being 15 to 3 in favor of the Orioles. Malloy for the locals pitched a masterly game, and had the visitors entirely at his mercy. On the other hand, Cronin, Sline and Crowley were batted at will, and the fun kept up so long that the Orioles actually got tired of running bases. Score:

CUBS WIN WITH TWO MEN HURT

Tinker and Miller Are in the Hospital With Injured Ankles.

CHAMPS' ERRORS COSTLY

Pirates Fail to Take Contest, Though Chicago Is Crippled—Dowd, of Holy Cross, Makes Debut.

Pittsburg, July 5.—The Pittsburgs gave the game to the Chicagos today by miserable playing all round. Miller and Tinker were out of the game because each injured his ankle, Tinker in yesterday's and Miller in practice before today's game. Miller will be in the game tomorrow, but Tinker left tonight for Chicago and will not be able to play for a week or more.

James Dowd, the Holly Cross college pitcher, made his debut with the Pittsburg team today, pitching the last two innings.
