THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., FEB. 24, 1899.

Local and Provincial.

Prof. Falconer will lecture on "Rome" to-night in the Presbyterian church.

The members of Wolfville Division have invited Canning Division to pay them a fraternal visit next Monday evening.

The judges of the intercollegiate debate this evening are to be Dr. Keirstead, of Acadia; Dr. Russell, of Dalhousie; and Dr. Allison, of Mt. Allison.

"One of the ablest lectures delivered in Pictou for a long time was that by Prof. Falconer on 'Rome' last night in Prince St. Hall to a full house."—Pictou Advocate May '97.

Quite a number from Wolfville will go to Halifax to attend the intercollegiate debate this evening between Dalhousie and Acadia. There is to be a special train back after the debate, and the tickets are only $1.25.

The carnival to be held in Aberdeen rink this evening promises to be a very successful and pleasant affair. The young people have been busy preparing costumes and will no doubt present a pretty appearance on the ice.

The plate-glass for Dr. McKenna's new building, which has been delayed for some time, arrived and was put in position this week. The building is also being painted, and begins to show what an ornament to the town it will be.

Mr D. A. Munro has been awarded the contract for the erection of the frost-proof warehouse to be erected by the Wolfville Fruit Storage Co, promoted by Dr. DeWitt and others. The work will be begun as soon as the weather is fit.

A recital will be given by the elocution pupils of Acadia Seminary assisted by students from the piano and vocal departments, Friday evening, March 3rd, in College Hall. Admission 20 cents. Recital opens at 8 o'clock. The patronage of the public is earnestly solicited.

Mr G. W. Burrell, of the Wolfville Clothing Co., has taken the store under Dr. Lawrence's office, where he is preparing to open up a first class tailoring business in March. We think the excellent work he has turned out while in Wolfville should warrant. See adv.

One of the most scholarly men in the Presbyterian church in Canada is Rev. R. A. Falconer, B. D., professor of N. T. exegesis in Pine Hill college, Halifax. He is a B. A. of London, M. A. and B. D. of Edinburgh, a German scholar under Harnock and a man of wide travel. Dr. Marcus Dods, of Edinburgh, has said that of all the men who have sat under his teaching, he expects most of Rev. R. A. Falconer. Mr Falconer has visited Rome twice. He has studied the city in the light of his reading of history, has walked its streets knowing what Rome has been and has done and can do. He is an authority on the subject he will treat in his lecture to-night. As at the present time there is a movement Romeward in one branch of the Christian church, his remarks will be very timely and very interesting. He is a most fluent speaker and possesses a bright and pleasing style of address Don't fail to hear him.

Kentville is moving in the direction of the enlargement and improvement of its water system. At a public meeting held last week it was decided to ask the legislature for power to borrow a sum not to exceed ten thousand dollars for the purpose.

A lot of Hard Nut Coal just arrived.
19 COLDWELL & BORDEN.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Yarmouth Steamship Company was held last week. There was a large attendance. The former directors were re elected, viz:—Hon. L. E. Baker, President; R. Caie, Vice-President; Hon. D. McPherson, M. P. P., Halifax. A dividend of 5 per cent. of the capital stock was declared.

A number of our young people went on a sleigh drive recently to Wolfville. After enjoying one of Mrs Beckwith's fine dinners at the Royal Hotel, they paired off for the rink, where they had a good time. The only complaint we heard on their arriving home, was that of one of the party being "cold," but he was not entirely alone, as ever and anon was heard the cry from the jovial young merchant "So am I."—Hants Journal.

Hockey Matters.

The hockey game between the Annapolis and Wolfville teams which was played in the rink here on Thursday evening of last week was witnessed by a large number of spectators. It was a fast game and very interesting. In the first half neither team scored. In the second half the score was 2-3 in favor of the home team. Both teams did good work, and the game, although closely contested was free from the objectionable features which often creep in.

On Friday night Annapolis and Canning measured sticks at the latter place, when the score was 6-3 in favor of Canning. Those who witnessed the game say that the Annapolis boys did not play as well as they did here. This can probably be accounted for from the fact of their having played a hard game the night before, and the rink being much smaller than they are accustomed to.

Much interest centres in the return game between Canning and Wolfville, which is to be played here some night next week, probably on Wednesday. The Canning team is a good one, and will put up a stiff game—while the Wolfville boys will not be defested if they can help it.

Orchestral Concert.

Music is glorious and harmony is heavenly. We cannot have too much music. We have much too little. Wolfville has too little. We ought to be glad when we can hear music. The Seminary Recital Course is an excellent idea. It should be encouraged by the townspeople for the sake of their better life. The Band too is a worthy company. We spend too much on clothes and luxuries for the palate and too little, far too little, on music. Our local Orchestra is excellent. We happen to know. We have heard other orchestras. We can compare with a standard and ours is choice. Their performance of Friday evening last demonstrated their excellence. Their "team work" was harmonious. They played as one. There was diversity, but it was in unity. Encores were the order of the evening and present day audiences do not request any repetitions if the first taste is not sweet. Mr E. R. Lautant, a New York Baritone, was the soloist. He sang two numbers. One was his own. We liked it best. His listeners recalled him after each song. Mr Lautant, we are informed, was "throat-tired," owing to some heavy preparation work he is doing towards a concert in a neighboring town, but if he was tired it was not noticeable. His "Dreams" is a good song and he sings it well. It is rarely that we have the opportunity of hearing a composer interpret his own work. Should Mr Lautant sing without his notes we are confident he would do himself more justice. The clarinet solo, by Mr Gillmore, was very sweet. "Heimweh," Jungmann's "Heimweh" is always good, but the clarinet seemed to be a very sympathetic interpreter of it. The duet by Mrs Wallace and Mr Thomson, "Dream of the Shepherdess," was a gem, while the trio, "Lucrezia Borgia," by these two violinists and Mr Gillmore, was better still. Nothing could be more gracious to the ear than that strain "O Italia" in this trio. We have heard a chorus of voices render this, but give us the trio.

The Orchestra is not numerous—Mrs Wallace, violin; Miss Cohoon, Piano; Mr Thomson, violin; Mr Borden, cornet; Mr Gillmore, clarinet; and every selection showed careful, true work. "The Anvil Chorus" in "Il Trovatore" was powerful enough to have been done by three times the number of performers. This and all the Orchestra numbers were loudly encored. Wagner's "Tannhauser," a difficult work, showed how there is no selfish playing on the part of any of the five.

Space forbids particular comment on the other numbers. They were all excellent.

Miss Cohoon won golden opinions for her piano work. Mrs Wallace is as sure of her place in the appreciation of her audience as ever. She never played better than on Friday evening. Mr Thomson draws a sweet bow and suggests a thorough knowledge of violin technique. Mr Borden and Mr Gillmore are each artists in their parts in the Orchestra. We long and hope for another evening in College Hall with the Orchestra.
