"JAPANESE ARE ALL RIGHT."

So Says a Former St. John Clergyman.

Rev. Mr. Wadman, Returned Missionary Tells of Their Ability and Wonderful Bravery.

"Japan is all right." It is Rev. John Wadman, formerly a Methodist preacher here, but for several years past a missionary and a teacher in Japan, who says it.

Mr. Wadman has been called away from Japan by the American M. E. Mission board. A mission work among the Japanese, Koreans, and other Asiatics in Hawaii is to be organized. Looking over the ground for an organizer, the board fixed upon Mr. Wadman as best adapted for that work. Yesterday it was all arranged in Boston. Mr. Wadman expects to go to Honolulu almost directly. He hopes to complete the undertaking and have things in working order in two years. Then he will get back to Japan and his college, where his heart is. Just now he is on his way to his old home at Victoria, P. E. I. His father, who is eighty-two years old, is in bad health. Mrs. John Wadman and the family are in Delaware.

Mr. Wadman is a great admirer of the Japanese character, and is proud of the conduct of his neighbors in the war. He says that all the British, all the Americans, and most of the German and other European residents of Japan are enthusiastically in sympathy with that country. They are more demonstrative than the Japanese themselves.

"The wonderful thing about the Japanese in the composure and gravity with which they proceed," says Mr. Wadman. "When the news of victory comes and we meet them with 'Banzai!' which is their 'Hurrah!' they say 'Yes, Banzai!' but it is not over yet. They know that it is to be a long, hard fight. They never under rated the enemy. They went into the war because they felt that Russia had been false, and because they knew that further Russian advance meant destruction to Japan.

"It is wonderful how strong the feeling is among the British and American traders and financiers, as well as the teachers and professional English speaking people. These foreigners are among the most generous contributors to the patriotic funds."

Mr. Wadman has been a good deal in Manchuria and Siberia. He has met many Russian gentlemen and admires them greatly. For the official Russian he has less to say. He fails to understand how Russia could be so blinded by her Eastern advisers as to expect an easy victory over Japan, or to suppose that there would be no resistance. Well informed persons blame Alexieff, who seems to have informed his government that Japan would back down. He might have known the Japanese better.

"But," said Mr. Wadman, "I noticed the same spirit in other official Russians. Shortly before the war I was talking with the Russian consul at Hakodate. He laughed at the very idea of Japan fighting Russia. Yet he had been living long among the people and understood their language. It is almost incredible that he should have so misunderstood the spirit of the people.

"Do the Christian Japanese go to the war with the same fervor as those who hold to the native religion," Mr. Wadman was asked.

"There is no difference," he replied. "When I was first in Japan it was urged that Christianity would undermine the patriotism of the people. But the war with China stopped that cry. Every day young men from our congregations are called out. Frequently I am called to attend a farewell meeting in one of our church societies. They are not sad meetings. The young man going away with the best wishes of his comrades, cheerfully leaving his cheerful friends. In the morning with flags and music they escort him to the station with the usual but unnecessary charge to be brave and die rather than flee.

"And the women, they are perfect Spartans. It brings tears to one's eyes to see the mothers and sisters and wives marching sturdily off to the train to see their sons, brothers and husbands go to death. Their affections are as tender as an English woman's. But they never show a sign of regret. They are ready to offer up their nearest and dearest to their country.

"You may remember Hay-a-Shi, who went down with the Hatsuse. He was a Christian, a member of our society, a splendid man. I went to see his wife when the news of his death came. She is the daughter of a soldier, who was killed in another engagement. This lady felt her loss as deeply as our own wives would. But she smiled through her tears and said, 'If I had twenty husbands and twenty fathers I would gladly give them all for the emperor.'"

Mr. Wadman has regular correspondence with Captain Okada, who was in his school, and is now with General Kurogi. The commander selected him to go on his staff as interpreter for the foreign newspaper correspondents. They write their reports in their own language. He turns them into Japanese and submits it to the censor. It is Okado's duty also to conduct the newspaper men to the places where they can best see what is going on. He writes that he finds the work rather onerous, and expressing a strong desire to be in the fighting lines.

POLICE COURT.

In the police court this morning Timothy Callaghan was fined $8 for being drunk and resisting the police. Officer Hamm, who made the arrest, being under the impression that the court did not open till ten o'clock, was not present when Callaghan was up, and as a result the resistance charge was not pressed. Callaghan, according to the officer's statement, bit him and made as much fuss as possible. Hamm's left hand is badly lacarated.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING AROUND PORT ARTHUR.

Japanese Attack Beseiged Fortress by Land and Sea--Russians Still Hold Out.

CHE FOO, July 30, 1 p. m.—A junk which left Port Arthur on Thursday last night at midnight, reports terrific fighting on land and sea, which had then been going on for three days. The highest Japanese authority here says the army and naval commanders of the besieging forces had planned to begin their final assault on Tuesday last and expected to effect the capture by July 29, but that no official reports were expected from the army or from Admiral Togo until the present attack results in success. Japanese correspondents here are now sending junks to the Miac Tao islands, ready to enter the harbor at Port Arthur immediately after the fall of the fortress.

The Associated Press correspondent learns from the same reliable authority that the movements of the Russian Vladivostok squadron hastened the attack upon Port Arthur. The Japanese authorities realizing that if these vessels were allowed to proceed unhampered any longer it made the division of Admiral Togo's fleet with the outcoming of the Russian ships now cooped up by him at Port Arthur. In this city many wagers are being made at odds of 20 to 1 that Port Arthur will not fall within the next ten months. German residents are offering and Englishmen are accepting the bets.

TOKIO, July 30, noon.—The rumored fall of Port Arthur is officially pronounced to be untrue.

VLADIVOSTOK FLEET ESCAPES.

TOKIO, July 29, 10 a. m. (delayed in transmission).—The Vladivostok squadron has disappeared and it is possible that its raid is over and that it is heading homeward. It is expected that shipping will be resumed on the eastern coast. The Pacific Mail Company's steamship Korea will be held at Yokohama and the steamship Siberia at Koba until their safety is assured. The German Mail steamship company is using Kobe as a terminal for the transshipment of passengers and cargo. The raid of the Vladivostok squadron has been an extremely disastrous one. It is estimated that 200,000 tons of chartered shipping has been held at ten days at a loss of seven and a half million dollars.

HAI CHENG, July 29.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The attack on the right flank of the Russian southern army developed at seven o'clock this morning. The battle was opened with a heavy artillery fire, under cover of which the Japanese infantry advanced along the railway until eleven o'clock when their forward movement was checked. The fighting was continued, according to the last accounts, but the result is not known.

TOKIO, July 29.—10 p. m.—(Delayed in transmission.)—Gen. Oku estimates the Russian losses at Ta Tche Kiao, last Sunday, to have been at the lowest two thousand men, and in his report expresses the opinion that the Russians decided to retreat at midnight Sunday, after the Japanese had stormed Lai Ping mountain in a surprise attack and carried most of the Russian's left. Immediate with drawal aolne averted a disaster to the Russians.

ANXIOUS TO SETTLE.

Chicago Strikers are Tired of the Thing—The Packers are Getting Lots of Help.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Unable to arrange a conference with representatives of the New York packers, Michael J. Donnelly, president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America has ordered a strike of all the members of his organization employed in New York by Schwarzschild & Sulzberger and the United Dressed Beef Co. The order, which was telegraphed to New York tonight, does not go into effect until Sunday, as the men in the eastern packing plants do not report for work on Saturday.

From a statement made by President Donnelly tonight it would appear that the men are becoming anxious to get back to work.

OUTSIDERS SENT HOME.

And Those Remaining Were Forced to take Out Licenses This Morning.

The Westmorland county men, who have been working on the Wall street bridge improvements with two exceptions have been sent home. The men were notified to be in court this morning, but of course did not show up. James Shannon, the foreman, and Sutherland and young Shannon were in court however. The elder Shannon explained that he had received a telegram from Moncton to keep the two men he wanted, but to send the others back. He had worked all over the province but never before had to pay a license. Young Shannon stated that having been sent here by the government he thought it unfair that he should have to pay a license. He did not want to stay here, in fact, would not give half of Moncton for the whole of St. John.

His honor thought that the wet weather of the past few days must have caused this ill-feeling toward our city and that the sunshine of the next few days would change that opinion. Saunders wanted to know what would happen to him if he did not pay up and his honor pointed out the window toward the jail and remarked that very little sunshine got in there.

The matter was settled by the men agreeing to take out licenses, which they will do when the pay car arrives.

GUNS FRIGHTEN SHAD.

Pisarinco Fishermen Complain that Artillery Practice at Fort Dufferin Hurts Their Business

Pisarinco fishermen are up in arms against the government and artillery men, claiming that the heavy firing spoils the shad fishing. While there has been no firing so far this season, the men anticipate a repetition of the trouble of a year ago, when the shad run was spoiled in the middle of the season by the firing.

The fishermen claim that the shad is the most timid of all fish, and that it takes very little to frighten them away. If, as they expect, the firing will again spoil the run, it will mean a loss to the people of Pisarinco and other fishermen.

The fishermen have not had any too good a season this year on account of bad weather, and are at present not in any too good humor.

EDDIE HANLON DEFEATED.

Worn Out by Battling Nelson in a Fierce and Damaging Contest.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—In one of the fiercest battles ever witnessed in this city "Batling" Nelson, of Chicago, last night defeated Eddie Hanlon, of San Francisco, the end coming in the nineteenth round. From the sounding of the signal for the commencement of the fight, the yougsters began mixing matters in the liveliest manner. Hanlon fought in his usual fashion, but the Chicago lad early penetrated the guard of the Californian, who bore several facial marks before the tenth round, testifying to the force and accuracy of his opponent's blows. It was almost an even thing until the fourteenth round, with the boys fighting fiercely. After the fifteenth, the tide of battle began to go toward Nelson, who throughout although very heavily punished about the face and body, had manifested endurance.

MARKET DEALERS REPORTED.

Must Take Out Licenses—They May Fight the Case.

The following country market dealers were reported yesterday by the police for doing a business in the market without a license: Bert Fenwick, of Sussex; Albert Fenwick, of this city; Oscar Sanders, Gondola Point; Frank Kierstead, Sussex; Allan Price, Norton; and Edward Falkin, Havelock. One of the men, Albert Fenwick, is a ratepayer in the city, and another, Edward Falkin, has for some time had a regular business stand in the market.

The men are somewhat surprised at the action of the police in reporting them and declare that if it is attempted to compel them to pay license they will engage a lawyer to fight the case. The market, they claim, is meant to accomodate farmers and afford them the privilege of disposing of their produce. They do not think that anything very serious will come of the report.

STEALING PIGEONS.

A Nice Point of Law to Be Settled in this Matter.

James McFarlane, of Brittain street, has complained to the police that Leslie Neeves has stolen some of his pigeons. The Neeves boy, who works in the tannery, was in court this morning, but Mr. McFarlane was not present, so the case stands over till Monday. Neeves has been in court before, having been arrested for masquerading in female attire some little time ago. In the present case a nice point of law is envolved, namely as to what constitutes stealing pigeons. There is an impression that to actually steal a pigeon one would have to take it from the cote, and that if a pigeon was picked up on the street it would not be theft.

THE VATICAN AND FRANCE.

Relations Between Them Are Broken Off.

The Rupture is Now Complete—Pope Refuses to Accede to French Demands.

PARIS, July 30. — Although no official announcement has yet been made, it can be positively affirmed that the rupture between France and Vatican is complete. The Holy See's lengthy reply to the French note, though most courteously worded, merely amounts to a polite statement that the pope does not intend to infringe the stipulations of the concordat and will not withdraw the letters calling the bishops of Dijon and Laval to Rome.

COAL STRIKE THREATENING.

80,000 Men May Quit Work in the Anthracite Coal Region Before Long.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 30.—The implied threat of the operators to withdraw from the Conciliation Board and dissolve the relations existing with the Anthracite Mine Workers has assumed a more serious phase.

From what can be learned the operators will not change their stand upon the question of reconsidering Mr. Wright's decision upon the fifth award of the Strike Commission. They insist that the decision be reopened, declare that an injustice would be done them by its enforcement, and refuse to submit to it.

On the mine workers' side it is as plainly evident that the district presidents will maintain their declaration that the decision is final. They view the situation not so much as an objection on the part of the operators to enforce the award, but as a determination, based upon a careful laid plan, to sever their conciliatory relations with the mine workers, even at the cost of a strike.

The situation is now up to the operators. If another meeting is called by the President of the Board, Mr. Connell, the mine workers will attend. Mr. Connell today said there was no change in the situation. If nothing is done it is not believed that a strike of the 80,000 mine workers in the district can be averted much longer.

BISHOP'S PICNIC.

What promises to be one of the most enjoyable events of the season will be the Cathedral S. S. picnic, popularly known as the Bishop's Picnic, at Torryburn on Tuesday next. An efficient committee has been making active preparations for some time and a hot dinner and supper will be served on the grounds. Prizes will be given for the various games. The grounds are unsurpassed for picnic purposes, and they are reached 15 minutes after leaving the city.

Visitors from other places who have been on the grounds say that they cannot be beaten as pleasure grounds.
