QUEEN'S CUP FOR MERRYTHOUGHT.

Clorita Second and Vreda Third Three Times Round R. C. Y. C.'s Triangular Course.

The R.C.Y.C. annual race for the Queen's Cup was sailed yesterday over a triangular course off the Island, the distance being 30 miles, twice around an equilateral triangle. The wind was so light that it took over seven hours to sail around. The start was made shortly after 10 o'clock. The Merrythought finished first, but it is not yet known who wins, as the time allowance has not yet been figured on by the Sailing Committee, but it is likely that the race will go the way the yachts finished, which is as follows:

		Elap. Time.	Start.	Finish.	Time.
Merrythought,	A.E. Jarvis	10.16.43	5.16.00	7.01.00
Clorita,	George Goederham	10.16.23	5.19.35	7.04.00
Vreda,	A. G. Peuchen	10.16.12	5.20.40	7.05.40

Mr. H. C. McLeod of the R.C.Y.C. received a despatch from St. John's, Nfld., yesterday morning, stating that his new yacht, Gloria, arrived there yesterday after a rough passage from Southampton, but undamaged. The yacht will proceed for Toronto to-day.

BIG CROWDS AT THE ISLAND.

Syracuse Stars and Dooleys Also Split Even in Two Games at Montreal.

The Toronto Baseball Club had a fairly successful holiday, dividing up the games with Rochester. Between 9000 and 10,000 attended the two games, the afternoon furnishing the better spectacle. Behind the bat Dixon, formerly an Eastern League favorite, replaces Hat Pin Smink, changing the demeanor of the aggregation almost beyond recognition, tho, at odd times, the old rowdy element cropped up, but only temporarily, as, remembering the instructions from the Eastern League meeting, Buckenburger quickly compelled the offenders to desist. Greminger's offence in the morning was only a continual chatter, and Rinn was compelled to make an example. Late in the afternoon President Gult, who was conversing with Manager Barrow, was forced to leave the bench from orders across the way, a pretty small piece of business on the part of Buckenburger, who evidently has not forgotten the dressing down the Toronto president gave him in that letter to P. T. Powers.

President Sweeny, Secretary Youngs and Directors Higgins and Cockerthal of the Rochester Club were present, and appeared well pleased with the attendance and play. Their demeanor and conversation would account for Buckenburger's cutting out his old-time rowdy tactics to stay in the game, even if the Eastern League magnates did not demand clean baseball everywhere. To-day's game starts at 3.15 to let the teams catch the train for Rochester, where they play two games to-morrow. Hooker, the new man from Buffalo, will pitch. The record:

Lost the Morning Game.

McPartlin outpitched Alloway in the morning, and Toronto's rank errors made it easy picking for Rochester.

There were contests for base-running and throwing for valuable gold watches and chains that delayed the start until 11 o'clock, the results being as follows:

Base-running—Campau 14 1-5 secs., Rothfus 14½ secs., Bannon 14½ secs., Smith 14¾ secs., Lynch 15 secs.

Throwing—Lush 122 yds. 6 in., Williams 121 yds. 11 in., Bannon 121 yds. 5 in., Schaub, Carr, Smith, Householder also competed.

After Rochester retired at the start, 1, 2, 3, two flies to Bannon and a grounder to Clymer, Toronto got a man almost to the plate. Lynch was out to left field. Bannon singled, stole second, stayed there while Smith caught a fly and went to third on a wild pitch, where he should have stayed, as McPartlin was waiting for him with the ball at home.

Rochester tipped off four in the second on clean hitting, O'Hagan's double, sifigies by Bonner, Householder and Greminger and Lush's triple. Toronto was out in order and so will be Rowdies in their third, except for Bonner's punk double. The Islanders got together after two were out. Schaub singled and two men walked. Lynch and Doherty had retired on infield flies. Capt. Charley Carr did the trick, a two-bagger over Campau's head, and there was a nice procession across the plate.

Clymer handed Rochester two in the fifth on a low throw that should have been third hand out. Smith and Campau were on second and third by swiping balls and getting hit and the outs. Bonner batted one to short, and the throw was low and wide.

Toronto secured two runs in the fifth with only Lynch's single, Greminger and Bonner contributing errors.

Rochester pulled back the pair in the sixth after two were out on singles by McPartlin and Lush and Smith's two-base hit. Clymer's triple along the third-base line and Roach's short fly to left let in a run in Toronto's half.

The visitors scored in the seventh on singles by O'Hagan, Householder and Walker, the umpire having put Greminger out of the game for senseless back talk. They added two more in the ninth on a double, single, sacrifice and Roach's error, while Toronto retired without reaching first base.

Won in Afternoon, 4 to 2.

Toronto won the afternoon game, due to four hits judiciously bunched in the third. Otherwise the pitchers were about equally effective, Williams allowing seven singles, two bases on balls and a wild pitch, against nine off Bowen, including Clymer's double. The Rochester twirler gave a splendid exhibition of control, and did not issue a free pass. Williams had seven strikeouts to his credit.

Two singles and a stolen base gave Rochester the first run, after Lush and Smith had struck out. Toronto drew level, Lynch scoring after two were out. Bannon hit out an infield hit, went around to third on two outs, and then Rothfus singled.

Apart from Dixon's walk, Rochester retired straight in the second, while Hemis and Doherty singled for Toronto, but the runs were just the same.

Rochester retired 1, 2, 3 in the third, and then the Islanders came with their largest lead of the day. Singles by Lynch and Bannon and two stolen bases put the pair on second and third, with Carr up, but the Cap ingloriously struck out, Rothfus banged out a clean one to centrefield, and two scored. Next Clymer lifted a straight ball over Campau's head for two bags and another run. Bemis' grounder ended in a double play from third to first and back again. Three singles were good for a run to the enemy in the fifth, and an error by Rothfus made it look like a few more.

Here the scoring ended, and afterwards both pitchers were tying up the opposing batsmen.

Rochester hit safely only twice in the remaining innings, Smith's single in the fifth and Bonner's bang to the screen in the sixth, and Toronto only once, Bannon's safe drive in the fifth, tho they did slam some at the fielders. Rothfus let O'Hagan's single pass him in the fourth, which was the only error of the afternoon, but the leftfielder more than made up for this mistake by driving in three of the four runs.

Montreal in the Afternoon.

Montreal, July 2.—Montreal won by bunching hits in the sixth and seventh innings, when six men had negotiated the circuit on five hits and three Syracuse errors. Dooley's and Raub's batting was a feature. A big holiday crowd saw a snappy game all thru. Both Pfannmiller and McFarlan pitched high-class ball.

There is only one game on Saturday, and that is at Montreal. The other teams in the league have a day off. The standing:

Nationals	1	2	12	16
Cornwall	1	3	8	12

Game next Saturday: Nationals at Montreal:

Toronto 5, Montreal 2.

The sport loving public of Toronto demonstrated conclusively yesterday that our national game has once more taken its place in their affections, when, in spite of the numerous counter-attractions and excursions, upwards of 6000 of Toronto's best people took advantage of the perfect weather and journeyed to Rosedale to witness the championship match between Toronto and Montreal. The result showed that the confidence of the public and of the speculators who took all kinds of short odds to get their money up was not misplaced, for they won from the easterners by 5 to 2.

In the opinion of many old followers of the game the match was one of the fastest and finest exhibitions seen in Toronto in fifteen years, and it was certainly the cleanest, for not a single player was ruled off during the entire match. Peter Knowles was not as fortunate, for the referee gave him a short rest in the third game for interfering with the ball.

The checking was very close, but free from the slightest suspicion of roughness, and as a result the accidents were few. Fred Moran scraped the skin from the nose of the fleet-footed Christmas in the third, and Greatrix injured his leg in attempting to check the goalkeeper. These were the only mishaps to delay the game. The first five games the match was the evenest kind of a contest, Howell's efforts took the first game, but it did not shake the Toronto people's confidence in the least, and they were still offering odds. The Torontos took the next two, and then the visitors evened the score from that time on the visitors were never dangerous, altho they tried even harder than in the earlier stage of the match. The Torontos had taken their measure and had them played to a standstill at the finish.

Fast and Gentlemanly.

The visitors are the most gentlemanly aggregation that has visited the city in many seasons, and play the game as it should be played. In McKerrow, Christmas and Irving they have the three best of fielders in the business, but they spoil many brilliant plays by holding the ball too long and making grand stand runs up the field, in the course of which they generally come to grief. Murphy as cover and Hamilton in goal are the stars of their defence, and it is owing to their brilliant work that the score was not larger. On the home Portons, Christmas and Donnelly did a great deal of clever work. George Wheeler was out of the game on account of the injuries received on Saturday at the Island, Clewes taking his place, and a surer, steadier junior never handled a stick. Jimmy Murray was again the star of the home, and is a great favorite with the spectators on account of the hard and daring game he always puts up. Hanly showed greatly improved form. He stopped surer and played a better game all around than at any time previously this season.

The first was the longest game of the day. It took 15½ minutes of the hardest kind of play before Porteous secured the rubber, passed to Irvine and then to Brown, who scored.

The second went to the Torontos after 4½ minutes of very even play. Murray made a swift shot which Hamilton stopped, but before he could relieve the flags Ier swiped the ball thru.

It took 12½ minutes to decide the third game, which also went to the Torontos. Murray brought the ball in and made a beautiful shot, which Hamilton again stopped. The ball bounded out from the flags and Greatrix secured it and tossed over his head, scoring. In this game Freddie Moran cut Christmas across the nose, and Peter Knowles was ruled off for kicking the ball.

The visitors tied the score in the 4th. Hanly stopped a difficult shot from Porteous, but Brown batted it thru in six minutes. The play became very fast in the 5th than in the previous games, but the Torontos began to get their second wind and had much the better of the remaining part of the play. Frank Moran took the 5th and 6th on long shots in 3 and 3½ minutes respectively, and Querrie took the 7th in 9
