COLD STORAGE CRITICIZED

Trades and Labor Council Discuss the Increasing Cost of Food.

The high cost of living was again the target for verbal slams at the meeting of the trades and labor council last night. The civic authorities came in for much criticism because of the condition of the East End town hall when it was loaned to the trades and labor council last week for the discussion of the increased cost of commodities.

A motion was passed recommending that a request be sent to the board of education asking for the use of some of the city schools for one night in each week for public discussion of the rising prices. No schedule of meetings will be drawn up until the decision of the board of education is given out.

Recomendations were made that the London East town hall be suitably heated and lighted to serve as a public forum. It was also urged that a sounding board be installed to make speaking from the platform easier.

Conserve Paper Supply.

On the motion of David Johnson a letter will be sent to the Government recommending the conservation of the paper and pulp supply, and demanding, is necessary, an embargo on the products.

Cold storage owners came in for much criticism. Delegate Hessel claimed that they were gambling with foodstuffs in an attempt to corner them. He charged that the retail prices were set by the wholesalers, and asserted that the whole country was teached by circular letters from these men fixing the price of butter and eggs.

At the stores were formerly five or six bakers called, only one came now. It was urged that a similar plan be applied to canned goods.

One delegate who has had his bread baked at home stated that a hundred-weight of flour had supplied his family with bread for five weeks. Formerly it had cost him $2 a week for bread.

Blame Speculation.

Speculation on the exchanges was blamed as the chief cause of high wheat prices. Delegate Hessel claimed that the amount of wheat sold on the stock markets was millions of bushels in excess of the actual supply. Speculators were placing the people's money in their own pockets.

Opposition was offered to the petition of the bakers that there be no standard weight for bread, but that any sized loaf might be sold, provided it had the weight stamped on it. Delegate Hessel asked that the trades and labor council go on record as being decidedly against this move.

Delegate Ald. Ashplant presented a report of his conference at Ottawa with reference to the cigarmakers' strike. The Government, he stated, claimed that labor laws were being enforced to the limit with regard to Polish workers being brought from the United States to work in non-union shops.

A communication was received from the local Cigarmakers' Union asking labor members to buy only those cigars with the union label, and naming a number of brands which were not so stamped.

HAD TO SEE ZEPPELIN; LETTER COULD WAIT

Englishwoman Writes to Son Here, Showing How Little Fear Is Caused.

The curiosity, without fear, with which the people of England treat, or did treat, zeppelin visits when they occurred, is shown in a letter received by Pte. H. Gordon of the 241st Canadian Scottish Borderers, who is at present taking an instructional course in the city. The letter is from his mother, who lives near London, England, and is in two parts. She breaks off at the end of the first part with the remark that she must close as she sees a zeppelin is overhead, hanging around. The second part is begun under difficulties a few days later, as her "hands are sore with clapping," she having just witnessed a zeppelin brought to earth.

One can read the eagerness at first to go out and get a better view of the aerial monster, even if she had to postpone the writing of an important letter and the joy when another of the "sausages" was shot down. It is another evidence of the Germans' failure to terrorize the people.

POULTRY SHOW SHORTLY.

The annual show of the London Poultry and Pet Stock Association is scheduled for November 13—16, and the interest already manifest presages the largest and best show that has yet been held in this city. Entries close on Saturday, November 4. President M. M. Fergusson and Secretary J. C. Andrews are busy with the arrangements.

VISITED STRATHROY.

Dr. Braithwaite of the Western University and Professor Buckley visited Strathroy yesterday and gave addresses in connection with the university extension work before the various forms in the collegiate, and in the evening before the Reading Club.

H--- Hath No Fury Like Woman Who Has Lost Tickets

Tragedy Turns to Comedy in Startling Street Car Episode.

There is at least one woman in London who considers it "horrid" of the London Street Railway Company to make all its car tickets of the same pattern, judging from an incident which occurred on a street car Wednesday. The car was filled with people, who, sobered by the fact that they had a full-day's work ahead of them, were quietly chattering, when suddenly the peace was broken in a most unusual manner. A woman, sitting in one of the forward seats, gave a loud scream and, grasping the collar of an innocent-looking youth next to her, commenced shaking and cuffing him.

Conductor To Rescue.

The conductor dashed to the front of the car and inquired into the cause of the trouble.

"He stole my car tickets," declared the excited lady.

"I did not," stuttered the youth.

"He stole it. I placed it on the seat while I closed my satchel, and when I looked again it was gone," affirmed the lady, and only the efforts of the conductor and some passengers prevented her making another descent on the supposed thief.

"There is my ticket," choked the meak-looking one, and he showed the usual green ticket.

"'Tis not; it's mine," and the lady went into another spasm of anger.

Deceitful Appearances.

"How do you know it's your ticket?" asked the conductor. "Did you see him take it off the seat?"

"No," admitted the lady, then she added as an afterthought: "It looks just like mine, though."

"Maybe yours fell on the floor," suggested another passenger. The lady stooped and searched under the seat—and found her tickets.

Crushed under the laughter of the crowd, the best she could say was "It is horrid that you can't tell one ticket from another."

URGES TABULATION OF WIRING EXPENSE FOR LONDON HOUSES

Commssioner Mitchell Trying To Settle Prices.

MEASURE OF PROTECTION

Thinks Scheme Will Be Satisfactory to Dealers and House Owners.

At a meeting of the public utilities commission to be held this afternoon, Commissioner F. G. Mitchell will give further attention to the investigation of the charges for house wiring in the city.

Mr. Mitchell brought up the matter at the last meeting of the commission, stating that he had many complaints as to the charges levied by local firms. In one case $50 had been charged for the wiring of a small house. The commissioner did not contend that the dealers were robbing the public, but for their own protection he thought the matter should be cleared up.

Urges Price Form.

This afternoon he will ask that a statement be prepared, which will tabulate the various items of expense in connection with wiring. It is his proposal that the commission secure a number of these tables and have them offered free to all citizens, so that when a house is to be wired, a citizen may secure one of the forms, and before he has contracted for the wiring, he may ask the contractor to fill in one of the forms with his prices.

Can Be Compared.

Every item of expense, such as wire and labor and fixtures, will be shown, and if a citizen believes the price to be too high he can take it to the utilities officials, and have the fair prices named. And he does not need to accept the price unless he chooses.

Mr. Mitchell believes that this plan will be satisfactory to all concerned, and he will submit a table to be printed by the commission and cause citizens to hear of the free forms. He believes this to be a practical method of getting at the root of high cost of living matters.

HARRIETSVILLE SCHOOL.

The monthly report for October in Harrietsville Senior Room is as follows:

Senior Fourth—Lorne McKee, Annie Sadler.

Junior Fourth—Clayton MacVicar, Alice Sadler, Fred Taylor, Bruce MacVicar, Rofton Finch, Morran Sharpe.

Senior Third—Mary Boyer, Irene Sharpe, Mary Taylor, Olive MacVicar.

Junior Third—Merle Law, George Barr, Kathleen Poste, Jim Ferguson, Orville Law, George Knox, Luella White, Edith Eaton, Camby Robbins.

ANNA C. HARE, Teacher.

STILL SHORT OF CARS.

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 2.—Representatives of eastern independent distributors here yesterday offered local dealers $7 a ton for coal on the car, but the orders could not be taken because the shortage in cars prevents delivery. This was the highest price ever offered for coal in this section, dealers declared.

WAR FILM SHOULD TEND TO PROMOTE UNIVERSAL PEACE

This Is Opinion of Dr. Margaret Gordon.

TELLS THE REAL FACTS

Horrors Shown in War That Must Have Beneficial Effect.

Included among those who enthusiastically praise "The Battle of the Somme" official motion pictures, and who believe that their presentation to future generations will have a marked tendency to promote universal and permanent peace, is Dr. Margaret Gordon, 726 Spadina avenue, Toronto, head of the peace and arbitration committee of the local council of women.

Dr. Gordon, whose committee is in abeyance until the conclusion of the conflict, has seen the official films, which will be publicly exhibited at the Lyric Theatre from Monday, November 6, until the following Saturday, under the auspices of The London Advertiser.

Dr. Gordon, who is an organizer and convener of the committee, has worked in the interests of pacifism for a long time. After she had seen the pictures, she immediately declared that the quickest and most effective way to end war was the placing of the real facts of warfare before the people with the stern realism for which these pictures are noted.

Horrors of War.

"The sooner the people see the real horrors of war," declared Dr. Gordon, "the sooner we will have peace and lasting peace. The Somme pictures certainly show the real horrors of armed conflict and are so graphic that they cannot but help to have a great effect upon those who view them. The public by all means should see the films."

Lloyd George, the most conspicuous figure in the British Empire, who is now holding the portfolio of secretary of state for war, expressed the same sentiments. He was unable to be present when the films were shown in England at the Scala Theatre, but forwarded the following message:

"'The Battle of the Somme,' furious and desperate as it has been, is a first and most important phase of what is an historical struggle, unique in its scope and world-wide significance.

"I am convinced that when you have seen this wonderful picture, every heart will beat higher in sympathy with its cause and purpose which is no other than that every one of us at home and those abroad shall see what our men at the front are doing and suffering for us and how their achievements have been possible by the sacrifices at home.

Duty To See Pictures.

"Be up and doing also. See that this picture which is in itself an epic of self-sacrifice and gallantry, reaches everyone. Herald the deeds of our brave men to the ends of the earth. This is your duty.

"Ladies, I feel that no word is necessary to urge upon you the importance of throwing in the whole ardor and strength of your invaluable aid. Mothers, wives, sisters and affianced ones, your hearts will beat, your voices will speak, in honor and glory of the living and the dead. You are great and powerful. This is your mission."

People sit spell-bound, gripped with wonder and awe as the world drama of life and death on the banks of the Somme is reproduced, life-like and real, stirring the emotions and quickening the pulse.

It is actually the greatest and most remarkable living motion picture yet produced. As a dramatic representation, the production is complete. The films are divided into five sections, one thousand feet of films in each part.

Offensive Begins.

The spectator sees a division waiting to move forward on June 30, and scenes at Bray indicate the Buffs, the Bedfords, the Suffolks and a battalion of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers moving up on the evening before the attack.

How completely the pursuits of war and peace go hand-in-hand is realized when we see peasants just outside the firing line calmly pursuing their ordinary field avocations. Then come scenes of real battle, grim, horribly grim in their actuality. Blood is shed, big guns belch forth destruction of life and property. Countrysides are ripped and devastated by shells.

The camera has faithfully recorded all of these scenes, and the opportunity is now presented for us at home to see the pictures of the great British offensive.

COLDSTREAM W. I. HAS ARRANGED FINE CONCERT

On Tuesday, November 7, at 8 p.m., there will be a concert in the hall at Coldstream on behalf of the Women's Institute.

Any wanting a hearty laugh, a pleasant evening of fun, should be at the hall in good time, as seats are limited, and a crowded house is expected. There will be piano solos and duets, vocal solos by Ferguson Telfer and others, recitation by Miss Lula Lindsay, and a troupe of seven "Musical Daisies," who will sing.

The "Summer Girl Minstrels" will give a short play, when the audience will find it impossible to keep a serious face. "Miss Swat the Fly," "Mrs. Votes for Women," are attractions.

A farce entitled "The Obstinate Family" will be staged. This "Obstinate Family" is very hard to manage.

For tableaux, there will be the "Contented Bachelor," "The Worried Bachelor," and then the solution of bacheior troubles will be shown. Also a touching set of tableaux of a soldier boy going to the war.

Chairman for the evening, Joseph Atkins.

SAKHAROFF SENT TO DOBRUDJA CAMPAIGN

Famous Russian General to Lead Against Mackensen.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Nov. 2.—The Wireless Press has received a dispatch from Bucharest saying that Lieut.-Gen. Vladimir Sakharoff, commander of the Russian forces in Galicia, arrives in Bucharest today, and will take command of the army in Dobrudja.

Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff is rated as one of the ablest Russian commanders. He came into special prominence last summer during the Russian drive in Volhynia and Galicia, gaining a number of important successes over the Austrians before the Russian advance was halted.

CANADIANS HELD IN SWITZERLAND ARE COMFORTABLE

Ex-German Prisoner Writes of Life in Camp.

SCENERY IS BEAUTIFUL

Murren Is On Mountain Sde, and Men There Are Well Treated.

Canadians interned at Murren, Switzerland, having been sent there from Germany after being taken prisoner, have comfortable quarters, good food, although not too much of it, but they are not too well provided with money. This information is conveyed in a letter from one of the interned men, H. Willer of British Columbia, to Mrs. E. N. Hart, 367 King street.

At Murren there are about 35 Canadians, and the only complaint the writer has to make is that it is so very quiet, "nothing doing at all." The camp is beautifully situated on the side of the mountains not very far from the snow line, and below is a valley about 3,000 feet deep and three miles across. On the other side of this valley are some of Switzerland's most beautiful mountain peaks, the Eiger, Monch, Jungfrau, etc.

Food Is Good.

Turning from this description of the scenery to the more vital question of food, the writer says it is wholesome, "but hardly, as Lord Northcliffe said in his report, 'in unlimited quantities.' We perhaps get sufficient, but only just. An average daily menu is something like this: For breakfast, bread and jam one morning, bread and butter the next, with tea or coffee. Dinner, usually a substantial meal, soup, meat and vegetables, and on Sunday, sweets. Supper varies, but a typical one is macaroni or rice with a little boiled liver or mince; sometimes it is stewed fruit or cheese, butter and boiled potatoes with either tea or soup."

Given Some Liberty.

There are regular exercise or "walking-out" hours, 1 p.m. until 2:30 and 7:20 to 9 p.m. Everyone is allowed a day's pass to visit Interlaken or other nearby villages. All have regular work around the hotels or billets, the writer's hours being from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., with Saturday afternoons and Sundays off. On Sunday there is compulsory church parade."

Pte. Willer expresses deep gratitude for the kindness of people at home to the prisoners in Germany, adding "I can assure you the German food is not sufficient to keep a white man alive."

Acknowledging the receipt of a parcel from Miss Dorothy Gunn, Kent street, Pte. Willer says emphatically that parcels sent to prisoners in Germany do arrive without interference and stories of their being taken by the Huns are untrue. At Stendal camp the arrangements for parcel service, he says, are excellent, and he has heard no complaints from other camps.

Wounded at Ypres.

The writer was badly wounded at Ypres, "stopping" ten pieces of shrapnel, one of which still remains in his lung.

The only things Pte. Willer asks to be sent him are a pair of Canadian boots, size 7, either new or second-hand and a pair of hockey skates. These last have already been promised to Mrs. Hart. He finds it necessary to ask for these as he has not sufficient money to buy them. He is only allowed $2.40 a month while prisoner, and the paymaster in London refuses to send him any of his back pay, which he considers rather mean.

BELGIANS MUST WORK FOR FOE OR STARVE

Compulsory Transfer to Germans Has Commenced.

[Canadian Press.]

Brussels, Nov. 1, via London, Nov. 2.—The compulsory transfer of unemployed began this week, starting in the Mons district. No untoward incidents have occurred.

A dispatch from Berlin on October 29 said the measures taken by Gen. von Bissing, military governor in the occupied portion of Belgium, to employ the working population of the country, were not in the interest of the German administration, but for the workers themselves, and for the future of Belgian finance. Gen. von Bissing's purpose, it was added, was to encourage the enlistment of laborers in agricultural and non-military industries, but the German newspapers intimated plainly that those refusing to work would no longer be fed in idleness.

SEVERE RHEUMATIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

Rheumatism depends on an acid which flows in the blood, affecting the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defects in the digestive processes, and remains there because the liver, kidneys and skin are too torpid to carry it off.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts

Had Chronic Indigestion Thought She Would Die

After Years of Suffering Attributes Cure to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Eating too much or using foods that do not agree are the usual causes of indigestion.

The trouble usually begins not in the stomach, but in the liver, since it devolves on this organ to filter the excess waste matter from the system.

Now, since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the greatest of liver regulators, it naturally follows that they are unexcelled as a cure for chronic indigestion.

With the liver, kidneys and bowels active the poisonous waste matter is quickly removed from the system and there is nothing to interfere with the natural and healthful working of the organs of digestion. In this way only can lasting cure be effected.

Mrs. Rebecca Elliott, Magnetawan, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to write you in regard to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I had gastritis of the stomach for three years, and could get nothing to stop it until I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I would have an attack of this trouble with my stomach every three or four weeks, and was so bad at times that my friends thought I would surely die. Thanks to these pills, I have not had an attack for six months, and believe that the cure is thorough. My husband has had very satisfactory experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. He was much rundown, and very pale and weak. I persuaded him to use the Nerve Food, and after having taken five boxes he looks and feels real well."

It is such experiences as these that have made a place for Dr. Chase's medicines in the great majority of homes. They do not fail, even in the most complicated cases. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

To Trifle With Catarrh Is to Risk Consumption

Usually it comes with a cold. Being slight, it is neglected—but the seed is sown for a dangerous harvest, perhaps consumption. To cure at once, inhale Catarrhozone. It destroys the germs of catarrh, clears away mucous, cleanses the passage of the nose and throat. The hacking cough and sneezing cold soon disappear, and health is yours again. Nothing known for colds, catarrh and throat trouble, that is so curative as Catarrhozone. It cures by a new methods that never yet failed. The one-dollar outfit includes the inhaler, and is guaranteed to cure. Smaller sizes, 25c and 50c; sold everywhere.

MATINEE MUSICALES

The first of a series of matinee musicales which are to be fortnightly events, was given yesterday afternoon in the Central Y. W. C. A. rooms, Park avenue, at 4:30 o'clock. Miss Lola Stevens and Miss Ruth M. Keyes are looking after the programs for the first two months. Yesterday's entertainment included solos by Miss Gladys McEvoy, Mrs. Durst and Miss Bradley, and a reading by Miss Keyes, Miss Flanders acting as accompanist.

The public is invited to attend the musical half hours, the idea being to provide from time to time musical treats which may prove refreshing to visitors dropping in for a short rest while down town shopping, or when freed for a few minutes from the many duties which press in war-time.

HAD VIOLENT COUGHING FITS

LOOKED LIKE CONSUMPTIVE

Mrs. Mary Wheten, North Forks, N. S., writes: "Having taken five bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine syrup, during the past few weeks, to relieve a chronic cough and general throat trouble, allow me to express my unbounded satisfaction and thanks to its sterling qualities. A short time ago I became subject to violent coughing fits at night and directly after rising in the morning. I began losing weight, and all my friends cheerfully informed me that I was going into consumption.

After taking the 'Dr. Wood's' I am pleased to relate that the cough has entirely disappeared and I have since regained the lost weight. I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup."

There are many imitations of "Dr. Wood's" on the market, so see that none of these so-called "pine syrups" are handed out to you when you ask for "Dr. Wood's". It has been on the market for 25 years, is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, price 25c and 50c.
