GRADUATING NURSES.

Presentation of Medals and Diplomas at the Hospital for Sick Children Last Evening.

At the Hospital for Sick Children on College-street an interested audience last evening witnessed the presentation of medals and diplomas to eight nurses, viz.: Misses C. Annie White, Helen C. Frew, Alice Merritt, Alice Kinsey, M. Louise Bolton, May Allen, Maude L. Barnard, Libbie Reid, all of whom have just concluded their course of two years' study in the profession of nursing; about a hundred and fifty ladies and gentlemen were present.

Mr. J. Ross Robertson, the chairman of the Hospital Board, presided, and in the opening address sketched the work of the hospital.

Miss Louise C. Brent, the lady superintendent, and Mr. John H. Gordon, the secretary, represented the official staff of the hospital, while Drs. Primrose, McPhedran, Bingham, Peters, Powell, Starr, Machell, Herald, etc., represented the medical staff, and Mesdames Gzowski, W. L. Leys, Baldwin, etc., represented the Ladies' Committee.

Addresses were also delivered by Drs. Primrose and McPhedran, and the program was enlivened by songs from Miss and Mr. Hutchinson. The evening was a most enjoyable one.

PENNY WISE.

Porcelain Crown Work is a branch of dental art that cannot be done cheaply—and done well. There's a trick of fit—a knack in application and construction—that only skill and long experience acquire, meaning an investment of time and money. We have spent both, liberally. The material, too, is expensive. We use the most expensive—the best. In effect this work is most artistic, and more pleasing for the six anterior teeth than the ordinary gold crowns.

Our charge, $4.00, is no higher than it should be—as little as it can be. To pay less is "penny wise." And the foolishness cannot be estimated at a single pound, either.

Local Jotings.

Arthur Kupitz, a youth who lives at 2 Sackville-terrace, was arrested by Policeman Redford last night. He is charged with stealing two tricycles last Saturday from the shed at rear of Rev. James Allen's house, 165 Carlton-street.

The Browning Club will give an entertainment on Wednesday evening in the Jarvis-street Unitarian Church. Several unique and artistic tableaux will be presented. Among others to take part are: Miss Lillian Burns, Miss Ida McClean, Miss Ronnan and Oscar Menbourne.

Metropolitan Council, Royal Templars of Temperance, met last night in Forum Hall, with Past Councillor Bro. W. McMillan in the chair. Several new members were admitted and applications were received for beneficiary and sick and funeral benefits. This council will work in conjunction with the Toronto Prohibitory Union in rallying the forces for the plebiscite.

The Chatten Literary Club, in the Y.M.C.A. building, gave its members and friends a treat last night in the way of a mock trial, the case being a contested will affair, and it proved a great success. The part of the Judge was acted by Mr. O. Long, and W. Seccombe and F. J. Ross were the lawyers. This event was the closing of the debating season, and the club disbands to come together again in the fall.

A meeting under the auspices of the Toronto District of St. John's Ambulance Association will be held this evening in the Y.W.C. Guild Hall, when the certificates given by this society will be distributed.

Patrolman Kenney of the Holmes Protection Company discovered a fire in W. & J. G. Greey's premises, foot of Church-street, early last night. It was extinguished before much damage had been caused.

The program supplied by the Dunn-avenue Sunday scholars last evening did not only succeed in drawing an audience, the outskirts of which stood upon the church steps, but also in so perfectly delighting the assemblage that its length, which under ordinary circumstances, would have been tiresome, seemed pleasing and bright. Rev. J. A. Rankin, pastor, and Mr. J. W. St. John, superintendent, were present.

Indians to Come Into Line.

The Brantford Rod and Gun Club has met with the Indian council of the Brant reserves, and impressed upon the chiefs the necessity for placing some restraint upon the Indians in the matter of killing game. The treaty rights of the Indians permit them to shoot game in and out of season; the reservations do not come under the Provincial game laws. The councillors said they would show their comrades the reasonableness of the laws, and had no doubt they would willingly be conformed to.

AN INSANE FATHER'S DEED.

A Winona Man Attempts to Murder His Wife and Son.

Fired Four Shots, Two of Which Took Effect—Hamilton Finance Committee Recommend the City to Purchase the Street Railway—Hempstock's Death Caused From a Blow on the Head—Hamilton News.

Hamilton, May 16.—(Special.)—Geo. W. Cline of Winona, at one time a prosperous fruit grower, attempted to murder his wife and son, Vance this afternoon. He and his son were in an upper room in the Cline residence and got into a dispute. Cline fired twice at his son and one shot struck a three-cornered file in his vest pocket. The bullet cut in two, and one half entered young Cline's breast. Mrs. Cline entered the room and Cline fired twice at her, one of the bullets striking her left arm above the elbow, fracturing the bone. Vance Cline had strength enough to throw his father on the floor, and John, a younger brother, ran in and helped Vance to tie his father's arms and hold him until the arrival of Constable House. Cline was quite cool over the affair, and said he had settled an old score. He was taken to Grimsby before Magistrate Forbes, and formally charged with attempting to murder his wife and son. A remand of eight days was granted, and Cline was taken to St. Catharines jail. The affair caused a great sensation in the district. It is generally believede that Cline is insane.

Social Reform Work.

The Finance Committee this evening again considered the street railways application for relief from the terms of its charter. Messrs. Whitcombe, Buchanan, Flett and others were present representing the Social Reform Club, and asked that the city acquire the system. The discussion that followed showed that Ald. Hobson, on site committee, favored an extension of the franchise. Finally a resolution was passed recommending that steps be taken by the city to acquire the system, and that the committee be authorized to obtain information to enable the committee to recommend to the Council an offer for the railway company's property. The company's solicitor, E. Martin, Q.C., said during the evening that the company did not want to sell.

Wm. Hempstock's Death.

The coroner's inquest on the death of Wm. Hempstock, whose body was found yesterday was opened at the City Hospital this morning. The principal witness was Wm. P. Hempstock, a cousin, who said that he and deceased went to Geo. Goodale, Argue-street, and asked him for $1.20 owing the witness and his uncle. Goodale gave him only 20 cents, and deceased made a remark, which caused Goodale to pick up a piece of scantling and hit him several times. Witness said he interfered and got struck. Witness and deceased then left, and deceased complained of pains in the head. The two men went into a liquor store and the deceased stole two bottles and "skipped." Witness did not see him alive again.

The jury then ordered a port mortem examination, and adjourned to meet this evening, to hear testimony.

At the Police Court Goodale was remanded till Thursday on a charge of manslaughter. He is a respectable contractor.

This afternoon the police were notified that the deceased was wanted in Buffalo for theft, and on Thursday jumped from a two-storey window to avoid arrest. It is supposed he immediately came to this city.

This evening the inquest was continued at No. 3 Police Station, and Crown Attorney Crerar assisted Coroner Philp. Drs. Edgar and Rennie, who made the post mortem examination, testified that death was due to a rupture of a blood vessel in the head, caused by a blow. They said the deceased's body was well nourished.

The prisoner's father and mother swore that the Hempstocks were aggressive to their son before he struck the deceased. When deceased was struck and felled, Pat Hempstock rushed at Goodale and was also felled. Then Goodale told them to depart, which they did. Both witnesses swore that no one of the two used a club.

Joseph Hempstock, Buffalo, father of the dead man, walked into the court room in the middle of the session and dramatically announced, "I am the lad's father; I want to testify." He was assured he would be heard later on. Several other witnesses were called, and about 11 o'clock Chief Smith asked that the inquest be adjourned till Wednesday night, and the jurors agreed to this.

Baptist Convention.

The annual convention of Ontario and Quebec Baptist Churches opened in the James-street Baptist Church this evening, and over two hundred delegates were present. About as many more are expected to-morrow. The officers of the convention are: W. J. Copp, chairman; S. H. Moore, secretary; H. H. Lloyd, treasurer; C. W. Bradfield, chairman reception committee; Rev. J. L. Gilmour, chairman of music committee.

The meeting was presided over by Rev. Ira Smith of London, president, who delivered a lengthy and comprehensive address. The motion to appoint a Nominating Committee to name the officers brought a strong protest from Rev. Dr. Murdoch, but the resolution was carried and a committee named.

Wesley Rhodes Returns.

Last July Wesley Rhodes, a well-known colored man, disappeared from his home and no word was received of him by his wife and family till yesterday, when he surprised them by walking into their house with a pension for $6 a month, received from Uncle Sam for fighting in the battles of Richmond and Petersburg. He says he has been in Buffalo since he left and looks upon his heretofore unexplained absence as a huge joke.

Saturday Night Riot.

Merchants on James-street, it is said, may ask for investigation by the Police Commissioners into the cause of the riot on James-street on Saturday night. It is alleged that had the major of police arrested and promptly removed Thomas Bernard, the drunken man whom the crowd afterwards tried to liberate, the trouble would not have been serious. Quite a number of young men went about with sore heads to-day. About a dozen persons were clubbed by the police.

T. Bernard was charged with being drunk and disorderly before Magistrate Jelfs, and was fined $1 and $2 costs, and Jas. Beattie, the other man arrested in the melee, was allowed to go free.

Minor Matters.

It is only fair to the Waterous Manufacturing Co. of Brantford to state that there was nothing in their contract with this city providing that the Pitts road roller was to be built in Canada.

John Smith, Garth-street, has notified the police that he was robbed of $3 while drunk on Simcoe-street early yesterday morning. A man and a "widow," he says, did the trick.

The body of John Story, Peter-street, which was found near Ancaster on Saturday, was brought to Blachford's establishment here this evening and will be shipped to Orillia, for burial by his brother, to-morrow.

Mrs. Eliza McMillan, Albert-road, was fined $20 this morning by the Police Magistrate for assaulting Mrs. Mary Dorn. Miss Annie Bell of Niagara was a witness in the case.

A meeting of local members of the defunct Order of Select Knight, who have been asked to pay alleged arreas, will be held next Saturday night to decide on what course to pursue.

The meeting of the Ministerial Association this afternoon was the last of the season. Rev. Mr. Young read a paper on Prof. Sandy's book, entitled, "The Oracles of God." A discussion followed, Revs. Drs. Lyle, Burns, Smith and others taking part. It was decided not to hold a closing social. Rev. Mr. Shearer was appointed to represent the association at the Christian Endeavor convention in October.

Mesdames J. M. Gibson, N. D. Galbraith, J. Calder, Levy and Hoodless and Miss Calder, have gone to Ottawa to attend the convention of the National Council of Women.

Eight buglers of the XIII. Regiment will be charged at the Police Court to-morrow with violating the Militia Act. The buglers went on strike last week and refused to play at the parade on Friday night last.

SERIOUSLY HURT BY A COMPANION.

A Peterboro Man Grows Careless With a Revolver.

Peterboro, May 16.—A shooting accident occurred here this evening, which adds one more incident to the long chapter of tales classified as the "didn't know it was loaded series."

Mr. Grose keeps a boarding house on Charlotte-street, and this evening while the boarders were setting in a room smoking and talking, one of the number, a young man named Adams, took a small revolver from his pocket and began snapping the trigger. As is usual on such occasions, the revolver went off, and the bullet took effect in the jaw of a young man named Ruttan. The injured man was removed to the Nicholls Hospital where it was found that the wound was a most dangerous one.

Adams, the pistol exerciser, keenly feels his position and states that positively he did not know the revolver was loaded.

Billee Taylor at the Princess.

Billee Taylor, the comic opera produced by the Cummings Company at the Princess isn't at all hard to take, and it does you good. The music is not so bright or catchy as any of the operas put on by the company previously, but the piece contains lots of fun and good character business, and after the first few minutes of the initial act it does not lag. The audience last night was not slow to show its appreciation. Fred Solomon's role of Ben Barnacle, the boatswain, fitted him, and his song, "All on Account of Eliza," with its topical verses, caught everyone. Sol Solomon, Fred's little comedian brother, appeared with the company for the first time, and he didn't throw down the family. W. H. West as a comical villian is a real good thing, and he divided the honors with Fred Solomon. Elvia Crox Sedgrooke, Laura Moore, Sylvia Cornish, Harold Blake, Hubert Wilke and all the other members of Mr. Cummings' clever company contributed ably to tell a musical story, splendidly staged and costumed, and full of funny situations, and patrons of the Princess Theatre this week will not be disappointed. Last night the Toronto and Rochester teams occupied the lower boxes.

Visitor Will Waive Extradition.

Ludwig Waltenburg is a German on a visit to Toronto, and he went to bed last night at 47 Nelson-street. His slumbers were disturbed at 11 o'clock, and he was told that a gentleman wanted to see him. Ludwig suggested that the caller come around in the morning, but the tall man was Detective Davis, and as he wouldn't have time to call to-day he asked the Teuton to get dressed and accompany him to police headquarters. Waltenburg was arrested on a charge of forgery in Detroit, the authorities of the Straits City having asked the Toronto police to look for him. The prisoner is 43 years of age, tall and good-looking. He is of gentlemanly appearance and a good musician. He said he would wave extradition proceedings.

A Dash at the Dandelion.

Five stalwart men, armed with common turnip hoes, are working daily on the University campus, destroying the dandelions that have blossomed forth in all their noxious effulgence. The dandelions have the start, and the contest will doubtless be in their favor at the finish, for half of the weeds have gone to seed, and the wind is driving the seed everywhere.

Around the Parliament Buildings three men are kept mowing the yellow fellows down. This will make them less conspicuous, but a little money expended would root the weed out and improve the appearance of the lawn.

Employer Missed His Purse.

A picture frame agent, James Young, 152 Queen-street east, is in trouble over a purse and $4.75, which was missed from the office of his employer, E. R. Powell, Yonge-street Arcade, last night. It is alleged that Young went into the office last night, and that when he left the purse and contents left also. Detective Cuddy placed Young under arrest.

New Customs Regulations Applying at Fort Wrangel Are Satisfactory.

Freight May be Transhipped Under the Supervision of an Officer—Unconditional Bonding Privileges Granted Through American Territory—Business Before the Senate—At the Court of Exchequer—Ottawa General News.

Ottawa, May 16.—(Special.)—A copy of the United States regulations regarding the transhipment of goods and passengers at Fort Wrangel, at the mouth of the Stikine River, has been received here. Transhipment of both goods and passengers will be permitted at Wrangel under the supervision of an officer of the United States Customs Department. British vessels plying on the Stikine may touch at places in Alaska for the purchase of fuel or supplies, or if in distress. The United States Customs officer may also permit the temporary landing of passengers on the Stikine in United States territory. No merchandise shall be landed at such places, and no liquor sold or used on such vessels. The Alaska bill, which was signed by the President on Saturday afternoon, grants unconditional bonding privileges on Canadian goods for the Yukon at all ports in Alaska.

Will Arraign the Government.

Mr. Davies gives notice of a resolution which he will move on going into supply. It arraigns the Government in set terms for its breach of promise in public matters, and thus concludes: "That cynical and systematic disregard of pledges, promises and resolutions by the present Administration must seriously injure the machinery of the Government, uproot the trust in public men and minimize, if not destroy, the usefulness of Parliamentary institutions."

With the Senate.

The bill to incorporate the Toronto and Hudson Bay Railway Company was read a third time in the Senate to-day, with an amendment proposed by Sir Mackenzie Bowell, suspending the coming into operation of all the clauses in the bill for two years, during which time existing companies have the power to commence the work of constructing a railway over the same route. One clause, empowering the company to enter into an agreement with the existing companies for the construction of the railway jointly, has not been suspended.

The divorce bill of James Pearson of Toronto was passed.

Senator Cagrain will move that when the Senate adjourns on Wednesday next it stands adjourned until Wednesday, May 25.

Queen v. Village of Merritton.

At a sitting of the Exchequer Court this morning Mr. W. E. Hodgins, on behalf of the plaintiff, moved for judgment in default of pleading against the defendant in the case of The Queen v. The Village of Merritton. The information of the Attorney-General showed that the defendant corporation were lessees of certain property under the control of the Department of Railways and Canals on the Welland Canal, which was used for the purposes of water supply for the defendant corporation. The lease was dated in 1887, and the yearly rent reserved was $400. Only $160 was paid on account of the same. The information claimed $2800 as due in respect of the said lease, but it was established by affidavit that the exact amount due was $2000. Judgment was ordered to be entered for the latter amount with costs.

Ottawa General News.

In St. John's Church, Episcopal, Rev. Mr. Mackay on Sunday paid a touching tribute to the life and work of D'Alton McCarthy as a factor in Canadian politics.

The fifth annual meeting and conference of the National Council of Women of Canada opens for business to-morrow morning in the convocation hall of the Normal School. The Toronto delegates and their places of residence while in the city are: Miss Cayley, with Mrs. C. Layton, Cobourg-street; Miss Cox, with Dean Lauder, 410 Albert-street; Mrs. Edward Leigh, at Y. W. C. A., No. 14; Mrs. Thompson, with Mrs. C. Moore, Albert-street. The substitutes are Mrs. Torrington and Mrs. Farrer.

About 600 more Galicians went through the city on a special train yesterday morning about 4 o'clock.

The Free Press (Liberal), discussing the project of an extra sessional indemnity, referred to in these despatches yesterday, says: "There is no possible justification for such a contention this year, and it may safely be said that if the members voted themselves more money such a course would meet with unqualified disapproval from the public."

Mr. H. J. Hill, manager of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition, was here to-day to ask the Premier to attend the Fair next September on Farmers' Day. Mr. Hill thinks the farmers would like to see Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and that it would do Sir Wilfrid good to see the farmers. The Premier received Mr. Hill courteously, but could not give a definite answer.

The House will not sit on Thursday.

Toronto College of Music.

A piano recital was given last evening at the Toronto College of Music by Miss Eleanor Kennedy, assisted by Miss Eileen Millet, soprano, and Mr. Harry Torrington, violinist. The program was a delightful one, and the large audience showed their appreciation by numerous encores. Miss Kennedy, who is a pupil of Mr. F. H. Torrington, held her audience by her clever rendering of difficult numbers, and Miss Millet has a very sweet soprano voice. Mr. F. H. Torrington was orchestra director and piano accompanist.
