DURNAN EXPLAINS THE ALBANY DEFI.

How Tom Sullivan Came to Issue Challenge From Sportsman Office.

SOME SPORTING GOSSIP

Mid-Week Lacrosse Meets With Fair Success—Notes of Sport.

Eddie Durnan does not take the challenge of Bill Albany very seriously, and the American champion is losing no sleep over preparing for a race next month with the Englishman. Instead Durnan is working steadily for his match at Put-in-Bay. Eddie has a nice idea of how the Albany challenge was conceived. They were celebrating the departure of the Argonauts last Saturday and thus Tom Sullivan kept his mind glued on Canada thruout the Sabbath day until he finally found himself in The London Sportsman office. Hence the defi. Sullivan is Albany's guide and friend, and the youngster, who is about 27 years of age, is something of a sculler and with just the experience that would prove easy picking for the Toronto veteran over the Bay course.

Mid-week lacrosse proved somewhat of a success yesterday at the island. The Indians and Irishmen played a championship game and gave a pleasing exhibition. However, the result makes you wonder why the Tecumsehs lost last Saturday by almost the same margin they won by. There was only one of those incidents yesterday that gets credit for helping to place pro. lacrosse on the low level it now gets credit for occupying. There may have been some excuse for starting one lone fight in the first quarter, but when one player sits on top of a prone adversary and punches and jabs him with the butt end of his lacrosse stick it passes the realm of sport. If comparisons were not odious it might be remarked that they do not do this in baseball.

A race between a bear and a Burnaby Lake, B.C., car was a novel event in Burnaby recently, when a car on the line chased a bear for about a hundred yards along the track. The bear kept well ahead, altho the car was going at a good speed until the animal disappeared into the neighboring brush.

Cincinnati has recently bought a pitcher named Bob Ingersoll. It seems unlikely that he'll have any compunctions about playing ball on Sunday.

The C.P.R. Football Club of Fort William are to make a tour of western Canada. They are holders of the McDougall cup, counted to represent the championship. They leave Fort William today and will play the first game in Winnipeg on July 19 against the United Westons. Games will also be played in Brandon, Regina, Calgary, Moose Jaw and Broadview.

Thomas Burns and Arthur Pelky are on a show tour. Pelky is after a match for the championship and will likely get it on the strength of his technical defeat of Luther McCarty. It will depend on whom he selects for an opponent whether he gets a chance to figure in a second. Pelky has been training assiduously for some weeks. Gunboat Smith is said to be the man he has in view.

Should the New Westminster lacrosse team accept the offer made them by a Calgarian and visit the prairie cities on a tour in August it is likely that Joe Lally, the famous Cornwall coach, manager and lacrosse promoter, will head the all-star western team to meet the champions. An offer has been made the Cornwall man, and negotiations for his services as manager and organizer of the eastern team are still under way.

TECUMSEHS TURN THE TABLES TIE THE IRISH FOR FIRST PLACE

Mid-Week Lacrosse at the Island Results in One-Sided Battle—Visitors From Montreal Show Reversal of Form, While Indians Play an All-Star Game.

Altho as a rule it is considered one of the most difficult things under the sun to accomplish, the Tecumsehs showed that the task of downing an Irish aggregation was somewhat overrated. At the Island yesterday afternoon, altho the Montrealites were the league leaders and had just four days before turned the trick by 7 to 1, the Indians rallied to the standard, and an overwhelming onslaught of red put the green shirts under. The only little eruption on the surface of the island favorites' victory was the fact that they let the Irish get one more goal on the round; otherwise the tables would have been completely turned and everything would have been quits. The score was seven to two, but the difference between the two teams was even greater than the score.

After all the splash that the same Irish started at the conclusion of the game Saturday, it is very hard to figure out how they ever accomplished the deed. Their home, which is supposed to be the strongest in the league, were helpless against the Indians' defence, while the Tecumseh fielders had no trouble in getting inside whenever they wanted to. The only time that the visitors displayed anything like their press reports was in the third quarter, but the sudden exhibit of life did not last long.

The Tecumseh defence was a perfect bulwark against them and would not be drawn out, no matter how safe the situation. That was the only policy, and the game to play against their opponents, and Yeaman, who was heartily welcomed back into the game, Whitehead & Co., allowed them very little breathing space.

Indians in Great Shape.

The red shirts played a grand game from the goal out, and every man on the team was in the limelight at some period of the struggle. The veteran-like work of the new comers, Carmichael, Green and Smith, was especially noticeable. Their combination under close checking was most effective, and they are likely to become fast favorites with the fans, with their lively doings. McGregor and Querrie figured in nearly every attack, and they were always on the job, altho they received some heavy bumps, and also gave some in return. The way Charlie put Baker down in the second quarter with a stiff bodycheck was very exhilarating, especially after the raw stuff that the victim had been getting away with. Even the Weston pacer, Fred Rowntree, pulled off some nice runs, and happened to come in handy in a couple of tight places.

Baker was the strong man for the green shirts, and his fielding was the feature of the game, as he was likely the fastest man on the field. He spoiled several chances, tho, in trying to pull off some rough stuff. The Scott brothers were watched too closely to be effective, tho once in a while they broke away and looked dangerous, but nothing came of their attacks. Neville and Cameron worked overtime, altho once the whole Montreal team was called back to assist the defence. Roberts, who jumped into the game in the third quarter, tried hard to stop some of the big fellows, but his game attempts did not meet with real success. He put some life into the home, however.

The first quarter was a great see-saw battle, and the ball traveled up and down the field, but failed to find a resting place for nineteen minutes. In the meantime the strenuous plays began to get the players, and they started to rough things up, and several choice pieces of stickwork got past. Finally, Felker and Munday came to blows in the centre of the field and they were promptly put out of the game. Carmichael replaced Felker, and Charles George took Munday's place. Signalizing his advent to the game, Carmichael bored right in and netted the first goal in nineteen minutes.

The second quarter opened with another attack on the Green Shirts' goal, but the Indians lost chance after chance to score by wild shooting. Guy Smith secured the next goal in five minutes on a pass from McGregor.

Trouble for the Irish

Seeing that the Irish defence was having a lot of trouble, all the home was called back, and in spite of the superior numbers the Tecumsehs held the ball for several minutes. Guy Smith finally circled the goal and passed to McGregor, who sent a sizzler at Brennan. It hit him on the leg and bounced in, after thirteen minutes of play. The quarter ended with the score three to nothing in favor of the Tecumsehs.

The third quarter saw the Irish display some real life and the game became more equal, but the enemy failed to get in close enough. After fifteen minutes of good lacrosse, Querrie shot, but it was blocked. Green rushed in, however, and batted the ball in on the rebound before Brennan could clear. The latter was lucky on numerous other occasions to stop likely looking shots with his body. Roberts secured the first goal for the Green Shirts, when he completed a nice piece of combination work with McIntyre, and beat Kinsman in five minutes. The quarter ended with the score four to one in favor of the Indians.

In the fourth quarter Jimmy Collins placed Rowntree and M. Cummins replaced George. It was nothing but the Indians all the way, and Carmichael bulged the net with a hard low one from right in front, when Green made a nice pass from behind the net in six minutes.

McDougall replaced Guy Smith and Fred Scott retired in favor of Laden.

Roberts again did the tallying stunt for the visitors, when he beat McKenzie and scored with only Kinsman in front of him.

Not content with the ample lead already secured, McDougall, Carmichael and Green pulled off a brilliant piece of work and scored the sixth for the Tecumsehs. McDougall ripped a pass over to Carmichael behind the net, who sent an underhand one to Green, who was lying right in front, and the latter promptly located the net in four minutes. Collins started the fireworks for the last tally, when he worked his way well in and executed a quick pass to Carmichael. Altho covered practically on all sides, the latter secured and rammed the ball home before the unsuspecting Irish could prevent him.

Final score: Tecumsehs 7, Irish-Canadians 2.

ARGOS' PERFORMANCE AT HENLEY WAS WORTHY OF ANY FINAL HEAT

The English writers and correspondents are magnanimous in their treatment of the great work of the Argonauts and all emphasize the fact that they forced the picked Leander crew to equal the race record to win ten days ago at Henley.

The excitement of the day, says one writer, came with the second heat of the Grand between Leander and Canada. The conditions were almost perfect, but it was noted that there was more water running down against the crews than usual. In a stillness that could be felt Mr. Pitman gave the words "Are you ready?—Go!" Leander were out of the slips like greyhounds, and at 41 to the 42 of the Canadians had a few feet the best of matters at the top of the island. This was turned into a quarter of a length at the quarter-mile mark and a bare half-length at the half-mile. For a time the Argonauts held their own at that and spurted grandly. Tower answered and led by three-quarters of a length at the mile mark. Tower, who had dropped from 41 to 36, here worked it up to 38 again, and quickly leaving the Canadians he and his men raced home winners by a length and a quarter in 6 mins. 51 secs.—time which equals the record created by the Leander crew of 1891. The Argonauts rowed in most plucky and persevering fashion, and they had the sympathy of the public in that they had been put out of the regatta in the first heat. Their performance in chasing home the Leander crew, moreover, was worthy of any final heat. Mr. Wright's crews have come thousands of miles year after year to compete for the Grand, and we could almost wish him success—he and his men are such thoro sportsmen and never make excuses or grumble. The manner in which they accept defeat is admirabit.

A special writer says: By far the greatest interest centred in the second heat of the Grand, in which the Leander crew met the Argonaut Club of Toronto. The Canadians have been to Henley many times and have never yet succeeded in gaining the chief prize at the regatta. On this occasion they appeared to have a really excellent chance, for while in their early trials they showed excellent form, Leander, who were regarded as their most dangerous opponents, did not appear to be coming on well. However, the Englishmen improved out of all knowledge as the date approached, and yesterday the Argonauts once more had to put up with a reverse. The Canadians rowed their fast stroke splendidly and never lost hope, spurting again and again, but the rhythm and power of Leander prevailed, and the winners equalled the record time for the course, accomplished by the Leander crew of 1891 and by New College in 1897—6 min. 51 secs. Jesus, as anticipated, beat London, and will meet New College this afternoon, while Leander will oppose Thames.

The Canadians had a most unlucky day, for after their reverse in the Grand they went down before Mayence (Germany) in the Stewards', destroying their chances by twice fouling the piles. Their sculler Butler was also defeated in the Diamonds by Wise of London.

TODAY'S LACROSSE POSTPONED, SMALLPOX

Meaford was scheduled to play an intermediate O.A.L.A. game today at Thornbury, but as there are 20 live cases of smallpox in the latter village the board of health have refused to allow the game to take place and the same has been postponed to a later date.

CANADIAN TRACKS IN BIGGEST CIRCUIT

Horse Racing on Immense Scale in Far West — Arranging Dates.

VANCOUVER, July 16.—An international racing circuit, embracing Vancouver and Victoria on the Canadian side, Denver and Butte in the United States and Juarez, Mexico, in the south, will be organized next year. Announcement to this effect was made last night by Mr. H. E. Springer, managing director of the British Columbia Thoroughbred Association, who discussed the preliminary plans with the Denver and Butte officials at Spokane last week. This fall another conference will be held, when the circuit will be laid out.

Next spring the dates will be allotted, it being planned to start racing at Juarez in April, coming to Denver next, then to Butte and from there to Victoria and Vancouver. At the close of the summer meetings in the north racing will be resumed at Juarez.

It will be the largest racing circuit in America, and better horses than those running on the big eastern and southern tracks will be seen out this way. It is proposed to operate on exactly the same lines as the Eastern Canadian Racing Association, which circuit takes in all the leading cities.

FIVE RACES DECIDED

After Two Days' Delay Ideal Weather Prevails at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, July 16.—After being delayed two days by rains and heavy track, the Grand Circuit meet at the Brunot's Island track started today under ideal weather conditions.

Today's events were the 2.12 trot, the 2.24 trot, the Iron City 2.05 pace, the 2.12 pace and the 2.09 class of sidewheelers.

The 2.05 was somewhat of a disappointment in the final result. Great things were expected of Longworth B., winner of the 2.05 pace in Cleveland, and Branham Baughman and Jones Gentry. As it was, Walter Cochato had little difficulty in taking both heats and the race.

The 2.12 trot and the 2.12 pace both went to four heats, somewhat prolonging an already long card. After winning the first heat of the 2.12 trot, Peter McCormick was in a fair way to take the second, but he broke in the stretch, and O'Neill, who had been challenging him all the way, came into the McCormick horse took the two final heats handily.

The 2.24 trot in all three heats was a procession around the track, Uncle Biff taking the race in straight heats.

Shortly after the second heat of the day had been run, Frank Walker, the veteran starter of the Grand Circuit, collapsed and was removed from the stand. It was said he was not seriously ill. A. Pendleton of East St. Louis took up the duties of starter for the rest of the day.

TORONTOS V. TECUMSEHS.

Tecumsehs' grand win yesterday over the Irish-Canadians has given their supporters a lot of confidence for the game on Saturday against Torontos at the Beach. So far the Indians have failed to win a game away from home this season, and the players would like nothing better than to score their initial victory against the Blue Shirts. That dope counts for nothing, can be gleaned fro mthe fact that the Irish-Canadians have only broken even with the Indians. The latter are going in grand style just now, the best part of their playing being the great playing of he two youngsters, Joe Green and Carmichael. This pair have rounded out the Tecumseh home in good style, and they should bother the Toronto defence with their quick passing game. The plan for the game is on sale at 146 Yonge street.
