The Wasting Process of Disease.

Disease is a tearing down, wasting away and destroying of the tissues of the body and a shrivelling up of the nerve cells and blood corpuscles. Nature demands assistance to overcome this dreadful wasting process and the needed help is best supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorative.

A Richmond lawyer was consulted not long since by a colored man who complained that another negro owed him three dollars, a debt which he absolutely refused to discharge. The creditor had dunned and dunned him, but all to no purpose. He had finally come to the lawyer in the hope that he could give him some good advice.

What reason does he give for refusing to pay you?' asked the legal man.

"Why, boss," said the darkey, "he said he done owed me dat money for so long dat de interest had et it all up, an he didn't owe me one cent."

Mark Twain on Advertising.

'It pays to advertise,' said Mark Twain at a recent banquet. 'When I was editing the Virginia City Enterprise, writing copy one day and mining the next, I tried to force this truth home in many ways. One day I received a letter from a subscriber saying he had found a spider pressed between the pages of his paper, and he wanted to know was this good or bad luck? I replied to him in our Answers to Correspondents as follows:

'Old Subscriber—The finding of a spider in your copy of the Enterprise was neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our pages to find out what merchant was not advertising, so that it could spin its web across his door and lead a free and undisturbed existence for ever after.'—Success.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is sold by Rand's Drug Store.

Never venture into a sick room if you are in a violent perspiration (in circumstances require you there), for the moment your body becomes cold it is in a state likely to absorb the infection and give you the disease. Never visit a sick person (especially if the complaint is of a contagious nature) with an empty stomach, as this disposes the system more readily to receive the contagion. In attending a sick person, place yourself where the air passes from the door or window to the bed of the diseased, not betwixed the diseased person and any fire that is in the room, as the heat of the fire will draw the infectious vapor in that direction and you would run much danger from breathing in it.

The public, declared Mr. Dutcher, placidly allowed agricultural crops valued at $800,000,000 to be annually destroyed by insects, whose destruction is entirely due to the rapid decrease in the number of insectiverous birds in the country.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL

DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private ills, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than to submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease, and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise where men more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs Pinkham helped Delle Emerentienne Montreuil, of 114 Latourelle St., Quebec, Que

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered for eight months with what the doctors called prolapsus, which caused great weakness all over my system, with faint dizzy spells. I kept growing weaker and weaker I tried several medicines which they claimed would cure my trouble, but nothing was of the least benefit until I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and this helped me so rapidly that I could hardly believe my good fortune. I would gladly have paid $25.00 for that first bottle, for it started me on the road to health, and five bottles cured me. I am most grateful for my splendid, robust health, and shall certainly recommend the Vegetable Compound in glowing terms to all my friends and acquaintances, for it is deserving of all the praise I can give it."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds, it strengthens; it offers real, routine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these Nerves—re-establish them as needed, with Temperance and Prohibition.

STRONG TO DESTROY.

Says Dr. B. W. Richardson, M. D., one of the most distinguished English medical men:—'Never let this be forgotten in thinking of drink—that drink is strong only to destroy; that it never by any possibility adds strength to those who drink it.'

WHOSE HOUSE?

This incident tells its own story. The drunkard makes himself poor to make the grog-seller rich. Late one night a poor man lay in a drunken stupor in a liquor saloon. 'I wish he would go home, if he has one,' the dealer's wife said. 'Hush! he will call for a drink directly,' was the answer. 'I wish he would make haste about it.' He's taking the shingles off his own roof and putting them on ours.' Just then the drunkard rose, refusing the dram that was offered him. Weeks afterwards the liquor dealer met him and asked. 'Why haven't you been down to see us?' 'Why, I have taken so many shingles off my house its began to leak, so I thought it was time to stop the leak and I've done it.'

A PREMIER'S TESTIMONY.

A gentleman travelling on a train recently engaged his seat mate in conversation. The talk drifted to the question of prohibition of the liquor traffic. His companion, who proved to be an agent of the great Schlitz Brewing Company, in the course of the conversation made this statement: 'Anybody who says that prohibition does not prohibit is either a liar or a fool. I am now on my way to Wisconsin. I also work in North Dakota. I can sell more beer in Wisconsin (a license state) in four days than I can sell in North Dakota (a prohibition state) in four months. Our company is not telling this, but we are doing all we can to disgust the people with prohibition so that if the question ever comes to the people they will vote our prohibition.'

RUM MEN'S POLITICS.

'It is the duty of the liquor men throughout the country to 'spot' every member of a legislature who is suspected of strong temperance proclivities, and exert themselves to the utmost to defeat him.'—So says The Texas Liquor Dealer, an organ of the traffic in that state. And that is the policy of the men of the traffic everywhere. In Canada, as elsewhere, the trade men have no policy but 'our business,' as they call it. And from their selfish and wicked point of view they are wise. Temperance men need to learn a lesson from the enemy, and oppose every candidate for representative position who is not against the iniquitous traffic.

WHOSE BOY?

Somebody's boy must be ruined, body and soul, to keep the rum traffic going. The rum seller does not care whose boys they are so long as he gathers in the blood money. The boys are surely worth saving. Horace Mann, urging on some friends the claims of an institution for the care of homeless boys, said they would be well repaid for their efforts if they succeeded in saving one boy. One of his friends, less enthusiastic than he, asked if was not an extravagant state they succeeded in saving one boy. His answer was, 'Not if it was my boy.' Can any true father feel differently? and yet many fathers because they do not see the immediate danger of their boys, consent to the authorization of the fiendish traffic. And some of them realize when it is to late that they have contributed to the destruction of their own flesh and blood. But even if their own boys do escape, what about other people's boys? Have they no care for them? What cold-blooded selfishness?—Maritime Baptist.

He Had a Way.

In McClure's Magazine Lincoln Steffens tells of an interview with Mark Fagan, mayor of Jersey City. Mayor Fagan had just spoken against railway influence in politics. Continuing he said:

'I have hated men, almost, some of these corporation men, but I don't any more. I used to hate men that said things about me that weren't true, that weren't just. But I've got over that now.'

'How did you get over it?'

'I have a way,' he said, evidently meaning not to tell it.

'You must have been tempted often in the four years you have been in office. Have you ever been offered a bribe?'

'Only once, but that was by a man sent by some one else. He didn't know what he was doing, and I didn't blame him so much as I did those

Constipation and Bleeding Piles

Mr. John Hughes, Dexter street, St. Catharines, Ont., and who has been resident of that city for forty-five years, states: "It is a satisfaction to speak a word on behalf of Dr. Chase's Ointment and Pills. For five years I was sorely afflicted with constipation and itching bleeding piles or hemorrhoids, which at times made me unfit for anything. I was in a most distressing and discouraging condition, as I had taken considerable professional treatment in vain.

"However, there came a day when my case surprised me and also my neighbors, for I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment, and in a short time was greatly relieved. I persevered in the treatment until the serious ailments had all passed away and I was again enjoying my former vigor, having obtained complete immunity from pain, for which I feel very thankful."

Because constipation and piles so frequently go together it is well to know of this combined treatment—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to regulate the liver and bowels and Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure piles. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont.

who sent him.'

'But the subtler temptations, how did you resist them?'

'I have a way,' he said again.

This time I pressed him for it; he evaded the point and I urged that he knew a way and a good way to resist political temptations, of which I should know of it.

He was most uncomfortable. 'Well, a good way,' he said looking down. Then looking up he almost whispered 'I pray. When I take an oath of office, I speak slowly. I say every word thinking how it is an oath, and afterward I pray for strength to keep it.'

'A silent prayer?'

'Yes.'

'And that helps? Against the daily temptations, too?'

'Yes, but I—every morning when I go up the steps of the city hall, I pray that I may be given strength to recognize temptations when they come to me and—to resist them. And at night I go over my every act and give thanks if I have done no injury to any man.'

Lingering Cold.

WITHSTOOD OTHER TREATMENT BUT QUICKLY CURED BY CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

'Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks,' says J Ughart, of Zephyr, Ontario. 'My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used.' This remedy is for sale by Rand's Drug Store.
