EGG PRICES FALLING ON LOCAL MARKET

Now Quoted at 62 to 68 Cents Per Dozen—Other Products Remain Firm.

Eggs are slowly dropping in price on the local market, going down as low as 62c and 68c today.

Hogs and hay remain firm at Thursday's prices.

Potatoes were a little more plentiful on Thursday, but remained steady.

No hay was offered on Thursday or up to 10 this morning. The farmers report that they cannot get though with a load, as the roads are very bad. A number of the side roads to the west of the city are impassable, it is said.

GRAIN.

Chicago, March 12.—Free selling led by big commission houses weakened the corn market today. Temporary declines in sterling counted somewhat in favor of the bears, and so, too, did an advance in ocean rates on foodstuffs from the United States to Great Britain. Besides, it was asserted that corn prices were above the feeding value of the cereal. Opening quotations, which ranged from half cent decline to a like advance, were followed by moderate setbacks all around.

Oats lacked support. After opening ⅛ to ⅝ lower, the market sagged a little more before beginning to react.

PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 12.—Higher prices on hogs gave strength to provisions. Trade, however, was dull.

FLOUR.

TORONTO, March 11.—Ontario Flour—Government standard, in jute bags, prompt shipment: Montreal, $10.80@11; Toronto, $11.

MONTREAL, March 11.—There was no important change in the condition of the local flour situation.

All lines of millfeed continued in steady demand, with a fair amount of business reported.

Flour—Manitoba, spring wheat, war grade, $13.25@13.55.

Rolled Oats—Per bag, 90 lbs., $5.50@5.60.

WALL STREET.

New York, March 12.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Regardless of another reaction in foreign exchange, the British rate especially forfeiting much of its recent recovery, stocks continued their upward movement at the outset of today's session. Within the first half hour of the active trading advances of two to ten points were recorded by prominent automobile shares under lead of General Motors, while rails and equipments supplemented yesterday's gains by one to three points. Oils and steels made advances extending from large fractions to two points, and Industrial Alcohol featured the specialties, rising four points.

Noon—The break in exchange, which was attributed to denials of immediate gold imports, finally had its effect.

General Motors lost most of its 10-point rise, reactions elsewhere extending from 1 to 4 points.

Oils, including low-priced shares, regained much of their 2 to 5 point gains on announcement of further advances in prices of raw and refined products. Rails, equipments and shippings followed the irregular action set by active industrials. The market rallied irregularly at noon, the 7 per cent call loan rate implying easy money conditions over the week-end.

ELECTRIFY ST. MARYS

lowing the electrification of the St. Marys branch.

Not Probable.

That another radial would ever now be built following the route planned for the one-time proposed North Midland, is very improbable, in the opinion of Philip Pocock, who, believing that both the Bruce and St. Marys lines of the Grand Trunk will be electrified, does not countenance the idea of the Provincial and Dominion Government running electric radials in opposition to one another.

The long-discussed radial connection with Grand Bend, Mr. Pocock thinks, will come through an extension of the Bruce, and in time the electrification of the Stratford-Sarnia branch will give radial connections between London and Lucan. Stub lines from either the Bruce or St. Marys branches would eventually be built into the territory between the two lines, giving radial connections to the hamlets and vicinities of Bryanston, Birr and Arva.

Sometime.

Against the sometimes proposed extension of the Springbank line of the London Street Railway to Lambeth, upon the achievement of the long-discussed municipilization of the local tramway system is raised the argument that not more than a mile of trackage would be saved as compared with the relaying of a line over the London and Lake Erie route, which would give more direct connection between Lambeth and London.

Announcement that the Canadian Pacific is in no way committed to the building of a branch line to Sarnia, is coupled with the suggestion that possibly this company might decide on an electric line to that point, which would make one more electric road for which a union radial depot would be desirable. In this event the Canadian Pacific might effect connections with the union depot only indirectly through their radial line.

In the opinion of electric railway enthusiasts the Grand Trunk main line will be electrified in due time, and there may be no need for a union depot for steam lines, the Canadian Pacific remaining the only steam road touching London.

LONDON DELEGATES

wants to prevent above all things. This short circuiting is the practice of ordering liquor from another province to get around the law, but in reality having it delivered froh home breweries. For example, a man in London may not purchase liquor here unless on a doctor's order. But he may send his order to an agency in Quebec, which agency merely asks some local brewery to deliever it to the door of the purchaser.

"What the Temperance Alliance wants, is to have the bill amended so that it will bring about immediate legislation and thus stop short-circuiting at once, not after a period of two years' dallying, which might occur should the bill be passed in its present form," concluded Mrs. Thornley.

When questioned as to the apparent break between the Ontario Temperance Alliance and the referendum committee, in that the latter wished a speedy referendum while the former did not, Mr. Pescott stated that the difference was not so great as it seemed; that at yesterday's meeting certain changes had been made in the wording of their resolutions which seemed to satisfy both.

"However, it is the Temperance Alliance which must be considered in this matter. The Dominion Alliance is the only parliament of temperance workers that has ever been called in this country, and it has been called annually for the last 43 years. The referendum committee is but a committee composed of Dominion Alliance members and members from the Committee of One Hundred. I really think that there is a little personal animus behind the whole affair and that when that has been cleared up everything will run smoothly.

"The Alliance consulted the best legal opinion and found that there was grave danger in bill No. 26 and that it was perilous for the Alliance to risk a big and expensive campaign as the bill now stood, that it might jeopardize the position of prohibition in the country. The result was that the Alliance decided to await the developments in Parliament and not force on the taking of a referendum, as the referendum committee wished."

A large deputation of London men and women attended the Toronto convention.

EXPECT 1,000 PEOPLE.—The winter picnic, which will be held by the McClary Company tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A., will be a large one. The exact figures cannot be obtained, but at least 1,000 are expected to turn out and make the night a bumper one in the history of the company and the "Y." Supper will be served from 8:30 until 11 o'clock, as the crowd will be too large to get into the dining-room at one sitting.

HOME ON SUNDAY.—Sir Adam Beck, ex-M.P.P., will arrive in New York tomorrow and will return to London at once, arriving over the Michigan Central some time on Sunday. Personal friends of Sir Adam and a few invited guests will comprise a party of welcome, who will go to St. Thomas by special L. and P. S. car to meet him. Returning to London, luncheon will be served at the Tecumseh House.

WILL ATTEND CONVENTION. — Fire Chief John Aitken announced today that the meeting of the delegates to arrange for the fire chiefs' convention, which is to be held in St. Thomas this year, will be held in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on March 24. Fire Chief John Kenlon of the New York fire department, will preside at the meeting. Fire Chief Aitken is preparing to make arrangements to attend the meeting. He is a member of the executive of the Fire Chiefs' Association.

EXCHANGE RATES.

New York, March 12.—A sharp slump in foreign exchange occurred at the opening of the market here today, rates on demand sterling being quoted at $3 65¾, or 7½c below yesterday's closing figure.

SPARRING MATCH ENDS IN DEATH OF STUDENT

New York, March 12.—A boxing exhibition staged by Columbia University students last night resulted in the death of Milton Sternfeld of Albany, N. Y., a post-graduate student, who engaged in a sparring match with Andrew Lockett, a sophomore, as one of the events at a "smoker."

Lockett, who has been detained under a technical charge of homicide, told the police that his glove barely glanced off Sternfeld when the latter collapsed. Sternfeld died within half an hour.
