Anti-Rose Specs.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Is it not queer how even the best of us are apt to look at certain people in our acquaintance through the opposite of rose color glasses (whatever color that may be)?

Everything these particular people say or do is colored by these specs.

Or if the word or deed itself is beyond cavil, the anti-rose spectacles help us find some unamiable motive.

A recently married couple whom I know have just left the place where they were boarding and set up housekeeping. They have a dear little home but it is not complete because they canot buy just the things they want all at once, and being wise they prefer going slowly to taking substitutes.

She Keeps Them For Her Husband's Cousin.

Now the wife is a very sweet tempered generous woman but she has a pair of these anti-rose colored spectacles which she keeps for a cousin of her husband, an older woman of more means than they.

This woman made them a short visit recently. She is a bit peculiar but I think she tried to make herself agreeable. In vain! Things were pleasant enough on the surface but all she said and did was resented by the young wife. If she offered to help clear the table between courses, that was accenting the fact they had no maid. When she went off on a little trip by herself to lighten the burden of her entertainment, that showed she was not satisfied with what they did for her.

After she went away she sent them a lovely wicker and cretonne chair for the guest room and a beautiful book for the baby.

She Called The Chair A Hint.

What do you think the young wife's comments were?

On the chair—"I think it was rude of her to hint that she hadn't been comfortable."

On the book. "It's altogether too old for the baby. It was a perfectly absurd thing to send."

On both gifts, "I'd rather she had not sent them than have to write the thank note."

She Would Have Been Grateful To Anyone Else.

If anyone else had sent the things she would have loved them for she is naturally very grateful.

That's how anti-rose colored glasses can distort the vision.

Don't you sometimes realize that you are using these spectacles on people? I do. And I am so ashamed. Besides I'm scared because I know that it is a trick of these glasses that the ugly light they shed appears to those who see you using them to fall upon yourself rather than your victim.

Depose Kaiser, "Only Way Out."

Remarkable Pamphlet Published in Bavarian Capital.—Dethrone Ho-Henzollern.—German People Convinced That No Manoeuvre Can Now Stave off Ultimate Defeat.—Present Victories of Tueton Troops Are Ephemeral.

Special Cable Despatch to The Globe.

Rome, Jan. 19.—"The Only Way Out" is the title of a Bavarian pamphlet which has reached Rome via Zurich. It is published in Munich under the auspices of the "Association of Male Citizens of Southern Germany." The thesis developed by the pseudonymous author, "Heinrich Sieger," is that Germany's only practical course to avert final ruin lies in the dethronement of the House of Hohenzollern. Reviewing the actual military situation, the author likens the series of German victories to those of King Pyrrhus.

"They are," he says, "purely ephemoral, and nobody can be more keenly alive to this fact than General Hindenburg, whose colossal forward movement on the eastern front has merely succeeded in shifting the scene of trench warfare a few hundred miles, and whose war-worn forces, for a long time inert and impotent in front of Riga and Dunaberg, have still before them vast untrodden stretches of the Russian Empire.

Cannot Avert Ultimate Defeat.

"Germany cries, "We will fight till the last man, and when no more men are left we will enroll the women and old men," but the people themselves are convinced that no manoeuvre of this sort can avert ultimate defeat, which at this moment is mathematically certain."

The pamphleteer regards Germany's present situation as identical with that of the French Emperor a century ago. When the crucial moment comes will William II., he asks, stand prepared to sacrifice himself for the German people as did Napoleon?

"Even as France avoided terrible peace conditions by deposing Napoleon," he says, "so Germany, faced by the vision of the final catastrophe, will one day be driven to decide on deposing the King of Prussia in favor of the Bavarian ruler. The House of Wittelsbach has fulfilled all its duties to the Empire. Its escutcheon is unstained, and in this war it has won its laurels again and again. Not only would the German Empire under the Wittelsbach dynasty offer the necessary security for European peace, but also the possibility of realizing a still greater Germany."

The writer foresees that Britain, France and Russia will never consent to negotiate peace with the present Kaiser or the German Crown Prince, whereas, "with the disappearance of the Hohenzollerns it will become possible for Germany to promote and cement cordial relations with England as has happened in Britain's relations with France."

The Zurich Volkscrecht says the document here summarized voices a state of opinion very widely diffused in Bavaria, and, indeed, almost everywhere in southern Germany, as well as in influential middle class circles and among the lower orders.

Don't Scold, Mother! The Cross Child Is Bilious, Feverish.

Look at tongue! If coated, clean little stomach, liver, bowels.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit-laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

What a Gas Range Means for You, Mrs. Housekeeper.

The gas range is a muscle saver and a step saver. Think of the many tons of coal you used in that coal range, and how you have had to handle it all twice; first, carrying it up out of the cellar; then, from the kitchen to the ash barrel.

No more soot to wipe away; no more ashes to cart away; no more wood to fetch; no more coal dust; no more smoke and no more reason why the kitchen cannot be kept as clean and as orderly as the parlor. The gas range means just this.

Saves 50 Per Cent. of Kitchen Cares.

Half of the labor in the house is caused by dust from the coal range. Every time it smokes, no matter how good the draught may be, clouds of ashes rise and settle on the furniture.

It Eliminates Hard Work.

Use a gas range and you will live better, you will play better, and you will work better because the use of the gas range eliminates the drudgery of carrying coal, ashes and the chopping of kindling, as well as the drudgery of cleaning up a lot of dirt, and, best of all, for the cook it makes it unnecessary for her to stand over a hot stove from two to three hours a day.

OUT OF DATE.

WALT MASON

To-day I have a motor car as fine as any wagons are. It has all kinds of modern traps, invented by long-headed chaps. I'm all swelled up with pomp and pride, when I scoot o'er the countryside, and get the everlasting goats of those who own back number boats. And when in town I stop my car, to buy my face a good cigar, the people crowd around and say, "Gee, but that car is resher-shay!" To-morrow when I drive around the courthouse and the village pound, I'll be too grouchy to relate; my auto will be out of date. And I will hear cheap skates remark, "It came across in Noah's ark!" Ah, melancholy is the fate of one who'd be right up to date, and have the latest thing in cars! His spirit soon is seamed with scars. Those brisk inventors should be canned, who spring new schemes to beat the band, who make the triumph of to-day look cheaper than the one hoss shay! 'Twould break a John D. Astorbilt, and send him poorhouseward full tilt, to own a modern car sublime, for more than two weeks at a time.

"War to the Knife"

London Daily Mail:—The enemy, it appears from the comments of the humorless Hun press, is almost speechless with rage at the Allies' answer to his "peace" note. He is threatening henceforth to wage "war to the knife" against the Allies. It is a threat which will leave us entirely unmoved. For the past two and a half years the Germans have exhausted the resources of cruelty, infamy and crime. So far as we are concerned, not even they can now outdo their own diabolical record. They may send their Zeppelins afresh to murder women and children, but in that case a decreasing number of these flimsy airships will return. They may attempt murder on a yet more gigantic scale by submarine, but as we dealt with the last campaign, so shall we deal with this one in the course of time. And let us remind them that we too have certain sharp weapons at our side which have hitherto been kept sheathed, and that we now at last have in office a Government which will not hesitate to use them ruthlessly against these enemies of mankind.

Children Had Eczema Doctors Failed to Cure.

Two Letters Which Prove the Efficiency of Dr. Chase's Ointment as a Cure for Eczema.

Fortunate are the mothers who know the virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment, for there is no, treatment so suitable for use after the bath to relieve irritation and chafing and to thereby prevent eczema and similar skin diseases.

Mrs. W. L. Barnes, Timmins, Ont., writes:—"I want to tell you about the case of my little boy, who had baby eczema when he was three months old. It started on the top of his head, on his forehead and around his ears. The doctors failed to do him any good, so I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment on the recommendation of a friend, and in a month's time the child was entirely free of this disagreeable skin disease. He is now four years old, and has never had any further trouble from ailments of this kind. I also have great faith in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and believe that it cannot be beaten as a restorative for pale, nervous women."

Mrs. George McNair, River Charles, N.B., writes:—We use Dr. Chase's Ointment in our home, and would not wish for anything better for cuts, burns and bruises. A few years ago a friend of mine, whose baby was terribly afflicted with eczema had her child treated by their own family physician, but the little one got no better. They tried several remedies, but they all proved useless in this case. Upon the advice of a neighbor they got Dr. Chase's Ointment, and before the first box was used the child was completely cured. I can also recommend Dr. Chase's Nereve Food to suffering friends who I know will be glad to learn of something to relieve their nervous trouble. You have my permission to use this letter for the benefit of others."
