SEVENTEENTH YEAR — SIX PAGES—MONDAY MORNING JUNE 8 1896—SIX PAGES — ONE CENT

THEY SEE VICTORY AHEAD

Sir Charles and His Ministers Go Over the Situation.

BEFORE SEPARATING AT MONTREAL

Hon. Mr. Drummond Says the Government Will Be Sustained.

The Senator Also Sizes up the Outlook in Quebec and His Opinion is Accepted by Many—Conservatives Expect to Redeem Montreal Centre—The Fight in French-Canadian Constituencies—Men Who Will Probably be Made Senators.

Montreal, June 7.—(Special.)—The Conservative headquarters here is a busy place just now, and well it may, for the party organizers have no less than 32 constituencies to look after. Your correspondent asked Hon. Geo. A. Drummond yesterday what he thought of the result, and as the Senator is in close touch with the party machine all over the Dominion, and with many years of experience to his credit, an opinion from such a quarter is worth considerable. He stated that the organization might be a little weaker than was to be desired on the Island of Montreal, and this would no doubt be remedied as the campaign progressed, but the indications all over the Dominion pointed to a decisive victory for the minority at the polls. Hon. Mr. Drummond is no boaster, and whether the counting of the ballots on the night of June 23 justify his prediction or place him in the position of a false prophet, the hon. gentleman is certainly sincere in his belief that Sir Charles Tupper is going to be handsomely sustained.

The Premier left last evening for Ottawa, and so did Hon. John Haggart, while Hon. Mr. Angers took the boat for Quebec, and Hon. Messrs. Taillon and Desjardins spent Sunday in their respective counties, where large meetings were held.

Before separating the general comparing of notes took place, and there can be no doubt that after taking cognizance of Mr. Barningham's estimate, as to the result in Ontario, the Prime Minister and his colleagues are as certain as men can possibly be, that the old party is once more on the eve of a great victory. The old man at the head of the Conservative forces breathes confidence in every word he utters, and they all go about with an air of impending triumph in their faces.

Coming back to the Conservative headquarters, The World is informed that in this district they expect to redeem Montreal Centre, where the redistribution has taken away almost all of Mr. McShane's majority; Maskinonge, which Mr. Legris carried in 1871 by 108; Yamaska, carried by the late Liberal member, Mr. Mignault, by 150; Richelieu, by less than 100; Jacques Cartier, by 800, where Mr. Monk, the Conservative candidate, has captured the solid English vote, and where Sir Oliver Mowat is announced to speak this week; Nicolet, carried five years ago by four of a majority, against two Conservative candidates; Vaudreuil, where Dr. Cholette has resigned his seat at Quebec to give battle to Mr. Harwood; and, last, but not least, Chateauguay, which has been held at Ottawa by the Liberals for more than a generation.

On the other hand, the Liberals do not intend that the Conservative side shall have a monopoly of the counties to be redeemed, for their managers declare they will defeat the Postmaster-General in Chambly and Vercheres; Dr. Lachapelle, in Hochelaga; and carry the new division of Maisonneuve, where they are running a particularly strong candidate in the person of Ald. Prefontaine, ex-M.P. for the old division of Chambly. Both parties claim to have a good chance of succeeding in Argenteuil, where Dr. Christie, Liberal, is being hard pressed by Mr. Harry Abbott, Q.C., and son of the late Premier of Canada, Sir John Caldwell Abbott. The Government lost this constituency five years ago through two Conservative factions, the one headed by Mr. J. C. Wilson, ex-M.P., and the other by Senator Owens fighting for supremacy in the party counsels, resulting in the return of Dr. Christie by a small majority to the House of Commons. This feud has been healed and now Hon. Mr. Owens and Mr. Wilson, who owns the big paper mills at Lachute, have both taken off their coats, and are working with all possible energy, in order that the historic name of Abbott may again have a place in the Parliament of Canada.

Amongs the new men who will, in all probability, go to Ottawa from this province, Messrs. F. J. Bisaillon, Q.C., from Laval; F. D. Monk, Q.C., Jacques Cartier, and Mr. J. F. Quinn, Q.C., from Montreal Centre, will at once take a prominent place in the House. All are young men of fine appearance, and as public speakers will stand second to none in Parliament.

It is quite likely that when the new appointments are made known, it will be found that Hon. Alphonse Desjardins is succeeded in the Senate by Mr. L. J. Forget, President of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co. and also of the Montreal Street Railway Co., and that Sir Hector Louis Langevin will replace Hon. Mr. Angers in the Upper Chamber.

BIKES "GO" EVERYWHERE.

Cycling Still Holds Undisputed Sway Over the Fashionable World of London—Johnson Before Wales.

New York, June 7.—Mr. Ballard Smith cables from London to The World: Cycling still holds undisputed sway over the fashionable world of London. One of the two principal social functions to-day was a trial on the Catford bridge track, a few miles from London, when the Prince of Wales witnessed the Simpson versus plain chain competition. J. S. Johnson, said here to be the acknowledged American champion, tried to lower the mile record.

The grandstand at Catford, which only two years ago was patronized exclusively by the middle and the artisan classes, was as crowded with "smart" men and women and as gay with brilliant costumes as the royal inclosure is at Ascot.

Another section of the "smart" society gathered at the highly exclusive Ranelagh Club to witness the Bicycling Gymkhana, in which prizes valued at $250 were given to lady members of the club for various feats of dexterity and skill in managing their bicycles. This exhibition, which proved an enormous attraction, was organized by Lord Ava, the secretary of the club, and the eldest son of Lord Dufferin.

The experience of Mr. Reuben Sassoon, the Prince of Wales' crony, has been rather unfortunate, as he broke his right arm in two places the other day owing to a side slip when riding with the Prince at Sandringham.

THEY WILL SUPPORT THE N.P.

Mr. Maclean Given an Enthusiastic Reception at Markham,

Where a Big Meeting Was Held in the Interests of the Liberal-Conservative Party on Saturday Evening—The Chairman Tells How if the Liberals Got Into Power He Would Have to Close His Factory and Leave Canada—Stirring Speeches by Mr. P. W. Ellis, Mr. Barlow Cumberland, Mr. Maclean and Others.

Markham, June 6—(Special.)—The Conservatives of Markham had a rousing meeting here to-night in support of W. F. Maclean, the Conservative candidate for the riding of East York. The large crowd, which completely filled the Town Hall, listened with the greatest interest to the speakers, and the interruptions were very few. Shortly after 8 o'clock the candidate appeared on the platform and was lustily cheered. Accompanying him were Messrs. Barlow Cumberland, P. W. Ellis, Rev. Mr. Buchanan, E. H. Cross, James Robinson, George Stephenson, and William Hall. The chair was occupied by Archibald Campbell, carpet manufacturer of the village.

The meeting opened by the audience singing the campaign song by Miss E. Pauline Johnson, entitled, "Rally ye Sons of Protection." Mr. Ellis explained to the audience that the song had been awarded first prize by the Canadian Industrial League. The air was "The Red, White and Blue," and as printed copies of the song had been distributed at the door every one was able to join in. The song was particularly popular with the ladies, who sang heartily.

Chairman Campbell's Opening.

In his introductory speech, Chairman Campbell said that if it were not for the mechanics who secured employment through the National Policy in Markam, the place would be a goose pasture. The speaker made an appeal to the people of the town to do their utmost to support the N.P., which meant their bread and butter. If the Reformers got into power he would have to close up his carpet factory, which employed a large number of hands, and go to the States. He called upon Mr. Maclean as the standard-bearer of the party, who would surely march to victory on the 23rd instant.

Mr. Maclean Cheered.

Amidst loud applause Mr. Maclean stepped toward the front of the platform, and a pretty little white-robed girl, with golden hair and blue eyes, the daughter of Dr. Pett, walked up and presented him with a magnificent bouquet of crimson and cream roses. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed throughout the whole of Mr. Maclean's remarks, and he was continuously applauded. He placed before the meeting his record at Ottawa, and reviewed the history of the school question. He thought his stand had represented the views of the majority of his constituents. (Cries of "That's right.") He had no feeling of hostility towards Roman Catholics. He respected their religion and hoped they respected his, but it was a mistake to introduce race and creed questions into politics. He had acted as he did thinking that it was public policy and right. In his opinion one good school was better than two poor ones—(applause)—and he did not object to the children of Manitoba growing up in one common school. The time was come to bar the door of the Dominion Parliament to all such questions, or they will be under discussion in the House always, and the prosperity of the country will be retarded.

Deeds Better Than Words.

"My opponent, Mr. Frankland," said the speaker, "has declared himself against Separate schools for Manitoba, but I think my deed in voting as I did will have more weight with the voters than his pledge." Mr. Maclean then read from newspaper clippings a statement made by Mr. Frankland himself, in St. Paul's Hall, that he wanted to see the National Policy wiped off the face of the earth. How could such a man ask the suffrages of the people? The speaker showed how the N.P. had doubled, trebled, and even quadruple the population of Yorkville and old St. Matthew's Ward, where the residents were mostly employes of factories in the city. Then Mr. Frankland himself was a butcher by trade. What effect would the defeat of the N.P. have on the butchers? Why, the removal of the duty on imports of beef would flood the country with beef fed in the western states and slaughtered by Chicago packing houses. Could Mr. Frankland,

THE PASSING OF ROSEBERY

This Ex-Premier of Britain Said to Be a Mental Wreck.

HIS RETIREMENT CLOSE AT HAND

Why Mr. Kruger is so Lenient With the Prætoria Prisoners.

Barney Barnato's Warning to the Boer President Had Its Effect—He Showed Himself to be a Practical Diplomatist—Lord Dufferin's Retirement From Paris—English Politics Dull—Cable Gossip.

London, June 7.—The rumor of Rosebery's forthcoming resignation of the leadership of the Liberal party, which appeared in all the papers last evening, doubtless has foundation in fact. The writer was assured to-night on excellent authority that Rosebery is more or less a mental wreck. This is the true meaning of his recent abstention from active politics. His resignation has been offered to the party leaders more than once, and only declined through the influence of a strong faction hostile to Harcourt. Preferring King Log to King Stork they have done their best to keep Rosebery in so as to keep Harcourt out. But the attempt to bolster up so self-confessed a failure as Rosebery cannot be longer persisted in even if, as they say, he is not a prey to nervous prostration in its worst form.

The Kaffir Circus Again.

There are signs of improvement in the South African market, where dealers are straggling back to get under the tent of the Kaffir circus. The recovery in prices is not yet decided, but there is a great increase in speculative activity. This is due to the clemency shown to the Rand prisoners and to the expectation that the sentences of the four Reform leaders will speedily be commuted and President Kruger induced to come to England to recruit his health. "Barney" Barnato, whether he deserves it or not, gets more credit than Mr. Chamberlain for the improvement in South African affairs. He warned President Kruger that the lucrative industries of the Rand were paralyzed by political uncertainty, and that clemency and amnesty were necessary for business reasons. The fines will be settled up by Barnato and other millionaires, and another Kaffir boom will soon be in order.

Barney is a Diplomatist.

Cecil Rhodes is in Buluwayo planning railways and exciting the enthusiasm of his supporters. He is "The big Bear that bites," but President Kruger has not caught him yet, and if he gives up his four millionaire prisoners he will never catch him. With the prisoners released, it is now probable that the Jameson trial will speedily be wound up and that the accused will escape on technical pleadings. As for the Chartered Company, its directors are rich and powerful, and several beautiful leaders of fashion are working strenuously for it in a social way. Barnato is a practical diplomatist; he believes in paying up all forfeited stakes, shuffling the cards well and having a new deal all around.

Lord Dufferin's Retirement.

Apart from Crete, where the situation is increasing in seriousness, and also Russia, where the brightness of the coronation festivities was dimmed by the catastrophe of the stampede for cups, handkerchiefs and sausages, the week's history of Europe is remarkably uneventful. Perhaps the most impressive incident is the retirement of Lord Dufferin from Paris, where he has made wonderfully felicitous speeches, characterized by his usual tact and literary skill.

English Politics Dull.

English politics are exceptionally dull. Work in the House of Commons is dragging badly, and Mr. Balfour is hardly justifying his reputation as an energetic leader. The Liberal gain of two seats in the bye-elections is not unexpected; the present Unionist majority in the Commons does not represent the true relations of the great parties of the country. Many seats which were naturally and logically Liberal were carried by the Unionists last summer under exceptional conditions. Whenever bye-elections come on, the Liberals are likely to regain what naturally belongs to them. The debate on the Soudan policy was chiefly remarkable for the ingenuity with which Mr. Labouchere brought it on.

Mr. Gladstone's letter to the Pope has been received with consternation by Non-conformists and with apathy by English Churchmen, who assume that it will be an ineffective appeal for the re-union of Christendom, since the only substantial effect of his proposals will be the submission of a considerable number of the Anglican clergy to Rome.

The woman suffrage cause has not triumphed at Westminster, but waitresses have been substituted for waiters for serving tea on the terrace of the House of Commons. They are all dressed alike in black gowns, white aprons and lace caps, and honorable members seem to like the change.

"SHACKLED IN HIS TENT."

Why Sir Richard Cartwright is Afraid to Come Out These Days—An Opinion of Laurier.

Montreal, June 7.—(Special)—There was a big meeting here last evening, when most of the speakers were English. Dr. Roddick, Government candidate in St. Antoine division, said: "If I were a French-Canadian and a Roman Catholic, I would be ashamed of a man like Mr. Laurier," while Mr. D. MacMaster, speaking of the Grit policy, stated that to-day Sir Richard Cartwright is shackled in his tent, because he is afraid if he came out he would come into conflict with the soft words of Laurier and Mowat."

IS IT REAL CHOLERA?

Report of a Fierce Outbreak of the Disease in the French Military Camp at Chalons.

New York, June 7.—A London special says: There are stories to-day of a fierce outbreak of a choleraic disease in the French military camp at Chalons on Thursday, which closely resembles the Asiatic reality, and at least not up to the present has it been decided to be something else. There is still some cholera in South Russia, but otherwise June finds Europe free from the epidemic for the first time, practically, in a dozen years. The disease is much worse than usual in Egypt, however, and the English officials are finding the task of forcing the populace to take the most rudimentary precautions against its spread more arduous than all their other hard jobs in the Nile Valley put together.

IS IT A REIGN OF TERROR?

Anarchists Resume Operations at Barcelona—Several Persons Were Killed Last Night Great Excitement.

Barcelona, June 7.—The Anarchists have resumed their activity in this city and much fear is entertained that they will inaugurate another reign of terror similar to that which prevailed in 1892 and 1893, when there were many explosions here, in Madrid and other Spanish cities. At 9 o'clock to-night a bomb was exploded while a religious procession was taking place and several persons were killed. The outrage has caused great excitement. The authorities held a meeting subsequent to the explosion and resolved to take energetic measures to discover the authors of the crime and to prevent further outrages. This is the second outrage or attempted outrage within a few days. During a religious procession on the Feast of Corpus Christi a bomb was found in a dust heap near the Cathedral. It was evidently the intention of those who placed the bomb where it was found to kill or maim some of those taking part in the procession. A number of Anarchists have been arrested, but as yet there is no positive proof that any of them caused the explosion.

Later.—Six persons were killed by the explosion and 24 wounded. It is not known what explosive the bomb contained. The Captain-General of the Province of Barcelona acted as standard-bearer in the procession, while the Civil Governor and the City Alcalde held the streamers of the banner. It is thought that the designers of the outrage contemplated killing these officials. At a late hour to-night the police had not discovered any clue to the actual authors of the crime.

The head of the firm of Morton, Bliss & Co., who have bought the property, is Gov. Morton, and it is said to be their intention to continue its development.

The title to the property involved is made secure by a bill passed recently by the Legislature.

$300,000 Damage and Three Lives Lost in Minnesota on Saturday Night—Cyclone Comes Handy.

St. Paul, June 7.—Reports received in St. Paul up to 11 o'clock at night indicate that the damage done by the great storm of yesterday will reach $300,000. Three people are known to have perished. These were C. W. Castleton of Ash Lake, E. W. Hunter of Adrian and Moses Chadwick of Noble's County. There were at least 1000 cattle, sheep, hogs and horses drowned in Southwestern Minnesota. The greatest casualties were at Luverne and on the Rock River. Two cloudbursts struck the latter in three hours and the river overflowed the country for miles.

STOLE SACRED VESTMENTS.

Another Case of Sacrilege at St. Thomas' Church, Toronto.

It is Not the First Time That an Outrage Has Been Perpetrated—The Red Vestments Had Only Been Used Once This Season—On Saturday They Were Stolen—Is it a Case of "No Popery"?

There is great indignation among the members of St. Thomas' Church at the sacrilegious conduct of some person last week. In this church the clergy use what are known as the Sarum colors. These consist of very rich and costly garments, which are worn over the ordinary white charuble, which is the usual white vestment, well known in all Anglican churches. For different seasons different colors are worn, such as white for festivals, violet for Advent and Lent, and red for Trinity. These colors are not worn at the ordinary services, but at Holy Communion only. At St. Thomas' this is a separate service, commencing at 11.15 a.m., 15 minutes after matins, which lasts from 10.30 to 11 o'clock.

The authorities of St. Thomas' Church believe it is a disgrace that the House of God should be barred and locked six days in the week, and the church is thrown open at certain portions of the day, in order that persons of a devout frame of mind may enter and spend a short season free from the cares of the outside world in prayer and meditation. Formerly the front door of the church was thrown open, but some years ago the opportunity was taken advantage of by some one to commit the grossest sacrilege, even going to the extent of defiling the altar and vestments.

Latterly the front door has been kept closed, and only the side door opened. On Saturday the church was only open one hour, and some one, taking advantage of the liberty, entered the church and carried off the red vestments, which were laid out ready for use at Holy Communion yesterday. The red garments were worn for the first time this season on the previous Sunday, being Trinity Sunday. The theft was discovered on Saturday afternoon, but too late to procure others to replace the stolen ones, so that yesterday the officiating clergyman was forced to administer the Holy Communion shorn of those vestments which the clergy of this church regard as appropriate and necessary at this season. The violet and white garments worn at the other seasons were not interfered with, probably because they were locked up.

Rev. J. H. McCollum was interviewed by The World last night, and related the circumstances as above. He further stated that there were two theories as to the cause of the sacrilege—simply, a case of theft, or a conspiracy to prevent the use of these particular vestments. If it was the latter motive which prompted the act, he intimated that it would not attain its object. It might be that some person had formed the idea, prompted by the present agitation of "Hands off Manitoba," that the wearing of these vestments savored of Popery, and had taken this method of expressing disapproval. There had been, he added, no signs of dissatisfaction in the congregation in reference to the wearing of these garments, and the greatest harmony prevailed, as evidenced by the fact that at the Easter service 653 persons partook of communion. "I hope you will be able to find who the thief is," was the wish expressed by Mr. McCollum as The World bade him good night.

FIRST BATHING FATALITY.

John Buck Seized With Cramps While Bathing in the Don—No Grappling Irons Are Here Provided.

Sunday afternoon a number of lads were swimming in the Don, near the Winchester-street bridge. One of them, John Buck, aged 17, who lived at 127 Davenport-road, took cramps and was drowned. He was the son of James Buck, laborer, who formerly resided at 13 New-street.

The body was not recovered. Ex-Esplanade Constable Williams was notified, but he had no authority to act. Friends who were willing to search for the body had no tools to work with, as no one knew where the grappling irons were kept. This is another example of the wave of economy that is sweeping over the City Hall.

DEATH IN THE SQUALL.

The First Drowning of the Season in Hamilton Bay—John Pfeifer the Victim.

Hamilton, June 7.—The first drowning accident of the season occurred to-day, when John Pfeifer, the 17-year-old son of John G. Pfeifer, 94 Melbourne-street, lost his life near the centre of the bay in a squall that blew up suddenly about 5 o'clock this afternoon. With W. Connors and Albert Alderman, both 17 years old, living at 84 Merrick-street, and George Riger, the son of Charles Riger, 59 Caroline-street north, Pfeifer was sailing from the other side of the bay in a small boat. The squall came up in a minute, and the waves dashed over the boat, which sank with the occupants. Pfeifer went under the boat, and when he came to the surface was 25 feet from the boat. He came to it and climbed on, but was washed off, sank and never came up. The others clung to the boat for half an hour, although it turned over a dozen times, and were heroically rescued by Messrs. Doyle, Kavanagh and Roach, who risked their lives in the storm. The three were unconscious when picked up. Pfeifer's body has not been recovered.

THEIR PLAN MISCARRIED.

Why W. & D. Dineen Cannot Rebuild Their Store This Season.

Experience often proves the truth of the maxim that "the best-laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley." A case in point is that of W. & D. Dineen, who had all but completed arrangements for the rebuilding of their store on the corner of King and Yonge-streets. It was the intention to erect a building much larger than the present store in time for the fall fur trade. When the plans and specifications were prepared, however, it was found that the architect could not guarantee to have the new store ready before the opening of the season, and the firm has been compelled reluctantly to forego its intention for the present.

Having found it absolutely necessary to secure a larger store, however, Messrs. Dineen will, if possible, have a new building before next spring, if not on the present location, then on another site.

WAS ALTERED TO SUIT ALL

Pastor Turk's Resolution in Regard to Manitoba Schools.

MODIFIED BY THE CONFERENCE.

It is Now a Simple Protest Against Special Privileges

Being Granted to Roman Catholics—Greenway and His Government May Amend the Law to Remove Any Just Cause for Complaint, But Nothing Else—Twenty-One Buildings Burned at Selkirk—Hon Hugh John Macdonald Goes West.

Winnipeg, June 7.—(Special.)—On Saturday the Methodist Conference of Manitoba and the Northwest put itself on record regarding the school question. Resolutions as introduced by Pastor Turk of Grace Church had been materially altered by the committee and modified with the idea of meeting objections, so that all could accept it on common grounds.

The resolutions as altered were as follows, and were unanimously adopted without debate:

"Resolved, That this Manitoba and Northwest Conference of the Methodist Church reaffirms its former expressions touching the school question, and again endorses the deliverance of the general conference touching the question of civil and religious liberty.

"That we desire to place on record our belief that the interests of this province will be best served by the maintaining in our midst of a uniform system of non-denominational public schools.

"That, while we deprecate any legislation by this province or by the Dominion which will have the effect of restoring any such denominational school system as existed before the passing of the present Public School Act, we are in favor of such amendment of our school law by our provincial authorities as will remove any just cause of complaint on the part of our Roman Catholic fellow-citizens, to whom we are most willing to accord every right and privilege in relation to education which we now or may from time to time enjoy, but whose claim to any special privileges beyond those we as Protestants are entitled to possess we distinctly deny."

ROUTED THE ENEMY.

Sir Herbert Kitchener Cables His Victory at Firket—Seized Their Camp and All Supplies.

London, June 7.—The Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for War, has received a telegram dated Akasheh, June 7, evening, from Sir Herbert Kitchener, Sirdar of the Egyptian army, saying: "We surprised the enemy at dawn at Firket. They resisted gallantly, holding the hills and the village, but were completely defeated and their retreat cut off. We captured their camp and all their camels, horses and provisions. Our casualties were slight. The troops behaved excellently."

ST. JOHN PEOPLE SORE.

Hon. Mr. Foster Had a Hard Time Getting a Hearing.

St. John, N.B., June 7.—The Foster meeting here Saturday night was quite a noisy affair and at times the Minister of Finance had much difficulty in getting a hearing. The institute was crowded, but many were not by any means satisfied with the Government's policy and hisses and interruptions were frequent.

Not a Church Goer.

A cycling party of thirteen went out for a run yesterday morning. The number of the party was not noticed until many miles had been covered. There were superstitious ones present, and when the more jovial ones were having a nice time at a way house three of the cyclers started off to break up the fatal number. The ten were surprised at the sudden disappearance and started out to catch up with the runaways. They inquired of passers-by of the whereabouts of the three bolters, and they at last stopped opposite a veteran-looking farmer standing at his gate.

"Have you seen three of our party passing here?" asked the captain.

"Naw," was the reply as the old man pulled away at his mock meerschaum, "and I've been standing here this half hour."

"Perhaps they passed while you were at church?" was mildly suggested.

"Well, then," said the landed proprietor of what looked to be several hundred acres, "That must have been a —— of a long time ago."

The gang rode on.
