AT HER WEDDING.

There was no profusion
Of jewels or lace;
No yards of illusion
Her figure to grace;
But the bride was most simply
And tastefully drest,
In the style and the color
That suited her best;
And Fred, in a whisper—he stood at my side—
Said "I never beheld a more beautiful bride!

I hardly need mention
The fact, I presume,
But all my attention
Was fixed on the groom,
Whose face so reflected
The joy of his heart,
That in the sweet service
My own took a part.
And, oh! 'twas a scene we remember with pride,
For Fred was the bridegroom and I was the bride.

THE BELGIAN REVOLUTION.

The Belgian revolution is now an accomplished fact. It has been brief and not bloodless, but effective. The arrogant oligarchy has yielded to the democracy. It yielded, it is true, with more of panic than of grace. But it is not particularly grace-inspiring for a regularly-constituted Government to submit to the demands of a mob even though the former be in the wrong and the latter in the right, as was in this instance undoubtedly the case. The Government was a class Parliament, chosen by a small fraction of the nation, and unwilling to take any step that would imperil its despotism. The mob was the people of Belgium, with their King—in spirit, at least—at their head. Such a contest in these days could, of course, have but one end; and in that end we must rejoice, however much we may deplore the necessity for the means by which it was attained. There is, moreover, room for hearty rejoicings over the comparative ease with which the people have won the day, for in these unsettled times in Europe any little spark of violence may kindle a train of consequences that will explode the whole magazine of social and political problems.—[New York Tribune.

THE OPEN FORUM.

Mr. Bowman's Offer.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

You having notified the public that I had severed my connection with the L. and P. S. R. Company for reasons I have no need to state, but which no doubt are patent to everyone, I wish it to be understood that any information or help I can give the city in connection with the L. and S. P. R. is at its disposal, and will be freely given when requested. Yours, etc. WM. BOWMAN.

He—You seem to be positive that I love you. What makes you so sure? She (confidingly)—It is the only thing on which mamma and papa have ever agreed.

The great lung healer is found in the excellent medicine sold as Pickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

Untold Misery—What a Well-Known Commercial Traveler Suffered, and How He Was Cured.—Gentlemen,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time traveling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of dyspepsia. (Signed.) T. S.
