- 22 -

ARTICLE XLVI

Any state which was at war with Germany and is not a signatory to the present treaty may accede to the treaty.

ARTICLE XLIII

With the comingIVIX ELOITAA' the present peace treaty Germany shall be freed of all obligations under

The treaty will grant no legal or other rights or advantages to states which will not be signatories to the present treaty and no legal or other rights or the present treaty and no legal or other rights or interests of Germany shall be regarded as infringed by any provisions of the present treaty in favour of such states.

ARTICLE XLVIII

The present treaty, as well as all instruments of ratification and accession shall be deposited with the Government of which shall furnish certified copies of the treaty to each of the signatory or acceding states and will inform these states of all ratifications states and will inform these states of all ratifications and accessions. Soviet Union, the United Kingdom, the United

In faith whereof the undersigned Plenipotentiaries have signed the present treaty and have affixed thereto dispute within a period of two months shall, Done in ... in the Russian, English, French and German languages, all texts being equally authentic. by mutual agreement of the two sides ffrom the nationals of a third country.

of ratification by the unton of postor postalist Republics, by the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern "Ireland, by the United States of America, by France and Germany, With respect to every country which will subsequently ratify the present treaty or accede to it, the treaty will come into force upon the deposit of instruments of ratification or accession by this state.

If the treaty does not come into force within ten months after the date of deposit of Germany's instruments of ratification, any state which has ratified it may enforce the treaty between itself and Germany by notifying thereof Germany and the depository state within three years from the deposit of instruments of ratification by Germany.