ELEVENTH YEAR. MONDAY MORNING, JANUARY 27, 1890. ONE CENT.

A NEW MUNICIPAL VENDETTA

ALD. E. A. MACDONALD'S CHARGES AGAINST THE MAYOR.

He First Declares He Has No Connection With the New Street Car Company and Calls on His Worship to Declare His Position in Regard to the City Printing—Other Strong Allegations.

Ald. E. A. Macdonald appears to have been nettled by recent events at the City Hall. He stated on Saturday that he was determined to resent the attacks that have been made on him; that he attributed these attacks to the inspiration of Mayor Clarke, and to the end that the truth might be elicited he addressed an open letter to the Mayor and supplied a copy thereof to the public press. The letter runs:

To His Worship the Mayor of the City of Toronto:

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—It is very unsatisfactory work defending myself from your attacks through Ald. Boustead. As yours is the master hand that directs the persecution against me, I shall in future ignore Ald. Boustead and devote myself to you.

I will begin by making the following declaration:

In the matter of the proposed Citizens' Street Railway Company of Toronto, Limited:

I, Ernest Albert Macdonald, of the City of Toronto, in the County of York, alderman, do solemnly declare that:

1. I have no interest, financially or otherwise, directly or indirectly in the proposed Citizens' Street Railway Company, except an interest that I hold in common with all other citizens of Toronto, to see an efficient and extended street railway service, more particularly in the eastern part of the city.

2. That I have no reason to expect to have any interest in the above company or in any other company.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the act respecting extra judicial oaths.

E. A. MACDONALD.

Declared before me at the city of Toronto, in the County of York, this 25th day of January, 1890. CHARLES MILLER, Notary.

Now, Mr. Mayor, as you succeeded in putting me practically upon my oath, I would respectfully request that you settle the public mind on several questions that may not be quite as burning as the Street Railway question, but still I am assured the public would like to see your declaration on these points.

Mr. John Y. Reid, your ex-surety for the contract of city printing and the present city printer, could not make such a declaration in your absence, but now that you are here the public mind would be easier on this question even with your declaration. I want you to declare that you have no interest of any kind in the contract for corporation printing and that you receive no benefit by virtue of John Y. Reid being the contractor for the city printing, either through your plant, presses or type, that you would not have if the late competitors for the contract had succeeded. Your Worship is a member of the council and a member of every committee of the council by virtue of your office, hence a member of the Committee of the Whole.

Kindly declare that you did not make a "catspaw" of Ald. Boustead by getting him to move the increase to the City Clerk's salary at the last meeting of the late council and declare the reasons why you did not do it yourself and take the responsibility of it.

Kindly declare in the same manner as I have declared that the attempt to keep me out of the chairmanship of the Street Railway Franchise Committee was not a preconcerted scheme concocted by you, with Ald. Boustead as "catspaw" again.

And while you are about it you may as well tell by statutory declaration what were the terms upon which The Globe supported you at the last election, as against their natural friend and ally, ex-Ald. McMillan. Was it, or was it not, the condition of your acquiescence and shameful silence in the matter of the extension of Victoria-street, with its special benefit to The Globe Printing Company and consequent injury and wrong to the Victoria-street ratepayers?

And further declare that there was no understanding between yourself and a clique or cabal of your fellow-members of the council to make you a court house commissioner in the event of the bylaw carrying for the appointment of the commission.

Kindly set forth in the declaration what positions of public trust you have occupied without a salary or other emolument attached to them, and while you are about it you may as well take the public into your confidence and tell them what provision they are to make for your future, for even your new-found ally, The Globe, does not propose to support you for a fourth term at $4000 a year, and you must live some way.

And last but not least, Mr. Mayor, will you tell the public in the same way why you did not cause an appeal to be made in the suit of the city against the Toronto Street Railway Company, when $6000 or $7000 costs were involved, as well as a declaration of the city's rights, when our standing counsel, Christopher Robinson, advised such an appeal? What were the terms, Mr. Mayor, upon which you neglected to cause such an appeal to be made? Tell us if you have confidence in Mr. Christopher Robinson's opinion or not, and if not, why is he retained, with your full consent, as standing counsel for the city? If you have confidence in his opinion why was his advice not acted upon? Was not the Toronto Street Railway Company fortunate in having such a "friend at court"?

And, Mr. Mayor, if you make the above declarations as iron-clad as you can, let me give you at least one reason who they should not be believed.

Whilst in the discharge of my duties at the City Hall I had several times heard Your Worship use language so foul and blasphemous that the lowest blackguard in the city would be proud of you as an equal. Do not suppose, Mr. Mayor, that I in any way sought to hear such language or that I heard anything that was not intended for my ears. You made no concealment, and I was not obliged by the ties of friendship or any other reason to withhold this statement. The reason I did not make it public before the elections was that I had my doubts as to how far a man's private life should be brought into his public life and used against him.

Upon consideration I have concluded that anything done in the public halls of the city by the Chief Magistrate during office hours is certainly a matter of public concern. What will the christian people of Toronto say when they learn that you wantonly and vilely blaspheme "that worthy name whereby they are called?" A man that will descerrate the name of the Most High in that shameful manner has nothing sacred upon which to make an oath. Unless he can appeal to some other Deity I do not see how his oath can be believed.

Mr. Mayor, I do not suppose the contents of this letter, or any letter or declaration that you may pen, will be satisfactory to either of us or the public. I am content to have all these matters referred to the County Judge and full inquiry made. I can substantiate every word I say by a host of witnesses and would like to have you do the same, for I would not take your single word unsupported in any case where you had an interest of any kind adverse to the truth.

I have not sought this controversy with you, but have been forced to take this action in self-defence, or abandon public life, the latter course I would be very glad to take but by no means while under a cloud. You have every advantage in communicating with the public. You can play at your usual policy of concealing your hand; you can color all the reports of public business and public men to the reporters who interview you from day to day, but be sure you shall have the advantage no longer. This street railway question is too important a matter for the reporters to take your version of the public policy without giving others a chance. Mr. Mayor, even if you do not love an honest policy I would advise you to try and have one because it is best.

Yours very truly,
E. A. MACDONALD.

LOSSES CAUSED BY FLAMES.

Disastrous Fire at Sherbrooke, Que.—A Cincinnati Blaze.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Jan. 25.—A disastrous fire, which broke out here this morning, was by strenuous efforts confined to three buildings. The Grand Central Hotel which caught several times was carefully watched and saved. The National Bank building, insured for $8200, is a total loss. The Twose building, insured for $7000, is also a total loss, not a brick is left standing. E. Boucher loses $500 on building and $1000 on stock. Belanger Bros., printers, stock $3000. W. Gabourry, manager National Bank, furniture $600. Depuy, jeweller, $200. Vineberg, general drygoods, loss unknown. Presby, photographer, $1000. Twoss furniture stock, $10,000. Odells, jewellry and general goods, $7000. Insurance agents estimate the total loss about $40,000, devided amongst the Liverpool, London and Globe, Northern, Royal Canadian, Hartford, Western Association, Queen's, North British and Mercantile and Commercial Union.

A Cincinnati Blaze.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 25.—At 6.10 this evening flames were seen bursting from the windows of the high building on the southeast corner of Fifth and Sycamore-streets. The fire started after all the occupants of the building had left it. It was caused by an explosion in the office of Knight & Co., printers, occupying the third floor. The fire spread rapidly, and within an hour the entire building, with all its contents, was destroyed, the loss probably approximating $300,000. The building, which contains seven stories, is a comparatively new one and belongs to the William Glenn estate. The Henderson Achert Lithographing Company was on the sixth and seventh floors. The loss of this company is total, amounting to $100,000. The insurance is about $75,000. H. Beckeburn & Co., shoe manufacturers, occupying the fifth floor, estimate their loss at from $15,000 to $20,000. Leythorn & Co., on the fourth floor, loss $12,000 or $15,000. Knight & Co., printers on the third floor, put their loss at $15,000 to $18,000. On the third floor were Taber & Duncan, manufacturers of paper boxes. Their loss is $3000. The Keck Diadhind Manufacturing and Importing Company on the third floor had a stock worth $100,000. Of this $15,000 worth of diamonds were saved uninjured. The rest of the stock is in the safe, but as yet its condition is unknown. A real estate office, a barber shop, Heck & Farley, plumbers, and the office of two of the manufacturing companies up stairs occupied the first floor. The losses on these will reach $8000.

In Gardner, Mass.

GARDNER, Mass., Jan. 25.—Stevens' block, occupied by a number of business firms, was burned this afternoon. Loss, $86,000.

A Montreal Hotel Scorched.

MONTREAL, Jan. 26.—A fire broke out this noon in the Balmoral Hotel, which proved to be of rather a serious nature. Mr. Dawson, one of the guests occupying room 332, was lying on his bed and was awakened by smoke around the steam pipes entering his room. On opening the door the corridor also was found filled with smoke, and he descended by the fire escape to the next story. He climbed in a window and gave the alarm, which soon brought the brigade. By that time the fire was burning fiercely but was soon got under control. The damage from water was heavy and the total loss will amount to $25,000. The building is insured for between $95,000 and $105,000 and the furniture for $50,000.

A Steamship Scorched.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 26.—Fire destroyed the iron steamship Bychanene, loaded with jute and resin, this morning. Four firemen were overcome by smoke while they were in the cabin. They were taken to the hospital, where they revived. Loss $30,000.

BISHOP O'MAHONY TO GO.

Some More Transfers in the Archdiocese of Toronto—The Priest of St. Helen's to Go to the Cathedral.

"The World was right," said one of the wealthiest of Toronto Catholics on Saturday, "when it stated that Archbishop Walsh's sweeping changes in Toronto are arousing the indignation of the people. He has sent away the men he ought to have allowed to stay and kept those who should have been allowed to go. But you have not heard the other changes that are in contemplation. I was informed yesterday on good authority that Bishop O'Mahoney is to be the next victim. Very Rev. Father McCann, parish priest of St. Helen's, Brockton, goes to St. Michael's Cathedral to take the place of Vicar-General Laurent, who has been transferred to St. Paul's Parish as rector. Bishop O'Mahony is sent out to Brockton to rusticate there. St. Helen's is the next thing to a country parish."

"Won't Bishop O'Mahony have something to say about this?"

"He can say all he likes but it will not help him. Although a bishop he is nothing in Toronto but a parish priest and completely under the commands of the archbishop."

"Is it not pretty rough that he should go after getting St. Paul's up to its present prosperous condition?"

"That is just it. St. Paul's is too rich a plum as it is not to be longed for. The people of St. Michael's will be sorry to lose Father Laurent and the people of Brockton Father McCann."

"I thought that priests could only be removed from their parishes for cause?"

"That is just the trouble. Unfortunately this is a missionary diocese and therefore completely at the mercy of the Italians. If it were on the same footing as the church in the States no bishop could follow the course which Archbishop Walsh is pursuing. We could have some say then and we could keep our priests when we wanted to."

Not to be Trifled With.

ABBEYVILLE, S.C., Jan. 25.—A. N. Nelson was shot and killed to-day by his wife, who then attempted to commit suicide by shooting herself in the head. She is in a critical condition. Nelson's 5-year-old boy saw the tragedy, which resulted from a trivial cause. Nelson had bought his wife a pair of shoes and lost them while on his way home under the influence of liquor. His wife sent him back to hunt for them, and upon his return unsuccessful, she killed him in her rage. The weapon used was a shotgun.

Families leaving the city or giving up housekeeping can have their furniture carefully stored at moderate cost with Mitchell, Miller & Co., 45 Front-street east.

Influenza (La Grippe)—An Absolute Preventative for This Terrible Disease.

This preparation emanates from scientific sources, and is exactly what is prescribed by the most eminent physicians in Europe, and is used in the great hospitals of that country and Great Britain, not only because it is a preventative but for the reason that it is recognized as being the only medicine known which will effect a cure.

It has been arranged that this medicine shall be made in Canada to supply the American demand, and a binding agreement has been entered into whereby the price has been fixed at one dollar—no more and no less. The Hospital Remedy Company, 225 West King-street, Toronto, Canada, are the only authorized agents and manufacturers for this continent, and their name is on every box. Sent postpaid on receipt of price—one dollar.

Charged With Robbery.

SUSPENSION BRIDGE, Jan. 26.—William H. Tremble, proprietor of the Mansion House, and his wife have been arrested on a charge of robbing J. E. Whittemore of Hamilton of $500 in gold, while he was a guest at their house Jan. 11.

THE BANKERS GET A HEARING

MR. FOSTER LISTENS TO THE MEN OF FINANCE.

What the Minister Says About the Interview—The Printers in the Bureau Have the Government in a Corner—The New County Judge of Norfolk—Lady Stanley's Illness.

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—A large and influential deputation of bankers waited on Hon. George E. Foster, Minister of Finance, in reference to the proposed banking legislation to be introduced into Parliament this session. The deputation was introduced by Senator Lewin, president of the Bank of New Brunswick and chairman of the Bankers' Association, and Mr. George Burn of the Bank of Ottawa.

The deputation remained with the minister for over two hours. The press were excluded. Hon. Mr. Foster in an interview this morning said: "We have had a long and very exhaustive discussion. It is true that a scheme has been discussed for the currency at par of bank notes, issued in any one province, throughout the Dominion, the regulation of circulation and a guarantee fund to cover notes issued by any bank that might have to close its doors. The terms were discussed generally, but no definite decision arrived at. That is all I wish to say at present."

He admitted that the introduction of the American system was discussed.

One of the most prominent bankers present, in an interview this morning, said: "The most important thing done this morning was to discuss the circulation of notes. It was agreed by all present that all notes should be redeemed at par wherever presented and a guarantee fund be established. I think that 5 per cent. was a great mistake for the guarantee fund. That sum was mentioned this morning for the first time. At Montreal the sum of 5 per cent. was not mentioned but a very much smaller one was thought sufficient. When I say that it was agreed on, I mean by the bankers present, as the minister did not open his mouth. The American system was strongly condemned and almost unanimously. Mr. Walker introduced a scheme and was the chief opponent of a national circulation. The question of national currency was discussed and strongly condemned. The matter was a very one-sided one; the bankers talked and Mr. Foster listened.

The Row in the Printing Bureau.

Having secured the backing of the International Typographical Union, the printers employed in the Government Bureau here have got the Government in a corner and the increase in wages from $11 to $13 per week seems bound to be made. A special meeting of the Ottawa Union was held last night to consider the matter and among those present was J. B. Keefer of St. Catharines, organizer for Canada, who has been deputed by the International to advise the local union in the matter.

Recently $13 was adopted as the scale for the bureau and last night by a vote of 130 to 36 it was decided that this scale be adopted, ultimatum will be laid before Mr. Chapleau to-morrow by a deputation consisting of Organizer Keefer, Ald. Frank Farrell, President of the Ottawa Union, and C. S. O. Bondreault. They will be introduced by Mr. Rykert, M.P., and expect to be accompanied by other members of Parliament.

They will tell Mr. Chapleau that unless he agrees to the increase a strike will be ordered at a special meeting to be held for that purpose on Monday night, and that no work will be done in the bureau and no Government work will be permitted to be done elsewhere while the strike lasts. They are further authorized to state that the printers are supported in their demand by labor organizations of all descriptions all over the country.

Of course the printers contend that their demand is of itself righteous, but they frankly admit that it would not have been made had they been treated decently in the bureau. They allege that Superintendent Senecal has been a veritable tyrant, that he has irritated the printers by hundreds of little petty meannessos and has acted in a manner which would not have been tolerated for a weekly in the employes of any private establishment.

The specific grievances have so often been ventilated in the press that it is needless to go over the list again. Prominent, however, of the complaints made is the intolerable nuisance of stopping work on every saint's day observed by the Catholic Church in Quebec, the men being docked the day's wages of course and Protestants as well as Catholics being compelled to observe the holiday.

Then again gross favoritism is charged, Mr. Senecal being said to have voluntarily advanced the wages of cronies of his, who though incompetent workmen made up for their deficiencies in this respect by acting the part of spies. One of the alleged spies was handled without gloves, so to speak, at the meeting last night, and quite an excitement was caused by the epi[illegible] the culprit making a very poor det[illegible]

So[illegible] of the Opposition members of Parliament are making preparations for a thorough expose of the methods of Superintendent Senecal and those in authority under him, and if the misdoings alleged can be proven the Government will have a heap of trouble in making atonement.

Notes and Gossip.

A successor to the late Judge Livingston, County Judge of Norfolk, has been appointed, Mr. Robb, Q.C., of Simcoe being chosen for the place.

Lieutenant-Governor Schultz of Manitoba, is ill and will not be able to open the Provincial Legislature on Thursday and Chief Justice Taylor has therefore been deputed to act for him.

The Parliamentary Press Gallery yesterday elected J. S. Willison of The Globe President for the current year, Fred Cook of The Empire Vice-President and W. A. Harken of The Montreal Star Secretary. The committee men are H. Wallis, Mail; W. Mackenzie, Montreal Gazette; G. H. Ham, Winnipeg Free Press; H. Vidal, L'Electeur, and F. G. H. Williams, Montreal Gazette. The meeting passed a resolution of sympathy with Alexander Jacques of Ottawa ("The Old Man") and A. C. Campbell of The Globe, who were prevented by illness from being present, and with Joe Duggan of The Hansard staff, called to Quebec by the death of his wife; also a resolution regretting the absence of H. M. Mathewson, for several years on The Mail staff, who was Vice-President for '89 and would have been President for '90 had he come to Ottawa this year.

A Montreal firm proposes to solve the problem of providing additional accommodation in the parliamentary building by raising the roof bodily and putting another story under it. There are at present only two stories and the basement. It is suggested to put all offices not in general use on the top story, thus leaving available for committee room purposes and the use of members the present offices.

Lady Stanley, an influenza victim, has been laid up since before the opening of the session. She is still unwell and all festivities at Rideau Hall are off for the present so far as the ladies are concerned.

"BILLY" CLOW FOUND.

Residing on His Brother's Farm Near Rochester, All Broken Up.

The first authentic information of the whereabouts and condition of "Billy" Clow, the absent restaurateur, was brought to the city Saturday by Mr. R. H. Howard, the wholesale liquor man of Colborne-street, almost opposite Turtle Hall. Mr. Howard is one of the committee of creditors who will wind up the estate. Friday he learned that Mr. Clow was at his brother's farm at Bellona, a small place 60 miles from Rochester. "Billy" was in a poor plight: broken down in health, out of funds and quite dispirited. He was so mixed up in the head when he left Toronto that though he had a ticket for Rochester he went nearly to Detroit on the Great Western. He did not tell his visitor why he left the city, though he is firm in his refusal to come back. It is believed he was "bothered about money matters." Mr. Howard took him to Rochester and got him to execute the necessary papers for the winding up of his affairs and then returned with him to his brother's at Bellona.

A LARGE DEATH RATE.

La Grippe and its Successors Continue to Hold Sway in the City—A Big Increase.

The death rate in Toronto continues high, a large percentage of the fatalties being attributed to la grippe and its sequence, pneunomia and bronchial complaints being the principal successors. Last week there were registered at the City Hall 82 deaths and 76 births against 81 and 64 the week previous. For the corresponding weeks of last year the deaths registered were 14 and 26. This for a fortnight is a total of 163 against 40. Of course all the deaths that occur are not recorded at once, as under the act 30 days are allowed for registration. The return of the wet weather of yesterday will not tend to mitigate the malady. At St. Michael's Cathedral last evening it was stated that during last week 18 deaths had occurred in that parish. The number of young men that have been carried off since the first of the year has been alarmingly large.

The Catholics and those of other faiths will learn with regret of the precarious condition of Rev. Father McBride, ex-rector of Our Lady of Lourdes. On Thursday last he was anointed for death and his life at present hangs on a thread. The trouble is congestion of the lungs, and had he not been stricken down he would now be in charge of his new parish in Dixie.

Mr. James Beswick, for many years collector for St. Patrick's Ward, died at an early hour on Saturday morning of pneumonia. Deceased was 60 years a resident of Toronto. He never fully recovered from the shock caused by the dreadful death of his son last year, who was shot in the Island while hunting.

An old and esteemed resident of Toronto passed away yesterday in the person of Mrs. Henrietta Taylor, widow of the late Mr. Thomas Taylor of Don Mills and mother of ex-Ald. Thomas Taylor of the Ontario Brewery. The deceased lady, who was 61 years of age, has suffered from heart trouble for years and this, with an attack of the prevailing malady, carried her off. The funeral takes place on Wednesday at 2½ p.m. from her late residence, No. 510 Jarvis-street.

Mrs. Crompton, relict of the late Rev. Thomas Crompton, who died last week at the residence of her son-in-law, Rev. W. Reid, Weston, was attacked with the grip which was followed by congestion of the lungs. The deceased was over 74 years.

R. J. Coady, aged 27, a clerk in the real estate office of Henry & Quinn, died yesterday afternoon of la grippe. He was a native of Dundas, whence the remains will be taken to-day at 5 o'clock.

Mr. John Kilwee, late manager of the Nealon House, and formerly connected with the old American Hotel, died early Saturday morning from la grippe. He was only ill a few days.

Some of Those Who Are Sick.

Mayor Clarke has been downed by la grippe at last. He went home sick after the meeting of the Police Commissioners on Saturday.

City Treasurer Coady got down to work on Saturday after a four days' wrestle with la grippe.

Mr. Walter Mackenzie, clerk of the County Court is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Detective Inspector Stark is down with grippe. His last official business was the auction of unreclaimed goods on Saturday.

Mr. George Spence, City Deputy of the I. O. G. T., who has been confined to his residence for the past two weeks through illness is rapidly recovering.

Death of Mrs. James Stevenson.

THE NEW TREATY.

The Provisions of the Extradition Document Negotiated by Sir Julian and Mr. Secretary Blaine.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The new extradition treaty negotiated by Secretary Blaine with Great Britain and now pending in the Senate "leaked" from the official reservoir and is published to-day. Secretary Blaine and Sir Julian Pauncefote have agreed upon these following crimes in addition to those already included in the present agreement as extraditable:

Manslaughter.
Counterfeiting of money.
Embezzlement of money or other valuable articles.
Fraud by a bailee, banker, or agent or officer of similar character.
Perjury or subornation of perjury.
Rape.
Abduction, child stealing, kidnapping.
Burglary, house breaking or shop breaking.
Piracy, revolt or conspiracy to revolt on shipboard at sea.

Political crimes are not extraditable.

No person surrendered can be tried for crimes of a political character. No person extradited shall be tried for any other crime committed before extradition except the one extradited for until he has had a chance to return to the country extradited from. All articles seized in the possession of the person extradited shall be given up when extradition takes place, unless a competent authority of the state becomes custodian. If several States demand extradition of the same person the State making application first will have priority. Fugitives convicted of extraditable crimes who escape after conviction to be surrendered on evidence of the court record of conviction. The present convention is not to apply to crimes specified which shall have been committed, or convictions pronounced, prior to the date at which the convention shall come into force.

Accompanying the treaty is a long letter from Secretary Blaine to the President recommending its ratification and explaining and calling attention to the great necessity of providing extradition authority for a large number of crimes for which the perpetrators now find easy refuge in the territory of Great Britain and the United States.

A Sudden Termination of the Ten Thousand Dollar Breach of Promise Suit—Mr. Justice Street Says the Fair Plaintiff Has Been Badly Used, but Gives a Decision Against Her.

The Gokey v. Dobie breach of promise suit was terminated very abruptly on Saturday by Mr. Justice Street deciding that there being not sufficient evidence of a promise to marry the case must therefore be dismissed. Mr. Meredith continued his cross-examination of Miss Kate Gokey, the plaintiff. He produced a telegram from the plaintiff, dated Sept. 19, 1888, and wanting the defendant to meet her at Pigley's office in Chatham. She stayed at Rankin's Hotel. Mr. Meredith asked:

Did you occupy the same room with the defendant?—A. No.

Q. Did you ever meet any commercial traveler going or coming from Chatham?—A. No traveler that I know of.

Q. Do you know a commercial traveler by the name of Morrison?—A. Yes.

Q. Did you meet him on any occasion going from London to Chatham, or from Chatham to London?—A. I never to my knowledge met him between Chatham and London. I often saw him at the store for they got goods from them.

Q. Did you ever meet a traveler named Lamont between Chatham and London?—A. No. I did not.

Here Mr. Meredith read the following letter:

A "Picnic" at Rankin's Hotel.

306 DUNDAS-STREET, LONDON,
June 24, 1883.

DEAR FRIEND,—No doubt but you have thought me rather indifferent in not answering your letter, but you don't seem to care, or you would have written to know whether I had received my letter. But I find that you are rather indifferent in knowing of my whereabouts or you would certainly have written. I am often under the impression that you don't care much whether you hear from me or not. But, however, time will tell. I feel vexed for your long silence. The family once boarded with me intending to move to Woodstock. I have taken Miss Bathwright's room, as she is gone for her valentine. Well, I am just in from church, the Presbyterian of course. This morning was very sultry and I did not go out. There are two other ladies and no gentlemen in here and I like it better than where I was. I am desperately lonesome at times and I often wish you would be more punctual in writing. I often get discouraged and homesick when I am neglected. Oh, by-the-by, that morning just when I was about to step in the train Morrison, McCaul's traveler, stepped out. We shook hands. The train was 20 minutes late. When I got seated I watched to see what bus he would take and very fortunately he took Gardner's, so I felt satisfied he would not be likely to meet you then.

At Glanoe, Lamont, the traveler, stepped in and sat with me as far as London. So I had company, and that night we had the "picnic." So I got back in time after all. As for me I was sick the following Saturday. I hope you have got better. I was so anxious when I read your letter I felt like answering it immediately, but when I thought it over you were so long in answering that I thought I would procrastinate a while. Your letters are so short. I thought sure you would write soon and not have to wait an answer for that short letter; but I find out you don't seem to care. I am sorry for several reasons. Well, my arm is tired for I am writing on the cover of a book on my knee and my head is nervous. I am ashamed to send you such scribbling but under the circumstances I expect you will excuse me. I have not heard from M. A. for a long time. Will you come to the city before I leave, as this is near the last of June. I will be here a few more weeks.

The letter is from the plaintiff to the defendant.

Mr. Meredith: "What did the word 'picnic' mean?

Witness: "The 'picnic' was at Rankin's hotel with Dr. Dobie."

Q. Do you think a pure-minded woman would talk that way?

A. I was not very choice in my words when talking to him.

The Case Winds Up in a Non-Suit.

The next witness was Luther Anderson, Duke-street. He knew Miss Gokey as she had boarded at his house, but he did not know of the doctor having called to see her.

Mrs. Mary Saxby of Sherbourne-street and Miss O'Brien were then called. This closed the case for the prosecution.

Mr. Meredith applied for a non-suit on the ground that under the statute of limitations the plaintiff had put herself out of court; also that there was not sufficient corroborative evidence of a promise to marry. Mr. Bigelow replied for the plaintiff. His Lordship commented fully on the case and finally stated that as there was not sufficient corroborative evidence and as the testimony of the plaintiff required to be by some other material evidence the case must be dismissed with costs. "I regret this very much," he said; "the plaintiff has been badly used."

Mr. Meredith stated that if the case went no further they were willing that it be dismissed without costs.

His Lordship replied: "Taking into consideration the circumstances it should be dismissed without costs, and it will be dismissed without costs."

When the plaintiff heard the decision she first began to weep and at length fell into a violent fit of hysterics and shrieked: "Oh, let me die; let me die!" She was taken to Mr. Bigelow's office. Mr. Bigelow later on stated to a World reporter that he would carry the case further.

The defendant in this remarkable suit is Duncan A. Dobie, M.D., aged about 30, whose residence is in McCaul-street. He has only been in Toronto a few years, coming originally from Western Ontario.

To Look After the City's Breathing Spots.

At a meeting of representative citizens held Saturday afternoon at 211 Simcoe-street it was decided to organize an association to be known as "The Upper Canada College and Public Places Association." The object is to secure U.C.C. grounds as a public square; to secure other park squares and playgrounds in suitable localities; to establish in the present U.C.C. building a museum of art and science; to adorn public parks and squares with statues and monuments of distinguished public men and commemorative of the history of the city and province.

Mr. O. A. Howland, the originator of the scheme, set forth these objects in an address, showing a careful study of the subject, and it was decided to hold a public meeting and send deputations to the Mayor and the Attorney-General with a view to bringing the movement prominently forward. This provisional committee was appointed: Rev. Dr. Scadding, Sir Adam Wilson, W. R. Brock, J. H. Pearce, Rev. Arthur H. Baldwin, J. W. L. Foster, P. W. Ellis, J. Enoch Thompson, Alan Macdougall, W. Revell, W. G. Storm, W. H. Parr, John Earls, Dr. Larratt Smith, Dr. J. E. White, Hamilton McCarthy, George Curry, William Hamilton Merritt, J. Herbert Mason, J. J. Kelso (secretary). A meeting will be held at 4 o'clock to-day in the Humane Society office, 103 Bay-street.

Worse Than Judas Iscariot.

Rev. Dr. Thomas preached in Jarvis-street Baptist Church last night on Judas Iscariot. In the course of his remarks he said that there were men in the church worse than Judas, and alongside of whom his character would shine. They were worse than Judas for he sold his God for 30 pieces of silver, while they were ready to do it any day in the week for less than quarter that sum. In fact Judas would be ashamed to be seen in their company.

A Monster Ice House at Havelock.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 25.—The C.P.R. is erecting a monster ice-house at this point to accommodate the fresh meat traffic of Swift & Co. of Chicago, whose refrigerators are now passing over this line (the Ontario and Quebec). It is 150 x 80 feet and 50 feet high. This means increased traffic, increase of population, more engines and cabooses, and consequently more men.

Father Hand at Oshawa.

OSHAWA, Jan. 26.—Rev. Father Hand, recently of Toronto, arrived here last night to take charge of this parish in lieu of Father McEntee, who left here for Port Colborne on Thursday morning last.

Buffalo Polish Catholics Object to Parting With Their Priest.

BUFFALO, Jan. 26.—There was a small riot at St. Albert's Church to-day. Father Klawitzer was recently removed by Bishop Ryan to Dunkirk, and the Dunkirk priest, Father Pawler, brought here. The church members, who are Poles, strongly objected and have sent a delegation with an indignant protest to the Pope. To-day Father Pawler attempted to hold divine service in the school house, not being able to gain access to the church and a few of the Poles attended with him. An infuriated crowd gathered outside and ordered the Pawlerists out. All came out except three men, whereupon a number of those outside rushed in and unceremoniously dragged two of them out. The other got out of a back door and, thinking he was going to be murdered, ran away. Father Pawler then arrived at the conclusion that it would not be safe to go ahead with devotions, so he left the scene, escorted by a squad of patrolmen.

A Terrible Gale.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Menai Strait in Wales is rendered impassable by the fury of the gale. Many sailors have been swept overboard and drowned. The parade at Sandgate is partially destroyed. The ship Irex, from Greenock for Rio Janeiro, was wrecked off the Needles. Several of the crew were drowned. The survivors clung to the rigging all day Saturday and part of Sunday. It was impossible to send a lifeboat to the rescue as no boat could live in the turbulent sea, but a life line was finally shot across the vessel by means of a rocket and in this way the men were safely landed. The Umbria reports the roughest passage ever experienced.

The Dia says the Government has ordered Serpa Pinto upon a mission to Western Africa and will not permit his return to Lisbon lest the jingo spirit may be revived.

Mrs. Woodhull.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The issuance by Mr. J. Biddulph Martin and Sir Francis Cook of an offer of £1000 reward for the detection of the parties to the conspiracy to blacken the reputation of their respective wives—Dowager Mrs. Victoria C. Woodhull and Tennie C. Claflin—has revived all the scandalous stories circulated about the ladies within the last few years, many of which the gentlemen themselves allude to as being with sufficient circumstantiality of detail as to cause surprise. The husbands declare their intention to ferret out the authors.

Kick the Traitor Out.

The Mail continues at its dishonorable task of belittling the country. Its article on trade with China and Japan in Saturday's issue is in the old line. The covert sneer is there: The trade is insignificant and won't ever amount to much. And in this strain The Mail has been writing for years. It has not said a good word for anything Canadian for months and months.

It pretends not to believe that a country is built up by trials, by dissensions, by sacrifices, or that a man in business—say in a newspaper for instance—hasn't to go through a lot of trials, annual deficit and the like. Our great policy of building up a new country, of consolidating it, of developing its resources, is met at every turn by the sneers of The Mail.

The Mail has had one apparent merit during its annexation tirade. It has been advocating Equal Rights and opposing what it calls the Particularism of the French-Canadians and Provincialism generally; but in the light of recent developments the public will be inclined to suspect that The Mail's attitude on these questions has been dicted by a desire to promote disaffection and disruption rather than to cure what are admitted by many to be flagrant abuses.

Attention is called by the Postmaster-General to the growing importance of Canada as a mail route between Japan and China and Europe. Many letters from Japan and China for the United States are also carried over the Canadian route.

The Postmaster-General's annual report shows an increase in the number of post offices of 167, the total number in Canada now being 7838. During the year 571 miles were added to the mail routes.

Now, if Emperor Creighton should demand trial by a jury of his peers, where are we to get them?

It is one of the anomalies of nomenclature that the "ossified man" now being exhibited through the country should be named Sapp.

Swinburne, the poet, never wears an overcoat, it is said. Perhaps he wraps one of his poems around himself when he goes out.

The ladies of Indianapolis are about to erect a magnificent Propylaeum in that city, we are told. We do not know just exactly what a Propylaeum is, but from what we know of Indianapolis we should judge it to be some sort of a gilt-edged beer garden.

Now that the globe-trotting female reporter of New York has got home, what does it all amount to? The itinerary of such a trip could be made up by a man in his dressing gown and slippers without leaving his room and all the fuss been saved. But some people like a fuss in preference to comfort.

What Is It All About?

The Mail and The Empire have now got the length of the Police Court, and there, we suppose, they must have it out. But with many people the wonder will be—what is it all about? A Mail editor—because, so it is said, he has represented to influential people at Washington that there is in Canada a strong political party who are eager for annexation to the United States—has been called a traitor, and so on. What is very likely to prove a costly quarrel has arisen over something which does not exist at all, but which is only supposed to exist.

There is nothing in Canada worthy the name of an Annexation party outside of those Grits who hate Protection and the N. P. with a perfect hatred, and who are ready to do almost anything in order to effect a change. As The World has before pointed out, these men have a motive for this action—the motive of revenge for the success of the policy which put them out of power ten years ago. But calling them "a party" is making too much of them, it is really doing too much honor. For not very many even of the Grits are crazy enough yet for Annexation, we should say.

But who ever authorized a Mail editor, or "any other man," to say that there is in Canada an influential "party" eager for Annexation? Evidently somebody has been pretending to see something which is not there; let him now give something like proof of it, if he can. Men who get to be senators of the United States are generally pretty level-headed fellows and know a thing or two, and we are not disposed to believe it right off that they have swallowed at once the idea that Canadians are willing to become "Yankees" at short notice. Men who are senators at Washington are not quite simple enough for that we fancy.

There is about this alleged Annexation party such an air of unreality and imagination that we certainly do not look for it to materialize. Nay further, anyway, than an attempt to vote the N.P. out and Free Trade in some shape in. But a certain objection strikes us, and we fancy it must strike many people. The United States is the most extreme Protectionist country on earth, and Canadian Free Traders seem to have lost their latitude when they are trying to make an arrangement with that country. It can scarcely be a Free Trade arrangement, we beg to assure them beforehand.

But the fact that there are some Grits who would make any arrangement in order to knock out Sir John and the N.P., if they could, shows the vim and venom of the spirit that is in them. However, even vim and venom are but indifferent constituents of political strength, and the present quarrel looks like weakness, rather than strength, we should say. Certainly things look bad for the conspiracy just now.

There is no great degree of comfort in the report that an Austrian professor has discovered the influenza bacillus unless he has also discovered a counter-irritant. The bacillus is not very large but it can't very well be dodged.

The name of a woman found its way on the voter's list of Shediac, N.B., and she presented herself in due form as a voter at the recent election. The returning officer said he had no authority to do otherwise than let her vote, and he did so. There is a certain degree of fitness in a woman voting in She-diac.

There was a time when Annexation had some prospect in this country, but the most significant fact of to-day, as far as Canada is concerned, is the dead-goneness of Annexation. So patent is this that The Mail has even grown ashamed of its record and is now appealing to Canadians to believe that it is the thing it is not—a Canadian journal.

The German Emperor has forbidden duelling in the army. If the average German duel is as harmless as the French one people will come to the conclusion that the Emperor has unnecessarily interfered with a mild form of sport.

The amount of letters and newspapers delivered by carriers in Toronto during the past fiscal year was considerably more than double that delivered in Montreal, and nearly half of the amount delivered in the whole Dominion. This is something practical by which to judge of Toronto as a trade centre.

If certain hon. gentlemen would take the trouble of studying the blue books they would not put the country to the expense of preparing returns for their special information. The return business is becoming an expensive nuisance, and an expensive farce as well, as the bulk of those brought down are never thoroughly examined. Ottawa Citizen.

That's as true as preaching, but it is equally true that if the blue books were made more concise—if they were judiciously edited—they would be more easily understood by the average mortal.

To Ald. Shaw.

John Shaw of St. Paul's, you have now an opportunity to immortalize yourself and earn the everlasting gratitude of the residents of this illy-paved, mud-bespattered town. You are the new head of the Works Department. Turn the whole outfit upside down, reorganize it from one end to the other. It is a mass of rottenness and incompetency! For several years past its business has been conducted on lines which prevail in villages. The citizens have spent millions of dollars for abominable sidewalks, sewers and pavements. But they'll have no more of it.

The World will keep its eye on your administration, John Shaw.

And you, Garrett F. Frankland, the chairman of the mud-cleaning committee, see that the streets and sidewalks receive a visit occasionally from the scrapers and brooms.

The New York Press takes it that the Toronto Mail, as an advocate of Annexation, conveys Canadian sentiment, for this reason:

> The Mail, according to English newspaper directories, has a daily circulation ranked only by one or two Canadian contemporaries, and has the largest weekly circulation of any paper in the Dominion. If there was no annexation sentiment in Canada the managers of such a journal would be slow to enter into any such movement. That a journal having such wide popular support in Canada is in favor of annexation is pretty emphatic evidence that popular sentiment there is shaping in the same direction.

"English Newspaper directories," unrevised for years, are not very conclusive proof now-a-days. The Press makes a great mistake in citing The Mail as a representative Canadian journal.

The Ottawa Citizen reads Sol. White out of the Tory party because of his Annexation sentiments. This may be deemed necessary from a party point of view, but it should be recollected that Sol. White's case is an exceptional one and Windsor is an exceptional town—exceptional in more respects than one. It is by no means a representative Canadian town.

Notes of the Assembly.

The Ontario Assembly meets for the dispatch of business on Thursday afternoon next at 3 o'clock. There will be the usual military display.

Sergeant-at-Arms Glackmeyer has returned from his Dakota ranch and will be present at the opening.

The address in reply to the Speech from the Throne will be moved by Mr. Charles Mackenzie of Sarnia, the member-elect for West Lambton. Dr. J. T. Gilmour of West York will be the seconder.

Matters connected with other constituencies were also considered.

Funeral of a German Lady.

The remains of Mrs. Heintzman, wife of Theodore A. Heintzman, were interred in Mount Pleasant Cemetery on Saturday afternoon from her late residence, 98 John-street. Rev. E. M. Genzmer, pastor of the German Lutheran Church, officiated both at the house and in the Bond-street sanctuary. The employes of Heintzman's factory, the Leiderkrantz Society, Turn Verein, Frauen Verein, Ladies' German Lutheran Society were in the funeral procession, which was a large one. The wreaths were many and beautiful, from relatives and German societies.

A POLICE AUCTION.

The Miscellaneous Mart Over Which Detective Inspector Stark Presided at the Police Court.

The Police Court on Saturday afternoon was devoted to buying and selling. These lower halls of justice were transformed into a second-hand shop. "High on a throne of royal state" sat Inspector Stark. Around him were heaps of merchandise comprising everything under the sun, from a diamond ring to a lawn mower, a cricket-bat to a bottle of perfumery, or stonecutters' tools to a can of pepper. The head of the detective department acted as the auctioneer, and for a truth could give Charley Henderson, John Macfarlane or any of the ilk "pointers" in their particular art. The inspector held up a hat that had barely survived the wear and tear of society for 10 years.

"How much am I offered for this fine head-dress? If it's too large you can swell your head to fit it."

"Five cents," sings out an eagle-eyed Hebrew second-hand dealer.

"Sold."

And the Inspector's hard working assistants handed up something else.

"This is our annual election of unclaimed goods," explained a burly policeman. "Some are found in the streets, some are taken from thieves and some are handed in and never claimed."

Sometimes something would be handed up of too much historical value; a dirty, blood-stained brick. "No, we can't sell that; it killed a man." It was laid aside. A cradle next, a dainty little affair. It might have graced a rich man's palatial nursery.

"What'll you give me for this? We'll throw the youngster in if we get the right price."

Little thinks the buyer what a pathetic tale it might have told could it but speak.

Then comes a mother's bible with frayed cover and well-thumbed leaves, the last possession of some wretched, world-forsaken thief. It is quickly bought up by a tender-hearted policeman.

A goatskin robe is put up with the remark: "It's an old friend of 20 years ago, when L. O. L. No. 9999 was in its palmy days."

An old day journal sells for a few cents; "An Ontario Bank ledger," suggests someone. And so the sale goes on. A far-seeing gentleman purchases a dog tag for one cent. Another buys a package containing two dozen cork screws and a book on prohibition—the one an antidote for the other. One young man's heart is made happy by the purchase of 11 plugs of "black-strap" for a trifle. A package containing a bull's-eye lantern and a catapult brings back to the bystander's mind the time when as a boy he started out to scalp Indians, and was collared as a runaway before he got a mile from town.

At last the sale is over. The Inspector's throat is sore, the auction has netted nearly $300, and another year's collection begins.

Mrs. Henry Sheldon of Farmersville, was cured of Catarrh of the Stomach by Burdock Blood Bitters when her friends had nearly abandoned all hope.

JOTS FROM THE JUNCTION.

Opening of the New St. John's Episcopal Church—Looking After the Water Rates—A Budget of News.

An evidence of the rapid progress of the Episcopalian cause at West Toronto Junction was given yesterday, when the congregation of St. John's opened a magnificent new church. In the morning Principal Sheraton officiated, and in the afternoon Rev. C. C. Owen and Mr. Fred Wilkinson took charge of a children's service. Ven. Archdeacon Boddy preached in the evening. A platform meeting will be held to-night.

It is the intention of Treasurer Clemmer to strictly enforce the regulation re payment of water rates which provides that persons who do not pay their rates by the close of the last day in the quarter will forfeit their right to the 50 per cent. discount. BATTLING FOR SUPREMACY.

War Between the Michigan Central and Cincinnati, Saginaw & Mackinaw.

BAY CITY, Mich., Jan. 25.—The bitterest kind of feeling pervades railroad circles in this neighborhood. The new Cincinnati, Saginaw & Mackinaw road has been making big inroads into the freight traffic of the Michigan Central. Yesterday the appearance in this city of a number of mogul engines owned by the new road caused considerable consternation among the Central people. They smelled war at once, and began telegraphing in all directions for idle engines to come quickly.

The whole thing grew out of the fact that the Hotchkiss mill property possesses a large quantity of salt ready for shipment. The Cincinnati, Saginaw & Mackinaw had built a spur which intercepted a siding of the Central's on the Hotchkiss property. A Cincinnati, Saginaw & Mackinaw mogul and six cars shifted into she vicinity and swung from the main track to the siding. They were greeted with a hissing of steam, and found that just where the Cincinnati, Saginaw & Mackinaw spur touched the Central siding there was an old engine with a Vanderbilt trademark upon it. The switch was open for the admission of the Cincinnati, Saginaw & Mackinaw train, and in a moment the cars were against the tender of the Michigan Central engine.

Then followed a severe battle for supremacy. The Saginaw engines had a little advantage and the Central engines soon drew off to await reinforcements. Engines began arriving from all directions, but the Saginaw road still had a majority, and after an hour's pushing and snorting a lull followed.

The Central is determined upon victory and it is expected the war will re-open in a day or two. The war has created great excitement and the conflict was witnessed by thousands.

[Correspondence York Tribune, W. Tor. Junction.]

The stores are all doing a flourishing business. The blacksmiths appear to be busy, and our genial butcher is doing a good trade, and so it is with all the business men in the village, notwithstanding the bad roads and disagreeable weather. As a place to life, what better than Lambton could be required? We have good churches, an excellent public school, and the advantage of being near Toronto. As for any who may never have been in the village, we would advise them to make it an early visit. The loss of their time would be more than repaid by a sight of the beautiful scenery.

BISMARCK GETS A SET-BACK.

DEFEAT OF THE SOCIALIST BILL IN THE REICHSTAG.

Herr Bebel's Plea—A Leader of the Aristocrats Defends the Socialists—Prorogation of the Reichstag—The Emperor's Speech—English Comments—The Socialists Jubilant.

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—Herr Bebel, Socialist, resumed debate on the Socialist Bill in the Reichstag to-day. He denied that state persecution effected anything towards the destruction of Socialism. He said he was not surprised that the Government sought to render the suppression law permanent, but the Social Democracy was indestructible. The proceedings of the Government toward the Socialists recalled the medieval persecution of heretics. If the masses are incapable, as the Government alleged, of forming a political judgment, it was the fault of the Government. Even the simplest minds among the workingmen would become enlightened as soon as the burden of the lately voted taxes, which amounted to millions of marks, was brought home to them. Necessity taught men to think. Herr Bebel compared the present administrative system of Germany with that of Napoleon III. It was to be placed to the credit of the Social Democracy, he said, that Anarchism had disappeared. Herr Most's paper, The Freiheit, was the product of secret police agents and provocateurs. He knew as a fact that the first publisher of The Freiheit was now a police official of Hanover. In concluding his speech Herr Bebel predicted that his party would be found strong enough to destroy the present majority in the Reichstag.

Herr Merrfurth, Minister of the Interior, in reply to Herr Bebel, said that the law struck at the Social Democracy only when it was trespassing upon the limits of the law. A majority of the Socialists clung to the doctrines preached by the London founders of the movement. The Socialist leaders in Germany did not represent the masses of the people and, least of all, the workingmen. They represented rather those who did not want to work.

An Insulting Pamphlet.

Prince Schonach Carolath, Moderate Conservative, reminded the house of the statement made by the Socialist Dietz at Thursday's sitting that the author of the pamphlet printed in Zurich, entitled "A Woman's Hand in German Policy," was Duke Ernst of Saxe Cobourg Gotha. The manuscript, it was asserted, had been sent to the publisher with some hundred mark notes. The Hamburg police had suppressed a poem about a railroad employe's sacrificing his life to save a train, but the Zurich pamphlet was not suppressed, though English journals of high rank and a German lady of exalted position, who, though cradled in England, had been connected with Germany for weal or woe for 30 years, were insulted in it. The pamphlet had to find a publisher of it outside of Germany in the Socialist press of Zurich.

The Queen of England and her daughter could not be insulted in Germany with impunity. The Prince protested against the article in The National Zeitung giving as a watchword for the coming elections, "Down with the Social Democrats." Although he was a determined opponent of the opinions of the Socialists, yet the vote against the bill and the procedure of the Government should not lead to a situation incapable of any issue but of force. The people, as well as the Government, must be left in the certain possession of a free choice of means for attaining common end. There was in Social Democracy a good deal of idealism—a quality gradually becoming very rare in Germany, and one that was giving way to placehunting. This closing remark was received with bursts of cheers from several of the political groups in the house. The Prince received hearty congratulations from his friends.

The Bill Defeated.

As the Government abstained from any declaration showing its willingness to accept the bill without the expulsion clause, the Conservatives voted "No" with the Progressists, the Centr. party, and the Socialists, against the combined yeas of the Imperialists and the National Liberals. The bill was rejected, 169 to 98. As soon as the vote was concluded Herr Boetticher, amid the suppressed excitement of the occasion, announced that the session was closed and requested the Deputies to convene at the Schloss at 6 p.m. Prince Bismarck did not appear in the Chamber during the day.

The Emperor, accompanied by his Ministers and the officers of State, received the Deputies in the White Hall of the Schloss at that hour, and read to them an address thanking them in his own name and that of the Federal Government for their faithful and laborious work and hoping for the continued peace and prosperity of the Fatherland, and that the content of the people proceeding therefrom might be the Reichstag's most welcome reward for its labors. The address from the speech of all political allusions and the failure to make any mention of the Socialist bill surprised everyone.

English Comments.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The defeat of the Socialist bill in the German Reichstag to-day will probably be explained by the advancement of many theories by the adherents of the measure, excluding or touching lightly, of course, upon the real reason that the Government could not bulldoze a sufficient number of Deputies into voting for it. That the result is a serious set-back to the Government, even the staunchest supporters of and apologists for Prince Bismarck do not attempt to deny. The fact that the Chancellor, although journeying to Berlin for the expressed purpose, failed not only to make his much-heralded speech but to honor the Reichstag by his appearance is generally accepted as evidence that he scented defeat in the air which he was unwilling to emphasize by either speech or presence in the chamber. It is almost positively known that very soon after his arrival in Berlin the Chancellor deputized Herr Caroloth to speak in his stead, and it is admitted that to his bitterness of speech is due the overwhelming vote which was cast against the measure. That there was any chance of passing the bill nobody now believes, but it is conceded that without Caroloth's speech its defeat could have been less severe. The Emperor William, when apprised of the fate of the bill, declined to express any opinion, and in fact avoided any reference to the subject, which is construed as showing the keenness with which he felt the Government's defeat. The result has set the Socialists wild with rejoicing, which is not to be wondered at, in view of the very many harsh acts of the legislative branch of the Government from which they have suffered. Scarcely had the fate of the Socialist bill been announced to the public than a Socialist funeral passed through the streets, headed by a band of music and displaying red flags in great profusion along the line of the procession. The police charged upon the parade and dispersed it, capturing nearly all of the Socialist's emblems and arresting many of those who carried them.

St. Louis Budweiser Beer.

Bottled by the Anheuser Busch Brewing Association, America's largest and favorite brewery. The above beer is acknowledged by the most celebrated chemists, physicians and experts all over the world to be the purest and best ever made, and is strongly recommended by them to invalids and others requiring absolutely pure beer. One eminent authority writes it is absolutely free from sediment and is probably the greatest strength-giving beverage ever invented.

At the Paris exposition, where Bass, Guinness and all the celebrated brewers of Europe competed, the experts reluctantly pronounced the St. Louis beer to be the purest and best ever drank upon the continent. It was also awarded the gold medal at the grand world's fair at New Orleans, and at the Amsterdam world's exhibition, where 73 German and Austrian brewers com eted. Price $1.75 per doz. pints, and $2.85 qts. Sold to the trade in bbls., 10 dozen pints and 6 dozen quarts. Wm. Mara, agent, 289 Queen-street west. 135

Severe colds are easily cured by the use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, a medicine of extraordinary penetrating and healing properties. It is acknowledged by those who have used it as being the best medicine sold for coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs, and all affections of the throat and chest. Its agreeableness to the taste makes it a favorite with ladies and children.

SUPT. HAMILTON'S REPORT.

Water Pumped and Coal Consumed During the Fortnight—Contracts for the Department Under Way.

Superintendent Hamilton will submit this report to the Waterworks Committee at its meeting to-day: During the two weeks' ending Jan. 18, 176,083,449 gallons of water had been pumped and 376 tons of coal consumed at the main pumping station, or a daily average of 12,000,591 gallons, and 26-6-7 tons of coal, with a general pressure of 95 lbs. In the same period St. Alban's Ward station pumped 7,342,128 gallons and consumed 66,400 lbs. of coal, giving an average pressure of 90 lbs. At the high level station 7,845,840 gallons had been pumped and 29,300 lbs. of coal consumed, with a pressure of 50 lbs.

The Superintendent mentions the following contracts which it is expected will be finished this season: With the Peterboro Bridge Company for 4600 feet of 48-in. steel pipe, with all necessary flexible joints, also 350 ft. of 72-in. steel pipe, flexible joints, for lake extension; with John Abell, for manufacture and delivery of 6000 ft. of 60-in. steel pipe, flexible joints; with F. B. McNamee, for laying and connecting 6000 ft. of 60 in. and 4600 ft. of 48-in. pipe, from the engine house well to the shore end of the 6-ft. wooden conduit on the south side of the Island. Contracts have also been made for the erection of an engine and boiler house for the high level station, and this building is nearly completed. Another contract has been entered into with the Blake Manufacturing Company of Boston for the construction of two three-million gallon pumping engines, boiler, etc.

Sixty services have been put in this year up to date. Mr. Hamilton, in this connection, asks for the necessary help as soon as the spring opens to have the services properly plotted upon the atlas of the city in the same manner as mains, hydrants, etc. He also calls the attention of the committee to the large quantity of water used by the Board of Works in flushing sewers and suggests that it be either paid for as a local improvement or out of the general fund. He further contends that flushing sewers does no good, rather hardening the sand instead of softening it. He holds that when a sewer is to be flushed the waterworks department should be notified.

The superintendent states that the St. Albans' Ward pumping station must be thoroughly remodelled, using at present altogether too much coal for the service rendered. He believes that a special committee should be appointed to act in this matter. The roadways leading to the main pumping station would have to be repaired, and more room is required for the department's shops in Soho-street.

THE LICENSE BOARDS.

The First Batch of Appointments Announced—No Sign of the Toronto Commissioners—The Probable Selections.

The Ontario Government on Saturday announced a large batch of license commissioners for the various districts. Many of them are reappointments. There is no mention or sign of the Toronto commissioners. This plum is generally held back until the last moment. The unsavory doings of the present board has given the Government so much concern that they are compelled to go very slow. It is said that ex-Ald. R. J. Fleming will certainly be one of the new board. Mr. Wheeler's name is also again prominently mentioned. Mr. Procter, the belief is, will remain on the board, Peter Ryan and Adam Armstrong retiring.

The outside appointees are:

MARA'S PECULIAR DEATH.

He Drops Through a Twelve-inch Hole Into the Bay.

About 7½ o'clock on Saturday night Joseph Burfield, 6½ West Market-street, and Fred Baille, who lives next door, were attracted to the wharf at the foot of the street by hearing cries for assistance. They ran across the track and located the sounds as coming from below the planking of the wharf. It was evident that a man had managed to fall through one of the numerous holes and was fast drowning. They pried up a plank as near as possible to where the man was supposed to be but it proved that they were 12 feet away from him. They could see him clinging to a spile, and threw a rope to him but the struggling form was so paralyzed by fear that he could not reach for it. While they were getting another plank up the drowning man gave a great shriek and fell back into the water never to rise again.

The police were informed and Officer Dodds succeeded in recovering the body about 9 o'clock, sending it on to the morgue.

The dead man has been identified as Michael Mara, a laborer, whose address is unknown. He was seen during the day drinking in the hotels around the market. It was discovered that he had fallen through a hole 12 inches wide and about 2 feet long. It is surmised that he went out on the wharf for a quiet drink, as a bottle of beer and a half finished flask of whisky were found near the fatal hole.

His Request Granted.

HAMILTON, Jan. 25.—Morris Ryan, the young man captured last Saturday evening by Detectives Campbell and Doyle as the perpetrator of the robberies at Robert P. Leask's house and the gift tea store on James-street, and who pleaded guilty to both charges at the Police Court on Monday morning, was brought up for sentence this morning. Prisoner had a special request to make of the magistrate, which was that he would not send him to Central prison. "I will endeavor to accommodate you this time," said the kind-hearted magistrate. "I will sentence you to four years' confinement in Kingston penitentiary."

PADDY RATS IS NO SLOUCH.

So the Pastor of the People's Tabernacle Gives Out—Music and the Panorama.

At the People's Tabernacle on Saturday evening the second of the stereopticon entertainments was given. "Scenes from the Lowlands of Scotland" was the subject. Mr. J. K. Rae, the Scotch reader, gave additional interest to the entertainment by his descriptions of the views shown. Tea and coffee were freely dispensed during the intermission.

The service at the Tabernacle last night partook largely of the form of entertainments, comprising sacred selections by Claxton's orchestra and stereopticon views illustrative of "The Way of Death and the Way of Life." The pastor, Rev. J. M. Wilkinson, explained the views, reading appropriate selections of Scripture. He said he had visited Paddy Rats' place last week and found him "no slouch." He had a poor opinion of ministerial dignity which prevented a preacher from associating with misguided or depraved individuals. "Ministerial dignity to the devil!" he thundered and vigorously ridiculed so-called Christians who were only the fair weather article. The speaker said he had been very happy since he entered upon his present work, and though funds were scarce and God knew how he lived, he would rather be in old Shaftesbury Hall that night than in Heaven. "I would not exchange places with Gabriel himself," he added "I want to be a man in Heaven. I want to sing a song that an angel can't sing."

A concertina and flute duet by Messrs. Claxton and Cully was given with unusual excellence. A euphonium solo was also rendered during the service. The orchestra is an attractive feature of these services and deservedly so.

SATURDAY AT THE ASSIZES.

The City Sued for $1000—Many Cases Settled—To-Day's List.

A rather interesting case at the Assizes on Saturday was Willis v Toronto, an action brought by Edward Willis on behalf of his son Harry. The statement of claim sets forth that the boy fell into a coal shoot in front of the Rossin House block on Oct. 18 last. The city was sued for $1000. A verdict for $300 was given for the plaintiff. Lawyer H. Mowat then got an order for the amount with costs as against the defendant, F. W. Nye, opposite to whose premises the accident occurred.

Robinson v Fuller was put at the foot of the list; McCormack v Hay was made a remand by consent; Walker v The News was postponed until next court.

Third on to-day's list is the case of Taylor v Johnston. It is altogether probable that it will be reached by the afternoon.

To-day's list: Betts v Smith, Cline v Muskoka M. and L. Company, Taylor v Johnston, Howarth v Kilgour, Turner v Cousineau, Wilson v O'Donohoe, Coady v Hamilton, St. Denis v Truax, McCraney v McCool, Scott v Russell, Riley v Rushbrook.

LOUNSBERRY'S CASE.

The Defaulting Cashier of the New York Postoffice.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Postmaster Van Cott spent almost the entire day conducting his investigation into the accounts of George H. Lounsberry, late cashier of the post-office here, who committed suicide at his home when he was about to be arrested for defalcation. The amount of his thefts is shown to be much larger than at first announced. Examination of the postage stamp accounts today showed that about $18,000 worth had been carried away and it is stated that Lounsberry's peculations will come between $40,000 and $45,000. Notices sent to Lounsberry's bondsmen brought only one of them, John Moonan. Theodore Hoffman, Lounsbery's partner in the hay business, and Edgar Washburne of Catskill, N.Y., who justified for $20,000 and $15,000 respectively, did not respond. Rumors were afloat to-day that arrests of men connected with the defalcations were expected at any moment, but from an authoratative source it was learned that these statements were without foundation. Additional disclosures are expected on Monday however. The present Mrs. Lounsberry was Miss Carrie Wright before her

O'CONNOR FOR AUSTRALIA.

THE AMERICAN CHAMPION LEAVES TORONTO TO-MORROW.

And Embarks at San Francisco Feb. 8—He Will Arrive in Sydney March 3—An Interesting Chat With The Great Sculler—He Will Row Any Antipodean—Plenty of Winter Sport.

Champion William O'Connor will leave the Union Station to-morrow at 1 p.m., for San Francisco, where he ships on the S. S. Mariposa for Sydney N. S. W. He will arrive at his destination on March 3, providing the vessel does not encounter adverse winds on the Pacific.

There is only a single first-class oarsman in America to-day and that is William O'Connor of this city. Long ago he issued a formal challenge to any individual sculler in America. Several of these would-be champions with considerable bombast announced that they would meet the Torontonian in a proposed regatta, the probability of which was never certain. John Teemer and others evaded the direct challenge in this way. The result is that O'Connor was unable to make a single match. And the probability of an Australian visiting this country in the near future was very slight.

So Saturday the American champion decided that he would visit the antipodes and that at once. To The World he said:

"None of the men here will meet me. I am a professional oarsman and can secure no matches, so I am forced to seek pastures new."

"Who will you row in Australia," was asked.

"Any man who lays claim to the championship or pretends to have any claim."

"Why did you not make this announcement earlier?" queried The World.

"Because I was not sure until to-day that I would go this early, and besides it required some time to conclude to make the trip. You see a great deal of money is required for such a voyage not to mention the shekels required to bring about a race."

"Who is furnishing the wherewithal for this gigantic undertaking" continued The World.

"The money all comes from my own pocket" said the champion, "and no one, either directly or indirectly is assisting me. I could have the services of the proposed club but prefer acting as my own financial guarantor."

Mr. O'Connor sets out alone on the long voyage but no doubt will make many friends before reaching, and certainly after landing in the land of the Kangaroo. He announced that the length of his stay there depended altogether on circumstances, but the duration of his visit would be from 1 to 2 years.

"Billy" declares he will give the San Francisco reporters a wide berth when in the California metropolis.

He takes only a single boat with him, a Warin, 31 ft. 6 in. long, 11 in. wide, 7 in. beam, 6 in. deep amidship, 3 in. forward and 2½ in. aft. He believes that suitable racing shells can be secured in Sydney.

This announcement is a sudden one, but there is no Canadian who will not wish the ambitious Toronto sculler success. The World wishes him bon voyage and may he return "champion of the world."

The White Wings to Change Hands.

Æmelius Jarvis has almost completed the sale of the White Wings to a syndicate composed of W. G. Townsend, F. J. Howell, T. M. Lester, F. R. Waddell, Thomas Beasley, Capt. Zealand and R. G. Marshall. Three other gentlemen will join the syndicate. Mr. Jarvis had an offer of $1000 from some Toronto men, but he preferred to take $100 less than that amount and have the yacht remain in Hamilton. He intends to have a 30-footer built for next summer.—Hamilton Spectator.

HOCKEY IN HURON-STREET.

The Granites and St. Georges Play a Draw Game Saturday.

The initial hockey match of the season was played in the Victoria Rink Saturday evening and was a complete success. The playing of the respective teams was capital, in consideration of the scant practice indulged in by the members. The soft condition of the ice made fast skating very difficult.

The contest was between the Granites and St. Georges. The latter club was minus two men at the outset, or the result most probably would have been different. After nine minutes' play the delinquents materialized, but not before their comrades had lost two games. When the teams faced each other on an even footing the contest was a brilliant one. With lightning rapidity puck traversed from end to end of the rink.

The game was started only fifteen minutes after the appointed time, 7 o'clock. There was a splendid attendance of ladies and gentlemen as spectators, who vigorously applauded the many brilliant plays of the opposing sevens. By a well directed side shot Frank Nelles scored first blood for the Granites. Shortly afterward H. Green dodged the St. George's defence and landed puck safely between the irons. Renewed vigor came to the home men with the two late players and the next game went to Capt. Crawford's crowd. The game was scored by Lucas after a brilliant rush the full length of the field. Donaldson took the fourth game for the Granites when Hurst had vacated his charge in search of meandering Mr. Puck. This left the score three to one in favor of the Granites when the referee blew the whistle for half time.

The skaters were not evidently tired on restarting and continued with commendable alacrity. Kearns tipped the rubber to Temple when C. K. made a long shot and another notch for the Granites. Before time was up Kearns made one of his brilliant runs from centre field and equalized the score. Point Lucas received an ugly crack from the hockey of a Granite but pluckily continued to play.

Another match has been arranged between St. Georges and the Granites for Feb. 5. The teams were:

St. Georges—Goal, A. Hurst; point, M. Lucas; cover-point, F. W. Jackson; forwards, W. Crawford, Capt., T. Kearns, A. Shaw, C. K. Temple; umpire, L. S. Murray.

Granites—Goal, C. Crawford; point, W. Mearns; cover-points, F. Nelles, W. Lamonte; forwards, H. Green, Capt. D. Donaldson, H. Fletcher; umpire, A. H. Cassels.

Referee, A. McVitty.

Lindsay Wants a Match.

Mr. C. K. Temple, secretary of the St George's Hockey Club, in response to his recent challenge in The World, has received an answer from Lindsay accepting the same. In reply the secretary stated that they could have a game here any day this week. A general meeting of the St. George's Hockey Club will be held at Keachie's to-morrow evening at 8.30. A representative from the Victoria Skating and Curling Association is required to attend. Arrangements for the Ottawa vice-regal match will be completed at this meeting.

SATURDAY AT THE TRAPS.

The Stanley's Serial Shoot at 200 Blue Rocks.

The day being pleasant some excellent sport was enjoyed at McDowall's grounds on Saturday. The Stanley Gun Club commenced a serial shoot at 200 blue rocks, shooting twenty at each of ten shoots. In addition several sweeps were shot.

The Owls Shoot at Sparrows.

The members of the Owl Gun Club held a shoot at sparrows on Saturday afternoon at C. Stark & Co.'s athletic grounds, Eastern-avenue, for a handsome gold medal presented by one of the members and for several prizes given by the club. On account of the bad weather the attendance was not quite as large as expected but those who were present had a good afternoon's sport. The medal was won by Mr. J. Townson. The following are the scores:

J. Townson	9	W. McDowall	7

DETROIT, Jan. 26.—There will be a blue rock tournament here next Tuesday under the management of John Parker and William Garrison. There will be 7 contests, to be shot under the new rapid firing system, with 5 traps, American Association rules to govern.

The Torontos Annual Match.

The Toronto Curling Club's annual match, President v. Vice-President, was concluded at the Huron-street rink Saturday afternoon. The President's rinks won handily. The ice was only fair. The score:

The Moss Park Club.

A special general meeting of the Moss Park Curling Club was held in the club rooms, Shuter-street, on Saturday evening, with a good attendance, President Summerfeldt in the chair. After routine business was disposed of, the following were elected regular skips for the season: Dr. J. C. Clapp, Wm. Summerfeldt, J. G. Malcolm and R. Malcolm. Tankard skips: Dr. J. C. Clapp and R. Malcolm. District Medal Match with Orillia Club: Wm. Summerfeldt and J. G. Malcolm. The Tankard rinks were then chosen and had a game against each other for practice.

In and Out Turns.

Messrs. John Bain and J. C. Forbes have been selected as the tankard skips of the Toronto Club.

Messrs. Wilson, Belding, Maddison, Forbes, Bain and McLean are the skips of the Toronto Club who will contest for the district medals.

Four rinks of the Buffalo Caledonians will visit Toronto this week for their annual match with the Torontos. Messrs. Russell, Wright, Forbes and Bain are the Toronto skips for this game.

A one-rink match between the cricketers of the Torontos and Grantes will be played as soon as ice permits. The players are: Toronto—A. H. Collins, A. H. Hector, A. G. Brown and H. A. Drummond, skip. Granite—M. Boyd, W. F. W. Creelman, R. Miles and W. Gibbs, skip.

The following are the arrangements for playing in group 9, commencing not later than noon of Thursday, Jan. 30: Granites v Bramptons, on Caledonian ice; Orillia v Prospect Park, on Moss Park ice; Markham v Moss Park, on Prospect Park ice; be second draw to be played in the same evening.

Toronto curlers will dispose of a number of fixtures this week if the weather is favorable. To-night the Caledonians and Torontos will play the first match in the Caledonian Cup series. To-morrow the Four Brothers' tournament will open at 11 a.m. on the ice of Moss Park. The Orillia-Moss Park district medal match is set for Wednesday and the competition in group 9 for the Ontario Tankard will take place on Thursday.

The Banquet to Mr. Hurst.

President George Orr will act as chairman at the banquet to "Billy" Hurst at McConkey's to-night. The Wanderers declare they will turn out to a man to do the great cyclist honor, and Mr. McConkey has promised to lay the best spread of the season. Mr. Hurst is one of the oldest members of the Wanderers and his brothers are justly proud of him. He will be an honored man to-night.

Saturday Night's Mill.

There was a good crowd at Pattillo's academy on Saturday night to see the 4-round sparring contest between Paul and Dick Guthrie. Lovett seconded the Montreaker and Mike Burns attended to the Toronto light weight. Joe Popp was the referee. Guthrie had slightly the best of the first round, but Pattillo's science stood by him in the remaining three. The referee decided the mill a draw. The visiting pug was much the heavier and doubtless would make a great prolonged fight. At the conclusion Lovett challenged Pattillo for a mill next Saturday night, which was promptly accepted by the redoubtable Paul.

The Canoe Club's At Home.

The Toronto Canoe Club's At Home in the Academy of Music, Feb. 14, promises to be a great success. The secretary is inundated with applications for invitations. Messrs. Gordon, Wright, Tilley, Shaw, Mason and Elgie, the Executive Committee, are working earnestly for the event.

Toronto's Female Pedestrian.

DETROIT, Jan. 26.—Next Friday evening, at the Princess Rink, there will be a ten mile walking match between Miss Mertie Elliott of New Orleans, Miss Minnie Ward of Philadelphia, Miss Kittie Rooney of Toronto, Miss Carrie Wilson of Bridgeport, Ct., and Miss Millie St. John of Paterson, N.J. Race begins at 8 o'clock.

RACING AT THE GUT.

Duff, Arizona, Van, Red Elm, Steve Jerome and Bela the Winners.

GUTTENBURG, Jan. 26.—The races yesterday resulted as follows:

First, 1 mile—Duff 1, Top Sawyer 2, Harwood 3. Time 1.45¾.

Second, 7 furlongs—Arizona 1, He 2, Landseer 3. Time 1.30¼.

Third, 1⅛ miles—Van 1, Hamlet 2, Drumstick 3. Time 1.57.

Fourth, 7 furlongs—Col. Gore 1, Harry Ireland 2, Pritchett 3. Time 1.28¼.

The Scots' Saturday Night Concert.

Mr. William Hogg was the chairman at the smoking concert of the Toronto Scots Association Football Club Saturday evening in their club-rooms, Yonge-street Arcade. Songs were given by Messrs. McCallum, Agnew, Mannison, Arnott and Baird, while Mr. Douglass' piccolo solo and Mr. Smith's club swinging also added to the enjoyment of the evening. The smoker was open to all sister association clubs and representatives who were absent missed a very enjoyable affair.

TWO MORE SUMMONSES.

A Second Criminal Libel Against David Creighton—Mr. Farrer Is Also Aroused After L. P. Kribs.

There are now three separate charges of criminal libel against Mr. David Creighton, managing director, and Mr. L. P. Kribs, city editor of The Empire. One is preferred by Mr. C. W. Bunting, managing director of The Mail, against Mr. Creighton, and one by Mr. Edward Farrer, The Mail's editor. Mr. Farrer also instituted a suit against Mr. Kribs, the alleged commissioner of The Empire who went to Washington and New York and wrote up the expose. Mr. Creighton, as stated in The World on Saturday, was served with the first summons on Friday night; the other one, on behalf of Editor Farrer, was served Saturday afternoon by Detective Slemin, as was also the one against Mr. Kribs. The last two summonses are made returnable at the Police Court this morning.

It took just about five minutes to dispose of the proceedings in the Police Court Saturday against Mr. Creighton. No evidence was taken. Mr. Richard Cassels, for Mr. Creighton, said he was not prepared to go on, as he understood other suits were to follow. Mr. Wallace Nesbitt (of Mr. McCarthy's firm), appeared for Mr. Bunting, and he remarked that he was anxious to prevent The Empire from continuing the alleged libel, and contended that as the suit was now sub judice the newspaper in question should be prevented from making further comments. Mr. Cassels retaliated by saying that if The Empire continued to comment the complainants could simply increase the number of charges.

All three cases will come up this morning.

Mr. Bunting has retained the services of Messrs. McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin and Creelman and Mr. William Lount, Q.C., and Mr. S. H. Blake have been retained by Mr. Farrer. The Empire's counsel have not yet been announced, but in the meantime Messrs. Cassels, Cassels & Brock will look after its interests.

A GANG OF INTRIGUERS.

The Real Reason of The Mail's Strange Conduct—The Thing all up at Last.

Said an old campaigner to The World yesterday: "You must not conceive that The Mail's desire for Annexation is the product of mere cussedness. True, The Mail's record is unsavory. Its late proprietor acquired the paper by the grossest treachery toward T. C. Patteson, and one of his boasts was that some day he would be selling the manufactured material from the Merriton mills over a larger area than is covered by the Canadian flag. The Riordans, Bunting and Farrer are all Irish of the intriguing stamp. The pulp factory would be one of the few Canadian manufactures (in the opinion of the Riordan family) would not be swallowed by Annexation. They think their field would be enlarged, and it is in that direction that I should search for the mainspring of The Mail's unpatriotic attitude toward the British Crown."

"But what of The Mail's desertion of Sir John Macdonald?" was asked.

"Oh! that was due to the same leading idea of the Riordan family: 'Make money, honestly if you can, but make money.' Riordan is the proprietor. He is his money that keeps the machine running. To satisfy a crazy ambition and to find a market for his pulp, he is ready to lose a little money every year. But you may depend on it he dictates the policy of the paper and according to his lights, which are limited, he shapes the ends. There was room, he thought, for an independent paper, advocating views that the party would not endorse, and as it chimed in with a private and personal grudge he came out against Sir John. Now that he has given The Globe and The Empire a rare good chance to leave him between two stools, he rushes into court to vindicate his loyalty. It is a desperate recourse, a forlorn hope, and if it ever comes into court it will have no remedial effect upon The Mail's circulation. You may depend on it all the reputable loyalists in the country will turn the The Mail out of their homes, and they are in an immense majority. Farrer did not expect to be found out, and besides he went too far, though being the astute man he is he probably thinks I am surprised at the information. On reflection I feel sure he foresaw the present result. Of course, now, the proprietors and Bunting are alarmed, but do what they will the mud will cling to them and rightly too. Farrer has lost its useful-ness to the Riordans, who are now moist with their own petard, and Ned Farrer is chuckling over the mess he has got them into. Of course it is mere trash for them to boast that they are making money and The Globe and The Empire losing it, and hence their attack. The truth is none of them are making money. The Victoria-street deal is a godsend to one of them. Toronto has not the advertising patronage to support three such expensive papers, and in the city The World is better liked than any of them."

"What do you think will be the result of the action for libel?"

"Impossible to say. The Mail cannot show any substantial damage at present and must support its action by admitting that damage to its circulation will arise from the charge of disloyalty. So far so good. It has in fact to look both ways and will find the position embarrassing. Of course the three of the The Mail staff, who made holiday excursions from time to time to look at a press or type-setting machine for sale there, could do more harm to Canada than any three or four other persons who might choose to go down and volunteer evidence. They were possessed of no state secrets that it was treason to divulge, but the books at a hotel might tell a tale that would be responsible for it. It is a pity the members of The Mail staff pretend they were press-hunting, if they ran the chance of having that cause of their visit disproved. It only leads to the inference that they were there for a purpose they wished to conceal, and that a bad purpose."

"Pagan" is an Able Man.

[From The New York World of Saturday.]

Mr. Edward Farrer is one of the ablest and best informed newspaper men in Canada. He is an Irishman by birth, and was educated at Maynooth College, with the intention of taking orders in the church. He went to Canada while still a young man and engaged in newspaper work. He has been employed on The Mail for a number of years, and many articles from his fluent pen have appeared in American magazines and newspapers. Few men are better posted on the history, the politics and the race questions of Canada. For nearly two years Mr. Farrer was connected with the staff of The World, and went from New York to take charge of a Winnipeg newspaper. He found that climate too bleak, and after one winter's experience he returned to Toronto.

Personal Mention.

The members of Immanuel Baptist church at Wellesley and Jarvis-streets, have extended a call to Rev. A. T. Sowerby of Aylmer.

Mr. Richard Wigmore, well known throughout Western Ontario as having been for seventeen years chief of police of London, left Toronto for that city on Saturday afternoon. He has been visiting his son Alfred in this city for some time past. Mr. Wigmore is suffering from a cancer in the neck, and it is feared he cannot recover, a fact which his many friends in Western Ontario will greatly deplore.

His Grace Preaches on Charity.

In St. Michael's Cathedral last night Archbishop Walsh preached an admirable sermon on charity. The Saviour's life was taken as an example of self-denial, and many valuable lessons drawn from it. The charity of Christ was represented as a constant charity, and the congregation were charged to follow in his footsteps, thus fulfilling their duty to mankind.

ELOQUENT LADY ORATORS.

Rev. Anna H. Shaw, D.D., Holds Forth on Three Occasions—Mrs. Buel at the Pavilion Meeting.

The eloquent voice of Rev. Anna H. Shaw, D.D., of Boston, the eminent exponent of freedom for womankind, was heard three times in Toronto yesterday, in the morning and evening at the Metropolitan Church and in the afternoon at Association Hall. She will also deliver a course of lectures this week, starting at Woodgreen Methodist Church to-night.

Mrs. Shaw is a plump, bright-eyed little woman, with a peculiar ringing voice, which can be heard with ease by the listeners in the back seats, whether it soars or drops to a whisper tone. Her sermon yesterday morning was based on a part of St. Paul's famous trial speech:

Whereupon, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision.

After noting the present tendencies to demand explanation of the spiritual bylaws of the material world, she showed the relation between Paul's vision and those relating to worldly things. It is in response to a vision of future success that causes the youthful apprentice to work early and late in the hope that he may attain to his employer's greatness. The lad that lives by the sea looks wistfully at every ship far out upon the deep. While the girls playing on the sand, he enthusiastically traces: "Jake Seers, Master." His face aglow with pride, his shoulders thrown back and head erect, he resolves to be master some day of one of the finest ships afloat. This is his vision.

No disappointment, no hard work will keep him from attaining the coveted end. The future will make the vision a reality. So in the higher life, as in the lower, the vision, which Paul and all other Christians have, should be the guiding star of daily life and the reality when the conflict is past. As the Roman girl, who studied a marvelous picture day after day, at last was enabled to reproduce it in all its beauty, so the Christian should draw inspiration from the divine life until "conformed into the image of His Son."

At Association Hall.

Her audience at Association Hall at the meeting of the Young Men's Prohibition Club was large and enthusiastic. President F. S. Spence occupied the chair, and on the platform were Mrs. McDonnell, Dr. Emily Stowe and Rev. J. Walton. For over an hour the gifted lecturer held the audience as she discussed the question of prohibition and made an earnest appeal to all classes for help in carrying on the great work. In a clear and comprehensive manner she dealt with the evil results of the liquor traffic and advocated total abstinence as the only cure. Her asides were clever and witty, and the audience applauded again and again. Many amusing stories were told of her first attempts at reforming drunkards. For instance, she and several other ladies in an American city undertook to enter a certain saloon which they knew to be a famous place for drunkards. On entering the door the inmates took to their heels at the sight of the pledge book, and by the time the last lady was inside the skirts of the last man's coat were disappearing through the back door.

"I always thought before," said the reverend lady, "that man possessed all the bravery, but this little incident shook my faith."

She laid great stress upon the fact that it was impossible to work a reform by starting with the drunkards themselves. "Begin with the children, with the law and with society," she said, "and the rest will be easy."

Another Lady Temperance Operator.

Mrs. Caroline B. Buel, corresponding secretary of the National W.C.T.U. of America, addressed an audience in the pavilion yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Canadian Temperance League. Though somewhat aged in appearance she is bright and vivacious in manner and says what she has to in a concise and interesting way. The slave traffic that once existed in the South was likened to the liquor traffic of the present day, which has passed from the moral to the legal phase of the question, said Mrs. Buel. E. J. Cashmore sang a sacred solo with fine effect. Before the address an appeal was made for funds for coffee-house work. J. S. Robertson announced that the Balmoral Choir will sing in the Pavilion on Feb. 15 and 17, the proceeds to be devoted to coffee-house and temperance work. Walter Thomas Mills, editor of The Statesman, will speak in the Pavilion next Sunday afternoon. On Feb. 9 the reformed pugilist, "Joe" Hess, opens a series of gospel meetings in this city.

Mrs. Buel will address young women in Association Hall this afternoon.

BLOWN FROM THE TRACK.

A Train Rolled Down an Embankment by the Wind.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 26.—The Atlantic express on the Rio Grande was blown from the track at Monument late last evening and rolled down an embankment. The cars caught fire at once and the flames were fanned by the hurricane into a seething furnace. Twenty or more passengers were confined in the cars, and but for the almost superhuman efforts of the trainmen would have been roasted to death. John Robertson (Mr. Field), Misses Mattie Mathews, Miss Jamison (Mr. Hasham), Misses Devlin and Howel (Mrs. Hawson), Miss Hunter (Miss Reynolds), and Miss Applebe, pupil of Miss Johnson.

From Police Blatters.

An overcoat was lifted from J. R. Mulligan's residence, 418 Ontario-street, on Saturday.

M. Munro, 32 Ward-street, reports the theft of a seal cap from the above address yesterday.

H. Williams, 45 Richmond-street east, had stolen from him on Saturday night a silver watch.

A thief has got away with Thomas Conlin's diamond pin. His address is 491 Parliament-street.

A chief sneaked into the Nealon House, King-street east Saturday, getting away with an overcoat.

A nickel watch was stolen yesterday from Alexander Rutherford's room in the Bay Horse Hotel.

Hugh Morrison was arrested in Jones' dive on York-street on Saturday night on suspicion of stealing two overcoats.

A box containing a quantity of English china has been missing from McFadane's auction rooms since the 4th inst.

A thief picked the pocket of Mrs. Watkins, 1378 Queen-street west, of her purse containing $3 in St. Lawrence market Saturday night.

About 50 lbs. of butter, 60 lbs. of pork and a bag of coppers was the result of a raid made on C. Varrel's butcher store, 95 Agnes-street, Saturday night.

The store of S. Corrigan, 6 Adelaide-street west, was entered Saturday night and $6 stolen. The Saturday Ledger office, next door, was also visited but nothing was carried away.

Mary Foley, a young looking woman, was found wandering around the West End on Saturday night apparently insane. The police took her to St. Andrew's market station, as she had no home.

"PREACHERS AND PREACHING."

The Canon of St. James' Gives a Clever Analysis at Trinity.

The opening lecture of the fourth winter series at Trinity University was given on Saturday afternoon by Canon Dumoulin. He chose a subject with which he is an fait—"Preaching," and in an hour and a half's address treated it in a comprehensive manner. If fault it may be termed, the only one was that the learned Canon's survey and strictures were confined almost exclusively to the Anglican preachers of bygone times. Of the preachers of to-day there was mention only of Canon Liddon and Canon Farrer, but no reference to Spurgeon, Talmage and the host of nonconformist preachers on whose words spoken and printed hundreds of thousands weekly feast.

The earlier portion of the Canon's eloquent address dealt with the raison d'etre of preaching and its development with the progress of the race. This was valuable historically and was admirably treated.

The post-apostolic preaching for the first 100 years was marked by no special excellence. Origen the seraphic and mystic, Chrysostom ("John of the Golden Mouth), the two Gregories, Basil the Great, John of Damascus, Cyprian, the immortal Augustine came under trenchant review and general commendation, as also in a later age the Venerable Bede, Anselm, Thomas a Kempis, Aquinas and Barnard. Not so the preaching of the Middle Ages with its legends of saints and stories of miracles.

Tributes were paid to Wycliffe in England, Jerome of Prague, Huss in Bohemia, Savoronola in Florence. Luther, however, "the monk that shook the world," stands in the forefront of the Reformation preachers. The fierce Knox, and good and at times jocular Latimer were sketched.

The Canon broke away from the seriousness of his subject and caused no small diversion by citing Latimer's impeachment of "the non-preaching prelates" and his censure of "the roundabouts" of the ladies' dresses. Said the lecturer, "he would be a bold preacher in Toronto who would from the pulpit attack the ladies' roundabouts. What a rare morsel that would be for the newspapers!"

And so the Canon pursued his chronological way, describing the preachers of the days of persecution and in the times of the Puritans. He was funny at the expense of the latter, who with their "listily and its subdivisions," he pronounced "intolerable bores." The Canon dealt large-heartedly with the evangelical revival of the 18th century. Generous were his tributes to the Wesleys, Whitefield, Romaine, Toplady, Fletcher, whom he claimed as sons of the Church of England.

"Evangelical religion was not revived by the Dissenters; the men who plucked Christianity out of the dust were Churchmen."

The Oxford revival, albeit marked with extravagancies, had bequeathed churchmen free and open churches, frequent celebrations of communion, elevated and refined services, hard parochial work and earnest preaching.

The closing passages of the able lecture were in favor of written as against extempore sermons, in treating of which he showed the advantages as regards fluency in the pulpit of the Methodist itinerancy system and regretted the competition for the rural Anglican clergyman of some illiterate Boanerges in a neighboring chapel who draws away the church's children by his "painting," also in theatre-like churches in the city of sensationalism, jokes, personalities and "clap-trap." The motto of preachers should be Baxter's:

I preach as though I ne'er should preach again:
And as a dying man to dying men!

The Bishop of Toronto, in proposing a vote of thanks to Canon DuMoulin for his admirable lecture, emphasized the importance of the students cultivating extempore speaking.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

Attractions at the Theatres This Week—"His Natural Life," "Held by The Enemy" and the Vaudevilles.

No drama of greater human interest has ever been seen in Toronto than Mr. Tyrrell's play to be produced at the Grand Opera House this evening. "His Natural Life," says The Albany Times, not only employs a large cast of strong and important characters, but a large force of auxiliaries add strength to the realism of the scenes at the convict depot in Tasmania. The story is that of an innocent man foully wronged, and punished for another's crime. But the whole plot is worked out in a thoroughly original manner, and the play is full of elaborate scenes than thrill the spectator, and fascinate the audience. A novel effect is the sea on fire. Lightning strikes the oil upon the waters and the inmates of the boat are surrounded by flames, just upon the eve of rescue. The great flogging scene in the third act is marvelously exciting and yet thoroughly true to nature. The whole play has stood the test of the critics all over the world."

No pains have been spared by Manager Sheppard to make it one of the greatest triumphs of the season. Some funny specialties are introduced by the comedians, some stirring scenes transpire between the others, and the interest and excitement are unlimited.

Mr. Inigo Tyrrell (the author of the play), Mr. Harry Emmet, Mr. Louis Glover, Miss Louise Lorrendon, Fanny Temple, Alma Aiken and others are artists of acknowledged ability, and will bring all their well-known powers to bear upon the work. Miss Lorrendon wears some magnificent costumes from the firms of Worth and Felix of Paris, and the general display is picturesque all through.

"Held by the Enemy."

At Jacobs & Sparrows' Opera House all this week, with matinees Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday, a great attraction for the first time at popular prices will be given in "Held by the Enemy." William Gillette has successfully solved the problem of writing a play with the great civil war as a plot. He has avoided wounding the feelings of either the blue or the gray, and withal he tells a story of powerful interest. All the world admires a brave man. Each side has a hero in this drama, which is rich in sentiment, pathos and human feeling. It is intensely exciting, without the improbable situations so common in most of the modern plays.

Herrmann's Vaudevilles at the Academy.

At the Academy of Music all this week, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees, Herrmann's Trans-Atlantic Vaudevilles will hold the boards. "This is a show that is both unique and clever," says The Philadelphia Press. The specialties are novel and are sure to please all who may see them.

Other Amusement Matters.

Mr. Felix Brant, the escaped Siberian exile, who reached Canada about a month ago, will be on the platform at Mr. Kennan's lecture this evening. It is safe to say that all who heard Mr. Kennan on Friday evening to-night, and many of these have already secured their seats at Nordheimer's. The plan is rapidly filling up and will remain open to-day till 5 p.m. Mr. Kennan was so enthusiastically received on Friday night and made such a favorable impression it is expected the house will be crowded to-night. This is his most interesting lecture, and is a thrilling recital of the horrors of the Russian exile system.

A lecture was delivered to the students of the Toronto Conservatory of Music by Mr. J. W. F. Harrison in the lecture room of the Y.M.C.A., Yonge-street, on Saturday afternoon. There was a large and appreciative audience. There was also a choice program of piano selections by pupils of Mr. Edward Fisher.

At the Toronto Bicycle Club's concert and bicycle tableaux at the Academy of Music on Feb. 4 the soloists who will appear are: Miss Whitney Mockridge, the recognized leading tenor of this continent; Miss Clara E. Barnes, the well-known soprano of Buffalo, whose successes here in the past have established her as a favorite with Toronto audiences, and Mr. H. L. Clarke, current solo cornetist, who is too well known to require further laudation and of whom Toronto may be said to be justly proud.

The following students attending the Toronto College of Music took part in the weekly concert on Saturday afternoon: Miss Treble (teacher Mr. Torrington), Misses Mara, Donnelly, Parsons, Davy and Chamberlin (Mr. Field), Misses Mabel Paul, Robertson (Mr. Hasham), Misses Devlin and Howel (Mrs. Hawson), Miss Hunter (Miss Reynolds), and Miss Applebe, pupil of Miss Johnson.

Business Embarrassments.

I. A. Whatmough, hardware merchant, Toronto, is offering 50 cents on the dollar.

These business troubles are reported to-day: Montreal: J. A. Rafter & Sons, wholesale clothiers, assigned; Montreal: Black & Locke, leather dealers, suspended payment; St. Agatha: P. E. Herres, general merchant, in difficulties.

Jacob H. Bloomer of Virgilia, N.Y., writes "Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil cured a badly swelled neck and sore throat on my son in forty-eight hours; one application also removed the pain from a very sore toe; my wife's foot was also inflamed—so much so that she could not walk about the house; she applied the oil and in twenty-four hours was entirely cured.

The Best Newspapers.

George P. Rowell & Co., proprietors of the American Newspaper Advertising Bureau, 10 Spruce-street, New York, have issued a pamphlet containing a choice selection of newspapers for an advertiser to use who prefers to confine his advertising investments to such as are likely to pay him best.

This catalog names all the greatest and all the best newspapers. The selection made includes every religious, agricultural or other class weekly having a regular issue of so many as ten thousand copies, all the great monthlies, the leading dailies in all the largest cities and aims to name the best paper in every county seat having a population of so much as three rhousand, and every other town, village or city having so much as five thousand population, provided a paper is printed which issues as many as a thousand copies a week.

It has been demonstrated that fully one-half of all the output of American newspapers emanate from less than seven hundred offices, and that a list of more than ten thousand newspapers can be made up, among which no single one prints regularly so many as a thousand copies. To have dealings with this myriad of small papers cannot be thought of by the majority of advertisers, and advertising agencies find transactions with them to be the reverse of profitable.

The carefully selected list which is now issued by George P. Rowell & Co. is the first which has been put forth in accordance with the resolution of the Association of General Newspaper Advertising Agents.

The population of every place where a newspaper is published is stated in the catalog; county seats are designated and the circulation rating accorded to every paper by the last issue of the American Newspaper Directory is given. Out of the seventeen thousand papers named in the directory only about two thousand are selected; of these only fifty-seven are issued in the Province of Ontario, and among them it is perhaps not necessary to add The Toronto World is given the prominence to which its merits entitle it.

Dyspepsia or indigestion is occasioned by the want of action in the biliary ducts, loss of vitality in the stomach to secrete the gastric juices, without which digestion cannot go on; also, being the principal cause of headache. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills taken before going to bed, for a while, never fail to give relief and effect a cure. Mr. F. W. Ashdown, Ashdown, Ont., writes: "Parmelee's Pills are taking the lead against ten other makes which I have in stock."

Discussing the Residence Question.

The weekly meeting of the Osgoode Legal and Literary Society was held Saturday evening, Vice-President Ryckman in the chair. There were songs, readings, etc. The question of the feasibility of establishing a residence in connection with the Law School was taken up. Mr. Nicol read an able paper in favor of the subject. Messrs. Higgins, Starr, Duff and Davis also pointed out the advantages and disadvantages in connection with a residence. These gentlemen had all resided at different universities throughout the Dominion and were well able to express their opinion on the subject. Messrs. Nicol, Starr and Warren were appointed a committee to draft resolutions to submit to the society at its next meeting. A long discussion took place as to the next public debate, when it was decided to hold it on Feb. 7; it was also decided that the tickets should be limited to 600.

BREAKFAST.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

To Mr. Adam Good, Grocer, Brussels:
DEAR SIR,—I have been using St. Leon Water for the past month or so and have found it very efficacious in promoting good health. After using it a week I found my appetite much benefitted and can now eat as much in one meal as used to suffice me for two. For any rheumatic affection I believe it to be ahead of any drugs or patent medicines, and think that persons of a rheumatic tendency should use it constantly.
