FREDERICTON

Fredericton, Oct. 8—One of the most brilliant society weddings Fredericton has ever seen took place at Ashburton Place, the palatial residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Edgecombe, when their elder daughter, Miss Louise Eaton Edgecombe, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Neil MacCunn, formerly of Greenock, Scotland, Rev. Neil McLaughlan officiating. The bridal party entered the drawing room to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and took their position under a Gothic arch in the east window. The arch was banked with palms and ferns, entwined with milax. The two windows in the arch were draped with mauve orchids and above the windows were the initials "E. and M.," worked in white carnations. The bridal party stood under a shower of bells.

The decorations throughout the whole house were artistic and beautiful. The drawing room was decorated with white and green. In the hallway autumn wood vines and the ballustrade of the broad staircase was entwined with the vine and yellow chrysanthemums. The dining room was trimmed with lily of the valley and asparagus ferns.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked very sweet and winsome in a beautiful gown of ivory duchess satin with coatee of rose point lace trimmed with Roman pearls, brought from Rome by the bride, and Juliet cap and veil caught up with wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids.

The bridesmaids, Miss Muriel Eaton and Miss Muriel Massey, wore peach colored crepe with royal purple velvet trimmings and chiffon Juliet caps and veils, and carried baskets of purple pansies.

Miss Frederick B. Edgecombe, mother of the bride, was gowned in black and cerise and brocade velvet over petticoat of honiton lace and wore amethyst and pearl ornaments and corsage bouquet of valley lilies. Mr. Charles Edgecombe, brother of the bride, was best man.

After the ceremony and congratulations a very recherche luncheon was served. The bride's table was the piece de resistance of the dining room, the polished mahogany of the table being covered with a handsome Irish lace centre piece and centered with the beautiful wedding cake, which was over three feet high, weighed over fifty pounds, and was elaborately decorated. The place cards were, at the bride's table, miniature brides with gowns painted in the color of the bride and bridesmaid's gowns.

The members of the bridal party who sat at the bride's table were the bride and groom, the bridesmaids, the best man and Mr. William M. McKie. During the afternoon a programme of music was rendered by Donovan's orchestra.

Many beautiful and costly gifts were received by the bride and groom, among them several checks. The groom's present to the bride was a diamond dinner ring set in platinum and gold. To the bridesmaids he gave gold bar pins set with whole pearls; to Miss Shuman, who played the wedding march, a shirt waist set of gold and mother of pearl, and to Mr. Charles Edgecombe, the best man, a gold pocket knife with monogram.

The bride's present from her mother was a baby grand piano; from her father a furnished house and substantial check.

The bridal party left by C. P. R. by private car Rosemere for Montreal and on Friday evening will sail on the steamship Megantic, of the White Star Dominion line, for England, and will visit Scotland, Holland and France.

The bride's going away gown was a tailored suit of blue moleskin with hat to match trimmed with sable.

Some out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Eaton and Miss Muriel Eaton, of Princeton (Me.); Mrs. Fred. Ryan and Miss Ryan, of Sackville; Mrs. William J. Robertson, of New York; Mrs. Edgar Golding, Mrs. William Golding, Mrs. William Humphries, Mrs. Fred. Fisher, St. John; Mr. W. M. Fredericton, Oct. 9—"The greatest revenue in the history of the province was predicted for New Brunswick for the fiscal year ending 31st October, 1913, by Premier Flemming this morning. "It looks to me as though we would have the greatest revenue in history and that is exclusive of bonuses on crown timber leases," declared the premier.

"The territorial revenues are about the same as for the past two years," he continued. "Although the lumber cut was smaller this year and stumpage collections therefore considerably less, the revenue from other sources is increasing. Fees in the provincial secretary's office, taxes from incorporated companies, king's printer office and other items are in excess of previous years. The estimate for succession duties was $50,000, but through one or two large estates paying their tax this year the amount will probably be well up to double our estimate, one estate alone paying upwards of $34,000."

Mrs. John Gibson, of Marysville, received word last night that her son, Fred H. Gibson, of the Bank of Commerce staff, Quebec, was critically ill from pneumonia. She left for Quebec by the evening train.

Charles McCormick, aged fourteen years, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick, Union street, was struck by a stray bullet at a pasture on New Maryland Hill this morning, but luckily escaped serious injury.

He was leaving the pasture, after taking some cows there, and was just in the act of latching the gate when suddenly he felt a burning, stinging pain in his right side. The report from the discharge of a rifle, which he heard just a second or so previously, made it plain to him that he had been shot.

Young McCormick was not in a very robust state of health, having only recently left Victoria Hospital following an operation for appendicitis, but he managed to reach the home of his parents on Union street, although in a very much weakened condition. Drs. Holden and McGrath were summoned and they found that the young fellow's wound was not a serious one. This afternoon he was resting easily and no serious complications are anticipated.

Fredericton, Oct. 10—News has been received here of the death at Quebec on Wednesday night of Fred H. Gibson, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at that place. He was the youngest son of the late John Gibson of Marysville and a half brother of W. A. Gibson, who died in St. John a short time ago. He began his banking career in the Bank of Montreal here and was connected with branches in St. John and other points in the Maritime Provinces. He joined the Bank of Commerce staff in Quebec and was only recently appointed manager. His death resulted from pneumonia and was quite sudden. His mother was summoned from Marysville but arrived too late to see him alive. Mr. Gibson was twenty-nine years old and is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Thibodeau of Quebec to whom he was married a year ago. The body will be interred in Quebec.

After a painful illness of some weeks' duration, Mr. Richard D. Southwood passed into eternal rest on Sunday last, at the age of sixty-nine years. Mr. Southwood was born in Bathurst, where the principal part of his life was spent and where he conducted a successful mercantile business, his affability and cherry manner winning for him many friends both in a business and social way. For ten years, while resident in the Southern States, Mr. Southwood became interested in the growing of oranges and achieved much financial success therefrom. Mr. Southwood is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Lizzie Ramsay, who has, in her bereavement, the earnest sympathy of a wide circle of friends. Mr. Southwood, who was a member of St. John's Lodge, A. F. and F. M., was buried with Masonic honors at St. George's cemetery on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Bathurst mourns this week the loss of one of her oldest citizens and most skilled practitioners in the person of Dr. Gideon M. Duncan, whose death occurred on Sunday last. Prominent in medical associations, always an active member of several medical societies, and more than once president of the Medical Council, his is a loss than will be felt throughout the province, as well as locally. During the last twenty-seven years of his life, he had been a sufferer from a spinal trouble, and though invalided much of the time, he continued his life work until shortly before his death. Dr. Duncan was born at Coldstream, Scotland, July 8, 1842. He came to Bathurst in 1864 as principal of the Bathurst village high school. Two years late rhe began the study of medicine with Dr. W. W. Gordon and finished his medical studies at McGill University with the degree of C. M., M. D., in 1871. The same year he was married to Miss Martha Jane, daughter of the late Hon. Robert Gordon, who died some years ago. He is survived by three children, Mrs. A. D. W. Leach, of Mexico city; Mrs. S. Howard Cox and Dr. R. G. Duncan, of Bathurst, who have the sympathy of all in their affliction. Dr. Duncan, having been a past master of St. John's Lodge, A. F. and F. M., his funeral on Tuesday at 3.30 p. m., was under Masonic auspices. A touching tribute was paid by the children of the schools under the direction of the Sisters of Charity. As the funeral cortege passed their school the children were ranged at either side of the street, the boys saluting as the sad procession passed bearing to their last resting place the remains of one who had been for many years a faithful school trustee and secretary.

A particularly sad death occurring here this week was that of Mrs. Joseph Landry, wife of the proprietor of the Landry hotel. Mrs. Landry, who was but thirty years old, had been ill only a short time with an attack of typhoid fever. She leaves besides her husband, two children, little Miss Florence at home and Miss Josephine, a student at Sillery Convent (P. Q.) For these bereft ones much sympathy is expressed. Mrs. Landry's funeral was held at Grand Anse, the remains having been taken by Caraquet train there on Tuesday morning.

Burton, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burton, and Mr. J. Frank McVey, of St. Stephen. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of ivory duchess satin with overdress of shadow lace trimmed with rose point. A veil of tulle formed a Juliette cap with lilies of the valley and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and maiden hair ferns. She was attended by little Miss Emma Odell as flower girl, who was dressed in pink messaline with hat to match, and carried a basket of pink carnations. The church was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and white flowers. Miss Hazel Grimmer preside but the organ, the choir sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden, and O Perfect Love. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was rendered at the close of the ceremony. The bride's mother wore grey silk with hat of black velvet and ostrich mount. Mrs. Joseph McVey, mother of the groom, was costumed in black silk trimmed with point lace with hat of purple violets. Mr. Jas. Treadwell and Mr. Donald Hewitt acted as ushers. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was also decorated with palms and autumn flowers, the happy couple standing under a large floral bell to receive congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. McVey left on the evening train for a short honeymoon tour. The bride's travelling dress was navy blue broadcloth, with velvet hat to match and wore a set of beaver furs, the gift of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McVey, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Flewelling and litle daughter, Mr. Will McVey and the Misses Addie and Lila McVey, of St. Stephen, were among the out-of-town guests. The groom's present to the flower girl was a gold pendant, and to the ushers pearl scarf pins. The wedding presents were numerous and beautiful, consisting of silver, cut glass and china, a cabinet of silver from the bride's parents, from the groom's parents, a dinner set and a beautiful cut glass fruit dish from the church choir, of which the bride was a member.
