The Situation.

It is to be regretted that the Reformers have been able to raise the cry of unfair treatment under the election law in the case of London and West Northumberland. They had been beaten so badly on the straight trade issue that it was sincerely to be desired that they be kept right up to it until they changed their policy or disowned it. Now they are trying to raise a dust over the election law in order to escape from the consequence of their fiasco of a policy.

Chief Justice Ritchie was within the rights of his court when he dismissed the West Northumberland appeal for non-appearance, but in doing so he made an individual suit suffer for neglect in many others, and this is a thing a court ought seldom to do. We know what the opinion of eminent counsel, irrespective of party, is on this act of the Chief Justice, and it is almost entirely against him. But Reformers are not justified in holding the Conservative party responsible for the act of the Chief Justice.

As to the issue in London there is nothing left but to live up to the law strictly. The Conservatives are so well off after the recent elections that they cannot afford to take any advantage not strictly within their rights. It may be that the Returning Officer may have no alternative but to declare Mr. Carling the member elect, leaving it to the recount and scrutiny before the County Judge or the election courts to settle who is really the member for the city. Mr. Carling, we know, will take no other than a strictly honorable course, and Mr. Abbott and Sir John Thompson will support him therein.

The Reformers must leave the matter to the law and the judges. No attempt will be made to deprive them of their rights. And they will make a great mistake if they think that they can avoid the result of their unpatriotic policy by claiming that the election law was unfair to them.

The Money Question.

There is every indication that the question of money and its authorization and issue by the different governments of the world will occupy a large share of the attention of law-givers and publicists during the next few years. In the United States the most revolutionary ideas are abroad on the subject and such importance has it assumed that politicians are put to their wits end in an endeavour to straddle the question so that they may avoid offending the adherents of the present monetary system on the one hand and the advocates of the free coinage of silver on the other. Ex-President Cleveland with his accustomed candor and courage has come out flat-footed against the free coinage of silver proposals, while David B. Hill, his great rival for the affections of the Democratic party, has dodged the issue by practically saying that he either has no views in the matter at all, or that whatever views he has he will suppress if they conflict with the desires of a majority of his party. Of course Mr. Cleveland has imperilled his acceptableness to the southern and western Democrats by the course he has taken, but has on the other hand commended himself to the Conservative section in both parties, who fear that tempering with the money question will plunge the business of the country into inextricable confusion.

In England, too, a similar class of questions are pushing themselves forward for solution, and some attempt to arrive at such a solution will be made by means of a bi-metallic conference, which is to be held soon, in which Great Britain, the United States, France and Germany will take part.

In Canada our excellent banking system has gone a great way towards quieting discussions of this kind, although it will be remembered that the rag baby had ten or twelve years ago an advocate in Parliament and many adherents outside of the House. It never secured an influential following, however, and so on it receded into the background and nothing has been heard of it of late. The working-men, however seem inclined to wrestle with the questions involved in the issue of currency and are petitioning Parliament to take an important and revolutionary step in the line of its power to authorize and issue currency. The proposal of the workingmen is in effect that the Government should issue paper money redeemable in thirty or fifty years, to be used in meeting the cost of the construction of great public works, both governmental and municipal. For example, the cost of deepening the St. Lawrence Canals, the Tay Canal, the Hurontario Ship Canal, or a trunk sewer in Toronto could be met by the issue of paper money, and these works when completed, it is claimed, would be a substantial basis for this currency. As the great item in all these works would be the labor of the workmen employed thereon, it will be admitted that the labor assemblies who are petitioning for this change must have great faith in the feasibility and safety of such a basis for currency. If the currency depreciated in value, they would certainly be among the chief sufferers. It will be seen anyway that this much agitated question has at length invaded this country, and we will share with other nations the interest that must be taken in the solution of so vitally important a matter.

One of the most interesting communications that will be made to Parliament this session will be Sir John Thompson's account of the trip to Washington and what was accomplished there. It is expected that the statement will be made at an early day, and it will be found, it is said, that the mission was not so entirely fruitless as the enemies of the Conservative policy would lead us to suppose.

Preachers in Council.

The Methodist Preachers' Association met yesterday morning at the Wesley buildings. Rev. T. Manning read an able and instructive paper on the life and character of David Bruinerd, one of the earliest missionaries to the American Indians. The lecturer gave a sketch of his life and derived several useful lessons from the circumstances of his career. Resolutions of condolence were passed and the secretary instructed to send appropriate letters of sympathy to the widows and families of the late Rev. Kennedy Creighton and Rev. Dr. Pirritte.

The Baptist ministers were presided over by Rev. James Grant. A communication was read complaining that the patients in the General Hospital belonging to the Baptist Church were not regularly visited. Rev. James Grant was appointed to look after this. Rev. Dr. Fulton gave an address on "Dias, the Apostle of Cuba."

The Presbyterian ministers assembled in the church room, Yonge-street, and listened to a review by Rev. J. R. Johnston of Professor Thomson's book, "Divine Order of Human Society."

A FRIENDLY DESCENT ON THE COMMISSION ROOM.

Three Interested Parties Summoned to Appear Before the Police Magistrate—One of the Proprietors Interviewed—The Big Hockey Match For the Championship Takes Place To-morrow.

Yesterday Inspector Archibald subpœned the persons interested in the Jordan-street commission room, viz., A. M. Orpen, C. N. Pirie and A. N. Smiley, commanding them to appear at the Police Court to-morrow morning to answer a charge of unlawfully registering bets on the Guttenburg races.

"We courted this very procedure," said one of the accused. "We know there is no law under which we can be convicted and we were only too anxious for a test. Should the Police Magistrate convict we will immediately take the case to a higher court."

The Clever Park Nine.

The Park Nine Baseball Club intend placing a team on the diamond this season. At first it was the intention of the club not to organize, but owing to several outside clubs wishing to secure this team for a holiday attraction, it was finally decided to "play ball." The club will have about the same officers as in former seasons, and will hold a meeting in their rooms at Collins, corner Queen and Esther on to-morrow evening for the purpose of selecting them. The Park Nine have the honor of being the only amateur club in Canada that has had any of its games placed in the sporting annual. The New York Clipper Annual have placed the memorable Park Nine vs. Galt game in their annual as being one of the sporting events of America last season. The following players have been secured and will don the Park Nine uniform this season: Mitchell r.f., Ewing c.f., Fernley l.f., Snyder 3b., Maxwell 2d, Downs 1st b., Nelson s.s., Bates c., McKeown and Earls p.

The team have arranged to play at Tilsonburg on May 24 and Belleville on July 1 while several other towns are at present communicating with the manager.

The Trophy Match Postponed.

Soft ice yesterday compelled the postponement of the final tie for the City Curling trophy, between the Granites and Torontos. Frost is promised to-day and the event may come off to-morrow afternoon.

Osgoode—Ottawa To-morrow.

The final Ontario Hockey Association match between Ottawa and Osgoode Hall will take place to-morrow, starting at 8 p.m., on the Granite curling rink—the same sheet on which the Granites were beaten March 25. The arrangements were all concluded yesterday with the exception of the selection of the referee. A record-breaker crowd is expected. The gallery will be reserved for ladies, who will be admitted from Cawthra-avenue. The local hockeyists have been practicing steadily and are in perfect condition. Ottawa are also in perfect condition and the game will be fought out at its merits. The teams will be:

Osgoode Hall: Goal, Smith; point, Swabey; cover, Boys; forwards, Senkler, Sinclie, Kerr (capt.), Black.

Ottawa: Goal, Merritt; point, McRae; cover, Young; forwards, E. Kirby, H. Kirby, Bradley, Kerr.

The Ryan-Needham Fight Off.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 29.—The Ryan-Needham fight has been indefinitely postponed on account of Ryan being physically unable to appear on account of local troubles. Dr. Hunter's certificate to that effect was accepted.

Maher-Fitzsimmons.

A staff correspondent of The New York World visited Fitzsimmons Saturday in his training quarters at Bay St. Louis and watched him carefully. The impression gained by The World man is not reassuring to the Maher followers. There will not be more than eight pounds difference between the men, according to advices.

An Eye to Beauty.

A sportsman and an athlete cultivates a certain amount of art and good taste while in the pursuit of his favorite sport and therefore can discern between finished and cheap goods. H. P. Davies & Co.'s sporting goods establishment, 81 Yonge-street, is noted for the handsome appearance of the stock, and as a consequence the house is patronized by those who are good judges of what they are buying. 246

Spots of Sport.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Wanderers' Bicycle Club for this ensuing year will be held in the club rooms on Thursday next at 8 o'clock. A ballot has been demanded to fill the following offices: Vice-president, 1st lieutenant, 2nd lieutenant, 3rd lieutenant and standard bearer.

The finales race for the world's skating championship took place Saturday in Christiana, Norway, between Smart and Hagen. The latter was victorious in both the half-mile and the two-mile contests. Both skaters made better time in the two-mile than in the half-mile race. Hagen's time for the two miles was 5 min. 43-4-5 sec., and Smart's 5 min. 49 3-5 sec.

Appreciated by His Confreres.

The staff of the British America Assurance Company met in the board room of the company last evening and presented Mr. Arthur P. Taylor, who is severing his connection with the company to join the staff of the London Assurance Corporation as inspector, with a handsome gold watch and the following address:

To Arthur P. Taylor, Esq.

The occasion of the severence of ties which have long connected individuals in pleasant business relations is always one of regret and the undersigned members of the staff of the British America Assurance Company feel that they cannot allow you to leave without in some way expressing their esteem for you. We, therefore, ask your acceptance of the accompanying gold watch as a slight token of our appreciation. We are glad to know that the change you are making will probably result greatly to your advantage, and sincerely wish you long life, health and happiness, with a large measure of success in all your undertakings.

Signed on behalf of the staff by

W. H. BANKS,
Assistant Secretary, and others.

Mr. Banks made the presentation, after which speeches, complimentary to Mr. Taylor, were given by Messrs. William Adamson, T. S. Arnold and H. B. Howson, when the meeting separated with a hearty handshaking all around.

It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

Toronto's Baptist Chapel.

The members and adherents of Parliament-street Baptist Chapel with their friends attended in large numbers at the social gathering held last evening in celebration of the re-opening. After refreshments had been served in the lecture room the gathering was addressed by Rev. J. M. Cameron, Rev. Dr. Thomas, Rev. Elmore Harris, Rev. P. C. Parker and Rev. S. A. Dyke, a former pastor of the church. The present pastor, Rev. James Grant, occupied the chair. The various speakers congratulated the congregation on their prosperity and predicted still greater advancement.

THE LEGAL GRIST.

Actions for Personal Injuries and Alleged Trespass—Alimony and Wages—The St. George Accident.

A week ago last Saturday Robert Green of 572 Parliament-street, painter for W. J Gage & Co., fell on the icy sidewalk at the corner of Yonge and College-streets and sustained a severe fracture of the arm. He has now, through his solicitors, Messrs. Allan & Baird, issued a writ against the Municipality of the City of Toronto to recover $2000 damages for the injuries received. The writ charges the city with negligence in not removing the obstruction of ice and snow from the sidewalk.

William J. McGuire, plumber, steam and gasfitter, 86 King-street west, has commenced an action to recover from James J. Quinn, proprietor of the Clarendon saloon, 92 King-street west, the sum of $3000 damages for alleged trespass by the defendant on the plaintiff's property.

The plaintiff in the action of Parker v. Taylor yesterday moved before acting master in chambers for immediate judgment for $445 arrears of wages. The plaintiff, Thomas Parker, heretofore superintendent for the defendants, Taylor Bros. of the Toronto Pressed Brick and Terra Cotta Company, seeks in this action to recover $1000 for arrears of wages and damages for wrongful dismissal by the defendants. The defendants have put in a counter claim for $2300 for goods injured or destroyed through the alleged incompetency of the plaintiff. The motion was not allowed.

Acting Master Winchester has given judgment for $3 a week interim alimony in the alimony suit brought by Mrs. Dora Cook against her husband, Stephen Cook. The case was referred to in these columns before and it will be remembered that the parties to the action are a couple well up in years, who have lived together for some 35 or 40 winters. The main action comes on for trial at the Spring Assizes.

Several of the now famous St. George accident actions are again before the judges of Osgoode Hall. Chancellor Boyd and Justices Ferguson and Robertson, sitting in the Chancery Divisional Court, are hearing an appeal in the cases of Fraser v. Grand Trunk Railway, Sandford v. Grand Trunk Railway, Karn v. Grand Trunk Railway and McLeod v. Grand Trunk Railway from the decision at the trial of Justice Rose that the answers brought in by the jury constituted a disagreement. The plaintiffs argue that the replies of the jury were in the plaintiffs' favor and ask that the judgment of Justice Rose be set aside. The defendant argues that the findings of the jury be set aside and that judgment be given against the plaintiff.

Now its Taggart's Turn.

Editor World: I believe that the columns of your paper are open to convey to your readers any and all information of interest to the public generally, especially if such information be the truth. This morning's issue, however, has not performed its mission, inasmuch as it contains a letter entitled, "P. S. Taggart & Co. vs Canadian Jewelers' Association," and signed by one H. A. Giles, 33 Wellington-street east. To prove the falsity of this man's statements is my object in writing this letter, and having done this I will leave it to the public to judge for themselves. The letter comes from a person of a man, who is the mouthpiece of those who rule over him. They make the balls, he fires them. Could a letter eminating from such a source be anything else than the lowest possible act of injustice? The matter at issue between ourselves and the Canadian Jewelers' Association has been placed before the public in a manner that conveys to them a decidedly wrong impression. It is only right that this should be corrected.

We regret that Mr. Giles and his associates, the Jobbers' Association, have placed themselves in such a position as to necessitate our exposing the methods used by them to crush out honest and legitimate competition, hoping thereby to secure for themselves unwarranted profits on watches. We recognize that fair play and justice must be enforced for our own protection, and consequently are reluctantly compelled to say that the scribe of the President of the Canadian Association of Jobbers in American Watches has annexed his signature to a statement which he knows to be untrue and contrary to actual facts. His statements cannot be excused on the plea of ignorance, as he is thoroughly informed, a fact that makes his assertions about as all the more malicious. He is a tenant of Messrs. F. W. Ellis & Co., 33 Wellington-street east, and Mr. M. C. Ellis of that firm is president of the Canadian Jobbers' Association.

Mr. Giles, in his letter, says that on a careful personal or catalog he finds that our prices are in advance of those asked by any respectable jeweler in the city. We have a catalog, and we are proud of it, for it always been useful to us, but it is doubly so at the present time, as it enables us to show Mr. Giles just where he stands and how far he has wandered from the reputedly rough and thorny path of truth. If he takes our catalog and looks at page 24 he will there find Waltham and Elgin watches quoted at prices, which are from 5 per cent. to 10 per cent. below the price at which he sells to the retail jeweler the same class of goods. To illustrate this and to give the falsely informed public a few cold undeniable facts, we will show the difference between our prices and those laid down in the catalog of the Canadian Jobbers' Association. In our catalog we advertise an Appleton, Tracey & Co. movement fitted in a three-ounce coin silver case for $18.65. The Canadian Association of Jobbers in American Watches, in their special net trade price list to the retail jeweler, quote the same identical kind of watch at $20.50. This price is subject to a discount of 6 per cent. for cash within ten days, a discount rarely taken advantage of.

We think, therefore, that the above figures are sufficiently clear to explain themselves and in our future statements to the public we shall deal in facts, and having given the actual particulars will leave it entirely in their hands to decide whether we are attempting to take unfair advantage of them, or whether, as we state the true position is, that the combination of monopolists are endeavoring to coerce us into selling at prices such as will enable them to enjoy the profits that should be given to the public.

Feb. 29, 1892. FRANK S. TAGGART & Co., 89 King-street west, Toronto.

One Original Sermon a Month.

The new Archbishop of York is (The Pall Mall Gazette says) making some wholesome reforms. With two new suffragan bishops, he has more time to devote to details, and he is overhauling matters with a will, not even such apparently trivial incidents as district visiting escaping him. But he has been more especially original in dealing with curates. Every curate is to have one day a week for private study or rest, and one or two hours for reading every day. He is to be expected to preach one, and only one, original sermon a month, and if he should be called upon to preach more frequently he is to take a sermon from Liddon or Farrar, and publicly acknowledge the obligation. Further, no curate is to get a living until he has been in orders for 10 years. Boy vicars or rectors, instructing their elders, is what the new archbishop specially objects to. These orders are making quite a sensation in the north.

Mrs. R. F. F. Rowan, Kingston, Ont., Was the fortunate person to secure the elegant gold watch from The Ladies' Pictoral Weekly's (of Toronto, Ontario) prize competition for Thursday. Watches and other prizes given away daily. Send two three-cent stamps for particulars.

Boys, Do You Know Her?

The Chief of Police has received a letter from New York asking information about Maud Nelson, who was supposed to have been here with a variety show. The letter states that Mrs. Frank Nelson of 141 West 28th-street, New York, is dying and would like to hear from Maud.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD.

The Lion King at the Musee.

When Lecturer Smith Warner mounted the platform yesterday afternoon at the Musee there was scarcely standing room in the place.

The principal feature this week is Colonel Edgar Boone (a descendant of the famous Daniel Boone) with his den of performing lions. There are five in all, three full-grown—two of which were captured by Colonel Boone—and two cubs. They are all magnificent specimens of the king of the forest and, although under perfect control, are still ferocious enough to make their performance very interesting and the ladies glad when it was over. The beasts go through a number of tricks such as playing see-saw, firing pistols, wrestling, riding bicycles and many others. Colonel Boone is ably assisted in his daring work by Miss Carlotta, "the Lion Queen."

Walter Wentworth, the oldest and one of the best contortionists on the road and Miss Eileen Grantley the $10,000 Albino beauty are playing return dates.

In the theatre are Mat. Farnan the clever Irish comedian and dancer who made such a big hit last week. Oliver Lewis a sweet little youngster sings nicely and dances gracefully, she was the ladies favorite. Collins and Welch are one of the best Irish teams that have ever appeared in this house, they renewed the success they made here last season. The sketch done by Wills and Barron may go on the bowery but it is decidedly too vulgar for a Toronto audience and Manager Young should call onto audience and Manager Young should call them down and no doubt he will when he sees their act.

"The Two Orphans At the Grand."

For the first half of the week the Grand presents its patrons with a revival of D'Ennery's master work, "The Two Orphans."

For a number of years the name of Kate Claxton has been synonymous with this popular emotional drama.

As is well-known it is an interesting play, to say nothing of the pleasant remembrance of the amusement it has afforded in seasons long gone by. That it still has a strong hold on play-goers was attested by the hushed attention and frequent applause with which it was received last night.

Miss Claxton has appeared here with a better supporting company than she has at present, but stilliers is not much fault to be found. The leading lady Miss Lillian Lawrence, as Henrietta, is a clever actress, with a sweet face and a good voice.

Both Miss Claxton and Mr. Stevenson are too well known to require an extended notice.

The engagement closes Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendal.

During the past two seasons the Toronto public have enjoyed the privilege of witnessing in the performances of Mr. and Mrs. Kendal and their associates, comedy representations of the highest order of merit. Probably in few theatrical organizations now before the public, either in Europe or America, can greater excellence of dramatic work be found than in the Kendal Company, Mr. and Mrs. Kendal will make their appearances in Toronto next Thursday night at the Grand Opera House. They will be seen this time in three plays, which they have not yet presented to Toronto theatre-goers. The warm reception accorded these finished artists during the past season makes it certain that their varied repertoire will attract large audiences. There is a wholesomeness about the work of the Kendals that appeals strongly to the lovers of the legitimate drama. The repertoire for the week's engagement in this city will be as follows: Thursday, "Still Waters Run Deep;" Friday, "Katherine Kavanagh;" Saturday matinee, "The Ironmaster;" and for their farewell performance Saturday night they will present the popular play, "The Squire." Sale of seats will begin this morning at 10 o'clock.

At a Catholic Concert.

Father O'Reilly's annual concert held in Dingman's Hall last night was an immense success. For weeks the people down in the East End have been talking about it, and last night they turned out en masse. The hall was nicely decorated and presented a very pleasing appearance. The reverend father superintended the entertainment and his good-natured face, so well-known to the people beyond the Don, seemed to add brightness to everything around him. The program of music, vocal and instrumental, was exceptionally good and the proceeds were of a sufficiency to please all those interested in the affair.

At the Academy.

A return engagement of "O'Dowds Neighbors" was witnessed last night at the Academy by a large and delighted audience.

The performance was a thoroughly good one. "O'Dowds Neighbors" is an operatic comedy, which, though devoid of plot, serves to introduce a number of sweet singers and clever dancers.

Mark Murphy greatly amused the house by his portrayal of the amorous, yet belligerent Irishman, O'Dowd. The inimitable Sam Ryan was excellent as McNab, the rival of O'Dowd in the affections of the widow Reiley.

The female element of the company did their work very creditably, notable Miss Gilson as the step-daughter of Mrs. Reiley.

"O'Dowd's Neighbors" is a mirth-provoking play, and will be repeated every evening this week, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees, doubtless to large audiences.

At Jacobs & Sparrow's.

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted the talented actress, Miss Eva Mountford, at this popular theatre last night. She excelled in her adaptation of Mrs. Henry Wood's famous novel, "East Lynne." Although this play has been a favorite on the road, it was rapturously received last night. Miss Mountford, in the double role of Lady Isabel and Mme. Vine, was particularly good. Elmer Grandin's Sir Francis Levison was well portrayed, as was also Lillie Isabel by little Alma Doerge. Deep pathos and sweet humor were combined in this play. There will be a matinee to-day and full houses during the remainder of the week. "East Lynne" appeals to the heart's emotions and there was a display of handkerchiefs to wipe away the feminine tears, a proof of the realistic acting of Miss Mountford.

The Workmen's Concert.

The city lodges of the Ancient Order of United Workmen held their annual concert in the Auditorium last night. Popular prices ruled and consequently the building was crowded by an enthusiastic audience, evidently bent upon having all valuable for their money, as some of the numbers were encored two or three times. The following performers took part: Messrs. Douglas, Bird, Warrington, W. E. Ramsay, H. L. Greene, E. J. Ebbsis, Mrs. A. Hidycke-Garratt and Mrs. Murray-Dickson. Mrs. Scrimger-Massie, who was to have taken part, was unable to do so owing to illness.

Notes.

Mr. Julian Magnus, representing Miss Marie Wainwright, is in the city making preparations for the production of Miss Mainwright's success, "Amy Robsart," which will be seen at the Grand Opera House next week.

Growing Old Gracefully.

"What a lovely old lady," I heard a man remark at the opera lately. "She's quite as beautiful as any girl in the house. Such color and complexion is rarely seen in a woman past forty."

Indeed, the woman of whom he spoke was lovely. Her face was clear and smooth, her cheeks fresh and rosy, her eyes bright with perfect health and the enjoyment of life. She had passed the critical "change of life" without falling into "the sere and yellow leaf," as most American women do. How had she succeeded in doing this? Simply by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription at a time when nature stood in need of some assistance. She had taken it at the right time. In doing this she was wise. Wiser than most women who "trust to luck" in getting through the critical and trying period safely. This standard remedy is just what is needed at such a time. It is, from girlhood to old age, woman's best friend. In all diseases peculiar to the sex, it accomplishes what no other remedy does—a cure. Take it, woman, when life's autumn begins and "grow old gracefully." Your money back if it doesn't help you.

The Young Liberals.

Brother Gardiner, the editor of The Hamilton Times, treated the Young Liberals to a succinct and able address last evening, taking as his text Pope's phrase "Whatever is, is right," only to vigorously combat it by pointing out many evils that in his opinion inflict society and governments. He boldly declared for free trade with its necessary accompaniment of direct taxation, and in illustrating his subject, gave an admirable outline of the origin and development of protection ideas which he held to be fallacious and productive of dishonesty and covetousness. A vote of thanks to him was passed, after which Messrs. Davis and Hobbs of the London Young Liberal Club, addressed the club. The latter passed a resolution which read as follows: The Young Liberals of Toronto take this their earliest opportunity of congratulating the members of the London Y.M.L.C on the plucky battle they fought and the honest victory they materially helped to win on Friday last. President Yeigh occupied the chair.
