Lexington is agitating the foundation of a trotting circuit, the meeting of which to be so arranged as not to conflict with the county and state fairs.

The Moose, owned by W Van Valkenburgh, of Ogdensburg, N Y, record of 2.19¾, has entirely recovered from his lameness and is being given daily exercise on the road.

Thiebaud Bauer, the well-known French wrestler, is anxious to wrestle Herbert A Slade, Mace's Maori, Greco-Roman for $500 a side, and has issued a challenge to that effect.

Parker, Alder and McMahon, of the Little Four of the Centennials of Detroit, have joined the Detroit Rowing club, and with Miller will form the senior four of that club this year.

Commodore Kittson, St Paul, Minn, has rented to J Chinn, Harrodsburg, Ky, during the season of 1883, the imported stallion Dalmacardoch foaled 1868, by Rataplan; dam Mayonaise, by Stockwell.

George Gaizel, the oarsman, and Frank Hart, the colored pedestrian, have taken to bicycle riding, and both have entered for the 26-hour race to be run January 26 and 27 at the American Institute rink, New York.

There is a movement on foot to send John Meagher of Boston, Mass., to England to compete with Raby, Franks, Thatcher and other English walkers. He has the best record in the world for an hour's walk.

Messenger Chief from the few mares he served when he first stood in Kentucky, has produced Marvel, record 2.28, and Maud Mess nger, record of 2.25¾, the only tw that have started in a race. Last season he served eighty mares.

The bra. Longfellow, sire of Mr Abingdon's Long Taw, stands third on the list of winning sires for 1882. Twenty-eight of his get started in 327 races, of which they won 81, were second in 63, and third in 42, placing to their credit $45,302.

The St Louis Baseball club last season made more money than any one of the American League clubs. This has given baseball such a boom in St Louis that the managers have already engaged nearly a double number of players for next season's nine.

Mr R C Pate, of St Louis, Mo, has purchased Mr Nelson Young's string of running horses, comprising 21 animals, among them being the famous Boatman, 4 years; Monogram, 4 years; Ascender, 3 years; Bondholder, 3 years; and other cracks.

The members of the Gentlemen's Driving association of New York have resolved to give a great trotting meeting in the spring, at which premiums aggregating from $20,000 to $25,000 will be given. The date of the meeting will be settled this week.

Mr Reiche of New York expects 300 English pheasants by the next Bremen steamer. Of these Pierre Lorillard has engaged 100 to stock the preserves on his estate, and three prominent shooting clubs will take most of the remainder and set them at liberty.

A three-legged colt, foaled at St Ours, Quebec, July 24, 1882, is a curiosity that calls many horsemen to the stables of Mr Philip Lewinski, Nashua street, Brooklyn, N Y. It is a case of malformation, but the colt is unusually large for its age, and is very lively.

Arrangements have been made for a series of trotting races on the ice of the Erie canal, above the Guard lock near Utica. A program has been issued for next Tuesday and Wednesday, offering purses of $100 each, open to all named horses, no entrance fee to be charged.

Gen W T Withers, of Lexington, Ky, has purchased from Mr S B Woodward, of Saratoga Springs, Woodward's Ethan Allen by Ethan Allen, dam by Abdallah. The horse was foaled in 1860. He is a full brother to Daniel Lambert, and has five representatives in the 2.30 list.

It is rumored that the Manhattan Athletic club will stay at home and not visit Canada this year. This would be a treat to our Canadian friends, who would like to know what it is to hold their own title of champion for the 100 and 220 yards, even if it was only once.—New York Sun.

The Monmouth Park association is making improvements at its track which will add greatly to the convenience of horses as well as to that of the general public. Two new stables have been completed and two others are in progress, which will add ninety-six new stalls to the present stabling accommodations.

The most notable performances of the celebrated stallion Knight of the Garter, who was sired at Kent ord, near Newmarket, England, was made in his 5th year, when he won the Chester cup, carrying 127 pounds; the Liverpool spring cup; the great Warwickshire handicap; the Willoughby cup and the Stewards' cup.

The new school for athletic exercise, in New York, opened by William Muldoon, the athletic policeman, was the scene of some lively sparring a few nights ago. Professor Austin and John Cash, George Fulljames an Patrick Jordan, Henry McDermott and Michael Mullery, and others participating. Muldoon gave exhibitions of his great strength as a wind-up.

John Largan, late of Wandsworth, England, and now in Australia, has been matched to row Pearce, Tricket (on January 6), and McDonald (on January 15). As Pearce is likely to be in better condition than when in England, he may make a better fight of it than he did on the Thames; but a correspondent doubts if we shall ever see Trickett do anything like his best again.

The telegraph chess tournament between Buffalo and Toronto was continued on Saturday night, and two of the games were decided. Mr Geo C Farnsworth of Buffalo, who was playing game D against Mr Littlejohn of Toronto, was victorious just before the close of the session at midnight. The consultation game was claimed by the Toronto players in two more moves, but the claim was not allowed at first. After consultation the Buffalo players decided to resign, thus giving the victory to the Toronto players. The tournament will be finished next Saturday night.

Speaking at Buffalo after his exhibition in that city, John L Sullivan said, among other things, "With regard to Richard Fox's being on good terms with me, it's all talk; I know just about how much he loves me. He talks about having lost $1200 on Paddy Ryan when I fought with him; now I just happen to know that Dick Fox won $2700 on that fight that I know of and he bet on me." In answer to a question about Billy Madden, Sullivan said: "Oh, he too had me and skipped to England. I'd just like to have seen him before he left. I'd given him a face to travel on."

The arrival of Jem Mace and his Maori, Slade, is awaited in New York with interest by the sporting fraternity. Richard K Fox intends to back Mace to stand up to Sullivan with gloves for four rounds, Marquis of Queensberry rules, for $2500 a side, and will back Slade for a like amount to fight Sullivan with the naked fists. Paddy Ryan telegraphed from Mankato, Minn, to his partner in Chicago: "Will arrive in Chicago on Saturday night. Have with me the coming man, the Nebraska giant, who in my opinion can down Sullivan. Slade is a very odd fellow. Will match him against the world. Weight 205 pounds; he is supple and clever as anybody. Six feet four inches high; age, 24.

Some time back a well-known sporting man propounded the query as to how many real billiard players America had, and the answer given was five—Schaefer, Sexton, Dion, Daly and Slosson—or the three S's and two D's, as was facetiously remarked. Schaefer is undoubtedly the most electrical and brilliant player of the quintette, but he is not the steadiest. Sexton is the best all-round work man and regular workhorse at all-around-the-table work, Dion is one of the most thoughtful of the one-win-game players, Daly is the calculator of the party, Slosson is the most medical of the party and is consulted by everyone, his force being rather lay and as a delicate surgeon he is second to none, not even Dion, during the great Maurice Vigneaux.

S R Stoddard, of Glen's Falls, N Y, proposes to take a 2,000 mile canoe cruise in an eighteen-foot canoe next summer. Starting from his home, Glen's Falls, Mr Stoddard will proceed by canal to Troy, thence down the Hudson to New York. Following the eastern shore of Long Island sound to Igg's Neck bay, he will then cruise along the coast to St John, N B. He will visit Arcadia and the Bay of Fundy. From Shediac on the Gulf of St Lawrence, he will cross to Prince Edward Island, thence to the gulf and St Lawrence river to Montreal, making portages to the Miramichi, the Bay of Chaleur and the famous Saguenay. From Montreal, by the way of the St Lawrence, Lake Champlain and Lake George, he will reach his starting point, Glen's Falls.

G M Robinson, the champion boxer of the San Francisco Olympic club, who it is said beat Mace's Maori in a glove contest, is an accomplished pugilist. He stands 6 feet 1 inch in bright and weighs when in condition 187 pounds. His chest measures 43½ inches, his biceps 15¾, his forearm 12½, his thigh 27½ and his calf 14½. On one occasion Robinson put up a 190 pound dumb bell twenty times, and again a 50-pound dumb bell fifty-eight times. He was defeated once by G W Roche whose 25-pound dumb bell 480 times to Robinson's 427. In September 1879 he raised the heavy dumb bell weighing 201 pounds 3 ounces and held it up for eight seconds. He is a fine pedestrian. Con Mooney of San Francisco says he believes Robinson can stand up before any pugilist living.

The excitement still continues in billiard circles, over the withdrawal of George Slosson from the Brunswick & Balke tournament to be played at Chicago next March, and from the Collender tournament, to be played in New York next May, in both of which Vignaux, the French champion, is expected to play. Mr Collender says that the withdrawal of Slosson will not in the slightest degree interfere with the arrangements already made, and that all the players have signified their willingness to participate in the tournament. The general feeling among billiard players in New York is that Slosson has made a mistake. Sexton, who was defeated by Vignaux, is very anxious to play his old opponent, and it is stated that just as soon as Vignaux arrives Sexton will be matched to play him for $1000 a side.

The well-known race-horse and sire, Cremorne, son of Parmesan and Rigolboche, died at the Rufford Abbey paddocks, January 8. He was the sire of Lord Rosebery's Kermesse, winner of the Middle Park plate in 1881, and of the Hettie colt, undoubtedly the two best of his get. Prince Charlie beat him for the two thousand guineas in 1872, but Cremorne won the Derby in the same year, and also the Grand Prix de Paris. In the Newmarket St Leger he was beaten by Laburnum, to whom he was conceding a stone. As a four-year-old he was entered for the City and Suburban, for which he was started at 4 to 1 in a field of twenty-five, but he was beaten by Mortmington by three-parts of a length. He walked in at Ascot for the Four-Year-Old Triennial, and won the Gold Cup and Alexandria Plate. After this his work began to tell on him, and he broke down in the Goodwood Cup, which fell to Flageolet in 1873, and was retired to the stud.

Many people are enquiring as to Hanlan's whereabouts and doings. It is intimated that he went home, but the Toronto people are as much in the dark as to the champion sculler's movements as are the sports of Gotham. How strange that he should slip away as soon as Wallace Ross appeared upon the scene. The after says he wants a match with the Toronto watermman, and is exceeding wroth that John A Kennedy should have been taken instead of himself, especially as he has been after Hanlan for the past two years. By the way, when will the date and locale be filled in for one celebrated article of agreement, which bind Kennedy and Hanlan to a 3-mile single scull race? At last accounts the Portland rower was down with a fever, and this may nullify the instrument, which is no more binding on either man than a verbal contract would be on a political office disposer.—New York Truth. We are not aware that Hanlan makes any secret of his whereabouts. He is to be seen daily on the streets of Toronto.

W H Allen of Detroit has just returned from the meeting at New York of the executive committee of the national association of amateur oarsmen, of which he is vice-president, and reports that G L Cattanach of the Narragansett club of Providence, R I, having failed to appear in answer to the charges against him, was disqualified from rowing as an amateur. Kirby, of the Narragansetts, who was debarred at the last meeting, appeared before the committee, claimed that he was unjustly disqualified and asked for a rehearing, but the committee refused to hear him or admit argument of his case on its merits. They finally resolved however, that if his club would make a formal application for a rehearing and agree to pay all expenses they would appoint a sub-committee to investigate him. Holmes and Appley of Pawtucket took no steps to remove the penalty of their expulsion. Mr Allen thinks it is practically settled that the next regatta will take place at Newark, N J, on the Passaic river, and the time about the middle of August.

Mr Abraham Gibbs, Vaughan, writes: "I have been troubled with Asthma since I was 10 years of age, and have taken hundreds of bottles of different kinds of medicine, with no relief. I saw the advertisement of Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lime and Soda, and determined to try it. I have taken one bottle, and it has given me more relief than anything I have ever tried before, and I have great pleasure in recommending it to those similarly afflicted.

St Louis has been named the "Mound City." After its treatment of Mrs Langtry let it be called the "Hound City."

"No, indeed," said the widow, "I shan't marry Mr. Thug. He wants me without encumbrances—at any rate he gave my boy a toy pistol yesterday."

The true philosophy of medication is not to dose for symptoms, but to root out disease. North op & Lymen's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, the Great Blood Purifier, has proved itself equal to the task. It is a most searching without being a violent remedy for Constipation, Biliousness and Indigestion. It is as well adapted to the needs and physical temperaments of delicate females as to the more robust sex, and is a fine preventive of disease as well as remedy for it.

A New York doctor has been figuring for the last twenty years, and has reached the conclusion that very small feet on a woman means a temper like Cayenne pepper and a tongue which will be about its best friend. This is a noble effort to console women with big feet, but it won't work.

A M Hamilton, Warkworth, writes: 'For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr Maybee of this place recommended Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is an article of great value.'

Lightning recently struck a telegraph pole and ran along a wire into the office at Coatsville, Ind., when the clerk seated at the instrument excitedly telegraphed back, "Don't send so fast!"

S Chadwick of Acadia, Wayne Co, writes: 'I have had severe attacks of Asthma for several years. I commenced taking Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The first dose relieved me in one hour. I continued taking it on successful doses for a few nights, and have not had an attack of it since.'

A Greenwich correspondent writes from Egypt that the Egyptians could make excellent fighting men if the failings of their masters, or their own costume, is unsuited to a fly producing country like Egypt.

To lessen mortality and stop the inroads of disease, use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. For all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Pimples, Scrofula, Blotches, Indigestion, Constipation, etc., it has no equal. Mrs Thomas Smith, Eganville, writes: 'I am using this medicine for Dyspepsia. I have tried many remedies, but this is the only one that has done me any good.'

A confirmed bachelor says: "It is all nonsense to pretend that love is blind. I never knew a man in love who did not see ten times as much in his sweetheart as I could."

MRS. LANGTRY ON CHICAGO.

Her Impressions of the Great City—Its Language and its Female Reporters.

From Advance Sheets of Mrs. Langtry's Forthcoming Book, "Impressions of America."

MONDAY.

I have been very much interested in the city of Chicago. Its people are very fatiguing in their hospitality. There are hundreds of newspapers published here. The ladies appear to be interested in my shoes. They always inspect my feet with curious wonder. Can it be that there is something peculiar in the foreign foot?

Retired early after having the reporters ejected from under the sofa and wardrobe, as I felt weary.

TUESDAY.

F. has just shown me a criticism in the ——— which gives the names of my ancestors and questions my legitimacy. How Henrietta would laugh over that.

F. has just found a reporter curled up in the bottom drawer of the wardrobe. I never saw such enterprise. We found yesterday that one of the waiters was a reporter in disguise. F. says that I am working too hard and ought to take more recreation.

WEDNESDAY.

Went out for a short drive on Michigan avenue with F. It was very beautiful and animating to see the mob running after us. There must have been several hundred of them. The police cleared a path for us when we came back.

I chided F. this morning playfully because he was getting more notices than myself in the papers. He pouted and seems to be hurt, and I felt sorry for him. Poor fellow, how sensitive he is! I must give him more of my time.

The literary circles of Chicago give a great deal of attention to the discussion of feet. What a curious custom. I understand that the ladies of St Louis are as celebrated for their big feet as the Chinese ladies are for small feet. I spoke to F about it, but he was still pouting and only said "dam'd nonsense." He can be quite profane at times.

One of the papers said to-day that I had omitted a whole scene in "Rosalind." I shall have to ask the manager about that. How careless of them to let me leave out a scene.

The more I see of Chicago the more I am interested. The customs and even the language are so strange.

One of the female reporters who came to see me looked all round the room and then asked: "Where's your mash?" F says it is French for ma chere—but what an idea! Last night the remarks of the audience were very funny. I remember some of them, for I wrote them down in the dressing-room, so as to get them interpreted:

Shoot the feet.
Where's his nibs?
How's the Prince?
Cheese the daisy.
Hold up your Greek head.

F says these are technical terms used by Chicago critics.

In the last act they threw a sticky kind of candy that they call taffy on the stage and abused the conductor because he has a bald-head. It was really too bad. I have always found bald-headed men very nice.

The Chicago critics are very fine gentlemen, but, of course, not so cultivated as the New York critics. But their customs are peculiar. When they get through with my private letters they always send them up to my room with an apology. I shall never forget their politeness.

Chicago is situated on a sea they call a lake. The city burned down some years ago, and when the people rebuilt it they made this lake to provide them with water in case of another fire. F. took me down to see it, but I couldn't see anything but ice, and couldn't understand how they got at the water.

Climate of the Northwest.

Hon. David Laird in the Charlottetown Patriot.

It will be impossible to do justice to this subject in a short newspaper article. A careful comparison of the climate of our eastern provinces with that of our great Northwest would require a small volume instead of a column in a daily journal. We will therefore note only a few points which may be of more special interest to those who are thoughtfully weighing the question whether it is not better for them to remain on Prince Edward Island than to go West to the great prairies.

There is no denying the fact that the winters of the Northwest are colder than those of the maritime provinces. Winter sets in early, and in nearly the whole country it is very constant; but spring opens generally ten or fourteen days earlier than on the Island. The heat in summer is pretty much the same as with us by the sea. The extreme of heat at midday is occasionally greater than it is here, but not more so than in the interior parts of the neighboring provinces. The nights in the Northwest, even in the warmest weather, are for the most part pleasantly cool.

Over the whole of what is called the fertile belt of our Northwest the difference of temperature is inconsiderable. The remote southwest of the prairie country on the Canadian side of the boundary, or what is generally termed by travelers "the Bow river country," has more variable winter than any other part of the fertile belt. There occasionally a south to southwest wind, called in the country "a chinook," blows for a time, and causes a very sudden rise in the temperature. This wind is supposed by some to come either across the mountain plateau, where the great chain of the Rockies is somewhat broken south of the line, or by a circuit from the Gulf of Mexico along the eastern side of the mountains. This "chinook" causes any snow that may be on the ground to disappear very suddenly. Hence the reason that the Bow river country is the best portion of the territories for raising stock, as, owing to the absence of snow, cattle can feed out all winter. Snowstorms, of course, occasionally occur, and for a few days the herds may have rather a difficult time in procuring their food. On this account, it is always prudent for the careful "rancher" to have on hand a few stacks of hay. Still upon the whole, these seasons of deep snow are so seldom that the expense of laying up hay for the whole winter, as in most other parts of Canada, is obviated.

"Female Complaints."

Dr R V Pierce, Buffalo, N Y: Dear sir—I was sick for years, and could scarcely walk about the house. My breath was short and I suffered from pain in my breast and stomach all the time; also from palpitation and an internal fever, or burning sensation, and experienced frequent smothering or choking sensations. I also suffered from pain low down across my bowels and in my back, and was much reduced in flesh. I have used your "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription," and feel that I am well. Very respectfully, DELILAH B. McMILLAN, Arlington, Ga.
