MISS STUBBERFIELD, a graduate of St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, has a well-appointed private hospital at 64 Gloucester St., this city.

Dr. O. R. MABEE, Assistant Pathologist to the Toronto General Hospital, announces that he will be able to treat syphilis with Ehrlich's "606" about January 1st, 1911. Owing to the careful technique required in its preparation for use, and in giving the injection, it will be necessary for physicians who have cases for treatment to send them into a hospital.
