THE MONEY MARKET.

Money was easy to-day, with call loans quoted at 6 per cent. In the majority of cases. Commercial paper is unchanged at 6 and 7 per cent. and real estate loans at 5½ and 6½ per cent.

Concerning the money situation in New York The Wall-street News takes the following apprehensive view:

"There is no special anxiety felt apparently regarding the immediate future of the money market, but it cannot be said that there is a feeling of ease or comfort. There are no serious apprehensions of any sudden stringency, but borrowers have pretty well made up their minds to a steady and rather firm market for the rest of the year, though likely to be higher than lower in case of any disturbance. It is quite apparent that we cannot possibly expect any imports of gold as long as the Bank of England and the Bank of France can possibly prevent it. The passage of the McKinley bill also leads to some little discrimination against the United States, and will induce foreign manufacturers and bankers to avoid purchases in this country as much as possible. Every year the return of currency to this centre seems to begin later and later. It is easy enough for people who never can see anything except on one side, to persuade themselves that the Government will once more come to the rescue if necessary; but it must be remembered that resources of the Government, though by no means exhausted, have been more heavily drawn upon this fall than ever before at this time of the year. It will be well, therefore, in looking at the market to consider the money question thoughtfully."
