Important Notice.

We enclose in this issue a bill for the amount due from those of our subscribers who are 12 months or more in arrears to the Reporter. At the very low price of $1 per year the subscription should be paid in advance, and if we are generous enough to grant time and then not enforce the extra 25 cents a year to delinquents, it is not because we have not a just and legal right to do so. We believe, in most of cases, that is more a matter of carelessness than anything else that makes a subscriber neglect to pay promptly for his papers. Over $1000 is due us for subscription alone, and while we have been lenient and not pressed for payment, our own bills for paper, help and other expenses have to be met promptly, and we cannot longer allow those subscribers to neglect to settle. The amount due from each is small while the aggregate to us is large, and we hope for a prompt and cheerful response to our appeal. All subscriptions have been computed at $1.00 per year, but all who neglect to avail themselves of this offer, will have to pay at the rate of $1.25 per year, if not settled before the 15th of April.

LOCAL SUMMARY.

ATHENS AND NEIGHBORING LOCALITIES BRIEFLY WRITTEN UP.

Events as Seen by Our Knight of the Pencil.—Local Announcements Boiled Right Down.

Arnold's for wall paper, and no mistake.

W. H. Comstock, of Brockville, was in Athens on Friday last.

Grass, Clover, and Garden Seeds—at Mott & Robeson's.

Baggage on the B. & W. is now checked, same as on other lines.

An agricultural correspondent of the Standard wants a cheese board established at Newboro.

All kinds of Garden and Field Seeds at Thompson's.

The Easter holidays in the high school will extend from the 14th to the 24th.

Over one hundred patterns in wall paper, with borders to match. See them at Arnold's.

The bottom has dropped out of the egg market, but the hens don't appear to realize the fact.

Be fair with yourself and save your money by buying goods at Thompson's.

Mr. Raney Loucks, who had been living in Smith's Falls during the past year, has moved back to Frankville.

If you are not already our customer for Tea, try one pound. Our sales on Saturday were over three chests.—Jas. Thompson.

Herb Sharman is teaching school at Forfar in place of Mr. Watson, who has been ill for several weeks.

Five thousand rolls new wall paper, bought at a great slaughter sale and selling at less than wholesale price, at H. H. Arnold's.

The Myrtle Mission Band meets in the lecture room of the Methodist church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

For men's, boys' and youths' ready-made clothing, go to Williams & McLaughlin. All new goods, just received, prices right.

Mrs. F. F. Bristow has removed her millinery establishment to Main street, one door west of Phil Wiltse & Co's store. Read adv't in next issue.

If you require a nobby spring hat or cap, call on Williams & McLaughlin. Largest assortment in town—prices to suit purchaser.

Don't forget that A. James has a first class horse shoer and will give you a first class job at the following prices for cash: Setting shoes, 10c; new shoes, 20c.

A man writing from Brandon, Man., to the Reporter this week contradicts in very strong terms the statements made by John Frost, in his letter published a few weeks ago, regarding the success he had achieved in that country.

Rev. Wm. Wright, rector of Christ church, was on Friday last called to attend at the sick bed of his brother, who resides at La Chute; consequently, there was no service in the church on Sabbath. At latest accounts his brother was no better.

The funeral of Edward J. Davis, who resided on town line of Yonge and Bastard, was held in Christ Church, Athens, on Sunday last, and was very largely attended. Service was conducted by Rev. Wm. Moore, Lyndhurst.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that terrible disease Consumption. Ask yourself if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails.

Mr. Sala Blancher has been quite ill during the past week.

Mr. G. W. Beach, who was injured by a firkin of butter falling on his leg, is again able to attend to business.

The assessor, Mr. A. Blanchard, is once more abroad with his roll. Do not seek to hide your worldly wealth under a bushel.

A Chamber Set worth $16 will be given to the person guessing the nearest to the number of seeds in a squash now on exhibition at T store. Every purchase of one pound of T or coffee entitles the purchaser to one guess. —T. W. Dennis, Brockville.

A party of young people from Athens and Delta enjoyed a pleasant evening at the residence of J. Barlow, Delta, last week. The character of the roads conferred upon the Athens party the inestimable boon of seeing the sun rise, and an impromptu upset added the spice of variety to the pleasure of the drive home, leaving nothing to be desired.

The catalogue of new books in the Mech. Inst. library will be printed this week. The volumes just added embrace many fine works, a number of which are religious stories of a high class, with morals strongly drawn. The library, under Mr. Sharman's superintendence, is being well patronized and is no doubt doing a great deal of good to the community.

In order to cure a cow from kicking scratch her a while, speak low as if you wanted her vote and influence at the polls. By-and bye she will chew her cud, and then you can milk her. Soon she will look for your coming, set her foot back and enjoy milking. The other way is to give her a kick the first thing, then to tell her to "stand around you old rip!" Then yell, "so there!" Then when she kicks—as she should—take the stool and pound her, using expletives. You will get little milk, but as Bunyan expressed it, you will gratify your doggish nature.

It is now pretty well understood to be a dangerous practice to attempt to palm off worthless imitations of the "Myrtle Navy" tobacco for the genuine article. In former years that practice was the cause of much annoyance, and Messrs. Tuckett & Son were compelled to resort to the law courts to put a stop to it. Though we have not met with any cases of the kind lately, it is always a safe precaution for the purchaser to see that the trade mark T. & B. in bronze letters is stamped upon each plug; no plug ever leaves the factory without it, and to appropriate the trade mark is a punishable offence.

Last week a horse in the stable of Gillies' shanty on the Bonnechere, put up its foot to scratch its ear when the foot caught in the choker of its halter. The horse fell and in its struggles backed into the stall opposite its own. One of the horses in this stall was thrown by the struggling animal and falling broke its neck, its mate being thrown by the two dying animals in their struggles into the manager, falling upon its side. When the teamsters went out they found the two horses dead. The horse in the manager was released from its position bruised but not badly injured.

Sixteen young men of Guelph were summoned before the police magistrate the other day for attending a raffle. One of the number was arraigned on two charges, viz., that of selling tickets and of throwing dice for tickets for a raffle for a gun. He was fined $2 and costs on each charge.

Death of Nettie Judd.

This (Tuesday) morning a telegram from Rev. T. C. Buchanan, of Crystal City, Man., to Isaac C. Alguire conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of Miss Nettie Judd, the evangelist, which sad event occurred at that place on Monday. Deceased was well known in this place, and her many friends in Eastern Ontario will be pained to learn of her sudden demise. She was a sister of Mrs. Buchanan, with whom she was living, and of Mrs. I. C. Alguire of Athens. Her parents reside near Mallorytown, and her remains are expected to reach that place on Monday next.

Opposed to Decorations.

A Selby correspondent writing to the Whig on the 16th inst., says: Rev. R. C. Horner has taken his departure, after over four weeks of successful labor. Mr. Horner has, during his stay, endeared himself to many. He is a man of strong convictions and his disapproval of that which he believes to be wrong is expressed in vigorous language. His ministrations were attended with great power. He, however, possesses a few crochets which he insists upon mixing with things spiritual to the confusion of many sincere persons. The sight of a feather on a lady's hat, though ever so modestly adjusted, or the sparkling of the most unpretentious jet, seems to stir his righteous soul into wondrous activity, and all eloquence is poured upon those articles of attire.

A Double Fire.

During the forenoon of Sunday last fire was discovered in the roof of the dwelling house on the Mallory farm, two miles east of Athens, owned and occupied by Mr. Woofe, a Prince Edward County farmer who, with his family, had been in possession of the property only a few weeks. All efforts to stay the progress of the flames were unavailing and attention was directed to saving the household effects. In this the family were unaided, as all the men of the immediate neighborhood were at church. They succeeded in saving nearly everything on the first flat, but their bedding, clothing and furniture upstairs, and their provisions, including two barrels of flour, a lot of canned fruit, and their stock of potatoes, which were in the cellar, were all destroyed. A high north-east wind prevailed and by it a spark was lodged in the roof of the brick school house (S. S. No. 7), and in a short time it also was consumed, only the walls being left standing. The men who had gathered succeeded in saving all the desks, maps, etc., of the school, also the doors and windows, and prevented the fire from spreading to the adjacent wood-shed.

Mr. Woofe, we believe, has no insurance, and his loss will be severely felt.

The school board of the section had the school insured for $700 in the London & Lancashire, which amount will cover all loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lee, of Hampton, Virginia, visited Mrs. Redmond, Athens, last week. Mr. Lee has returned to Virginia, but Mrs. Lee, who is a native of California, will remain to watch the budding of a Canadian spring.

Mr. Otis F. Bullis, who has been ill with a bronchial affection for some time past, is now about well, and having received an order from his Boston friend, Mr. Percival, for a few good horses, will be glad to hear of such at any time.

In the Presbyterian church next Sabbath service will be held in the morning at 10.30 o'clock when the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be dispensed. Preparatory communion service will be held on Thursday evening.

W. H. McLaughlin has purchased the barber business formerly carried on by Chas. Munro at the Armstrong House and has moved his shop to the old stand in the sample room of that hotel. Having an entrance on Main street the stand is convenient and should draw trade.

A leap year sugar party will be held in the Baptist church on Monday evening, April 4th, at 8 p.m. A good program will be presented. The leap year character of the entertainment will be developed when the sugar is served, at the close of the program. Tickets, 15c.

Sherman's Mills Burned.

The carriage and bent-stuff works and large blacksmith shop of Wm. Sherman at Lombardy were destroyed by fire on Monday night of last week. Everything was destroyed, though fortunately a part of the plant had been removed to the new building here. The origin of the fire is unknown. There was an insurance of only $800.

Obit.

Fred Rowsom aged 25 years died at the residence of his father, between Athens and Addison, on March 5th. Deceased was stricken down about a year ago with that dread disease consumption, and although he had the best of care and medical skill, they all proved unavailing and he gradually succumbed to the disease. He was a very exemplary young man, and his funeral which took place at the Anglican church, Athens, was very largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. Wm. Wright.

Our Local Fisheries

The bull-pout industry of the back lakes is more important than is generally supposed. Last week ten barrels of these fish, dressed ready for the pan, were shipped from Athens station to the Lake Ontario Fish Co., Kingston. They were taken in the upper Delta lake by W. Sexton, who has established quite a business in this line. From two to three barrels a week are dressed and shipped from Newboro, being caught in the adjacent lakes.

To Correspondents.

Some time ago we gave space to an article advocating Holiness as a blessing separate and distinct from that received at conversion. This was followed by a long letter on the line of what was assumed to be orthodox Methodist. Then the way of salvation as followed by the English church was given, and this week we publish a mild criticism of one of these letters. The Reporter will not be made a medium of doctrinal controversy; but assuming that the question of salvation is always a live one, and because we have opened our columns to a consideration of the question, we will publish, if desired, short letters from other religious denominations, and having done that much the matter must end there, so far as the Reporter is concerned.

From the St. Lawrence.

We were favored with a pleasant call on Saturday last from Mr. Henry Hunt, a resident of Hill (formerly La Rue's) Island, on the St. Lawrence. Apart from his vocation of farming he is like most island farmers, interested in to a considerable extent in the tourists that annually make the Thousand Islands a play-ground during the heated term. He strongly condemns the policy of the Canadian government in refraining from selling the islands on our side of the river to the Americans. From a residence of forty-five years on the river he has a good idea of the amount of money the Americans spend in improving their summer retreats, and in securing for themselves comfort and enjoyment; and from this knowledge he argues that if the Americans were allowed to purchase our islands, a great benefit would accrue to all interested in the tourist traffic.

Some years ago Mr. Hunt went into bee-keeping in a small way, but was, comparatively speaking, working in the dark, until he received a visit from Mr. W. S. Hough, the well-known bee expert. From that time his apiary has grown and prospered, and the occasion of his visit to Athens last week was to obtain some of Hough's Langstrath hives in which to house the swarms to be thrown off this coming season, and also to obtain his advice as to the bringing out of his bees from their winter quarters.

Reduction of County Councillors.

On Monday Mr. Hardy introduced a bill in the Legislature to reduce the number of County Councillors. The chief features of the bill as explained by the Commissioner of Crown Lands, require that the county clerk shall at the next municipal election, submit to the electors the question whether or not they desire to have the act which will pass this session become law, and have their county council reduced. Then in every county where the electors so decide the Act shall come in force, and not in those where the people vote against it. In counties where there are only fifteen councillors or less the clerk shall not submit the question to the electors, except by the consent of the councillors, but in counties where the number of councillors exceed fifteen, the clerk will submit the question to the people without the consent of the council.

According to the provisions of this bill counties not containing more than 40,000 inhabitants, shall have seven county councillors; more than 40,000 and less than 60,000, nine councillors and over 60,000, eleven councillors, which shall be the maximum number. Cities or towns, separated from the county, are not to be included in the county. None of the members of the county council shall be allowed to hold office in the township council.

NEWBORO'S NOVELTY.

How Prostrations are Effected and Condition of the Prostrated—Tragic Death of a Kingston Man.

Doubts having been expressed in certain quarters as to the veracity of a Reporter correspondent in delineating the character of a series of meetings now being held in the town hall, Newboro, a representative of this paper visited that village last week on a tour of investigation. He found that the facts in every way bear out the account given in the last issue of the Reporter.

Newboro has a neat, clean hall, seated with chairs, and on Thursday evening last nearly every chair was occupied, not by the elite of the town apparently, but principally by a class of young men from the surrounding country, who were there to witness anything new and novel that might develop during the course of the evening. The women and girls present were few in number and sat in a bunch near the platform. A number of songs with swinging choruses were rendered very inharmoniously and with an immense volume of sound, the latter characteristic being due chiefly to a robustious fellow, who had a voice like a caliope. The meeting was then harrangued for about twenty minutes by a tall man, who had piercing black eyes and an uncontrollable weakness in his legs. The latter peculiarity was painfully manifest during his speech, but was regarded with special favor by his friends, being taken as an evidence that the "power" was operating. His strident tones grew louder and his declamation fiercer as he neared the close, until he had worked himself into a perfect fervor.

On concluding his address, and after the singing of a song, he said that they were about to engage in prayer, and that the "boys" must kneel or keep their seats—no standing up would be allowed. Meantime, evidence of the "power" was not wanting. A girl of about seventeen, who sat near the Reporter, was apparently afflicted with a bad attack of hiccoughs, that shook her whole body. She was well known to the people present, and when she moved forward to the platform, their faces wore a look of expectancy. And not without reason. For about ten minutes she trembled and shook, occasionally throwing her head back with a convulsive snap, and all the time wearing a meaningless, idiotic smile. Finally, she flopped backwards, her head striking a chair, and lay on the floor perfectly quiet. During this time the others at the altar, nearly all of whom were women and girls, sent up a perfect babel of supplications for the "power," which were varied by shrill squeals from the Blair settlement girl. Squealing is her specialty, and she does it well. Many of the others were jerking and snapping their heads, hands and bodies, but she was the only one who squealed.

With a view to obtaining better order, one of the leaders said that while in Kingston the other day a person was prostrated and a young man laughed. On leaving the church the young man dropped dead!

When the first prostration occurred the tall man sprang to his feet and called upon the Almighty to "shove down the power." A grand chorus of "shove it down," was the response, and then ensued a lively and loud ten minutes, groans, squeals, and loud-voiced supplications were intermingled in awful discord, until physical exhaustion forced a cessation.

The Reporter was assured that Thursday was not a good night to witness the performance, that he should be there when the New Boyne contingent were in attendance, when prostrations were frequent and the "power" was really "shoved up."

Much of the prestige enjoyed by these meetings was lost when it became known that Rev. Mr. Weeks, of Brockville, had removed Rose, the prophetess, back to the Home in Brockville. She was their best drawing-card. She could be relied upon to prostrate every night and in addition had the gift of prophecy. The modus operandi followed in consulting the oracle was this: Rose, having been prostrated, remained for a time unconscious and then came back to the clairvoyant state of semi-sensibility. The honest enquirer who wished to dip into the future would then take her hand and through her manager ask any question regarding his own or a friend's earthly or eternal welfare, when Rose would immediately give the required information. By this means it was found that many reputed good men (who didn't like Rose or her manager) were on their way to eternal perdition, which was a very convenient way of answering arguments or charges. It was such actions that raised the feeling of hostility against them in Newboro and resulted in the breaking of the hall windows last week. A file thrown through the window narrowly escaped a man's head.

The condition of a person while in a state of prostration or collapse has been much discussed. Those who ought best to know declare it to be a state of utter insensibility. Others, with some show of reason, claim the contrary; that they are keenly susceptible to outward impressions. Their reason for this belief is based on the following: A couple of youths, desiring to test the insensibility theory placed pins so that they would protrude beyond the toe of their rubbers, and with these they prodded the prostrate ones, the result being a lively scramble from the puncturing points.

It is rumored that the village council purpose taking steps to prevent a continuance of these meetings, acting in accordance with the views of a large majority of the better class of citizens.

An absent-minded Toronto woman in her hurry to start for church took from a closet a pair of her husband's trousers for her dolman, threw them over her arm, and did not discover her mistake until she had thrown them over the back of her pew in front of her.

A lady's solid gold watch, valued of $30, will be given to the person guessing nearest to the number of beans in a glass jar now on exhibition in our show case. This jar was filled and sealed by Isaac C. Alguire, who will form one of the committee to break the seal and count the beans on the 1st day of May, 1892. Any person buying goods to the value of $1 at our store will have an opportunity of guessing for every dollars worth purchased.—Phil Wiltse & Co.

Going West!

The undersigned having decided to go West, will offer their large and complete stock of goods at a bargain over the counter. This stock of will be cleared out by the 1st Sept. Please do not ask to have goods charged, as we wish to get our book accounts settled as soon as possible. This will be a good opportunity for parties in need of goods to save money by buying of us, as we have all our new spring stock on hand.

☞ Store to rent. Possession given about 1st Sept.

Phil. Wiltse & Co.

Many of our citizens were inclined to regard lightly the proposal on the part of the B. & W. to run a line from Athens to Perth, as stated in the Reporter last summer. But application has been made to the Ontario Legislature for power to make this change in their route, and last week the following delegation went to Toronto to oppose the change:—Rev. P. A. Twohy, W. H. Fredenburg, W. J. Webster, Westport; John Paul, L. S. Lewis, Newboro; J. E. Brown, F. S. Harrison, Bastard; A. Gray, R. Brown, J. F. Earl, South Crosby; James Berney, R. Green, Rear Leeds and Lansdowne.

BIRTHS.
