AT NORDHEIMER HALL

Local Vocalists Please Large Audience —Piano-Player's Qualities.

A large number of music-lovers gathered in Nordheimer Hall last evening to see a demonstration of the qualities of the Chase & Baker piano-player, given by Mr. Richardson, of Buffalo. A difficult programme was played by the instrument in a way that showed its excellence and delighted its listeners. The new instrument, as Mr. Richardson showed, did away with the toilsome methods of manipulation employed in the past.

The Misses Edna Mortimore and Pauline Mowat contributed very delightful vocal selections. Miss Mortimore has a pure soprano voice, of remarkable beauty of tone, and she uses it to the very best advantage. She was heartily applauded, and rendered an encore. Miss Mowat's singing was charming, and she was also encored by the audience. Mr. Charles E. Wheeler was accompanist.

The programme played by the Chase & Baker instrument was: "Arabesques" (Strauss-Schulz-Eveler); valse (Chopin); "Last Hope" (Gottschalk); "Fantaise on English Airs" (Hoper); "Kermesse" (Gounod-Saint-Saens); "Erl King" (Schubert-Liszt).

Miss Mortimore sang "Life's Lullaby" (Lane) and "Sweet Lavender (German); and Miss Mowat rendered "Within Your Heart" (Trotere), and Lohr's "Irish Love Song."

"Having been troubled for over a year with my Kidneys and also suffering from rheumatism, my daughter, seeing your Smith's Buchu Lithia Pills advertised, bought a box, and I used them to my entire satisfaction, as I have not that throbbing sensation in my back, from which I suffered so long. They are all that you advertised them to be. I have now started to use the second box, and would highly recommend them to any person troubled as I was. My age is 86 years old."

RUSS TROOPS ON INDIAN FRONTIER

Czar's Armies in Central Asia Greatly Strengthened.

A COUNTER MOVE TO BRITAIN

Growing Influence of Latter in Tibet and Afghanistan Cause of the Movement.

St. Petersburg, March 9, 11:55 p.m. — Russia is steadily reinforcing her military strength, both in men and guns, in the direction of the Indian frontier. Sensational rumors of the dispatch of reinforcements for Russian Turkestan were current two months ago, but they were then denied. The Associated Press is now in a position to affirm their truth on the authority of a traveler of unimpeachable veracity, who has just arrived from Tashkend, and who was a personal witness of military activity on the recently-completed Orrensburg-Tashkend and other strategic railroads through Merv to Krasnovodsk. Troops, guns and munitions of war have been moving southward for two months. Between the middle of January and the middle of February 76 military trains, mostly carrying artillery, arrived at Tashkend. The guns were mostly sent from Merv, from whence a purely military railway line goes to Kursk. The traveler in question was informed, although he had no personal knowledge on the point, that Russian troops had crossed the Pamirs through Terek Pass and garrisoned Kashgar. The Orrensburg-Tashkend end of the railway was so crowded that the traveler was forced to return by way of Krasnovodsk. The Associated Press informant states that the greatest secrecy is observed.

Travelers, who are rare, must be provided with special permits from the Minister of War, and are kept under the closest surveillance. The baggage of this travelers twice was seized and searched, although his papers were regular. It is most significant that local officials have been ordered not to permit Englishmen to travel in Russian Turkestan, and the steamship captains on the Caspian Sea have been forbidden to allow Englishmen to land on the eastern shore. At Krasnovodsk, the informant of the Associated Press was told that two English officers, who were traveling in disguise, are languishing in prison. Speaking generally, the Associated Press informant said that the greatest tranquility prevailed in the Turkestan region. At Bokhara there were only vague rumors that a war was in progress, and absolutely nothing was known regarding political developments in European Russia. The only explanation of the renewal of Russia's military activity there is that it possibly is a demonstration to impress Afghanistan.

The Associated Press is unable to obtain any official admission that an unusual military movement is in progress, the statement being made that if the guns were going south it was simply an ordinary operation in the way of shifting troops; but a Russian of high position made the following statement:

"Russia has not any designs on India, as England is so fond of alleging. If Great Britain would only let us alone, we would not trouble her; but we are not blind to the manner in which Great Britain has seized the occasion of the present war to buttress all her interests in Central Asia, where we have as vital interests as she; nor can we Russians get over the idea that sooner or later a conflict with our traditional enemy is inevitable, and we realize that our only path to victory lies in the direction of India. Without going back to Lord Curzon's bombastic proclamation or anything prior to the war, and omitting consideration of the manner in which she has sought to embarrass and discredit us in its prosecution, we recall what Great Britain has done in Asia since the outbreak of hostilities, and ask whether Russia would not be justified in making a counter-move to Younghusband's expedition to Tibet, which was in direct violation of Great Britain's solemn assurances to us. Younghusband, you will remember, negotiated a treaty which so closely approached a protectorate over Tibet that the British Government was obliged to administer a public rebuke to him. Then Lord Kitchener's scheme for the reorganization of the Indian army blossomed, and a so-called commercial expedition was sent to Persia. The son of the Ameer of Afghanistan was brought to Bombay. Then pressure was put upon Turkey to settle the Aden hinterland question, and now there is the project of autonomous Arabia. Great Britain has been making hay while the sun shone. But Russia cannot hold her hand and see Tibet and Afghanistan converted into Bhutans or Nepauls, nor Persia placed completely under British influence. I have no personal knowledge of what, if any, steps have been taken in Turkestan, but Great Britain will find Russia is not so engrossed or helpless as to be obliged to relinquish border states to her mercy without a struggle."
