THERE WILL BE NO TROUBLE

Duties of Controllers and Chairmen of Committees Will Not Clash.

Sewer Ventilation Is a Problem That the Board of Health Will Tackle—Representation on the Industrial Exhibition Board—Voting on New Year's Day.

Objection has been taken in some quarters to the new duties assumed by this year's Board of Control, in reference to supervision of the work of the various civic committees. It has been urged that the controller's duties might clash with those of the committee chairmen. Controller Hubbard, however, denies any such possibility. He explains that, as supervisor of the Works and Fire and Light, it will be his duty only to explain the motive and purpose of each recommendation from those committees when it comes up at the Board. This applies also to his colleagues on the Board. The new regulation, he claims, will do away with the necessity for having a representative from the committees appear before the Board to help filter legislation through. It will also enable controllers to report to committees such discoveries as they make in the course of their projected tours. The Board will visit the Court House to-day and ascertain, if possible, from the various contractors when they expect to complete the work.

The Board of Health.

The Local Board of Health re-organized yesterday afternoon and elected Ald. Crane chairman. They also fixed upon the first Wednesday of each month as the day for meeting. It is a peculiar but established fact in many large cities that residents on the higher levels are most subject to contagious disease. Dr. Sheard, as well as the Local Board of Health, have long been cognizant of the fact that the northern and higher districts of Toronto are the most unhealthy. Authorities ascribe this condition to imperfect sewerage. Sewer gas being lighter than air seeks the highest level in the sewers, and, without proper ventilation and flushing, affects those parts of the city. The Board of Control has the problem of sewer ventilation under consideration, and Dr. Sheard will report upon some method of carrying it out at the next meeting of the Board of Health.

Industry Chasers

The Manufacturers' Committee met yesterday afternoon and elected Ald. Score chairman. In company with Ald. Bowman, the chairman will be expected to co-operate with the Assessment Commissioner in negotiating to secure the location of manufacturers in Toronto.

The Industrial Exhibition.

The Legislature has amended section 4 of the Act incorporating the Industrial Exhibition Company of Toronto to permit of the membership on the Board of Directors of 12 members of the "Parks and Exhibitions" Committee, instead of the nine members of the old Exhibition Committee. So that the amendment pre-supposes the passing of the bylaw amalgamating the Parks and Gardens and Exhibition Committees. Council has not yet passed the third reading of the bylaw, and should it chance that the threatened opposition to it should defeat it, the city, it is said by legal authorities, would be left without representation on the Board of Exhibition Directors at all.

Voting on New Year's Day.

In spite of the stand taken by the Legislature against it, it is a fortunate coincidence that municipal elections for the next two years must be held upon the New Year's holiday, because both in 1898 and 1899 the legal holiday falls upon the first Monday of the year. This will afford an opportunity to judge of the merits of the day as a voting day.

Island Foreshores.

The city has at last secured a patent for the foreshores of the Island on the Bay side. The area granted to the City Solicitor by the Commissioner of Crown Lands yesterday morning includes some 345 acres of land under water. After years of negotiations a Dominion patent was secured in 1886. Owing to a dispute as to jurisdiction between the Dominion and the province, the city made sure of its title by securing patents from both. The sand pumps will soon be at work on the water lots.

The Power Question.

Deputy Engineer Rust has returned from the meeting of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers at Montreal with a deal of information on the power question. He visited the plant being installed by the Royal Electric Light Company at Chambly, on the Richelieu River. The plant is 16½ miles from Montreal and $300,000 of the total of $1,500,000 required for the works will be required for a transmission system. A double pole line, capable of carrying 20,000 horse-power at a pressure of 12,000 volts, will be used. The company calculate upon a loss of 10 per cent. in transmitting power the 16½ miles. The Lachine Company, with a plant 5 miles from the city, estimate a loss of 8 per cent. in transmission, and, it is said, have contracted to transmit power from the Rapids to private consumers at $30 per horse-power for a 10-hour day.

City Hall Notes.

The recount of the ballots cast for aldermen in Ward 6 takes place before the County Judge at the City Hall this morning.

Messrs. W L Haight and G G Gladman, members of the Parry Sound deputation which secured a subsidy of $270,000 for a 90-mile road between Sudbury and Parry Sound, waited upon the Mayor and Board of Control yesterday in reference to assistance from the city.

The Property Committee and Market Improvement Association will meet at the City Hall this afternoon.

In November last the Michigan Central put on an extra train from St. Thomas to Welland, connecting with the C.P.R. from Toronto via the T. H. & B. The train does not pay and it has been cancelled. In future passengers for Welland must go via the C.P.R. and Woodstock.

The total tonnage for eastbound rail shipments out of Chicago last week was 141,923 tons, as against 71,607 tons for the corresponding week in 1897. Of this amount the G.T.R. carried 14,262.

Lecture on Browning.

Prof. W. J. Alexander, Ph.D., of Toronto University, delivered a lecture in the Lecture Hall of St. James'-square Presbyterian Church last night. As a student and interpreter of Browning, Dr. Alexander is an authority, and he gave a most enjoyable exposition and critique of the great poet last night. The meeting, which was one of a series, was held under the auspices of the Young People's Institute of the congregation.

SUFFOCATED IN AN OIL TANK.

Henry S. Mawlam, a Wealthy Resident of Dawn, Met Death in a Peculiar Way.

Florence, Ont., Jan. 13.—Last evening about 6 o'clock Mr. Henry S. Mawlam of Dawn Oil Field was found dead in one of his own oil tanks. The recent rains have caused the oil tanks to float, and it seems Mr. Mawlam got an auger and proceeded to bore a hole in the bottom of the tank. He was found shortly after by one of his men, asphyxiated and beyond all medical aid. Deceased was born about 40 years ago on the farm where he had lived, and was a survivor of a family of two boys, his only brother being drowned some years ago. Mr. Mawlam's aged mother still survives him. The family are considered the richest in Dawn township, being owners of five hundred acres of land, and only recently his land was found to be very rich in crude oil, and operations were only just begun. A widow, two sons and three daughters survive him.

"Canada for the Canadians."

Editor World: Your timely words on the above and kindred subjects in The World of January 3 and 4 strike home. There isn't a nation on top of God's footstool that would be played with as Canada is by the United States, if we except China. We are nothing more nor less than "hewers of wood" to the grasping and soulless Yankee. As it is we let him have our coal from Nova Scotia and British Columbia; our nickel and lumber from Ontario and New Brunswick, and our spruce from Quebec. The Yankee takes our nickel and silver and refines them; our wood and saws it, sending us back the roughest quality; our spruce, which he converts into paper and sells to Europe. He is denuding our forests and culling our mines, cursing our Queen and damning our flag. If a Canadian wants work in Buffalo he is deported. If an American comes over here he gets a fat job on the G.T.R., through favor of the general manager.

You are doing a good work, Mr. Editor, in calling the attention of the public to these things. Keep it up daily.

The question, nevertheless, arises, what are we going to do about it? I offer a suggestion. We have no patriotic society which deals with the labor or economic side of this international conflict (for such it is). Let us form one. We want a society that will hunt the Yankees out of the country. We want one to press upon both Governments (Federal and Provincial) the enactment of a proper alien labor law, and if the Governments won't act we want the boycott.

Amongst the principles of the society I would include the following:

1. An export duty on logs, matte (nickel or silver), and spruce.

2. An import duty on Yankee lumber and corn.

3. The enactment of an alien labor law to suit the times.

4. The prohibition of alien ownership of land in any part of Canada.

5. The boycott of Yankee labor or the product of the same. For myself I am prepared to pay more for a Canadian or British article than for an American, and am willing to bind myself not "to touch, taste or handle" an unclean thing of American manufacture. Are others ready to do likewise? A society such as I outline would have work to do right here in Toronto, and would be "what the doctor ordered" for the Counties of Welland, Lincoln, Essex and Lambton. Let us organize it by all means. What do you think of my suggestion?

MRS. COTE GETS $2000.

The Case Against the Catholic Order of Foresters in Ottawa Ends in Favor of Plaintiff.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The case of Mrs. Cote v. Catholic Order of Foresters was concluded in the Assize Court yesterday. Judge Falconbridge submitted a number of questions to the jury as to whether there was a conspiracy to defraud the company and as to whether Cote made false representations in his application for admission to the order. His Lordship dwelt upon the evidence at considerable length and quoted the law bearing upon the case. The facts brought out by the evidence are to the effect that Cote, in answering the questions contained in the application for insurance, stated that his father died of pneumonia. Dr. Dagenais, who attended him in his illness, swore that in his opinion Cote, sr., died of tuberculosis.

Arthur Roche, Deputy High Chief Ranger, who wrote out the application for Cote, suggested the word "pneumonia" to Cote as the cause of his father's death. Roche was in constant attendance upon Cote, sr., was acquainted with all the circumstances surrounding his death, and swore that at the time the application was made he believed that Cote's father did die of pneumonia. Roche was practically an agent of the insurance company. The defence claimed that Cote died from consumption, the germs of which he inherited from his father and with which he was afflicted at the time he made the application to the Foresters.

The jury returned a verdict for Mrs. Cote for $2000 and costs.

The Methodist Vote.

Bystander in The Weekly Sun.

Some readers of this journal have sons at the University. All have an interest in it as a great Provincial institution. An attempt is being made by Victoria College, probably under sectarian and anti-scientific influence, to break the Act of University Confederation, and the Government, which is responsible for the Act, is lending itself to the attempt, in defence of which we are told, to the Methodist vote. No notice of the intention to bring in the bill prolonging the separation of Victoria was given to the Chancellor or to the President of the University. This seems to stamp the character and object of the movement. The Chancellor, on learning what was intended, wrote a letter of remonstrance, which has hitherto been withheld.

The phrase "Methodist vote" ought surely to be regarded with aversion, if not with shame, by every worthy son of the great spiritual community which has rendered the immense service to religion. It implies that spiritual influence is being put to secular, or worse than secular, uses. It levels the Methodist Church with the political plunder clubs working under various names and disguises, are the bane of politics in this country. It imparts disloyalty to that principle of the entire separation of the church from the state which is one of the greatest gains of humanity in the New World. Bitter enemies of Methodism have said that the Methodist minister is the Protestant Jesuit, and color will be lent to that calumny if we are always to be hearing of the Methodist vote. For it was exactly this sinister tampering with worldly power that stamped the character of the Jesuit.

PRINCE WAS CRAZY.

The Murderer of Actor Terriss Will Stop in an Asylum During Her Majesty's Pleasure.

London, Jan. 13.—The trial of Richard Arthur Prince, the super who stabbed and killed William Terriss, the well-known actor, began to-day at the Old Bailey. Justice Channel presided, and the audience included many theatrical people, though none of the "stars" were present. At the witness table sat "Tom" Terriss, son of the deceased. He was nervous and pale.

Prince, boldly standing high up in the dock, surveying everything with a calm gaze, was apparently undisturbed. Refusing a seat he continued standing, apparently the least concerned person in court. Answering the usual question of the clerk, Prince declared he was "Guilty, with great provocation."

Then the prisoner demanded the assistance of Queen's counsel, but the judge explained that this was impossible without special license, but the judge added that he was entitled to counsel, and advised the prisoner to take the advice of the lawyer who appeared for him at the instance of his friends.

Justice Channel also told the prisoner that the law did not recognize any such plea as the one he had made, unless he would plead for mercy upon it. Prince finally consented to have counsel, and after consultation with the latter he said that, being advised to do so, he would plead "not guilty."

The prosecution then opened the case. When the murder was discussed Prince frequently smiled, and wrote a number of notes to his counsel, apparently to correct absolutely unimportant details. The testimony presented was the same as taken at Bow-street Police Court when the prisoner was arraigned.

"Tom" Terriss was the first witness.

The defence alleged that Prince suffered in his youth from a sunstroke and that he recently had delusions.

The mother and brother of the prisoner testified regarding the sunstroke, and it developed that Prince claimed he was Christ and that his mother was the Virgin Mary.

The judge summed up, favoring Prince's insanity, and the jury was out half an hour. The prisoner was pale and careworn as he faced the jurymen.

The judgment of the court was that Prince be detained as a criminal lunatic during Her Majesty's pleasure.

After hearing the verdict Prince attempted to make a speech, but was checked by the judge. The prisoner then thanked all concerned, at which some applause was started, which was immediately suppressed by the judge.

Peddler in Trouble at Buffalo.

Buffalo, Jan. 13.—The property of a peddler named Levyn was seized by the Deputy Collector of Customs at Ferry-street this morning. Levyn had entered nine pounds of butter and 100 pounds of poultry and a small quantity of eggs, when it is said he had a hundred pounds of butter, 300 pounds of poultry and a large quantity of eggs. The goods which he tried to conceal were secreted in a quantity of hay at the bottom of the wagon. His horse and wagon were seized and confiscated.
