AGRICULTURAL.

LIVE STOCK.—If pigs are kept from the wet and allowed plenty of straw they will see to it that no serious injury results from cold. The one thing that a hog will not endure is a wet bed in cold weather. Yet this is a mistake often made by farmers, though not so commonly now as was the case formerly.

The same farmer who willingly pays a good price for the services of a stallon in order to raise a good colt is often very indifferent regarding the calves intended to be kept for beef or the dairy, and yet the one class of stock demands the same judgment in the matter of improvement as the other.

Enough bedding should be provided for sheep kept in warm basements, so that when lying down their wool will not come in contact with masses of their own excrement. Not only does it soil the wool, but the heat which is thus engendered is hurtful. The pile of manure should be cleaned out several times during the winter.

When a pig becomes scurfy it indicates that it is not in good health, and such pigs are frequently troubled with weakness of the loins. A pig in this condition will not grow or thrive, and is quite likely to die. It would be advisable to give such a pig two ounces of linseed-oil, and one ounce of turpentine; also, to wash the skin with warm water and soap and rub turpentine on the loins. It should be fed lightly on boiled cornmeal and bran in equal quantities until it recovers.

Calves suffer from diarrhœa because of indigestion. This is caused at times by over-richness of the milk, and is more common at this season when the cows are fed upon dry food. It would be advisable to give medicine to the cow rather than the calf if the calf is sucking, as the calf will get it in the milk, which will be the best for it. Give the cow four ounces of epsom salts in her feed, and repeat it the second day after if the calf is not better. If the calf is drinking milk give it a quart only of new milk at a meal until the diarrhœa is stopped, and then increase the quantity. Over-feed is sure to cause this trouble in young calves, and should therefore be carefully avoided.

WARM QUARTERS FOR PIGS IN WINTER.—It is hoped that pig raisers have become quite convinced of the necessity of furnishing a warm pen for winter. The pig must keep warm, and it is certainly cheaper to furnish a warm pen than food to keep the pig warm. It takes a large part of the food that a pig can eat to keep it warm.

The health of the pig must be as carefully looked after in winter as summer. The pig has long been plied with concentrated food, and treated as if he could stand a diet of anything; but the pig is a natural grass-eating animal, and must, therefore, to be healthy, have fibrous food in his diet.

Pigs should always have a portion of coarse or bulky food for the reasons given. This may be grass, roots, coarse bran, corn and cob ground fine together, short cut clover hay, or other hay, boiled soft, and fed mixed with meal. Pigs will eat this boiled hay greedily. We have used this boiled hay with good effect, it first being run through a cutter. It gives excellent bulk in the stomach, very completely separating the concentrated meal.—National Live-Stock Journal, Chicago.

EVERY FARMER MAY KEEP SHEEP.—Every farmer, however few the acres, may profitably keep a certain number of sheep, for not only in summer, but also in winter, will sheep consume fodder otherwise wasted. Many persons suppose it is not feasible to keep sheep with other stock in the same pasture or feeding yard. It is not safe to keep sheep in the same pasture with young horses. Both animals feed on short grasses and also weeds, and playful young horses sometimes injure sheep by racing them. With cattle the horns are the only danger, and sheep soon learn to keep out of the way of them. While it is better that sheep should be kept by themselves, especially in winter and in the case of large flocks, decidely so, yet when few sheep are kept they may be safely allowed to run with cattle in the pastures, and also in the feeding yard in winter. Indeed, sheep soon learn to follow the cattle rather closely, especially in regions where predatory dogs are common, and instinctively so for protection. It is a fact that dogs seldom attack sheep kept with cattle, unless in the case of some old rogue, and then only when the sheep are found at a considerable distance, for the instinct of the cattle is to attack animals found chasing or worrying stock near them.—Breeder's Gazette, Chicago.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—A number of Cuban revolutionists held an indignation meeting, last night, to take action in regard to the recent arrest of Col. Carlos Aguero by the U. S. authorities at Key West on the charge of being a bandit. Resolutions were passed setting forth that the colonel was a patriot of the highest respectability and protesting against his arrest. The resolutions will be transmitted to Secretary Frelinghuysen.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The articles of corporation in the Merchants' Telegraph and Cable Company were filed to-day. The lines are to start from this city to Sandy Hook, to Brooklyn, thence to the south shore of Long Island, thence under and across the Atlantic ocean to Great Britain, France and Germany. The capital stock will not exceed $20,000,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Mary E. Paige, of Oshkosh, Wis., widow of Simon B. Paige, has begun a libel suit against the New York World, claiming $150,000 damages. Mr. Paige, who was worth $9,000,000, was found dead in bed about a year ago, with a bullet hole in his head, and no arrests have ever been made. Soon afterwards, as charged, the World published an article denouncing Mrs. Paige as an adventuress, and throwing doubt upon the circumstances surrounding her husband's death.

DETROIT, Jan. 29.—The championship wrestling match between Dufur of Boston, and McLaughlin, of Detroit, took place to-night before an immense house. Dufur won the first fall in 9 minutes, but the next two were taken by McLaughlin after a hard struggle. The match was pronounced square.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The board of directors of the Maritime Exchange to-day, adopted a memorial to Congress recommending a less severe penalty than death for the crime of wilfully casting away a vessel when only property was affected.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 29.—Two murderers were taken from jail at Rositu by a mob this morning, and hanged.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 29.—Sidney Fay, Joseph McGillvray, John McDougall, John Fay and Magnus McClure were accidentally killed by a dynamite explosion near Port Arthur, on the Pacific railroad, on the 22nd.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 29.—Thomas O. Richards, superintendent of the Bull Run colliery of the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Co., while crossing a bridge over the mouth of the slope, last evening, fell to the bottom, a distance of 200 yards, and was instantly killed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 29.—When Mr. Lavin, proprietor of a jewelry store on 6th street, entered the store this morning, he discovered a mulatto at work on the safe. The robber drove him at the muzzle of a pistol into the back room, and escaped with $15,000 worth of jewelry.

ELKTON, Md., Jan. 29.—A second attempt was made yesterday to poison the Hall family in this town. The mother and four children were taken ill after eating. The mother accuses her daughter, who has turned out badly, of the crime, and the last named was arrested and sent to jail. The daughter has served a term in the House of Correction.

VIENNA, Jan. 29.—It is now believed that the murderer of Detective Bloch is the man who murdered Police Commissary Klubeck recently. The body of Bloch was buried by the side of Klubeck's body yesterday. The Governor of Floriddotf and several police officers have received letters threatening them with death. The murderer of Bloch is examined daily. He merely repeats, "You will never know who I am; I am one of a powerful organization which is to reform society and rid it of you bloodthirsty rascals." The general public is admitted to the man's cell all day in hopes he may thus be identified.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 30.—The long strike of window-glass workers is at an end, and after seven months of idleness the men will return to work as soon as the furnaces are heated. The Manufacturers' and Workers' conference committee, yesterday, reached a satisfactory conclusion and details were arranged to-day. While both sides made great concessions, the terms at which work will be resumed largely favor the workmen, who will be paid last year's wages until April, when a sliding scale will go into effect and wages, therefrom, will be governed by the card rate on glass. The scale will be subject to change every four weeks, and the agreement will last only till July, 1st, and if found to work satisfactorily will probably be adopted for the ensuing year. A number of factories have already started their fires, and it is expected that by February 15th, all the factories west will be in operation. By the resumption 2,500 men will be furnished employment in this city.

GLOUCESTER, Jan. 30.—Schooner Waldo, Irvine, of this port, with fourteen men, has been given up as lost.

GALVESTON, Texas, Jan. 30.—A special from Dallas says a strange and fatal disease is reported to have broken out among the cattle in the western part of this county. A large number have died. The disease fails to yield to treatment. A mass-meeting of cattle men was held at Grand Prairie to-day, looking towards a movement to check the ravages of the disease.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 30.—After a heavy run the Merchants and Mechanics' bank of Leadville suspended this afternoon. The property was immediately attached for $37,000; more attachments will follow. No estimate of liabilities or of what the bank will probably pay is at present obtainable. This leaves but one bank in Leadville, the Carbondale.

Foreign.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday debated the interpellation offered by M. Langlois, regarding the economical policy of the government and questions affecting workingmen, Jules Ferry, prime minister, said he recognized the gravity of the labor crisis in Paris. It would be difficult, he thought, to remedy it. The excess of building had produced the crisis in the building trades. It would be imprudent to open new building yards. The government was considering a bill to open a credit for agriculturists. The crisis was not general but was confined to Paris. M. Ferry referred to the causes which led to the crisis, notably the rate of wages which, he said, was too high. He thought that too great profits were expected. "We cannot," he said, "close our frontiers. We export twelve hundred million francs' worth of articles more than we import. It is impossible to exclude foreign workmen from France, for French men are allowed to work in foreign countries. During the last five years six millions francs have been spent on buildings in Paris, which it has been found difficult to let to tenants. The continuance of the folly of building would be madness. The Chamber ought not to commence giving alms.

The Tempe says the language of the Marquis Tseng, Chinese Ambassador, continues most warlike. He is only waiting an attack on Bac Ninh to make a formal declaration of war against France. The Chinese Government has ordered the viceroys of different provinces to report immediately what number of soldiers they can furnish.

KHARTOUM, Jan. 29.—A refugee from El Obeid reports he saw Major Von Seckendorf stabbed to death while lying in bed in hospital, Edmund O'Donovan, the correspondent to the Daily News, was killed near Gen. Hicks. The rest of the Europeans belonging to Gen. Hicks' army he saw lying dead after the battle. He says El Mahdi sold large quantities of watches, rings, and the like. Thelkh Aboud has summoned Khartoum to surrender in order to avoid bloodshed. The town is quiet, but the soldiers are clamoring for their pay. The arrival of Gen. Gordon is anxiously awaited. Hussem-Pasha is offering obstruction to every measure.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—It is rumored that the British fleet in the Mediterranean has been ordered to Alexandria in view of the unsettled state of affairs in Egypt.

CAIRO, Jan. 29.—Everything points to the British occupation of Egypt for an indefinite period.

MADRID, Jan. 29.—The government has resolved to carry out treaties of commerce with England and the United States.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—At a meeting of socialists on the boulevard Menilmontant, to-day, a resolution was adopted declaring a revolution the only means of ending the labor crisis.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A despatch from Kharkoff says Jabreloff, an officer of the gendarmes, sent by Col. Suderkin to investigate Nihilism, was assassinated on the 26th. The same authority alleges that the police have discovered a plot for an uprising of peasants in Little Russia, and also a scheme for putting strychnine in the Czar's food. Many arrests have been made.

The next budget will contain a provision for keeping in Egypt an army of occupation of 6,000 men.

TRIPOLI, Jan. 30.—Sherkb Senoussi and his tribe, who were recently reported to be advancing to join El Mahdi, have not only not joined El Madhi, but have decided that he is a false prophet and an adventurer, and that the Musselmen must on no account follow him.

MOSCOW, Jan. 30.—Lieut. Harbor and Master Schareta, escorting the corpses of Lieut. DeLong and comrades started for Hamburg to-day. A solemn procession followed the coffin to the railroad station where the chief Lutheran pastor of the city delivered an address.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Norway has despatched a man of war to Madagascar.

The suicide of Prof. Klinkerfus, the German astronomer who shot himself in the observatory at Gottingen yesterday, is ascribed to his recent entire loss of fortune.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 30.—A fire in the Stearine candle factory here, yesterday, destroyed 100,000 kilograms of acid. The total loss is £25,000. Five hundred men are thrown out of employment by the fire.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—A number of Irish and Irish-American dynamiters have recently arrived here, including several revolutionists well known at Scotland Yard. English detectives on service in New York state that Captain M'Cafferty is also among the number. They have come here to concert further measures with certain Irish residents.

DON'T READ THIS.

The average New Brunswick Farmer toils hard early and late, often depriving himself of needed rest and sleep. For what? To raise corn and turnips. For what? To feed cattle. For what? To get money with which to buy more land. For what? To raise more turnips and corn. For what? To feed more cattle. For what? To buy more land. And what does he want to buy more land for? Why, he wishes to raise more corn and turnips: to feed more cattle; to buy more land; to raise more turnips; to feed more cattle; and in this circle he moves until death stops his proceedings.

We have got a good stock of Hardware which we will sell Cheap, and some of it at half price. We don't want to do as the Farmer, but intend selling out the whole entire stock between now and the first of August next, then look for a good office, high salary and no taxes.

To DRS. BENNET & HEBRON, 43 Horsefield Street, St. John.

DEAR SIR,—I desire to express the feelings of profound gratitude to you who have helped me so much by the use and application of your wonderful Pad. I was sick about two years and spent a large sum of money, but received very little benefit until I tried your absorptive treatment. When I commenced using it this summer I could scarcely walk across the floor, I had such a weakness across me, and now I can walk a mile at a time and attend to household duties, and feel only too glad to recommend this truly great treatment to any person or persons who may be afflicted as I was. You are at liberty to make any disposition of this that you may deem proper.

MRS R. HIBBARD.

Remedies can be bought any time from GEORGE H. DAVIS, who is the agent at Fredericton.
