The Butterflies Wins the Rich Futurity—Record Time for the Great 2-Year-Old Race.

New York, Aug. 25.—The seventh Futurity was won by The Butterflies after a bitter struggle with Brandywine, in the presence of 25,000 people, at Sheepshead Bay this afternoon. She can justly claim to be the queen of the 2-year-old world. Her victory is one that will live long in the minds of all that saw it. It will be years before any colt eclipses the time, as she lowered the record to 1.11 flat for the race. The previous time was made by Morello, who won the $50,000 purse in 1.12 1-5. Then again, she is the first filly to win the rich stake. These facts alone make her victory a memorable one. Another coincidence about her victory is that she is the second representative from Gideon and Daly's string to capture the coveted blue ribbon of the 2-year-old world. This firm carried off the prize in 1891 with His iHighness.

Several small breaks occurred, and finally, after they had been at the post 47 minutes, the flag went down. Monaco, California, The Butterflies, Gutta Percha, Agitator and Manchester got away on practically even terms. As they disappeared in the dip The Butterflies was leading, with Agitator, Gutta Percha and Manchester at her saddle girths. The dust hid the others from view. The Butterflies was leading, with Agitator under the lash only three-quarters of a length away when they came in sight again. Monaco and Gutta Percha had then given up the struggle. They swung into the homestretch with The Butterflies hugging the rail a couple of lengths to the good of Manchester, who headed Agitator for a few strides. Griffin was taking matters easy when the last furlong post was reached. The Butterflies had her field spread-eagled, and was bounding along like a big kitten, with Agitator and Manchester alternating in second place, under the severest kind of punishment.

"She walks in," rang in the air from thousands of throats. The rich prize was not to be carried off so easily, however, and the cry was premature. Brandywine, who got off in the rear ranks, and who was unable to get through until the last furlong of the race was in progress, then made his effort. Clayton squeezed through on the rail with the Blemton candidate. He sent Brandywine after The Butterflies like a shot from a cannon.

Griffin saw his danger, and began to urge his sterling good filly. She responded to the last gap. It was plain to all practical eyes that The Butterflies was tiring fast. The terrific strain was telling. Step by step, and inch by inch, almost breathless, Brandywine closed up the streak of daylight that was between them. He was running strong and good; The Butterflies was wavering. He began to lap upon her, and the excitement was intense. Griffin fought like a young demon, and the wonderful courage of the filly alone staved off defeat. Brandywine managed to get his nose to her withers, but could get no further before the all-important line was crossed and the Futurity of 1894 went on record as having been won by The Butterflies by a neck from Brandywine. Agitator was third, two lengths away. A length and a half away came Connoisseur.

Closing Day at Saratoga.

Saratoga, Aug. 25.—In the Spencer handicap race to-day Victorious made the running clear of Yo Tambien around to the stretch turn, where the mare headed the Canadian. Martin was working like a Trojan on Lamplighter, and 100 yards out he was on even terms with the leaders. From that point to the wire there was a struggle worth going a distance to see, and with a last and mighty effort, Jordan fairly lifted the Western Queen in a winner by a head, with Lamplighter only a neck before Victorious, scarcely clear of J. P. B. The net value of the stake was $4100, and as Owner Smith had bet $2000 on his mare against $2600 the race was a profitable one for him. Summaries:

A New Pacing Record.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—The closing day of the Northwestern Breeders' meeting at Washington Park saw one world's record broken under conditions which were by no means favorable. Directly, the precocious 2-year-old son of Direct, paced a mile in the face of a cold, sharp breeze, in 2.10 3-4, beating the previous best mark, 2.11, made by Online, when the latter was a 2-year-old, and tying the best performance ever made by a trotter of that age. The pretty little black fellow was splendidly driven by Andy McDowell, and he covered the route without the sign of skip or break. The running horse joined him at the half, and raced in with the youngster. Summaries

OVER THE NETS.

Goodbody, the Irishman, Is in the Finals at Newport.

Newport, Aug. 24.—Hobart lost a splendid chance to reach the finals yesterday in the tennis tourney. He made a miserable failure after he had come twice within one point of the fifth set with Goodbody. The Irishman had everything his own way at first. After losing two sets, the New Yorker took advantage of a let down in speed on the part of his adversary to give a splendid exhibition of uphill work. He had tied the score and reached 5—2 in the last set, when the Irishman began to play ball for keeps. Though the New Yorker reached 5—4 and 40—15, he was unable to stop the rush and became rattled, losing the game by a double fault. The rest was easy for Goodbody. To-day the results were: Goodbody beat Read 3—6, 6—0, 6—0, 6—1; Larned beat Chace 6—4, 6—2, 8—6; Interscholastic finals—Parker and Columbia beat Thompson and Princeton 6-1, 6-2, 3-2; Taylor beat Stolle 8—6, 6—4; Bostwick beat Thomas 6—2, 6—1; Second round Reed beat Davison 6—6, 7—5, 6—4; E. Wrenn beat Codman 7—5, 6—0.

Cameron; Managing Committee, Messrs. Lister, Worsley, M. J. Murphy, F. McLennan and J. Munroe. Active work will be at once begun, and the team expects to be in tolerable shape for the fall matches.

SHAMROCKS ARE CHAMPIONS.

By 5 to 3 They Defeat the Capitals in the Game at Montreal — 14,000 Persons Watched the Contest—The Record.

	Won.	Lost.	To Play.
Shamrocks	6	0	2
Capitals	4	2	2
Montreals	3	2	3
Toronto	2*	3	3
Cornwall	0	8*	0

*Cornwall defaulted Saturday to Toronto.

The Shamrocks' victory Saturday finishes the Senior Lacrosse League struggle as far as the championship is concerned. They play Toronto and Montreal Sept. 8 and 22, and two defeats could not snatch the coveted title from the green-shirted gentlemen. The Capitals' downfall is explained by this despatch:

Montreal, Aug. 25.—The Shamrocks and Capitals met on the Shamrock grounds this afternoon and one of the most memorable contests in the history of the lacrosse field was the result. From 12,000 to 14,000 people must have been on the grounds. They were remarkably quiet and good natured—that is till the match began. After that they showed the old time enthusiasm of which they gave a sample or two when the two teams appeared on the grounds, and again when a Boston gentleman, Mr. Weiner, President of the South Boston lacrosse team presented Captain Polan with a giant floral horseshoe.

The beginning of the game was rather disappointing. For fully five minutes play was slow, painfully slow. Both teams seemed afraid to move. Slowly things began to improve and the game gradually became faster. Both teams seemed pretty evenly matched, but more particularly in the matter of defence. It was easily seen, however, that neither of them played its best. The Capitals got a little the best of it, however, and Carson scored the first game for them. Everything had changed in the second game. Play was as fast as could be desired, and with all, taking into consideration the importance of the game, was remarkably clean. The Shamrocks showed some of their old-time spirit. Wall and Dwyer both played brilliantly and it was due to Wall's careful throw that Tansey managed to finish the game in a little over two minutes.

Little time was lost in starting the third game, which was a chapter of accidents and fouls, filled out by fast and glorious play and commendable exhibition of firmness on the part of the referee. Early in the game Barney Quinn, the Capital big man, tripped over a stick and caused a delay by seriously hurting his collarbone. The Capitals were thus badly weakened, but they managed to make some determined attacks. On one occasion the Shamrocks had a narrow escape. Stinson was a little too far away from his goal, a habit which cost the Shamrocks the game in the end, and the ball came straight from the Ottawa stick against one of the goal posts. Fortunately for the Shamrocks it bounded back to the inside, and they were temporarily saved. The fouls also began early in the game, when Murray cross-checked Carson, and was retired. Hugh Carson, he of the tall body, and swift feet, lost his head for once in his life, and for the first time in his experience was ruled off. Tansey was hurt in the back, but he played to the end, when, after Murray had scored the second game for the Capitals, it was thought best to retire him. On the whole, the play was rather disappointing. The ball flew from end to end, but there was little team play worth remarking. With 11 men aside on, the fourth game was short and decisive and capital from beginning to end. When it was finished, the small Capital contingent was the only one that cheered.

There was a terrific noise by the Shamrocks and their friends when Tucker scored the next. It was a companion game to the previous one, and as green as the other was cardinal. The next game was hard play from the beginning, and Shamrock play, too. Danahar limped frightfully, and for a while was of little use, but Kelly, Hinton and Wall were wonderful, and all the Shamrock team played with them. The ball just danced from one stick to the other, and the Capitals barely got a chance to handle it. Finally it went over the fence, but the new, clean ball that took its place met the same fate. It absolutely shunned the men in red, and from Tucker's stick gracefully bobbed through.

The game lasted only 2 minutes and 28 seconds. Kelly in eight seconds is the most comprehensive description that can be given of the seventh game. He simply drew the ball on his stick, ran, threw to Danahar, and he scored.

The eighth game was a continuation of the tactics of the last one. Once Patterson saved his goal from the Capitals by getting his head cut in running against a Shamrock stick, which stopped the match. He recovered sufficiently, after Ottawa had a much needed rest, to play again, but the Capitals did not seem to be much more in it than before. There were only four minutes to play. The question simply was whether the score could be doubled or not, but the Capitals gave it up and the Shamrocks may be considered champions. The teams were:

Shamrocks (5): Goal, J. Stinson; point, T. Dwyer; cover, T. Moore; defence, T. Murray, T. O'Brien, A. Hinton; centre, R. Kelly; home, C. Neville, D. Danahar, M. J. Tansey; outside, R. Wall; inside, J. Tucker; captain, M. Polan.

FROM THE LOFTS.

Young Birds Fly From Trenton to Toronto in Bad Weather.

On Saturday afternoon the members of the Dominion Messenger Pigeon Association held their second race for young birds bred this year. The Toronto members entered 29 for the contest and Hamilton members three. The race was from Trenton for Toronto pigeons, a distance of 100 to 103 miles, according to locality of loft, while the Hamilton birds flew from Port Hope, almost the same distance. The weather was of the worst kind for pigeon-flying, and many fanciers were doubtful if any would get home at all, but in spite of the misty atmosphere most of the birds got there and made very fair time under the conditions. Out of an entry of 29 birds for Toronto members 24 were reported home inside the time limit, a much better showing than other races from the same place with old birds. The following is a list of the members of the Toronto branch, D. M. P. A., who entered the race with the place they occupied and the time of their first bird home:

	Miles	Hrs.	Min.
James Gairdner, jr.	100 1-2	3	14
William Taite	101	3	21
W. G. Giles	103	3	51
Mr. Varnell	101	3	55
J. Turvey	101	4	15
James Gairdner, sr.	102	3	58

J. Varey, no time taken.

The Queen City Contest.

The Queen City Homing Pigeon Club had a race from Colborne, distance 84 miles, Saturday with young birds, 38 in all, the Canadian express agent liberating them at 1 p. m. Mr. J. Gough's entry was the winner. The following are some of the first to arrive: J. Gough 3.19 1-2, H. Davis 3.20, J. Jennings 3.28 1-2, J. Davey 3.31, G. Atkins 3.32 1-2, J. Jessimane 3.39, R. Greenaway 3.39, W. Wallworth 3.40, J. Kerr 3.42 3-4, G. Jack 3.42 3-4, F. Lemon 3.44, J. Amsty 4.47. Next Saturday the club will have a race from Trenton, distance 101 miles, for a silver cup, to be won three consecutive years. It is expected this race will be a hotly contested one.

PATTERSON SURPASSES LYON.

The Philadelphia Cricketer Completes An Innings of 271—Wonderful Scoring.

Although Canadian cricketers have done some pretty good scoring lately in preparation for the big contest in Philadelphia, their opponents have surpassed them both individually and in general scoring. Remarkable as it may seem, the day that Captain Lyon tallied 238, George S. Patterson completed an innings of 271. In the past three weeks, says The Philadelphia Times, in view of the approaching visit of Lord Hawke, the recent performances of the Philadelphia batsmen seem almost too good. Three trial matches have so far been played between teams ostensibly of Gentlemen and Players, but the Players were on almost every occasion assisted by some of the amateurs. These three matches were played as follows: August 8 and 9, at Elmwood, Gentlemen, 326 and 197 for three wickets; Players, 319. Haverford, August 15 and 16, Gentlemen, 284; Players, 156 and 70 for 9 wickets. Elmwood, August 21 and 22, Gentlemen 689; the Players did not bat. The chief scorer for the Gentlemen was, it need not be said, G. S. Patterson, who in three innings in these matches scored respectively 113, 96 and 271. Adding to this the score of 179 not out, made at Manheim on Monday of this week against the K.I.B.A., we have the extraordinary total of 659 runs for three outs, or just under 220 to an innings. On three consecutive afternoons Mr. Patterson scored 450 runs for one out. A. M. Wood comes next as a heavy scorer, with three scores of 108, 77 not out and 79. Three other centuries have also been scored, all on the Elmwood grounds, as follows: W. W. Noble, 101; W. Brockie, 152, and E. W. Clark, Jr., 147. In the match on the 8th and 9th the two colts, who were assisting the Players, A. H. Brockie and D. H. Adams, made respectively 96 and 74. The nearness of the boundary to the leg and off on the Elmwood grounds, of course, accounts in part for this terrific batting, but it is chiefly due to the excellence of the wicket, which is now probably unsurpassed anywhere. How true it is may be seen from the fact that against first-class bowling on both sides there have been secured within the last three weeks on that ground no less than 1531 runs for 33 wickets, an average of nearly 47 runs to the wicket. It is to be hoped that this rate of scoring will continue against our English visitors.

Rosedale and Toronto Draw.

The Toronto Club cricketers were late in reaching Rosedale Saturday and the result of the match was a draw. Lyon hit up 23 in quick order. Howard and Petman made a splendid stand, the former contributing 72 and the latter 37. A. F. R. Martin and Goldingham went in first for Toronto and put together 75 between them before the former was bowled. The score:

Rosedale (173): Forrester, c Tewsmith, b Laing, 0; Clement, c Hall, b Laing, 9; Lyall, b Laing, 10; Bond, b Jones, 0; Lyon, b Goldingham, 23; Howard, not out, 72; Martin, c Brewer, b Laing, 0; Webster, b Laing, 0; Petman, c and b A. Martin, 37; Hoskin, b Laing, 0; Ledger, c Jones, b Laing, 4. Extras 8. Total.

Toronto (75 for one wicket): Martin, c Hoskin, b Forrester, 27; Goldingham, not out, 46; Jones, Eyker, Laing, Tewsmith, Johnston, Brewer, Loosmore, Hall, Duncan to bat. Extras 2.

Scarboro Defeats the Orients.

Scarboro and East Toronto cricketers played on the Baseball grounds Saturday. The score:

Scarboro' (45 and 58 for 4 wickets): J. Baird, run out, 8, not out 22; Scuyler, b Holmes 0; Brown, b Holmes 0, run out 0; R. Callander, b Asson 9, b Smith 13; Oldfield, b Smith 3, b Jordan 8; Baldwin, c Smith, b Holmes 4, not out 0; Sparks, b Smith 3; A. Baird, b Smith 0; Kerr, lv stumped the men in red, and from Tucker's stick gracefully bobbed through.

The game lasted only 2 minutes and 28 seconds. Kelly in eight seconds is the most comprehensive description that can be given of the seventh game. He simply drew the ball on his stick, ran, threw to Danahar, and he scored.

The eighth game was a continuation of the tactics of the last one. Once Patterson saved his goal from the Capitals by getting his head cut in running against a Shamrock stick, which stopped the match. He recovered sufficiently, after Ottawa had a much needed rest, to play again, but the Capitals did not seem to be much more in it than before. There were only four minutes to play. The question simply was whether the score could be doubled or not, but the Capitals gave it up and the Shamrocks may be considered champions. The teams were:

Shamrocks (5): Goal, J. Stinson; point, T. Dwyer; cover, T. Moore; defence, T. Murray, T. O'Brien, A. Hinton; centre, R. Kelly; home, C. Neville, D. Danahar, M. J. Tansey; outside, R. Wall; inside, J. Tucker; captain, M. Polan.

Capitals (3): Goal, Crown; point, Patterson; cover, Quinn; defence, Devine, H. Carson, James; centre, G. Carson; home, Carlton, Smith, Lacey; outside, Murphy; inside, Ketchum; captain, Bissonette.

Referee, H. Brophy; umpires, Fred. Larmonth, Ed. Sheppard.

CLARENCE EUSON WINS

The International Canoe Cup Contest In a Fog.

The Toronto Canoe Club's international paddling trophy race was paddled Saturday afternoon, the weather being all that could be desired. When the start was made the wind was blowing somewhat fresh from the southwest, but dropped almost immediately. The smoky atmosphere, which did duty for fog made it impossible to see the race from the clubhouse for more than half the distance.

The course was one mile straight away, starting between the piers of the Queen's wharf to a buoy anchored off the club house. A perfect start was effected at 3.45, with R. O. King of Toronto inside, Clarence Euson, Springfield, Mass., next and H. R. Tilley, Toronto, outside. Tilley lead for the first furlong, when King and Euson pulled up, King being slightly in the lead. All were paddling in fine form and fast. About this time Tilley thought to improve matters by taking the standing position and fell out of his boat, and was therefore out of the race. At the waterworks Euson had gained almost two lengths on King, which the latter managed to reduce to one length at the R.C.Y.C., but the race was over, Euson finishing a good length in advance of King. Time 8.45 1-5.

Euson is the winner of the A.C.A. paddling trophy for this year, and it was generally conceded that he would win, although King, a new man, gave him a good race.

Col. J. Rogers of Peterboro was judge at finish, George Wilkie referee, George Sparrow starter, T. D. Ellis and A. Shaw timekeepers.
