ADDISON.

FRIDAY, Nov. 13.—Senator Roberts and family left on the 12th inst., for their new home in Michigan. We all wish him success.

Mr. David Copeland and lady of Syracuse, New York, were the guests of our Mayor for a few days last week.

A special meeting of our council will be held on the 28th inst., to select a candidate to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Senator Roberts, of which all will please take notice.

Mr. Joseph Stott and lady of North Augusta were guests of Mr. Thomas Brown of Selina St. on Sunday last.

Quite an extensive trade was done by our local sport at the North Augusta fair on the 6th inst. The sale stable at the east end was replenished to its utmost capacity and is now empty for business.

Mr. Jabez Bullis of Lake St. paid our village a visit recently. His winsome and smiling countenance always brings good cheer to the boys.

DULSEMAIN.

FRIDAY, Nov. 9.—Mr. Erastus Landon of Fairax lifted some enormous stones recently for Messrs. W. and W. Shier with his stone lifter.

Mrs. Thomas Acton of Shenandoah, Iowa, has had erected a very fine monument to the memory of her father, the late George Patience. Mrs. Acton proposes starting for her home in Iowa this week. She goes by the way of Michigan to visit friends there and is taking her mother with her.

Mr. James Patience has a goose and turkey that are laying this fall. Last fall they did the same.

Farmers are wishing for rain as the ground is very hard for ploughing.

A wedding in the near future is being considerably talked about.

FRANKVILLE.

SATURDAY, Nov. 14.—Special services are being held in the Methodist church by the Rev. R. C. Horner.

Miss Etta Soper has returned from Oshawa college.

Mrs. R. Richards has just returned from a visit to her sister Mrs. L. Cornwell, Ingersell.

Sorry to learn Mr. Montgomery's child is still seriously ill. The doctors performed an operation on Sunday but failed to remove the pin.

Mrs. O. L. Monroe is visiting friends at Athens and Algonquin.

Rev. T. Y. Stiles preached to the members of Court Frankville Canadian Order of Foresters on Sunday last.

The Grits appear well pleased with their success at the Court of Revision last week but the Tories seem blue indeed, but they must remember Bruce and the spider. Try, Try again, but be sure and show your original next time.

CHANTRY.

SATURDAY, Nov. 14.—R. Witherell of Roseville, is drilling a well for G. J. Alford, and is doing a fine job. W. Sherman, Lombardy, has engaged him to drill one on his new premises at Athens.

Jas. McFadden has just completed and moved into his new house, it would be an ornament to almost any place.

Stephen Knowlton is building a new house.

W. Beatty D. L. S., Delta, surveyed the line between W. Kennedy's and H. W. Derbyshire's farms to-day.

Wm. Barber is convalescent again after a very severe illness, he is able to be around the house again. We hope to soon see him well again.

Wm. Poolah has sold his cheese factory (Grand Central) to Henry Smith of Harlem. Mr. Smith having sold his farm to Lester Day of Philipsville, has purchased the Harlem, (Smith's Valley,) Chantry (Grand Central,) and Philipsville cheese factories.

Messrs. R. A. Sheldon, B. Derbyshire, W. B. McCallum and several others are off on a hunting expedition to Cloyne.

Derbyshire Bros. have their new saw mill in operation.

Miss Lillie Alford is going to Athens to learn dress making. Her sister Laura is making quite an extended visit at her aunt's, Mrs. Wesley Chant, near Lyn.

LYN.

TUESDAY, Nov. 10.—About 2 o'clock this morning the peaceful slumbers of the inhabitants of this quiet little village were rudely broken by two loud explosions, the one following the other at an interval of about ten minutes. The sound brought many to the streets, and on investigation it was found that a dastardly attempt had been made to destroy the factory of the G. F. C. Eyre Manufacturing Company and the residence of Mr. G. F. C. Eyre. Very fortunately the damage in neither case was very great. At the factory a hole about two feet in diameter was blown through the south side of the wall and there was a great shattering of glass. At Mr. Eyre's residence the dynamite was placed under the front steps, and these were blown into matchwood, and, as at the factory, a large amount of glass in the windows was shattered. It is believed that the perpetrators of the outrage are not residents of the village, and that in both cases a fuse sufficiently long to enable them to leave the village before the explosion took place was attached to the explosive. The matter is in the detectives' hands and an effort will be made to bring the parties to justice.

FRONT OF YONGE.

MONDAY, Nov. 16.—We noticed Mr. Jacob Hogaboon out for a walk in the country at the advanced age of very nearly 89.

Our market gardiner, Mr. D. Ladd, has done a good business this fall in vegetables and other garden sauce.

Mr. DeWolfe, of Athens, is now carrying her Majesty's mail between Athens and Mallorytown. Mr. DeWolfe is a very fit and proper person to fill that responsible position.

It is reported that the hunters of John K. Thomson & Co. have forwarded some fine deer from the vicinity of Lavant.

Ransome and Rowsome of Athens have purchased in this quarter some fine cattle for the Montreal market.

L. T. Kane of Junctown died very suddenly on Tuesday the 10th inst., at his home in said place. The doctors pronounced it disease of the heart.

Miss Laura Herbison of Junctown, who has suffered for some time with a tumour, is now recovering under the skilful treatment of Dr. Cornell of Brockville.

The Fortune mills have done a good grinding business this fall, the water being very low in other localities and Mr. Fortune having a good supply; hence a great rush to said mills.

WESTPORT.

SATURDAY, Nov. 14.—Mr. W. H. Lockwood is shipping large quantities of oats eastward via B. & W.

Messrs. Kenney & Lillie, dentists, Kingston, are at present in our midst attending to the wants of the populace of Westport and vicinity in the dental line.

Mr. W. H. McGuire has been engaged as the Journals representative in Westport in place of Mr. Jas. Murphy who has resigned. We are confident that Mr. McGuire will prove an acquisition of no low order to the ranks of the Journal.

Messrs. D. G. Ripley & Son are busily engaged in making large consignments of 1st class flour to different parts of Ontario.

The annual tea-meeting in connection with the Presbyterian church, Westport, was held on Thursday, Nov. 12th, and proved a worthy successor to so many previous entertainments of like character held under the same auspices. The tables were well stored with all that could be desired to suit the relishes of the most fastidious, while the music and speeches rendered in the evening bespoke the ability of those who aided in that part of the entertainment, and the oratorical powers of those who addressed the audience. The speakers of the evening were Rev. Messrs. McKenzie, of Brockville; Huff and Williams, of Westport; and Mr. Hy Bateman, an old settler, of Bedford, whose quaint autobiographical sketches of the life of our little town from its earliest days to the present time afforded pleasure to all. Mr. Jas. Cummings, of Lyn, occupied the chair and ably filled his position. One thing, however, we fail to see the necessity of and that is why any public speaker should in a mixed audience give voice to such language as can not fail to hurt the feelings of members of other religious bodies, merely because said speaker believes in saying what he thinks about those who fail to see as he sees and to think as he thinks. In a gathering like that of Thursday evening, where all religious denominations were represented for the one purpose of aiding and showing a friendly regard to a sister church, it was utterly unnecessary for any speaker to make himself conspicuous by proclaiming against any one religious body as being in darkness, and one thing is certain that the method of portraying people's failings before the public will never cultivate the spirit of christian union advocated by Christ himself, especially towards the church of the portrayer. If religion has not yet, it is time that it should lay aside all forms of outward show and pay a stricter regard to the one great principle of religion, that is love to God from the heart, not by outward form but by true sincerity. If the ministers of to-day, not all, but some at least, would couple a little of what Sam Jones calls manology along with their theology and add a good sprinkling of what Christ commanded his disciples in his last commandment, "That ye love one another," such things as doctrinal wars would soon be things of the past.

Thanksgiving Assembly.

The fourth of the annual series of hops under the auspices of the Maple Leaf Club was held on Thursday last and is deserving of more than a passing notice. These assemblies have for years attracted attention, and members of the club always look forward with keen zest to the time when they may be fortunate enough to obtain an invitation to one of these exclusive gatherings. Those held before were good, but last Thursday's hop was pre-eminently the best of the season and the unanimous opinion of the guests was that it was entitled to take the entire confectionery.

The gathering was conducted so far as invitations were concerned much like the gathering at a prize fight. Secrecy as to time and place was strictly enjoined on the lucky few who got a bid for fear that some of the great unwashed should force their unwelcome presence on the festive gathering. About nine o'clock the most of the guests had arrived at the assembly hall, which is situated not a dozen blocks from two of our principal churches and within easy call of police head quarters. At great expense and in order to add immensely to the pleasure of the evening a full orchestra under the leadership of Prof. DeTour was secured at Charleston. For hours and hours the monotonous cry of the caller as he shouted "Allman left! Balance all!" etc., joined as it was to the tramp of nicely greased cowhide boots and the silvery laughter of the merry belles, all combined to so completely drown the sweet sound of the orchestra that one could not tell that it was there at all had not the dancers occasionally stopped to give it a chance to breathe and tune up.

The guests were numerous—so numerous that a score or more were obliged to sit for hours on the church steps on the opposite side of the street awaiting their turn to join in the joyous dance. There was not room for them in the house. The guests assembled were representative of some of the best blood in the counties. From Charleston to Hubbard's Corners and from Caintown to Frankville they were selected with care that none but the slate should be admitted. Elbe Mills also furnished its quota of distinguished guests. Through some misunderstanding three noted vocalists of Brockville were not in it to any great extent.

At the dance perhaps the most noticeable feature was that the men with the heaviest boots were the best dancers, because they could make the most noise.

At the early hour of 1 a. m. the festivities were brought to a sudden termination by the host turning off the gas, and from that time until near daylight the hackmen reaped a rich harvest conveying the weary revellers to their residences.

A Hunter's Fate.

More than a month since an Englishman named David Allen, who resided in the Magnetawan district, and who spent considerable time hunting, started out to examine his traps but failed to return. For ten days an uninterrupted search was kept up in the woods, it being supposed that he had wandered away and become lost. The search was unproductive of result however. The mystery surrounding his fate was accidentally unveiled by two hunters who chanced to look into a copse of bushes. Lying upon the ground, face downward, was the dead body of the hunter, and the condition of the body and the ground showed that he had met a horrible death from starvation. Both of his hands were securely fastened in a bear trap. He had evidently been in the act of setting the trap when by some means the trap closed upon his wrists with a vice-like grip. Unable to release himself and with no hope of making his voice heard in that vast wilderness, he suffered the most excruciating mental torture until exposure and starvation combined ended his sufferings. His wrists were frightfully lacerated where an attempt had been made to wrench his hands free.

We Need Money.

Under the above heading the editor of an exchange up north relates the following tale of woe:—

The office boy is seven weeks behind in his wages and kicks on soup three times a day. He may get mad and leave.

The paper dealers wont trust any longer.

Our woodshed is empty and a cold winter coming. (The neighbors have all bought padlocks)

The cow has dried up and the baby is living on lime water.

The hens are on a strike, and the McKinley bill has boosted the price of codfish.

Our summer pants are worn through the patches, and the tailors are suspicious.

The grocery boy said he had orders not to call any more.

Our wife says something must be done.

We have borrowed money to pay postage on this letter. If you can't send us the money, please write us your ideas on the quickest and essiest method of suicide.

We want this to strike every delinquent subscriber fair in the pocket.

The celebrated Dagg mystery with new scenery, new actors, and new manifestations of the presence of an evil spirit is being repeated just now at the house of a farmer, three miles from Beaverton. In many respects it closely resembles the Dagg humbug, even to the presence of an immigrant servant girl. Thus far the spirit has declined to speak and has limited its pranks to setting fire to different parts of the house.
