Collected. This mob continued to swell, and at 9 o'clock next morning, broke down the door of the sheriff's house and led Johnson away to a temporary gallows. The victim asked for a few minutes reprieve to make a confession of his life. This was granted, and he spoke ten minutes with a choking voice. He defended himself for killing McCaton, and said there was not a man present but who would have done the same thing under like circumstances. He urged that he had always been the friend of the poor, and had preserved a good character. This appeared to have little effect on the mob. At the conclusion of his remarks, he looked around upon the crowd, and asked if there was a friend of his among them—if so, step forward.—There was a pause, then a confusion in the assembly, and a young lady made her way through the crowd and fell at the prisoner's feet; she raised herself, and turning to the mob, begged of them to spare him. She said she had been a witness to the quarrel and its fatal end, and that Johnson was not to blame. Gentlemen, she concluded have mercy upon him—spare him for my sake, or hang me in his place. She fainted and was borne away. A new feeling pervaded the breasts of the mob, and cries of clear him, clear him, filled the air. The prisoner was taken from the gallows and set at liberty. The young lady saved him—had generously offered to take his place on the scaffold—had pleaded for his life as she would not have done for her own. Thrilling and romantic. She was the daughter of a rich cotton planter in Mississippi, and a young lady of much influence. It was remarked as the only recompense from Johnson, by some ladies, that he wear crape on his arm for Mc. Caron.

FRANKLIN CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.—The New York Herald has received the Cape Town Gazette, to the 8th of January, inclusive.

Accounts from British Caffraria, represent the newly made subjects in an unsettled state.

The expedition under Colonel Somerset, against Poto, the only remaining refractory chief, had advanced to fourteen miles of the west bank of the Kie, from whence it was to proceed to Kreili's country for the recovery of Colonial cattle, contrary to his assertions, harbored there.

An attempt is about to be made, or rather is making, to establish a trading station at the mouth of the Umzimvoobou.

Passengers in the ship Chester from Liverpool, arrived on Sunday:—Messrs. Alexander Yeats, Anderson, John Clarke, Wm. Bush, Captain Pickens, Captain Leach.

Passengers in the ship California, from Liverpool, arrived Monday:—Two Misses Gilchrist, Thomas Gilchrist, Alexander Gilchrist, William Thompson, Mr. Beard, Mr. Metjes, Mr. Kilpatrick, James Smellie, Thomas Hanford, Mr. Bridge.

There is, perhaps, no disease with which our country is affected, which sweeps off annually so many victims, as that fell destroyer of the human race—Consumption. Day after day, year after year, the insatiate monster harries to the portals of the cold and silent tomb, fresh added victims to its conquest. No walk of life is sacred from its blighting influence.—No age is exempt from its death-dealing shafts. The old, the middle-aged and the young, all alike, are food for this common enemy of mankind. The white haired patriarch, whose life of temperance has rendered his system impervious to the attacks of other ills, and whose good deeds prepared him for the enjoyment of life's calm evening, finds consumption fastening its fangs upon his vitals, and tearing him from a world, ever bright to minds which look complacently on days well spent.

Is there no help for the afflicted? No preventive of the dangers which beset us in our changeable and fickle clime? We think there may be. And if the allegations of those who are at least entitled to veracity, may be believed, there is a preventive and a remedy.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is offered to a suffering world as such. It needs not the "adventitious aid" of a long string of fictitious certificates to give it notoriety. Its true value and intrinsic excellence are sufficient to entitle it to the confidence of the public, and the name of its inventor, as a benefactor of his species.

"Wafted on to fame"
