NEW BUILDINGS.

PLENTY OF WORK FOR THE BUILDING TRADES.

New Churches, New Residences, New Engine Houses, New Warehouses, New Business Blocks, Hotel, Brewery and Other Extensive Building Improvements.

The present year seems to be one of the busiest the people of St. John have known for quite a period. There are lots of work in the city of all kinds, for all trades and laborers of every grade. The building trades, among others, are enjoying a good share of work, and the work of building up, improving and extending the city goes on with a steady progress. In almost every every section of St John the cheerful ring of the bricklayer's trowel or the lively tapping of the carpenter's hammer are the sounds that fall on the ear, betokening the rise and grow characteristic that has marked our city since the "great fire" of thirteen years ago.

There are, perhaps, not as many large buildings in course of construction this year as there were last year, but the amount of repairing and improving of buildings that is going on is much larger, and altogether there appears to be more work for the several lines of labor engaged in the building trades than was the case a year ago.

A large amount of new buildings, however, have already been commenced, and the prospect is good that before the building season closes a good many more will be put up which are now only being taked of.

Work on the opera house has been begun in earnest and is being pushed forward, so that this long talked of building bids fair to assume a substantial form before long.

The large wooden building on Union street known as Dockrill's hall has been torn down and the building which stood between it and Union alley has been moved to Exmouth street in order to make room for an imposing four story brick block for the Messrs. Dockrill. There will be a handsome entrance and hallway through this block to the opera house. Mr. Cusick has nearly finished the work of excavating, and the contractor for the masonry, Mr. George McArthur, is ready to push the work along. Mr. Lynch is to do the carpenter work.

At the corner of Moore street and Rockland road just above the Owens Art Gallery, Mr. Kane has begun the work of excavating, in preparation for the laying of the foundation of the fine large to be built there. The church will be a handsome brick or stone structure of about the same size as St. John the Baptist church, Lower Cove, and will cost $20,000 to $25,000.

AN EXTENSIVE WAREHOUSE

for the use of the New York steamship company is to be built on the Pettengill wharves and the slips on this property are being wharfed up as already described in THE GAZETTE.

The old No. 3 engine house on Union street is to be torn down and will be replaced by a handsome three story brick structure, plans for which were prepared by Mr. H. H. Mott. Mr. R. T. Worden is having a very fine brick residence built on King street east. It will have bay windows and a fine entrance.

ELECTRIC POWER STATION.

Work will be commenced shortly on a fine large brick building on the lot at the foot of Union street, corner of Smyth. The building is to be constructed for the street railway company to be used by them as a power station in which to generate the electricity to run the motors and lights on the electric street cars and also to run incandescent and other kinds of electric light about the city, as the company intend to do general electric lighting business when they get their works fully equipped.

The power station will be of brick, three stories in height and 50 foot front on Smyth street by 100 on Union street. The motors for the cars as well as the engines and boilers for the power station have already been purchased. There will be four large boilers of 100 horse power each in the building and three or four engines and several dynamos. The building will have a chimney 100 feet high. Mr. C. H. Fairweather has the plans, prepared and tenders area bout being asked for the work of construction.

Mr. Timothy Cusick has commenced the work of excavating on the corner of Duke and Canterbury streets to prepare for laying the foundation of a fine brick residence for Mr. C. Flood of the firm of C. Flood & Sons. The design is unique and attractive and the building altogether will present a fine appearance. It will be two stories high with basement measuring 73 feet on Canterbury street by 30 feet on Duke street. Mr. Isreal Longley does the carpenter work and Mr. Hatfield the mason work; Mr. G. E. Fairweather is the architect. Mr. W. A. McGinley is having a very conveniently arranged double tenement house on Mecklenburg street. The house is of wood and has a good sized ell attached. Isreal Longley is the carpenter and Mr. Hatfield the mason on this job. Plans were prepared by Mr. Fairweather.

Work is progressing favorably with Mr. James Straton's house on the corner of Coburg and Garden streets. This will be a very fine residence, a story and a half high, with high basement. The basement is built of red and grey granite, rough cut, and the upper part of the building of pressed brick, laid with red mortar of the same color as the bricks, so that only the plain red surface is presented, giving it the appearance of a painted brick front. There will be a large rounded corner on the building and the roof will be of slate with a steep slant. The design is a new one here, although something of the Queen Ann style. The interior arrangement of the building will also be somewhat different from most of the residences lately erected in this city. Mr. James Sterling is the contractor, and he works from plans prepared by Mr. G. E. Fairweather.

Mr. Harvey B. Hayward is having an attractive brick residence erected on Carnarthen street, near Orange street. The building is of neat square design, built of pressed brick with free stone trimmings, and will have a fine arched entrance. The house will have a roomy basement and be two stories high. It measures 40 feet square. Mr. Fairweather is the architect, B. Mooney & Sons the contractors, and Mr. Elliott the carpenter.

A $40,000 FIRE.

DUNN'S SAW MILL ON THE WEST SIDE, BURNED DOWN.

The Furnace Falls in at 4.30 o'clock this Morning and Causes Complete Destruction—Only $8000 Insurance.

A most disastrous fire occurred in Carleton at an early hour this morning and resulted in the loss of the largest mill on the West side. About 4.30 o'clock officer Charles Amos, who was on duty on Union street, noticed smoke issuing from the roof of Dunn's mill. He at first thought that steam was being got up, but his doubts of a fire were soon put to flight when flames began to shoot through the roof. He at once ran and gave the alarm and in a very few minutes the firemen were on the scene. The fire was then burning fiercely, and, although the firemen worked hard, it soon got the upper hand of them and burst out into a mass of flames. By this time quite a number of people had assembled, and the crowd at once started to save what lumber could be got at. The deals and laths piled on the wharf had caught fire and were rapidly being consumed. A large quantity was thrown into the slips and thus saved from being burned.

At about five o'clock, thirty men under the command of second Lieut. Lucas, landed from H. M. S. Canada and lent valuable aid in saving the lumber. They brought a fire engine in their boat but owing to the low tide it could not be used. The sailors worked like heroes and succeeded in saving considerable property. At 7.30 this crew was relieved by another watch from the warship and the work of salvage went steadily on.

A good deal of difficulty was experienced by the firemen in getting their hose on. Joints of old leather hose were coupled with woven hose and as a consequence, the old material bursted in several places and caused considerable delay. The supply of water was also rather poor when the fire started.

The watchman of the mill, Patrick Buckley, was in the building when the flames burst out. He says he heard a crash, and running into the engine room, he was confronted by smoke and flames. He thinks that the roof of one of the furnaces tumbled in and ignited the roof of the building.

The mill was very dry and burned rapidly.

The whole place is now in ruins and presents a dreary appearance. The wharf is also badly burned, All that is now standing is the mill chimney.

The mill and lumber is owned by Mr. E. G. Dunn and has lately been run by Messrs. Adams and Gregory, who sawed for Mr. Dunn by the thousand. The loss will be very heavy. The original cost of the mill was $40,000. It is insured for $8,000. Although quite a quantity of laths were injured by being thrown into the slips, not very much lumber was destroyed by the fire. The loss in this regard cannot yet be estimated. There is no insurance on the lumber.

A pile of valuable pine clapboards, which were on the lower end of the wharf, was removed and thus saved from destruction.

Chief Kerr arrived about six o'clock and soon got things in better working order. Before he came all were giving orders and affairs were getting rather confused.

The new fire engine worked well and forced a good stream of water on the fire.

Too much credit cannot be given the man-of-warsmen for the gallant manner in which they worked. About 7.30 o'clock they obtained No. 8 fire company's old engine and soon had the old machine forcing water at her greatest capacity.

The ruins are still smouldering and will likely continue to do so for several days. The firemen and sailors worked hard all this morning and succeeded in saving a lot more of the lumber. Notwithstanding this several thousand feet of lumber and a great quantity of laths were burned The slips are full of half consumed deals and laths.

At dinner time the tars went aboard of their ship, after having thoroughly impressed the people of Carleton with their usefulness. The firemen are working away this afternoon and it is likely will have to throw the remainder of the lumber into the water to save it.

It is thought the loss of lumber will amount to about $2,000.

One of the millwrights, Mr. Daniel Lord, lost about $50 worth of tools, which he left in the building. He started to go into the burning mill this morning and get them but was struck by some falling wood and badly burned on the hands.

It is not likely that Mr. Dunn will rebuild but it is understood that he will start the Sutton mill at South Bay in the course of a few days. The workmen of the burned mill will, it is said, go right to work in the mill at South Bay.

No. 2 hose cart and several members of the company went over to the fire this morning and did good work.

Sparks from the burning mill caught on the roof of Gregory's mill, near the ferry, but were extinguished by a few pails of water before any damage was done.

The insurence on the burned mill is divided in the following offices: $500 in the Western, $2,500 in the Citizen's Company and $5,000 in Mr. Temple's office.

Last Wednesday night ice at Kingston, Kent Co., formed in vessels containing water, and all the potatoes and buckwheat that were overground were killed.

Mrs. Thomson was an estimable lady and well-known in this city.

MOLASSES FROM BARBADOES.—Schooner Atwood, Capt. Dakin arrived this morning from Barbadoes. She made the voyage in 30 days. Calms, light winds and a heavy northerly sea, were met nearly all the passage. The Atwood has 220 puncheons, 37 hogsheads and 30 barrels of molasses for Joseph Finlay. On June 3rd in lat. 30.23, lon. 64.15. the Atwood spoke the schooner Muriel, bound from Bear River N. S. to Crab Island P. R.

FISK JUBILEE SINGERS.—The return of this company of clever musicians was attended by a large audience at the Institute last night. The concerted pieces were very evenly rendered and the admirable balance of the various parts was especially noticeable in the softer passages. Miss Gatesswood's solo was enthusiastically encored and she responded with "Dublin Bay." A large house is present at the matinee this afternoon.

SLIGHT FIRE.—An old unoccupied house on Strait shore road near Simond street caught fire on the roof this afternoon from a spark. An alarm was sent in from box 135 and the firemen soon extinguished the fire. This old house is too much decayed to ever be repaired or used again, and it should be torn down at once as it is a continual menace to the neighborhood. This is the third time it has taken fire, and only prompt action on the part of the firemen and good fortune prevented the occurrence of a serious conflagration among the blocks of wooden houses to the north of it.

THE ODD FELLOWS OF ST. JOHN last evening celebrated the 12th anniversary of the laying of the corner stone of their building and the 13th anniversary of the great fire. Grand Master Joseph Wilson, and officers of Grand Lodge visited Pioneer Lodge fraternally, and a most enjoyable programme was carried out for the evening's entertainment. The programme included highly interesting addresses by P. G. M. Gilbert Murdoch, Rev. Dr. Macrae, C. N. Skinner, M. P., and Andrew Cushing.

I. O. F PARADE TO-MORROW.—Final arrangements were made last evening for the Forester's church parade to-morrow. The courts Frederick, La Tour, Loyalist and the New Brunswick Encampment with some of the officers of Hight Court will meet at the hall Simonds street, at 10 a. m. tomorrow, and will then proceed to Germain street Baptist church. The route will be down Main street to Mill; up Mill and down Dock to King; up King to Germain; along Germain to the church. The silk hat, black suit, white tie and gloves will be worn, members having badges and officers regalia.

Police Court.

John Richards, who keeps a saloon on Prince William street, was scooped in by the police yesterday for keeping liquor on sale without a license. A large quantity of liquor was also scooped in. He was fined $20 by the magistrate at the police court this morning.
