A Conviction Under the Early Closing By-law at Kemptville Must Stand—Toronto Stuck Again.

Mr. Ollernshaw keeps what he says is an eating house in Kemptville; he also sells fruit and other articles. His counsel yesterday asked the Divisional Court to set aside two convictions for violating the early closing bylaw, passed under the authority of the Ontario Shops Regulation Act. The case seems a hard one for Mr. Ollerenshaw. The first conviction appears to be, when examined strictly, based on the fact that the shop door was open after the prescribed hour, and second on the fact that not only was the door open after hours on another occasion, but that a plug of tobacco was openly sold in the shop. Counsel denied the contention that the shop in question was not a shop within the law, because the principal part of the business was an eating house, and the act, by its express terms, did not apply to shops where such was the case, and, next, that it had not been shown that the shop was "open" within the law, because the door of a shop might surely be open for light and air where a hard-working man and his family live within. But, however much this court might have liked to interfere and upset the law as expounded by the Kemptville magnate, they held they could not do so upon a certiorari, as the conviction was not bad on its face, and they had no power to interfere, because the magistrate interpreted an infraction of the law from the door of the shop being open or upon insufficient evidence. An appeal to Sessions should have been taken, instead of a certiorari. The rule asked for was discharged with costs, which are likely to be heavy, as the magistrate, the constable who laid the first information and the one who laid the second were all represented by different counsel.

By the dismissal of the appeal in Ireland v. Muir, Mme. Ireland of Sparks-street, Ottawa, is not obliged to have the defendant reside in her place of business or interfere with her business pending the trial of the action.

In Bullock v. Murray, upon the defendants undertaking to keep an account, the injunction motion in Single Court was enlarged until the trial. The plaintiff claims that the defendant is manufacturing rugs in infringement of plaintiff's patent.

TORONTO STUCK AGAIN.

Mr. Justice Street has given judgment in McCann v. City of Toronto. The defendants are again obliged to pay damages, this time $600 and costs, because in building a fire hall the contractor did not fasten the cover to a manhole so that the wind couldn't blow it. The wind blew, the cover fell on the plaintiff, who was innocently passing by at the time, and damaged her to the extent of $600. The city should have stipulated with the contractor to fasten the cover down, and if they had then he would have had to pay the $600.

In Paladino v. Gustin, Mr. Justice Maclaren dismissed the defendant's appeal from a local Master, refusing to order security for costs in an action for slander. The defendant applied certain unbecoming epithets to the plaintiff, who is one of the fair sex, and resides in London. She brought an action. The question is one of law, the learned judge holding that by sec. 3 of the stat. 52 Vic., ch. 14, prefatory averments are not required in a statement of claim to support an innuendo, and a mere affidavit of merits is not sufficient in the face of the pleading.

TRADE IN CANADA.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Daily Bulletin says: The week shows no special increase in the volume of trade distribution at Montreal. The movement of merchandise countrywards is moderate but healthy, merchants not purchasing beyond their immediate needs. Collections as a whole are rather poor, and applications for renewals frequent; the low price of produce generally may probably account for the apparent scarcity of money in the country. In dry goods, sorting business is hardly very brisk as yet with the country and city retailers are also light buyers. The cotton mills announce this week an advance in towelling and cotton bags. The stiffness in all lines of dried fruits is the feature in groceries, and further advances are cabled in Sultana raisins and French Imperial plums. No large transactions are reported in metals and hardware, but there is a better distribution in moderate lots; there is notably scarcity of Canada plates. Turpentine is materially advanced this week. Since last report hides have developed quite an active movement as compared with the recent dullness, in apparent anticipation of a further advance in the market, and some export movement is reported to the United States, where there is a scarcity of stock. Business in leather is not much brisker, but more inquiry is noted. Prices of sole incline to firmness, and some large western tanners say they have had to decline English orders, which they could not undertake to fill in a reasonable time.

There is no perceptible change in the volume of wholesale trade at Toronto this week. If anything the movement in merchandise has been curtailed owing to unfavorable weather. The great gales and rainstorms have undoubtedly interfered with business; but white orders from the country were not as numerous as might have been expected, there is a feeling of confidence in trade circles that augurs well for the future. The strength and higher prices of many farm products have had a good deal to do with this change in sentiment for the better, and beneficial results are expected. Wheat has risen 8 cents a bushel at country points in Ontario within a fortnight; flour is up and also rye. There is a further advance of ½c in hides, and some improvement is noted in the leather trade in consequence. The hog packing industry has about commenced, and farmers anticipate an advance soon. Stocks of cured meats are low.

TIPS FROM WALL-STREET.

The market closed heavy.

There was a further advance in Pacific Mail and Reading.

McIntyre & Wardwell (John J. Dixon) send the following despatch to their branch office in Toronto: The stock market was without feature this afternoon. The general tone was dull and speculative attention was turned to the grain markets. There were further gold deposits in the Treasury to-day, the total turned in thus far being upwards of 17 million. Foreign exchange was dull but firm at $4.85 to $4.85¼. It is stated that the decreased demand for refined sugar is resulting in the suspension of activity by some of the trust refineries. The borrowing demand for stocks this afternoon was lighter, and at the close the tone was heavy.

CHICAGO GOSSIP.

Henry A. King & Co., 12 King-street east, received the following despatch today from Chicago: The speculative wheat market opened up fifth morning very strong, fully ¾c higher than yesterday's close. There was a big trade reported, and an exceedingly active and nervous market were the features. With very small reactions, the price steadily advanced to 70½c for Dec. Around this point, however, heavy realizing took a prominent part and the price quickly sagged off over a cent, closing steady at 69⅝c, or half a cent over opening prices. Commission houses were the best buyers during the early session, and outside orders were also more prominent. Liverpool cables came much higher. Foreign cables also stronger. Export demand quite liberal, 550,000 bushels being reported. Trade continues to broaden, and on all fair reactions we think wheat a purchase.

Corn and Oats—Both markets shared in the rapid rise with wheat, and prices advanced quickly, May corn selling at 27½c. The cash demand in corn reported good. There was 410,000 bushels of corn taken for export. Prices eased off toward the close on realizing, but closed at a fair advance over opening prices—½c to ¾c.

Provisions—A fair trade was reported in the market for hog products and the feeling was steadier. Receipts of hogs were 31,000. Opening prices were around last night's closing figures, but later on, mainly in sympathy with the firmness in grain, advanced very rapidly, and closed with a good part of the advance well maintained. January pork rose 47c, and the rest of the markets on a parity. Outside orders were moderate. Domestic markets exhibited a better feeling, and foreign advices indicated a stronger tone in that quarter.

McIntyre & Wardwell (John J. Dixon) send the following despatch to their branch office in Toronto: Wheat—Cables were 1d higher and the market opened very strong, with a large trade. The crowd were eager buyers from the start, and this condition continued until the market was advanced above 70c for Dec. Heavy realizing sales were then in order, which relieved the tension and the close was 1c from the top, although nearly 1c higher than last night. Northwest receipts 986 cars, against 1039 last year. There was no export business reported from the east, but 416 more of 260,000 taken for shipment. To-day's closing was not surprising after such a tremendous advance, and a further reaction would be in order, but the market is in shape to turn up quickly, and we expect still higher prices.

Corn—Market has at last shown some life and strength, advancing nearly 1½c over last night's close, reacting ½c and closing steady. The first cause for strength was sympathy with wheat, which, as stated by us for several days past, has brought in some outside speculation, but strength of foreign markets, backed up by foreign buying orders for options, and an improved export enquiry, furnished the stimulus which drove many local shorts to cover, and was the underlying strength to prices. Even in the face of strong ocean freights, foreigners were able to pay advanced prices for corn, and shows the strength of their markets. The sellers at the advance were local longs, mainly wheat traders, and some selling for country account. If wheat advances more, corn will follow, unless offerings from the country increase greatly.

Provisions—Market opened steady and rapidly advanced on buying by shorts. Packers who have sold moderately for Jan. the past two months were best buyers to-day at the advance. The International Packing Company were good sellers. Market closed steady.

THE SILVER BELL.

MINING COMPANY, Rossland, B. C.

CAPITAL—1,000,000 Shares, par value $1.00 per Share, fully paid and non-assessable.

250,000 shares have been placed in the Treasury to be sold for development purposes. Balance of stock is held by owners and is not for sale. Incorporated under the Laws of British Columbia.

OFFICERS:

G. A. POUNDER, President. M. O. TIBBITS, Sec'y and Treas.
JOHN A. POUNDER, Managing Director.

THREE CLAIMS.

THE SILVER BELL MINING COMPANY, of Rossland, B.C., is organized under the laws of British Columbia, for the development of the following mineral claims, viz.: NANCY LEE, LONE JACK and SILVER BELL FRACTION—all adjoining and together forming one compact body containing ninety acres.

These claims are situated on the west slope of Deer Park Mountain, about three-quarters of a mile from the famous Lily May and Deer Park mines, and about two miles from the town of Rossland.

TITLE.

The Company has a perfect title to these properties, there being no adverse claims nor conflicting locations of any kind.

DEVELOPMENT.

A number of open cuts have been made on the "Nancy Lee" and "Lone Jack," exposing the vein for a distance of several hundred feet. In many places the galena ore appears at the surface in a solid body from 2 to 12 feet in width; while at other points it is capped with the iron oxides.

One place on this vein, at a point about 100 feet west of a small tunnel run in on the "Lone Jack," the solid ore is exposed by outcrop for several feet in width.

Actual mining will now be pushed vigorously, and no time lost in putting the property upon a paying basis.

ASSAYS.

Four assays made from samples of surface ore taken at different places across the vein gave returns as follows: Gold, silver and lead, total values, $85.26; $24.35; $42.96, and $42.29. These samples are above the average of those found on the surface of any of the great mines of the camp. Indeed, but few, if any, of the selected surface ores gave as high returns.

These properties being located within a short distance of the smelter, a railroad crossing the base of the hill upon which they are located, the small cost of reduction; wood and water in abundance; the town of Rossland only a short distance away, insuring cheap supplies; large and well defined veins; a good grade of ore on the surface; this group surely justifies the belief that but little work will be required to uncover large bodies of high-grade ore, and that the mines can be made to yield good returns in a short space of time.
