The Intercolonial Railway.

The World has pointed out that there is likelihood of an effort being made to have the Intercolonial Railway turned over to the C.P.R. From what we can gather this would be opposed by a large section of the maritime people who think that as long as the Intercolonial is maintained as a national road it will be a check on the C.P.R. and the other lines in the Maritime Provinces. If that is the case, then there is only one thing for the maritime people to do, and that is to say to the Government: "We abandon all pretentions of political influence interfering with the management of the road; we are willing that it be placed in the hands of a Government manager, who will be independent of all control save that of the Minister of Railways, and that the Minister himself will be quite independent of the importunities of members who wish privileges for friends and appointments for supporters." That is what is the real trouble with the Intercolonial. Mr. Haggart has made a wonderful change in its condition in a very short time, reducing the deficit by a very large sum, and we have no doubt but that he could make still more reductions in the expense without at all interfering with the efficiency of the road were he to have a free hand. And if Mr. Haggart, after his experience, were able to tell Parliament that the road could be run without a deficit and free of political interference, it is quite likely that Parliament would decide to maintain the road as a national highway, and not let it pass into the hands of the powerful Canadian Pacific. The Maritime people have the matter in their own hands.

Another Mine Horror.

Another of those mining horrors, so often narrated and so harrowing to read, has occurred, this time in Glamorganshire. Most of these appalling disasters arise either from fire-damp or from choke-damp—fire-damp kindling into the flame of candles and lamps and burning up everything and everybody; or choke damp stifling the poor miners with carbonic acid.

The holding of an inquest and subscribing funds for the relief of bereaved widows and children generally ends the affair.

But the experience of the rescuers in this case provides a useful lesson, showing as it did pretty clearly that it is never safe to conclude that the poor fellows imprisoned deep down in the mines are dead until their bodies are recovered.

All Friday night long the volunteer rescuing parties kept up their work at the Park slip pit, the scene of the disastrous explosion at Bridgend; in the morning they had penetrated 900 yards into the main shaft. In all this distance not a sign of life was discovered, but here and there the body of a miner was found. About noon, however, a sound was heard. Eagerly listening, the rescurers realized that somebody behind the fallen rock and earth was alive. With a hearty cheer in response, the men worked with renewed energy. In a short time there was a scene of the wildest excitement about the pit mouth. Women and children hurried to the pit to learn if the new was true. Below the sturdy rescurers continued their difficult task. Slowly they dug their way forward. Creeping and sometimes lying flat on their stomachs, they advanced, while those behind kept the tunnel clear. For many yards they thus dug forward. At last the separating bank of rock and earth fell inward and the rescurers entered an open space in which were huddled together 49 of the miners who had been imprisoned for over 24 hours. The grimy, toil-hardened miners cried like children when their rescuers spoke to them. Most of the miners had been badly injured and burned.

Remove the Verandahs.

"Why don't you get rid of the touch of the back woods" is the criticism many of the tourists from the other side indulge in referring to the vulgar signs and verandahs which render Yonge-street hideous. "You have pretentious shop-fronts and buildings that are almost palatial, but these make the city like a decorated savage, whose trinkets and gay feathers only make the untidiness of his person all the more apparent."

The criticism may be harsh, but it is in the main true. It is singular that these evidences of heedless slovenliness should have been allowed to exist so long. The verandah should go.

A Necessary Study.

We hope that hereafter our universities and our law schools will give more attention to international law and constitutional history. For some years now we have had in our provincial university a department of political science and we would just like to know how many of the students who have taken honors in that department are able to sit down and prepare a comprehensive monograph detailing the various treaty obligations entered into between Canada and the United States. To discuss the situation between the two countries intelligently in the present crisis one ought to know the facts of every obligation by which we are bound to the States and the facts of every obligation by which the United States is bound to us. Men who are really posted on this subject would be of invaluable benefit to this country just now. Their intimate knowledge of the facts would enable them to lead and guide public opinion and to be a check on a lot of the wild talk we hear these days. Henceforth international politics are bound to play a big part on this Continent, and the nation which has the best trained and best informed publics will not come out second best in the questions which arise for settlement. Our law schools and our universities may find food for reflection in this matter, and an opportunity of rendering valuable aid to the country of which they boast to be the chief centres of learning.

We were reading the other day the testimonials of one of our graduates, who was applying for a position in connection with the University, in which he said he had been working up a special paper on certain features of Wat Tyler's rebellion. That may be all very well in its way, but we want our students in political science and history to be able in the first place to expound the constitution, the treaties and the international interests of our own country first and foremost.

Well Done! Mrs. Ball.

A burglar entered the residence of a Woodstock barrister, Alfred S. Ball, at an early hour Saturday morning and came face to face with the lawyer, who was reading in the dining room. The burglar opened fire, two bullets striking Ball on the top of the head and on the arm. Mrs. Ball hearing the disturbance came to her husband's assistance, knocked the burglar senseless and afterwards tied him up and telephoned for the police.

The despatch adds that the burglar is now in jail. He probably has arrived at the conclusion that burglary is a too dangerous and unsuccessful proceeding to be popular or profitable in Woodstock, and he will likely abandon that occupation for a more honest means of obtaining a livelihood.

Mrs. Ball has done the community at large a benefit in capturing this fellow, whilst those who allow their houses to be robbed with impunity jeopardize their neighbors' property.

The Texas fly, which attacks the horns of cattle, seems to be going all over the country. An exchange says the best remedy is a mixture of tar and tanner's oil, rubbed on the parts most affected by the pest. A better remedy would be to remove the horns.

Not a Friendly Attitude.

From our perusal of the American press and the speeches of some of their public men since the proclamation of the President imposing tolls on the Canadian vessels passing through the Soo Canal we have made up our minds that the attitude of the great bulk of Americans toward Canada is, to put it in the mildest shape, unfriendly. They declare that Canada exists by reason of favors granted to her by them; that we have been ungrateful in our appreciation of these favors; that they could by denial of these so-called favors strike a blow at Canada's very existence; and that in all they say and write on the matter not one of their public men or one of their newspapers shows the least appreciation or recognition of the favors conceded to the United States by this country. They do not admit liability to us, but speak of Canada and Canadians as a sort of poor neighbor, living on their bounty. This may be unpleasant information to Canadians, but it constitutes the hard facts of the case and shows the necessity there is for Canada and Canadians becoming entirely independent of the United States. We must have our own trade channels, our own seaports and our own canals, and we must insist on the Americans respecting our fishery laws and our fishery waters and all the international obligations by which they are bound to us. But the fewer obligations we enter into with them the better for ourselves, for our experiences of them is that they are not a friendly nor a treaty-respecting people.

Mr. Pandeli Ralli, the rich Greek merchant who was defeated by Right Hon. John Morley when he ran for re-election in Newcastle-on-Tyne Thursday, was until recently chiefly noted for the profusion of his charitable contributions and big dinners and dances in Gateshead, and also for his invention of a small two-wheel pony cart, which came to be known of the Ralli car. It was very popular in England two or three years ago, but like its inventor, it has gone out of vogue. The gentleman from the Levantine has not found Newcastle a more profitable field for his cash.

Horses and Trolley Cars.

People who have horses to drive cannot be too careful in avoiding the streets used by the trolley cars, and especially when the system is being introduced and the roadbeds are torn up and everything is out of kilter. Your own horse may be quite familiar with the trolley car and not at all disposed to take fright at it, but that is not the danger. Your danger is from someone else's horse, which is not accustomed to the trolley cars, running into you. Wheel traffic will for some time be compelled to seek thoroughfares other than those on which the trolley cars run, and it is a fortunate thing for Toronto that we have such relieving streets.

The growth in the California beet-sugar industry this year has been enormous. Over 2,250,000 pounds of sugar have been produced at the Chino factory in San Bernardino from this year's crop. Four thousand acres of beets were planted this year, against 2700 last year. The growers have netted $4.50 a ton, and one man, who bought twenty acres, and raised fifteen tons to the acre, paid for his land with his first beet crop. The total area in sugar beets in the State is about 1200 acres. With the bounty which a Republican Congress placed upon beet sugar the industry has thrived, and California farmers have been quick to see the profit in beet culture.

Parkdale's Pig in a Poke.

[Parkdale Times.]

The Dufferin-street wharf, the only thing Parkdale has got from the city by amalgation, except high taxation, is of very little use to the citizens. Boats cannot be induced to call there, not even the Island ferry. Parkdale verily got a pig in a poke when she gave up her independence.

Expect to Realize $110,000.

[Chicago Inter-Ocean.]

The total Canadian tonnage passing through St. Mary's Canal last year was 350,952. This does not include Canadian freight carried in American boats. It is estimated that the toll of 20 cents a ton will give the United States a revenue of about $110,000 from Canadian vessels. The total tolls collected last year by the Canadians from the Welland and all the St. Lawrence River canals were $262,000.

A Capital Idea.

[Montreal Star.]

It might not be a bad idea to devote the money voted to put an exhibit in the Chicago Exhibition to paying the tolls taken on Canadian vessels at the "Soo."

"Hotel Vendome," New York.

Toronto people visiting New York should make their home at the well-appointed and handsome "Hotel Vendome," corner of Broadway and Forty-first-streets. The "Hotel Vendome" is a short distance from the Grand Central depot, and has also direct car service from the West Shore and Erie Railway ferry docks. The "Vendome" is almost opposite the Metropolitan Opera House, and street cars pass the door from all theatres. Its appointments are perfection. Newly furnished and equipped from the ninth story down; it is the par excellence of comfort. The hotel contains two hundred and fifty rooms, single and en suite, with or without baths, and is conducted on both the European and American plan. The cafe is one of the handsomest in New York, and the dining-room, situated in the ninth story, cannot be surpassed in New York. 1

Teething.

During the period of dentition the suffering of infants is something terrible, and mothers are put to their wits' end to devise some means of alleviating the agony of their children. Dyer's Improved Food for Infants is eagerly taken by sick or healthy children—25c per package. Druggists keep it. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal.

THE DOCTOR IS DOGMATIC.

He Prophesies a Big Strike and a Great War—He Breaks a Lance With The World's Commissioner.

As usual Bond-street Church was crowded to its utmost capacity last night. Rev. Dr. Wild occupied the pulpit. After the singing of a hymn the doctor, as is his custom, read a number of letters he had received during the week, asking for his opinion on different matters.

The first was with reference to strikes. He had, he said, given his opinion before on this subject and could not add much more. Some day he feared there would be a great strike, when all the militia would be called out and half of them would be working men. The militia in his opinion should not be ordered out till the highest court in the land had decided on the rights of both parties concerned in the strike. Now it largely depends on who first got hold of the militia. His fear for the future was that there will be a great and widespread strike of the working classes with all that such a terrible calamity suggests.

The World's Commissioner to Ireland.

The second letter had reference to Ireland and the Irish. In it, he said, the writer referred to Mr. Howard of the World, a gentleman whom he (the Doctor) highly esteemed. But the writer might ask Mr. Howard, Mr. Blake or any gentleman of like experience and they would tell him that the farmers of Ireland are better protected by law than in any other country on earth. Fixture of tenure is a fact there, but it is not so in Canada. The amount of their rent is fixed by the courts, and should bad crops prevail the Irish farmer can go to the courts and have the rent reduced. There were some people in Canada, he thought, who would appreciate a similar law here. The Irish farmer can also sell the value of his improvements, and that he cannot do should he emigrate to this country and rent a farm. There is no greater humbug, he said, than for people to cry out about the poverty and injustice of the Irish farmer—the poverty and the injustice are in Canada, not in Ireland.

The Destiny of the Jews.

This finished the letters, and after the singing of another hymn the Doctor gave one of his favorite sermons on the Jews.

He said that no historical fact stood out with more prominence than that of the separation of the Hebrews. There were nine seceders from the twelve tribes; these were the Israelites, and the others composed the house of Judah. And as their separation was so plainly foretold so was their union, which has yet to take place. That union will be in Palestine and in no other country. The ten tribes are in Great Britain to-day and they must possess Palestine. As a matter of fact they possess it now, for at the Berlin Congress Great Britain became responsible to all other Governments for the protection of that country. There are three things must remain forever: (1) The ten tribes were to become very numerous and God promised them a home. That home to-day is the British Isles. (2) There will be a new Jerusalem; a magnificent city. Jerusalem was destroyed 27 times and will be rebuilt for the 28th time. Then it will become the world's capital. (3) The Jews will be settled there for good and they will be converted. It was a pleasing subject to reflect on that they will become Christians some day. There was no use trying to convert them earlier, for it would prove as so many previous efforts have—a waste of time and money. If so many of the bitter prophecies have been fulfilled is it not reasonable to suppose the remainder will be fulfilled as well.

The doctor next referred to the failure of Baron Hirsch's colonization schemes in Brazil and in the Argentine Republic and of the benefit this country has derived from the colonization and the building of the C.P.R. Next he spoke of a gigantic war as one of the near possibilities in Europe, a struggle however in which Great Britain would not take part.

The friendship shown by the Pope to France was next spoken of and its bearing on the future of that and other nations. In conclusion he said that as sure as there was a God in heaven He would finally accomplish His purposes and all prophecies would be fulfilled.

The Seceding Salvationists.

The seceding Salvationists held three crowded meetings yesterday in the little church in Denison-avenue. The first was at 11 a.m., the next at 3 and the last at 7 p.m. At all services scores were turned away from lack of room. At 8 o'clock the Salvationists from Parley-avenue barracks came along Queen-street and began singing and beating their drum when nearly opposite Denison-avenue. Since the meeting of the secessionists in the Auditorium on Thursday night last several other officers and a number of the rank and file have sent in their resignations. Among the officers who have left are Captains McIntrye and Blight and Lieutenant Elliott. Word has also been received of the secession in a body of the Oshawa corps and of a large desertion from the ranks in Hamilton. But trouble in the Army is not confined to Canada only. In England there is a great deal of dissatisfaction regarding the Social Reform movement of General Booth, while in the United States the democratic feeling is showing itself on almost similar lines to here. To-night at 8 o'clock a private meeting will be held by the secessionists to discuss their future program. They expect to work in accord with the churches and have the churches work with them. But the end is not yet.

A Live School.

The British American Business College, Arcade, Yonge-street, Toronto, begins its 33rd year on Thursday, Sept. 1. This is the oldest and most reliable school of its kind in the Dominion, as may be seen by the warm endorsement it receives from our leading business men. Mr. H.N. Baird, President of the Toronto Board of Trade, spoke of it as follows in addressing the students a short time ago: "To show my appreciation of the work done here, it will afford me a great deal of pleasure to give a gold medal to the student who shows the greatest amount of general proficiency in the course of studies taken up at this institution, and I may express the hope that my successor in office will contribute a similar medal for such a worthy cause and to an institution so deserving of encouragement from the business men of the community." We would advise all who are interested in business education to write to the principals, Messrs. O'Dea & Hoskins, for a circular. ed

Kellogg's Dysentry Cordial in their possession, as change of water, cooking, climate, etc., frequently brings on Summer complaint, and there is nothing like being ready with a sure remedy at hand, which oftentimes saves great suffering, and frequently valuable lives. Infants' Food.

Volumes have been written upon this important subject, but volumes of testimonials can be shown to prove that Dyer's Improved Food for Infants is the very best in use. 25c per package. Druggists keep it. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD.

Opens To-day.

The engagement of Paddywhiskey, the famous piano electrocutor, for the opening week of the Musee, was a lucky stroke for the management of this popular house, as he will undoubtedly draw large crowds during the week. All persons young and old who are musically inclined have heard of and are aware of the reputation of this brilliant musician, who is to-day no doubt the greatest musical prodigy now before the public (in his own peculiar style). He comes very high, but Manager Young thinks nothing too good for his patrons, consequently his engagement. This is one of the many names appearing upon the excellent program that has been arranged for the theatre. In the lecture hall an attraction that has mystified and astonished thousands of people throughout Europe and America will be produced by Mr. Fred Morphet and wife. It is called "Oh!" and is "Keller Masterpiece." Miss Amelia Burdette, the midget queen; Miss Hill, the Kentucky fat girl, and Prof. Young, the musical genius, will also appear in the lecture hall.

The menagerie and avairy have been re-stocked and many new and interesting features have been added to the various departments. The most interesting among the many new wax figures is the reproduction of the "Flying Roll" champion, Prince Michael, showing him before and after going to prison. It will be remembered that Mr. Moore purchased the hair and whiskers of this notorious apostle after he had been shorn by the jail officials. They will be seen upon the figure which represents him before going to prison, making a perfect likeness in every respect.

The patrons of this house will note that a change in the price of reserve seats has been made. The front seats on lower floor which has heretofore been 20 cents, will hereafter be 10 cents, making the entire lower floor 10 cents. The balcony as usual will be 5 cents and the gallery free.

The Midnight Alarm.

That record-breaking theatrical success, "The Midnight Alarm," now on its second triumphant tour, opens at Jacobs & Sparrow's this evening, with matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Mr. Pearson's big and greatest play is presented this season with new scenery and effects and the New York cast. The truly greatest of the plays of realism it is no wonder it has met with the success accorded it everywhere.

An Immense Horse Exhibit.

Some idea of what is thought of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition by the people of the Dominion can be formed from the number of entries that are made in the various departments. Breeders, farmers and turfmen evidently think very highly of it as of great value to them and their interests. This year there are 1272 entries of horses, being over 200 more than at any previous fair. They are from all over the Dominion, and include some magnificent animals. The number of entries in the cattle department this year is 986, being considerably more than at any previous exhibition. Not even in Great Britain can a finer display of live stock be seen at agricultural shows than can be seen at the Toronto Exhibition. It is believed that this is the largest number of horses ever entered at any fair in the world. One of the entries is a thoroughbred Arabian stallion. Among other entries are 7 four-in-hand, 7 tandems, 10 professional coachmen.

Sons of Old Albion.

Lodge Mercantile No. 81, S.O.E.B.S. held its regular semi-monthly meeting on Saturday evening in Shaftesbury Hall, Bro. R. Patching in the chair. One honorary member was admitted and five propositions received. A resolution was carried tendering the heartfelt sympathy of the lodge with Bro. R. Ivens respecting the prolonged sickness of his wife and a telegram was despatched during the time lodge was in session to Bro. G. H. Evans, W.P., who is detained by sickness in Montreal regretting his misfortune. Bro. H. Glonebrook, W.G., of Royal George Lodge of Simcoe; Bro. Lowers, V.P., Southampton Lodge, Barrie; Bro. J. Webster, Kent Lodge, and several other visiting brethren were present. After closing lodge a pleasant hour was spent in listening to patriotic speeches from visiting brothers and various good songs.

The Late Captain Snider.

The funeral of the late Captain Elias Snider took place from his late residence, Bloor-street west, to the family plot in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Services were conducted at the house and grave, a large number of the residents of York Township being present, amongst whom were: N. Maughan, City Clerk, a very old friend; the Rev. Dr. Scadding and Messrs. Wilson, Laidlaw, Edmunds of the York Pioneers, of which the deceased was an old member and took much interest in its prosperity. He visited the West Indies a few years since and on his return gave the members a graphic account of the productiveness of these islands at the monthly meeting of the society and the importance of exchanging our wheat, etc., for their produce. In Mr. Snider's removal another link in the chain is broken of the old worthies who helped to make York Township the attractive spot it now is, and may the present generation emulate the perseverance, etc., of Sniders, Armstrongs and F. Jackes and Mulhollands of the past.

Fractured His Forearm.

Henry, the 3-year-old son of Henry L. Meyer of 415 Sackville-street, was brought to the hospital yesterday with both bones of his right forearm fractured. The injury was caused by the little fellow being thrown from a small cart with which he and an elder brother were playing.

Keep to the Right Side.

Mr. John McCarthy, Toronto, writes: "I can unhesitatingly say that Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery is the best medicine in the world. It cured me of Heartburn that troubled me for over thirty years. During that time I tried a great many different medicines, but this wonderful medicine was the only one that took hold and rooted out the disease."

Still Unconscious.

Mrs. Ann Troyer of Woodbridge, the victim of the runaway accident caused by the trolley car in Church-street, particulars of which were given in The Sunday World, is still lying in an unconscious condition at the hospital. The full extent of her injuries is not yet known, but it is feared they are serious.

A Newspaper Burned Out.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 27.—Fire early this morning destroyed property in this city valued at $400,000. The office of The Chronicle was completely destroyed.

A COURAGEOUS WOMAN.

The Wife of a Woodstock Barrister Captures a Burglar.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 27.—At one o'clock this morning Alfred S. Ball, barrister-at-law, while quietly reading in the dining-room at his residence, was attacked by a burglar who had come in through an open window, and was shot at four times, the bullets hitting him twice, once on the top of the head and another through the arm. Mrs. Ball hearing the disturbance came to her husband's assistance by knocking the burglar senseless and afterwards tied him up and telephoned for assistance. The burglar is in jail and Mr. Ball, although not necessarily injured, will be confined to his bed for several days.

Service of Sacred Song.

The wisdom of the good people of Carlton-street Methodist Church in giving Sunday evening services of sacred song during the hot weather is amply attested by the large audiences with which they have been greeted. Last evening the church was crowded with a highly pleased congregation. The program was a varied and excellent one. The choir sang with their usual precision and spirit. Mrs. Cameron gave a delightful rendering of the contralto solo in the quartette "Consider and Hear Me." Mr. William Preston, whose voice is a fine robust tenor, sang "The Gate of Heaven" by Tours, but the feature of the evening was the singing of Millard's "Send Down Thy Blessing" by Miss Hortense Jones of San Antonio, Texas, a charming young lady with a beautiful and highly cultivated soprano voice.

James Cullen, Pool's Island, N.F., writes: "I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction to this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success have been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my rheumatic neighbors (one old lady in particular) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

Webster, agent, 64 Yonge-street.

El Padre PINS

THE MONSTER

The good health of our trade is shown by its constant growth, but in spite of all the encouragement received we are constantly pressed with the conviction that a limited circle do not fully comprehend the reform we have been and are at the present time making in shoe business, by a complete and systematic organization and the command of ready money.

Will it not be to your interest and advantage to know us better. Expect much. Excuse nothing. We are in duty bound to serve you well and no consideration of profit or loss shall interfere with the obligation. Our contention is that any body can buy shoes here at any time and get better satisfaction than is possible elsewhere. Perhaps we're mistaken. But would business grow and grow if our claim had no foundation in fact.

The time has come to sell quickly and make sure that next season sees none of this season's goods. So far as we are concerned. We begin stock taking to-day, and during this week we intend sacrificing every summer line of

Boots, Shoes and Slippers

In the house at prices never before approached even by us. For instance, a glance through the stock reveals 300 pairs of Men's Cordovan sewed walking shoes, wholesale price $1. We will clear this line out at 80c per pair. Over ten cases (600 pairs) men's lace boots, wholesale price $1, marked down to 75c per pair. 300 pairs ladies' walking shoes, wholesale price 85c, marked down to 55c per pair.

UNOCCUPIED BUILDINGS DON'T pay. Owners of rentable property would do better by meeting the market as merchants do—on the basis of supply and demand. It pays best to keep houses occupied, and it pays best to keep them in good healthy order. Agents cannot be expected to offer to decent reliable tenants unhealthy houses. The merchant takes care that his goods are attractive, otherwise he could not get customers—and the landlord should note this.
