MONDAY EVENING, SEPT. 7.

Mackenzie Steps Out.

We offer our sincere congratulations to the Government party, and the country at large, on the resolution of the Premier to step out of the Department of Public Works. It would have been better for all concerned if he had done so long ago, as his administration of the duties of his office has been one unbroken succession of blunders. He has reformed nothing, made many changes for the worse, increased rather than decreased expenditure, kept back works that were already ordered and projected others that are impracticable for some time to come. He has managed to quarrel with everybody who had any business with the Department over which he presides, and has disgusted many of the strongest of his own party by his churlishness and impudence. No man could approach him who had anything to say against any of the acts of the Minister, without the certainty of being snubbed. He has become so offensive, in fact, that those who tender for contracts on public works add a certain percentage as compensation for the chance of being forced to have something to do with him personally. By being Premier only he will not be brought in direct contact with those who have business at the Departments, and only his Ministers will have to endure his bearish treatment. They are used to it by this time, and are reconciled to it in a measure.

A New Denomination.

The Old Catholics appear to be rather restless just at present. A Congress of those engaged in the movement is sitting, and Dr. Dollinger has issued a call for another clerical gathering. The latter call has been addressed to evangelical Greek and Anglican clergy, and a scheme is probably on foot for the formation of a creed on which the Old Catholics and seceders from the Greek and Anglican churches can unite. A union of all who have left and are ready to leave these three churches, if it can be effected, will produce a denomination of considerable strength, wealth and working force, and may be expected to soon become a recognized power in the religious world. If there is any scheme of this kind on foot it will soon be made manifest by the deliberations of the Congress of Old Catholics now in session. This Congress has been rendered absolutely necessary by the want of harmony in the ranks of those who have rebelled against the rule of the Pope and yet claim to be members of the church of which he is the infallible head. If harmony cannot be restored, if the relations of the new church with the old are not more clearly defined, or if some new movement, like what we have mentioned, be not made for strengthening their ranks, the new church will be a lamentable failure.

The sailors saw a comet and were somewhat surprised and alarmed at its appearance. The hands met and appointed a committee to wait upon the commander and ask his opinion of it. They approached him and said: "We want to ask your opinion, your honor." "Well, my boys, what is it about?" "We want to inquire about that thing up there." "Now, before I answer you, let me know what you think of it." "Well, your honor, we have talked it all over, and we think it is a star sprung aleak."

One of the latest innovations of fashion at Saratoga is the wearing of bows of ribbon upon most all toilettes. The new shade of garnet or Turkish red is much used for them, as also a deep mauve blue, verging on a purple. It is strictly en regle to wear a bow of ribbon upon the top of each sleeve, one at the base of the ruff at the back of the neck, while ribbon of the same color, about two inches wide, is passed around the waist in the place of a sash, and hangs in long loops and ends at the left side. With black and white costumes the effect is pretty.

A new historical work by Francis Parkman, the well known author of several valuable works relating to the early history of the United States and Canada, is announced for publication early in October, under the title, "The Old Regime of Canada." It is stated that a Canadian edition of the whole series of histories by this brilliant writer, consisting of 7 volumes in all, is in course of preparation by Messrs. Adam, Stevenson & Co., at the small price of $1.75 per volume, being seventy-five cents less than the American edition. The series will be a great boon to all students of Canadian history, and will no doubt be in great demand as soon as published.

The following is the fast time record of 1874: Madge, three-quarter mile, 1:15½; beating Alarm, with a record of 1:16, by a quarter of a second. Mr. Belmont's gray horse Planet reduced the one mile record of 1:42¾ made by both Alarm and Springbok, to 1:41½. Both Picolo and Fadladeen ran 1 mile and an eight in 1.56, beating Fanny Ludlow's time by half a second, which had stood front at that distance. Reform ran one mile and three quarters in 3.05¾, wiping out Frogtown's record of 3.07, made in 1872, at Lexington, Ky. On August 20, at Saratoga, Fellowcraft, a four-year old son of Australian, ran four miles in 7.19¼, beating the time of the world renowned Lexington, 7.19¾.

The Detroit Free Press is trying to make people believe the following rat story: "An old lake captain, for many years a resident of Cleveland, cites numerous instances of vessels being wrecked, or in some manner totally lost after long time in service, being invariably deserted by rats just previous to yielding up to the elements. One instance among numerous others is given of the schooner Michigan, a condemned vessel lying at the Port of Buffalo in 1829, which was sold to some speculators to send over Niagara Falls. The vessel was fitted out in a cheap sort of a way, and the day previous to her making the final leap was towed down to Navy Island, four miles above the Falls, for further preparations, during which interval the rats abandoned her by crawling on the lines which led to the shore, whilst others jumped overboard and swam thereto."

St. Martins Visited.

A little party chartered the new steamer Earl Dufferin, Capt. Price, and went to St. Martins Saturday night. The party put up at Ingraham's Hotel, and spent Sunday in attending divine service at the churches, and roaming about the roads and fields admiring the beauties of the scenery. Some of the walks and drives are very pleasant, and the scenery offers much to admire and wonder at. The cavernous sea walls, and the almost perpendicular banks of the Irish river, afforded food for speculation and admiration. Some good climbing was done by the more adventurous and athletic, and no accident occurred to remind the wanderers that they were doing wrong. The hotel was very comfortable, and the table good. The party returned to-day, reaching here at noon, after a very pleasant run.

SHIPBUILDING.

Shipbuilding is one of the chief industries of the people. Messrs. W. H. & J. Rourke have a fine looking bark nearly ready for launching. She will be floated the 15th inst., if there is water enough, but the probability is that the launch will not be before the 25th. She was built under French Lloyd's, and is classed for 8 years. A larger proportion than usual of the timber that entered into her construction is pitch pine and oak, and her treenails are locust and hackmatack. She is essentially copper fastened, and not one graving piece was used in her planking. The workmanship on every part of her is first class. The joiner work was done by Messrs. George Dimock and Crawford Love, of St. Martins, and is equal to any ship work ever done in this Province. Her dimensions are: length of keel 83 ft., beam 34 ft., hold 20 ft., and she will register about 900 tons. Her model is much admired, her lines being easy and graceful. Her hold and between-deck stanchions are single pieces of timber fitted and bolted to the beams. Seven-eighths of this fine bark are owned in St. Martins by the builders and others. Her name is Longfellow.

Messrs. Rourke have the keel and timber in the yard for a ship of 1200 tons, for Capt. Durkee of Liverpool, Eng., work on which began to-day.

John D. Bradshaw is building for S. Vaughan & Co., Liverpool, a ship of 1500 tons, which is half in frame.

DeLong Bros. have a brig half planked for themselves.

Thos. Bradshaw has a 1,000 ton bark half up for R. R. Sneden and others.

John Carson has a brig partly planked which he is building for the market, of about 600 tons.

Capt. John Marr has the keel laid for a new ship.

A. Parks & Son have the keel for a new bark in the yard.

Four vessels have already been launched this season—J. D. Bradshaw, a bark entine; J. H. Moran, a ship; Capt. Marr, a ship; and Parks & Son, a bark.

DRAWBRIDGE WANTED.

Messrs. Rourke's shipyard is situated above the bridge that crosses the mouth of Irish river, and a section of the bridge has to be taken up every time they launch a vessel. They launch one every summer, and the Government is put to an expense of some $80 a year in taking up and putting down the bridge. Travel is inconvenienced also. All this expense and inconvenience would be saved if the Government would comply with the oft repeated requests of the people to put a draw in the bridge. Hon. Mr. Willis was down at one time and surveyed the structure, but the hopes he raised have been blasted by inaction. The draw is wanted for other reasons also. A great quantity of cord wood is cut up the river every winter, which has to be hauled around the bridge to be shipped at a cost of about fifty cents a cord. With a draw light vessels could ascend the stream and take the wood from the bank. Fully 5000 cords would be shipped annually if the draw were put in the bridge.

BREAKWATERS.

The breakwater that has been recently built affords only partial protection to the inner harbor, and another one, about 200 feet long, should be constructed from the opposite point. The chief trouble now is that the waves strike the beach opposite the breakwater and wash the sand into the harbor. This has resulted in the formation of a sand bar so large that the channel between it and the wharf is only forty feet wide. It was even narrower a short time ago, and was improved by private enterprise. It will have to be widened still more when the Longfellow is launched, as there must be room made for the Earl Dufferin to pass in and out while the bark lies at the wharf. With the required breakwater the waves would be broken up before reaching the sand, and the bar would soon wash entirely away. It is not fair that private enterprise should be left to keep the harbor from destruction, and it will be much cheaper to build the breakwater now than to dredge out the harbor at some future day.

CHURCHES AND SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

There are three churches in the village—Episcopalian, Baptist and Catholic. The Methodists and Presbyterians have regular services in the Temperance Hall. There are three flourishing Sunday schools—Union, Baptist and Bethel. The Union school is non sectarian, and is conducted very successfully by W. H. Rourke, Esq., on the International system. Last Sabbath there were present 122 bright looking and neatly dressed boys and girls. The Baptist school has an average attendance of about 60, and is under the superintendence of Rev. Mr. Washburn. The Bethel, conducted by Alex. McDonald, Esq., has an average attendance of about 55. Thanks to the good government of the parents, and the good opportunities offered by these schools, children are not seen at play in the streets or fields on the Lord's Day, as is the case too frequently in other places.

GROWTH OF ST. MARTINS—NEW HOUSES.

The village has grown steadily for the last few years. A careful estimate gives the number of buildings erected within the last ten years at 160. The number built within a year is sixteen, and four others have been begun. The foundation for a Masonic Hall has been built, and the superstructure will be proceeded with immediately.

SCHOOLS.

Among the new buildings is a handsome school house, in which two schools are kept. There are three other school houses in the village, and the common school system is popular.

TASTEFUL ARCHITECTURE.

The good taste of the people is shown by their painted houses and carefully tended gardens. Many of the smaller cottages have a style to them that makes them look far from common. Nearly all have dormer windows, high porches, or some architectural feature that gives the beholder the idea that the builder could have made his house larger if he had wanted to. St. John would be a handsome city if it had as much paint and architectural display in proportion to the number of its houses. Among the handsome private residences that attract the eye are those of W. H. Rourke, Sr., W. H. Rourke, Jr., Mrs. Mary Calhoun, Mrs. E. M. Vaughan, A. Skillen, J. H. Moran, James Rourke, Capt. Wishart, Capt. Masters, Robt. Skillen, Thos. McComb, Capt. John Marr, and Charles Ward.

The Common Council meets Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

An Apron Fair is to be held in the Exmouth street Wesleyan Church Wednesday evening.

The usual Sunday evening meeting was not held in the Y. M. C. A. Building last evening, owing to the repairs going on.

A sailor was beaten by some parties unknown near Chubb's corner Saturday night. When the police arrived, attracted by the cry of murder, the assailants made off, and the man was sent on board his vessel.

Smashing panes of glass in Trinity Church is now the amusement of boys in Hunbert's Alley.

The Directors of the Moosepath Park are making an effort to have Goldsmith Maid come down here on the 24th inst., and trot at their Fall meeting, to be held on that and the following day.

A public meeting, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., will be held in the Centenary Church this evening, at 8 o'clock. Addresses will be delivered by H. Thane Miller, Esq., of Cincinnati, and by other delegates returning from the Convention held during the past week at Fredericton. All are cordially invited to attend.

A foot race is announced between John Spence and Charles Vaughan, of the Shamrock Club, for Friday afternoon.

The Hibernians gave their closing performance on Saturday night to a good audience. At the close they were loudly cheered, and were evidently regretfully parted with.

Messrs. T. R. Jones & Co. are now exhibiting a stock of ready-made clothing of their own manufacture, which is probably unequalled in the Dominion for quantity, quality and lowness of prices. Purchasers should not neglect to visit the warehouse of this firm and examine the stock before making purchases for their Fall trade. The same firm are also receiving an immense stock of cloths, general dry goods, haberdashery, etc., forming a complete assortment for wholesale not excelled by any other house in the trade.

Lee's Opera House.

The house was crowded, Saturday evening, and the performance an excellent one. Mr. Dan Lowry appeared as a dancer and had a fine reception. He was pronounced the most artistic dancer ever seen on the stage in this city. This evening an entirely new bill will be presented and the entire company will appear. It is the last week of Niles and Evans, Guy Linton, Lucy Adams, and one or two other members of the company. They will be succeeded by new faces.

The Temperance Demonstration.

Not less than one thousand persons left by special train, this morning, for Cork Settlement, to attend the demonstration of the Catholic Total Abstinence Society. They were accompanied by St. Malachi's Band, which played through the streets before leaving. The gathering is expected to be a very large one, as special trains will run from Fredericton and St. Stephen, and the Oromocto and Petersville societies will also attend. Four bands will supply the music, and a part of the day will be devoted to addresses from prominent temperance men.

The Gloucester Murderers Sentenced.

In the Gloucester court, the jury in the case of the Queen vs. Angele Poulin, on Saturday, brought in a verdict of guilty of murder, after being out all night. Gallan was then brought into court, and Judge Weldon sentenced him to be hanged on 29th of October. Mrs. Poulin was then brought in and sentenced. As she is enciente the execution of her sentence was delayed until the 6th of January.

Stabbing Affray.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock Saturday night, Florence Driscoll and two others went into Whitnect's saloon and had some oysters. They were about leaving when their attention was politely called to the fact by the proprietor that the oysters were not paid for. Driscoll returned the kind admonition by a blow, and received one in return which stretched him senseless on the floor. His friends rushed in and Mr. Whitnect and his son protected themselves as best they could. During the row some one of the crowd drew a knife and stabbed the younger Whitnect in the side. The crowd then made off, with the exception of Driscoll, who had to have sundry repairs put on his face before he could leave. Whitnect should have given the man in charge, but allowed him to depart in peace. The young man's wound, which was dressed by Dr. Andrews, though severe is not dangerous.

Brutal Assault at Straight Shore.

Mr. George Campbell, his wife, her sister and a young son, were passing down the Straight Shore road, about 12 o'clock Saturday night, when Campbell was struck by one of a crowd of roughs, standing at the corner of New Dominion Road. Campbell tried to get out of the way by running, but the roughs followed and continued to beat him. His wife interfered and was also assaulted, but Campbell seemed to be the particular object of their spite. He was thrown down, beaten and kicked, until he was senseless. The loud cries of the party for help were heard by two policemen, who arrived just as the roughs had departed fully satisfied with their fiendish work. Campbell was carried into a house occupied by a man named Cunningham, when after some time Dr. Inches was summoned to attend the sufferer. He was too ill to be removed from Cunningham's house all day yesterday, and lies in a very precarious condition. The parties have not been arrested, though two or three of them are known, and two of them yesterday visited the house and offered to pay all expenses if nothing was said about the affair. It is one of the most brutal, cowardly assaults that has occurred near St. John for some time, and it is hoped the ruffians will not escape justice.

If you want a fine-flavored, prime Havana Cigar, give Lawton Bros. a call, King Square. tf

Incendiary Fires.

An alarm of fire was sounded about 2 o'clock Sunday morning, the fire being in a woodshed belonging to Mr. John Vincent, Richmond street. The shed and a quantity of tools were burned, but the firemen soon had the flames extinguished. The loss was about $500. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary, as no one had been near the building with a light for hours before.

About 7 o'clock yesterday another fire was discovered in Doherty's Brewery, Union street. Some miscreant had thrown cards of lighted matches through the windows in Union street, into several rooms. The room for storing grain took fire and the fire extended to the malt drying room. The engines were promptly on the ground and the flames extinguished. The loss will be about $600, and some little time will be required to repair the damage. It is fully covered by insurance.

Letter from Mr. Quinton.

To the Editor of the Tribune,

At the last meeting of the Sessions I find by the reports that my name, in connection with the Highway Accounts for Lancaster, was handled in a rough manner by two of the Lancaster magistrates, one of whom, in particular, holds a certain enmity against me in consequence of his assuming the duties of a hog reeve (not being legally appointed) and certain proceedings in reference to the same in a County Bush Court (as the said dignified J. P. was pleased to term it in a Committee of Sessions which I shall presently refer to.)

As my statements have been misrepresented by the above parties, I want to put myself right before the public.

Having been appointed Road Commissioner in the largest district in the parish, and where they now appoint two, I found my duties arduous and occupying a great portion of my time without any compensation as under the old law, whereas the commissioners under the present law receive a large percentage. The road surveyors collected all the money they could get, and handed the defaulters to me, which were by me placed in the magistrates' hands for collection, who still have to account for the money. I received several notices to attend a burlesque committee of Sessions. That committee I met twice, and I was there treated in such an ungentlemanly manner by the J. P. above referred to, that I did not feel justified in giving them any further information. Mr. Fair was present at one of those meetings. I distinctly stated that I never paid Mr. Fair one cent of road money, and Mr. Fair explained in reference to the $1.50, which this J. P. now calls $15. In reference to Mr. Lake, I likewise stated in the presence of Mr. Fair that I paid him $20, which was the Corporation road tax. Mr. Lake denied that he received it. I assisted Mr. Lake in making up his returns, and it was understood by us that this $20 was to pay a claim which John Clarke had against Lake for work done on the road. I considered this as settled so far as the Sessions were concerned. I paid $5 of the above amount to lawyer Alward on Lake's account, and was prepared to pay the rest when called upon. This is my reason for the above statement, as I considered it settled and as paid. Mr. Lake handed me names for collection who had paid him, and when sued produced receipts of payment from Lake. In making up the returns Mr. Lake asked me to mark Mr. Avery as paid to him. He afterwards denied in committee that Avery had paid him, trying to make it appear that he had paid me. Mr. Avery is prepared to state he settled with Lake for his road work, and that I never received one cent from him on road account.

I can produce vouchers for all monies expended by me since making up my returns.

Should the above parties make any more false statements through the press in reference to me, I shall be prepared to refute them. W. A. QUINTON.

Lancaster, Sept. 5, 1874.

City Police Court.

A spiritual circle were called upon to tell their experiences this morning before the great medium—the Police Magistrate. Their spiritual manifestations did not present any great variety, all being about the same. A few doubted that they had had any communion with the spirits at all, and in such cases the oaths of the lesser mediums, commonly called policemen, were required. As the name of one after the other was called out the parties were marched through the long corridor to the chief's room, and there were made to understand whether or not they were considered members of the spiritual circle; if so they were called upon to pay an initiation fee of $8 each. All the candidates seemed to regret the high honor conferred upon them, when they understood the cost.

The names of those duly admitted to membership, and who were each called upon to pay a fee of $8, were George Robertson arrested on Union St.; John Reynolds in Charlotte St.; John Wallace in Princess St.; Patrick McCarthy, St. John St.; John Fraser, Brussels St.; William Loughead, Sheffield; James Gallagher, King's Square; James Connors, Lawton's Wharf; John Russell, Charlotte, and Owen Havey, Prince Wm.

Martha Frizzle was the only female occupant, and she was led by the spirit into Sheffield street, where she was very disorderly, and caused much pain and annoyance to the people who resided there. For this great manifestation of spiritual power she must pay $8 or spend two months in the Penitentiary.

David Mozers was arrested for disorderly conduct in St. Patrick street. He had his coat stripped off and was spoiling for a fight. A fine of $6 was imposed.

Thomas Lahey and Edward Fitzgerald, in for protection, were let go.

Portland Police Court.

The Town was in an excited condition Saturday night, lots of rum was drunk, and the result was seen in the number of prisoners called upon to give an account of themselves this morning.

Patrick Donovan, drunk in Main street, was fined $4, or rather deposited the money and did not appear to claim it.

Nathan Higgins was charged with being drunk and disorderly at the Straight Shore, and was fined $6.

Ann Paterson was given in charge by Mrs. Robert Watson of the Marsh Road for being drunk and disorderly, and smashing the windows of her house. In default of a fine Ann will go the penitentiary for two months, where the windows are secured by iron bars to prevent breakage.

James Stowell, drunk and disorderly in Main street, was fined $6.

James McCallum found lying drunk and incapable on Fort Howe, on Sunday, was fined $8.

Henry Miller for being drunk and disorderly on the Marsh Road was also fined $8.

John Ramsay, another Sunday drunkard, was fined $8.

Arthur McHale, in the same fix, must also pay $8.

North Shore Steamer.

Steamer City of St. John will leave Point du Chene on Thursday next, 10th Sept., on arrival of the morning express train from St. John, for Richibucto, Chatham, Newcastle, Bathurst, Dalhousie and Campbellton. Tickets and staterooms secured at the office of Enoch Lunt & Sons, 41 Dock street.

THE DAILY TRIBUNE and all the most popular Canadian, English and American newspapers and magazines can always be obtained at the bookstore of Mr. W. K. Crawford, King street. aug 8

Mesmerism.

Miss Annie De Montford, the renowned Mesmerist, will appear at the Mechanics' Institute on Monday evening next.

Alarm of Fire.

A spark on the roof of a shed on Hare's wharf caused an alarm of fire to be given from Box 5 this morning. No damage was done.

Shipping Notes.

Point Lepreaux, Sept. 7, 9 a. m.—Wind North, light, cloudy. One bark inward. A bark sailed from New River this morning.

The S. S. Thames, from London for Halifax and this port, arrived at the former port to-day.

The Black Crook Company.

This company arrived by special train this morning. To-day carpenters are arranging the Academy of Music for the performance this evening.

LIBERALITY OF PHYSICIANS.—It has always been said that physicians would disparage any remedy, however valuable, which they did not originate themselves. This has been disproved by their liberal course towards Dr. J. C. Ayer's preparations. They have adopted them into general use in their practice, which shows a willingness to countenance articles that have intrinsic merits which deserve their attention. This does the learned profession great credit, and effectually contradicts the prevalent erroneous notion that their opposition to proprietary remedies is based in their interest to discard them. We have always had confidence in the honorable motives of our medical men, and are glad to find it sustained by the liberal welcome they accord to such remedies as Ayer & Co.'s inimitable remedies, even though they are not ordered in the books, but are made known to the people through the newspapers.—New Orleans Delta.

The hermit who is discovered every year about the last of August or early in September has this year turned up near Reading, Pa. This one has been secluded from the world only twenty-seven years, which is three years less than the usual time. The cause of his seclusion was "love," of course. He has been elegantly educated. They always are. There is a mysterious something which clouds the life of this hermit. That is all regular. And in fact he has every mark of genuineness except the length of his seclusion. No orthodox hermit, with any regard for his own character, would remain secluded even one month less than thirty years, and we refuse to believe in him.
