IRELAND GROWING SATISFIED.

It is a noteworthy fact that not in a hundred years has Ireland been so tranquil as at present. This is due to the more friendly spirit which has sprung up in the last year, and which is growing more marked daily. Several things are responsible for this changed state of affairs. In the first place, Gerald Balfour, the Secretary for Ireland, has become exceedingly popular among the Irish. Secondly, the Irish local Government bill, which went into effect last spring, and by which the Irish can elect their own county councils and run their own local affairs, has proven unexpectedly successful.

A third reason is that the Irish are forming companies and associations for the growing of farm produce, such as butter, eggs and poultry, to supply the English markets. Similar movements have been started before, but have always failed for lack of capital, which now the hitherto much-hated landlords are furnishing. Once well organized, and with the Irish agricultural spirit thoroughly aroused, Ireland can alone almost entirely supply the English market with produce, which in the past has been imported from Brittany, Denmark and Russia.

A fourth reason is that Englishmen in the last year have been taking more interest in Ireland than ever before. Until recently English seldom visited Ireland, because the railway and hotel service was poor, and it was taken for granted that there was nothing in Ireland worth going to see. In the last summer, however, Ireland has been visited by thousands of Englishmen, who seem to have just discovered it is an ideal place for a vacation. The railway service is greatly improved, and the hotels are much better. The reception of Englishmen was kindly in every direction, and the junket made by a committee of Parliament during the Easter vacation through Ireland has had an excellent effect.

So, with Ireland actually becoming happy and contented, and its subjects in all other parts of the world satisfied for the time being with their lot, England is happily free to devote its entire energies to the Boers.

The Venezuelan award is satisfactory to the London Advertiser. Venezuela has yet to be heard from, and then if she has no kick coming it is to be presumed that the award will go.

Of the territory in dispute the arbitrators have awarded Great Britain five-sixths and Venezuela one-sixth. This is the same territory President Cleveland almost plunged the United States into war over by his bellicose message to congress. It took a British flying squadron to bring him to his senses.

The Chatham barristers who have been created Queen's Counsel will honor the title more than the title honors them. If all those who have been created Q. C.'s deserved the distinction, if distinction it can now be called, as much as J. B. Rankin and John A. Walker, this province would not now be overrun with so many titled legal nobility that they decorate if they do not ornament everything from a justice mill up to the supreme court.

The following is from the Windsor Record. We don't know who the Record stole it from, but it contains a good deal of truth:

"Keep-'Em Going."

One step won't take you very far,
You've got to keep on walking;
One word won't tell what you are—
You've got to keep on talking;
One inch won't make you very tall,
You've got to keep on growing;
One little "ad" won't do it all—
You've got got to keep 'em going.

The Dewey celebration in New York is estimated to have cost $20,000,000. Hero worship comes high, but the people must have it. And the money might have been spent on a less deserving man.—Exchange.

Many unthinking people will exclaim, "Oh, what a waste of money which might have been put to some good use" To what better use could money be put than by being circulated for labor, necessaries, etc., in connection with such a demonstration. This $20,000,000 came from people who could afford it. It could not be given in charity, or the distribution of such a sum would simply be demoralizing. And if the contributors did not spend their money in this way to the benefit directly and indirectly of thousands of wage earners they would simply keep it in the bank, doing no one any good.
